NEWSLETS.

TO THE PUBLIC.

"The News" will be issued every Friday morning from the press of The South Manchester Publishing Company in their office over Cheney's store. Personal items and matters of local interest in general, will be gladly received at this office, or at my residence, Spruce street near Waller, and my friends will confer a favor, by advising me of such local happenings as may come to their observation. Communications sent by mail must bear the name of the author as a guarantee of good faith only. I will try to be at the office evenings, until eight o'clock, to receive advertisements, subscriptions, news, or to transact any other business necessary. Thanking my many friends for courtesies extended in the past, I ask for a continuation of the same in the future, and will endeavor to the best of my ability to merit their approbation, and maintain those cordial relations that have ever been such a joy to me.

W. J. FLOOD, Publisher.

Aaron Ingraham, an old and honored citizen of Bolton, died on Monday last. Elisha Bryant secured a license for the place formerly occupied by the late Maurice Bryant.

Miss Jennie Rich of Easthampton, Conn. has been visiting with her cousin, Miss Lena Barber of Spruce street, and is now the guest of Miss Jennie Knoss of Lyndalville.

Arthur E. Wilson will receive subscriptions and local items for "The News" in Manchester Green.

Miss Ella Perry of Manchester Green, went down to Columbia, on Wednesday, to attend the wedding of a cousin.

Robert Hastings of Rockland, is rejoicing at the arrival of his first born, a bouncing boy, who made his appearance on Tuesday March 7th.

Miss Edith Price of Yonkers, New York, is spending a couple of weeks with Miss Clara Kennedy of Pine street.

Miss Mary Quish of Maple street, is recovering from an attack of pneumonia. She has been quite sick, but is now happily considered to be out of danger.

Miss Katie Sullivan of Maple street has been quite ill, but is now somewhat better.

Mrs. Johnson of South Main street, has been quite ill with pneumonia, but is very much improved.

Alexander LaHar of Pleasant street is laid up with a severe cold and an attack of the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Tacey of Manchester Green, welcomed their first born on Wednesday March 8, a bright little girl.

Dennis Sullivan of Maple street, was bitten by a dog on Tuesday last.

A hearing before the new county commissioners on the application of John F. Sheridan for a license to sell liquors in the opera house block, was set down for yesterday.

Mrs. Oscar Hagrove moved her household effects from Spruce street, to the home of her stepfather, Mr. George Gould. Chas. Swetzer had charge of the moving.

Henry Haine has been quite sick this week, suffering from chronic diarrhea. He has periodic attacks of this complaint very frequently.

The South Manchester Dramatic Club are rehearsing "A Celebrated Case", and will in all probability give a public presentation of it sometime after Easter Sunday.

A. L. Clark of the Glastonbury Knitting Company, has returned from a four week's trip to California and Mexico.

John Johnson, Cassius S. Lyman and Dr. F. B. Adams, qualified as justices of the peace before William E. Ellsworth, notary public, this week.

Miss Roda Burke of Manchester Green, has finished her phonographic studies at Huntstanger's Business College, and re-entered the employ of the Glastonbury Knitting Company in their mill at the Green, as stenographer and typewriter.

Twenty five pupils from the New Britain Normal school, made a tour of inspection of the Ninth District school on Wednesday, visiting all the rooms and departments, and seeing the work as performed.

Mrs. Curtis L. Crane of North School street, has been laid up with diphtheritic sore throat during the past week, and part of the time was in dangerous state, but at this writing, she is very much improved.

Miss F'wert, the teacher, who has been suffering so long and severely with typhoid pneumonia, at the teachers' boarding house, is now improving. Two other teachers are also laid up at the same place.

Rev. John McVay has been requested by unanimous vote, to continue with the North Methodist church another year. He has already served three years very acceptably, and his parishioners will be happy to have him remain.

