John A. Shields of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, New York, all the papers, exhibits etc. in the suit, and argument in the case, will begin Tuesday Jan. 23. There is yet hope that the Waring Company may win, and certainly everyone here earnestly prays it may be so.

The Good Gazette, a weekly newspaper published at Grond, Florida, in its issue of January 4, 94, paid the following very prettily expressed tribute to the memory of our departed and highly esteemed fellow townsman George Wells Cheney.

Kind and genial in his manner, he was uncompromising and unswerving in principle, and where conscience impelled, beneath the velvet touch was the iron grasp.

Here we had hoped on this East Coast of Florida, which he loved, he would one day come, not as a casual visitor, but as a permanent resident.

TOWN NEWS.

When you have legal advertising to do kindly bear in mind the very important fact, and one by the way that does not seem to be generally understood, that it is entirely optional with you as to whether you will have your notices published in this paper or not.

This News is published here in town, in a home paper in every sense of the word, is kept constantly on file at the office, copy of access, and open to all proper inspection.

Therefore, when you have any probate or other legal notices, that are required by law to be published in a newspaper, just remember the facts stated above and govern yourselves accordingly.

WE SECOND THE MOTION.

The newspaper publisher's right to do business in a business like way, and his privilege to enjoy all the property he can legitimately achieve are so ably expounded by the editor of the Mitchell, (S. D.) Republican, that we very cheerfully give the following for wider dissemination.

WORTHY OF EMULATION.

The Salvation Army at Waterbury have just accomplished a piece of work in behalf of the poor people there, that is well worthy of emulation.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Rev. D. A. Haggerty read the annual report of St. James church, last Sunday, for the year ending Dec. 31, '93, and from it we glean some of the principal points and herein reproduce them for the benefit of our readers.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

Toy manufacturer, Jesse A. Crandall, of Brooklyn, has made an assignment. He holds 110 patents for toys invented by him, and says "if I took away my toys on inventions and allowed others to make money out of them, another mistake I made was my failure to advertise my change of location. Had I new printers ink I would not have had to respond."

Look at the new wagon just received by H. H. Day & Co. Hook's Cough Drops are the best cough drops ever made.

THE TRAVELERS.

Summary of the 30th annual statement of The Travelers Insurance Company of Hartford will be found elsewhere in THE NEWS, and a careful examination of the same will prove to be quite instructive to the general public.

SPREAD THIS.

Letters addressed to the Canadian Agriculturist and Home Journal, also to the Ladies Home Magazine, of Peterboro, Ontario, come back to the editor bearing a big stamp which reads: "The paper addressed is believed to be engaged in a business of a fraudulent character." - Seymour Record.

A grocery clerk in New York City was arrested a few weeks ago for selling two loaves of bread on Sunday, and was held by Judge Voorhes in default of $1000 bail.

TOWN NEWS.

A son was born to Edward Mc Cann of Wells street last Monday.

ANOTHER MASQUERADE.

The amusement committee of Company C will give another masquerade ball at the Lyceum.

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Wallace took place from her late residence, 423 East 8th street, New York City, last week, and was very largely attended.

REGULAR VISITORS MEET.

The regular meeting of the board of school visitors was held in the ninth district school building last Tuesday, beginning at 10.00 a. m.

A Heart's Song. In a rooming house on the Boston way...

WAS IT A ROSE?

Allice Wren was a very pretty little woman—a widow of thirty or thereabouts...

He was himself a widower of forty, and had been married several times...

From his landlady he gained some information concerning her; that she had been recommended to the summer boarding-house by Mrs. Brook's own pastor...

So, forthwith, he commenced an assiduous courtship of the widow, and so favorably were her attentions received...

As it happened, it was on the very evening of this waltz that Mr. Bowers and the fair widow were seated in a little rustic summer-house on the lawn...

"You know—that I love you so," he answered, tenderly, "else—may I say it, Allice?"

"You know—that I love you so," he answered, tenderly, "else—may I say it, Allice?"

"You know—that I love you so," he answered, tenderly, "else—may I say it, Allice?"

"You know—that I love you so," he answered, tenderly, "else—may I say it, Allice?"

"You know—that I love you so," he answered, tenderly, "else—may I say it, Allice?"

no! years is too noble a nature for that!"

"Dear little things!" she said softly. "Of course you will bring them to me."

Accordingly, when she next entered the parlor to receive him, she beheld a man in a red coat and a woman in a blue dress...

"I don't like to see you with her," he said, looking at her with a stern expression.

"I don't like to see you with her," he said, looking at her with a stern expression.

"I don't like to see you with her," he said, looking at her with a stern expression.

"I don't like to see you with her," he said, looking at her with a stern expression.

"I don't like to see you with her," he said, looking at her with a stern expression.

"Quite! and I need not ask how you have been. You look as blooming as your own roses!" he said gallantly...

"You have your boys with you, I see. How do they grow?"

"And your little pots—how are they?"

"Oh, blooming as lilies? There are two of them, Helen and Marie, with their mother."

