HORRORS OF SIBERIA.

Brutal Scene Witnessed by Captured Louis A. Paradyce, a sailor, who arrived at San Francisco, Cal., from China on the Gaelic, tells a story of horrible treatment in Siberian prisons. He was on the scaling schooner Mary H. Thomas, and with another sailor named Wilson went ashore on the coast of Kamsckatka to fill water casts. A hurricane drove the schooner off, and they were left ashore. They had no provisions and traveled inland to a camp of Russian soldiers, where they were seized and accussed of being spies, and sent to Carazock, a convict station. Although Wilson and himself were roughly treated, they were not flogged as other prisoners were.

There were about 6000 convicts at the station, and every Wednesday those who had disobeyed rules during the week were given fifty lashes with the knout. A woman was knouted, and three hours later gave birth to a dead child. Of 6000 convicts in camp 1890 were a ball and chain.

Many men were too feeble to walk, and were dragged along by their companions, Siberian prisons. He was on the scaling ware dragged along by their companions, while soldiers would prod them with bayonets to make them move more quickly. The convicts were fed with black heread and raw meat.

Finally Paradyce and Wilson were taken to Viadivostock and from there were sent to the Kara gold fields, a fifteen days journey. They suffered fright fully from hunger and fatigue. Wilson gave out and had to be carried in a wagon. The United States ship Marione arrived at Viadivostock and the officers were informed by a merchant named shift of Paradyce and Wilson's fate. of Dobbins & Dazey, the big cotton brokers. In consequence there was a panie in commercial circles and confi lence in the stability of other institutions was shaken.

The first announcement was that the Commercial National Bank had failed. This was soon followed by the reports that the Mechenics' Savings Bank and Trust Company and the Bank of Commerce were in difficulties. A run on all the banks was, feared, and to avoid this the banks made assignments, thus protecting equally the inferest of the utmost confidence of the people of Nashville. The suspension is the direct result of the failure of Dobbins & Dazsy, cotton brokurs. The amount stated as the indebtedness of that firm to the Commercial was $30,000. It has since been learned that the bank's total loss on Dobbins & Dazsy's paper, their foreign exchange and ogsrdraft amounted to $263,000.

The Bank of Commerce made assignment naming John T. Leliyett as assigne. This action was precipitated by the general apprehension of a run on the bank, which the officers believed would be made. The deposits were not large, aggregating only about $50,000.

The Mechanics' Bank suspended witt-drawals by depositors for sixty days.

The three failures will break about thirty small banks in the country towns and the loss from that source will be equally as great.