Rev. A. H. Wright of St. John's church, Warburton Point, spoke at the Wednesday evening service in St. Mary's church, and on Wednesday evening March 15, Rev. J. Weston of St. Peter's church, Cheshire, will make the address.

Arrangements are being made by Chas. Brunette, to form a new benevolent society in town. It will consist of only a fifty members, and when one of the number is taken sick, the rest will be assessed twenty cents per week each, which sum will be paid to the disabled member. Similar organizations exist in Hartford and elsewhere, and are doing good work.

It is expected that a new bicycle company will take possession of the rooms lately occupied by the Perkins Electric Lamp Company, in the Mather building, and begin the manufacture of wheels. Representatives of the new concern came out from Hartford this week and looked the premises over. It is to be hoped that they will find it to their advantage to locate here, as it would give an impetus to trade at the north end of the town that would be very pleasing to all.

The road and bridge commissioners held a meeting at the residence of M. S. Chapman on Saturday evening, and decided to wait until after the snow and frost shall have disappeared, before taking any further steps toward placing a new bridge over the Hockanum, on Union street. The main point at issue will be, to determine whether a stone arch, or an iron bridge shall be chosen. The limit of cost is placed at $6,000, by vote of the town.

The Young Men's Dramatic Club will present the charming Irish drama entitled "Eileen Oge," in Cheney's Hall, Friday evening March 17. Full particulars are given elsewhere in this paper. Tickets for the play are selling rapidly and a full house is assured. The young people are laboring hard to present the play in good form, and it is to be believed they will be highly successful. A. M. Green, Hartford, who had had a large experience in amateur theatricals, has the matter in charge. Mr. Green is well and favorably known here.

LUNDIN-BIRATH.
Ernest Lundin and Miss Anna Birath were united in marriage by Rev. A. G. Olson on Wednesday morning, the ceremony taking place in the parlor of J. L. Johnson on Walnut street. J. E. Birath was the best man, and Miss Dorothea Gotsberg the bridesmaid. The ladies were elegantly attired, and looked very pretty. A wedding dinner was served and the young people took the noon train for New York. After their honeymoon they will reside with Mrs. J. L. Johnson, who is sister to the bride, until other arrangements can be made. They are both highly respected, very popular in this community, and have many friends here.

ALLEN-DENN.
The many friends of Clarence W. Allen were greatly surprised last Monday, to learn that he had got married. Not that they had any particular objection to make, but simply from the fact that the unexpected had happened. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Coley, and the bride was Miss May Dean of Buffalo, N. Y., who had been visiting for some months past with relatives who occupy apartments in Wm. Brick's house on Main street, Manchester. The ceremony was an informal one. Mr. and Mrs. Allen did not leave town at all, but will take a trip when the weather is more congenial for traveling. They live at the Cowles hotel, of which Mr. Allen is proprietor.

