Silver Legislation is Declared the Cause of the Present Crisis-Evil Effects of the Present Law Are Asserted to be Constantly Acgent, But It Must Wait Until the Financial Difficulty is Overcome.

MUST REGARD OTHER STATES.

The people of the United States are entiand in every market in the world. Government has no right to injure them by financial experiments opposed to the policy and practice of other civilized States, noris it justified in permitting an exaggerated and reliance on our Nationa strength and ability to jeopardize the sound ness of the people's money.

NOT A PARTY MATTER. This matter rises above the plane of party politics. It vitally concerns every business and calling and enters every household in the land. There is one important aspect of he subject which especially should never be overlooked. At times like the present, when the evils of unsound finance threaten us, the speculator may anticipate a harvest gathered from the misfortune of others, the capitalist may protect himself by hoarding, or even find profit in the fluctuation of values but the wage earner—the first to be injured by a depreciated currency and the last to re-ceive the benefit of its corrections—is practieally defenceless. He reties for work upon he ventures of confident and contented capi This failing him, his condition is with out alleviation, for he can neither prey on the misfortunes of others nor hoard his labor. WAGE PARNERS MOST APPECTED. One of the greatest statesmen our country has known, speaking more than fifty years agement of the currency had deepest interest in a sound currency and who suffers most by mischlevous legislation in money matters is the man who earns his daily bread by his daily toil."

The latest styles of coiffures affected by the modern fashionable woman are orate modes long prevalent in Japan. The revival of the 1830 style cannot be effected without the intervention of a 1916 skillful hairdresser. Some women simplify the matter by using a detachable chignon and "front" which can be securely fastened to the head by improved attachments, and which have the undeniable merit of never becoming disarranged. But where there is an abundance of natural tresses, this convenient expedient becomes as impracticable as it is undesirable. With instruction and a very little practice, a new method of

DAY SERMON.

Subject: "Fireside Musing."

TEXT: "While I was musing the fire burned."—Psalm xxxix., 3.

Here is David, the psalmist, with the fore-finger of his right hand against his temple, the door shut against the world, engaged in contemplation. And it would be well for us to take the same posture often, closing the door against the world while we sit down in to take the same posture often, closing the door against the world while we sit down in sweet solitude to contemplate.

In a small island off the coast I once passed a Sabbath in delightful solitude, for I had resolved that I would have one day of entire quiet before I entered upon antumnal work. I thought to have spent the day in laying out plans for Christian work, but instead of that it became a day of tender reminiscence. I reviewed my pastorate. I shook hands with an old departed friend, whom I shall greet.

an old departed friend, whom I shall greet remember the old minister who consecrated again when the curtains of life are lifted.

The days of my boyhood came back, and I was a good the same back, and I was a good to the course of the same back, and I was a good to the course of the same back, and I was a good to the course of the same back, and I was a good to the course of the grandest harvest that was ever reaped." was 10 years of age, and I was 8, and I was 5. There was but one house on the island, and yet from Sabbath daybreak, when the bird chant woke me, until the evening melted into the bay, from shore to shore there were 10,000 memories, and the groves were a-hum with voices that had long ago ceased.