"Their mother?" echoed Mr. Bowers, following the direction of the lady's glance...

"Yes—my sister. You know they were her children?"

"Really, I—y—never told me so," he stammered.

"Didn't I? But of course you guessed it, as I was sitting with her."

"And she looked admirably at her bouquet."

"Mr. Bowers felt half stunned."

"What a dreadful mistake this had been! What a dreadful blunder he had committed!"

Charles Morse was found dead in his barn on North Main street yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He was on the upper floor which was used as a work-shop, and when found, had a pipe in his hand, showing that he had been at work, was stricken down instantly and without a struggle. He suffered more or less from heart disease, which is said to have caused his death. He was missing since Tuesday and it is believed that he died that day. He had been in the habit of going out evening, and his family supposed he was absent on an errand of that sort. He was 57 years of age and leaves a wife and four daughters.

TOWN NEWS.

Additional local news on pages 4 and 8. Mrs. James Rutledge is quite sick. John Duggan is suffering with the grip. The remnant of the South East Club had a clam supper last Friday evening. A man was hurt to George Howitt of Birch street last Friday.

Frank Hood has moved from School street to Charter Oak. August Liddell's youngest boy has been quite sick with a cold this week. The dance at Apes' opera house last Monday evening was not well attended. P. M. Gorman bought a horse gray horse from Will Gray.

Thomas Hayes and family of School street, returned from Meriden last Wednesday, where they have been spending a couple of weeks. Bernard Donnelly rises to explain that he should be accredited with a girl baby instead of a boy, as our types had it last week.

The promises of Mrs. P. Quinn on Union street, were searched last Sunday night, by officers of the law but no liquor was found. A pleasant visit was enjoyed by members and friends of King David Lodge in Cheney Hall last Monday evening.

Proceeding Agent John E. Dana's only son is lying dangerously ill with typhoid and meningitis. Dr. Wilton is attending. James Yague of North street corner of Albany, had a little girl seriously afflicted with pneumonia. She is under the Wilton's care.

Admiral Gifford's Manchester Feb. 21. Joseph P. Blodgett, Will Farrell, Levi Drake, P. M. John Nelson's youngest child was baptised at his residence on Oak St. last Saturday. Rev. A. G. Olson performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a number of friends.

Bert, Hilton and Miss Katie Sligo were recently married and have come to reside in Hartford. Miss Sligo was a niece of Alfred C. House of School street, with whom she boarded. Major John H. Byrd of the 10th Cavalry, A. B. and F. as a battalion in Hartford last week Thursday evening, and extended order was also executed. Sergeant Major John P. Cheney assisted.

The estate of the late John P. Ford was appraised at $18,000, the bulk of which will, in all probability, fall to his wife and daughter, Mrs. Dwight Spencer, as they are the nearest of kin. The resignation of Mrs. Aaron Johnson as organist of the South Manchester Church, was not accepted and she has been induced to continue in all its positions.

Through the kind assistance of a generous-hearted friend, Miss Annie Brown has secured admission to the Hospital for Women at Roxbury, Mass., where she will receive necessary treatment. George Mays, our village blacksmith, is the happy father of a robust little girl, born last Wednesday. He had been expecting a "striker" for his blacksmith shop.

On Friday Feb. 2, South Manchester Division Sons of Temperance will have their anniversary celebration in Cheney Hall. Delegations from neighboring divisions have been invited and are expected to be present. Rev. J. M. Taylor attended an Epworth League convention in Myrtle last Tuesday and delivered an address entitled "Our League's Offer to Young Men". On Wednesday he will speak to a number of his former parishioners in Norwich.

John Lappan, who lives on Spruce street, close by Blacksmith Mays, had a daughter introduced to his family last Wednesday, at nearly the same time as that of Mr. Mays. Dr. Wilton attended both cases. Captain Connet of the Salvation Army has moved into Wm. Eneman's tenement on Spruce street, opposite the new market. The building which the Captain now occupies was formerly used as a barracks by the Salvationists.

H. N. Bliss has moved from Gildard to East Glastonbury, where he is running a farm, and serves his customers here the same as formerly. He used to be in the employ of Cheney Brothers, and is well known here. The Young Men's Catholic Association, Manchester, will give a grand social at Apes' opera house on Saturday evening Feb. 3rd. Wm. Keenan of this place gave piano selections. A musical and literary program was rendered and a very enjoyable event transpired.

Miss Mabel Yanch of Meriden who was drowned last week Thursday while skating, had been here the day previous inspecting the work in the ninth district school and intended to come here to teach at the next change of normal students in the school. Wednesday Feb. 1 will be Ash Wednesday, marking the commencement of Lent, and Easter Sunday will occur on March 25 which is unusually early. Let us hope it may bring with it an early Spring and vigorous resumption of our work, both of which will be most heartily welcomed and highly appreciated by all.

Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Olson arrived home from the West last Friday morning. Both are in as good health as could be expected, under the circumstances.