A REMARKABLE ACCIDENT.
On Sunday last, Patrick Fraker of So. Manchester, hired a horse and sleigh of Chas. Shonberger, the teamster on Eldridge street, and drove to Hartford, together with his sister. On returning home the sleigh was upset, while crossing the tracks of the New York and New England railroad at Williams's crossing, Buckland, the occupants thrown out, the horse got away, and took to the railroad track, going towards Manchester, passed safely over the trestle at the Hilliardville road, and started to cross the Tin Bridge, so-called, over the Hockanum river, when he lost his footing, his legs going down between the open girders and holding him. This was about 7:30 p. m. Mr. Fraker hastened to inform Mr. Stenberg of the accident, and the latter drove forthwith to the scene. In the meantime, Thomas O'Connor, (a track-walker), discovered the animal, and realizing the danger to any train that might chance along, on that track (the west bound) set his red light as a signal and gave the alarm in the village. Help soon arrived and an effort was made to release the horse from his perilous position. Soon an east-bound freight train bore in sight, and the animal becoming frightened, made a lunge, and went off the bridge, down the embankment, on the north side, and into the Hockanum river, a distance, variously estimated at, from fifty to seventy feet, carrying the sleigh with him. The water was so deep that he could not get his feet up on the ice on either side of the fast flowing river. Stephen McCarthy, the flagman at the Manchester station, volunteered to try and get the horse out, so they fastened a rope to his body and he went out on the ice to the animal, who had freed himself from the sleigh, and was apparently waiting quietly to be released from his very uncomfortable quarters. Nearing the edge, the ice gave way, and Mr. McCarthy fell into the river, but he was promptly pulled out by the rope. Mr. Stenberg also broke through the ice and got wet. Finally after much hard and dangerous work, they got the horse out, and to their great surprise, found that he was not much hurt. It was about midnight when he was rescued from the icy cold water, having been in the package four hours. He was carried for at once, and on examination the next day, it was found that he had sustained scarcely a scratch, after the thrilling experience through which he passed. The story seems almost incredible that a horse could go through such an adventure and come out practically unharmed, but it is true. He has a little stiffness of the hips and hind legs generally, nothing seems to be gained with the creature, and Mr. Stenberg believes the horse will be all right in a short time. The sleigh was more or less broken up in the running, but the body did not show any of the effects of the fall. Mr. Fraker and Miss Fraker were unhurt, by being dumped out on the snow. It was an event however that they will probably never forget.

THE NEW COOK. "There is no one thing you mustn't forget Tom!"

"What's that, Emma?" "To engage a cook."

"I'll remember. I want things to be in pretty good style for Maxwell's."

"I'm glad you are so punctual. I feared you should be disappointed."

"Can you make a omelette?" "Yes, sir."

The new cook, gliding himself with the dresser, turned his attention to the range first.

"I'll not go near the kitchen. Maxwell will be so angry."

"Very well," said I, and trotted Satanaella up where, looking highly disconsolate, my brother Richard stood among his hounds, taking council with Jamie, our old huntsman, as to the expediency of taking the dispirited pack home.

Cures a Physical Wreck!

There are only Dick and I left now to take care of each other. Mother died when I was born, and father last year, leaving Dick my sole guardian. As he was then only just of age, I was seventeen, all our relatives cried out against our living alone, but we managed beautifully, and nothing of us was wished for any other arrangement—until lately.

"German Syrup"

Mr. Albert Hartley of Hudson, N. C. was taken with Pneumonia. His doctor had given him up. When he found his doctor could not help him he took one bottle of German Syrup and came out sound and well.

Walled, ridden, old girl!

"Walled, ridden, old girl!" was Dick's comment. Then he added, rather sleepily: "You ride on home. I am going round by the manor, as I promised I'd take the next mail."

Polly and the Dogs.

Polly was a gray bird, and a remarkably clever tailor. The son of his owner was an enthusiastic sportsman, owning a kennel of some dozen or more setters and pointers, and paid much attention to the teaching of his dogs and the gray-headed parrot.

Extinction of Elephants Inevitable.

Attention has been called to the inevitable extinction of the African elephant if ivory hunters are not checked in their work. Seventy-five thousand elephants are annually slaughtered in Africa for the sake of their tusks.

A Powerful Flesh Maker.

A process that kills the taste of cod-liver oil has done good service—but the process that both kills the taste and effects partial digestion has done much more.

Scott's Emulsion

Scott's Emulsion stands alone in the field of fat-foods. It is easy of assimilation because partially digested before taken. Scott's Emulsion checks Consumption and all other wasting diseases.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Most of the discomforts suffered by the human race are due to errors in food. Excessive gymnastics makes the joints porous, as in the case of the "tennis elbow."

THE PARROT LEARNED TO COUGH.

In one New York family three children were afflicted with whooping cough. They coughed and coughed, and the father parrot coughed, and he led to imitate them. When any one of the children coughed he would accompany it with a coughing parrot in natural that it was impossible to tell whether it was one of the children or the parrot that was coughing.
