LAWYER WOOD'S OPINION.

TO THE BOARD OF SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF MANCHESTER.

In compliance with your request, to state to you the duties of towns, and the powers of selectmen regarding highways independent of the street railway law of 1893. I respectfully submit the following...

What duties are imposed on towns, and what powers given to selectmen by statutes concerning highways...

Before examining the particular statutes imposing duties, or conferring powers relating to highways on the respective parties, your attention is called to the opinion of a Connecticut lawyer...

It has also been said that "The obligation of towns to make roads and to repair roads, is such an ancient one, that we are apt to think that it belongs to the idea of the town."

In the very first printed edition of our statute laws published in 1673, it was laid down that towns were bound to be at the expense of making roads, and of repairing unmade roads and bridges...

have great many false ideas about towns in this state, for the reason that our town law has not changed very much during two hundred and fifty years...

ways of the town to sound and good condition, such restoration being necessitated by the wear and tear of ordinary travel and the wash and filth of frost and storm...

alterations in any existing highway, any person may prefer an application therefor to the superior court of the county in which such town is, according to the provisions of section 2706...

While the selectmen in certain instances act as agents of the town, yet in other cases they are independent of the town, they are the agents of the law and act by special direction of the statute...

Again, "If the selectmen of any town, and any person interested in the highway or private way therein, cannot agree as to the damages sustained by or to the benefit accruing to, such person, they may cause encroachments to be removed from highways..."

Again, "Whenever necessary material for making or repaving any public highway in any town cannot be obtained without great inconvenience, from land owned or controlled by any person..."

Again, "In cities and boroughs, whose charters do not authorize them to lay out, alter, grade or grade and grade highways or making it convenient for public travel..."

Again, "Whenever any highway shall become blocked with snow to an extent that renders the same impassable for public travel, the selectmen of the town in which such highway is located..."

By the foregoing statutes the selectmen are especially authorized to lay out, alter, grade and grade and grade highways or making it convenient for public travel...

expressed by its vote, become the act of the town or any less the sole act of the selectmen. The office of selectmen is an ancient and honorable one and the constitution of Connecticut, Article 10, section 2, provides that each town shall annually elect selectmen...

On the main hall there are two chandeliers with 30 sixteen-candle power lamps in each, 15 of which in each chandelier may be lighted, dimmed or extinguished, independent of the other half. There are four other lamps in the main hall, besides those named above...

The switch board was built after an original design by E. N. Hooper, the electrician who put in this plant, and is one of the best things of its kind now in use. It is built of enameled slate, the base is 36x38 inches set in a handsome ash case with glass in front and at the sides...

While it is admitted that towns have the power in some instances to appoint an agent to perform some of the duties normally performed by the selectmen, yet this is not true in any instance, where the duties are defined by the statutes...

Notice. Miss Hubbell will not meet her singing class at Cheney Hall on night.

Fire in Manchester. Keweenaw Brothers paper manufacturer's stock house and contents, were burned to the ground about midnight last night.

The Horne and Gladders. On Wednesday afternoon May 2, 94 Dr. J. E. Gardner of Hartford shot the Turkey buzzard on D. Leil & Son's held a post-mortem examination and demonstrated that the animal had glanders...

Removal. On and after May 1, I will carry on my business as carriage painter at the shop of Adams Granite Works, East and First streets.

when these conditions are caused by constipation, and constipation is the most frequent cause of all of them.

One of the most important things for everybody to learn is that constipation causes more than half the sickness in the world; and it can all be prevented. Go by the book.

Write to B. F. Allen Company, 365 Canal street, New York, for the little book on CONSTIPATION (its causes, consequences and correction); sent free. If you are not within reach of a druggist, the pills will be sent by mail, 25 cents.

"Good—Like You." Her clear gray eyes were grieved and wet. She would have given her eyes for a pair of blue ones. "I would have you to be a young girl."

She meant it! Her sweet innocency, which sent a shiver up and down my spine, knew nothing of the wicked words that sometimes stray her mother's heart. "I would have you to be a young girl."

On Sabbath days the man of God reproves me often unwisely. "I would have you to be a young girl."

special use and happiness. Her birds, her flowers, her music; duty, duty, duty, she called it. "I would have you to be a young girl."

It was 5 o'clock in the morning. The house was very quiet, yet her father, she knew was up; she heard him walking past her window, as was his wont, at break of day. What if he strolled toward the river. The thought put spurs to her feet, and the flow rather than the flood down the stairs.

It was a rare thing to find in any part of China a man over twenty years of age who cannot read or write.

The manufacture of Greek antiquities has been a regular business in southern Russia for twenty years.

Some long leasehold property at Chancery, London, sold the other day at a price equal to $180 per superficial foot.

The Chan-Santa-Cruz Indians in Yucatan have never been conquered. No white has ever seen their city, which is defended by a swamp.

The word hairbreadth, now used for an infinitesimal space, was once a regular measure. It was the width of sixteen hairs laid side by side.

Cotton and cotton-weaving were introduced into Europe by Alexander the Great, who sent the material, the seed and the workmen from Persia and India.

Lamb hashed with bananas is one of the breakfast dishes which often figure on the menu of the most famous restaurant in New York. It tastes better than it sounds.

A German physiologist counted the hairs on the head of a red-haired man, and found 94,000 of them. As he is bald and melancholy himself, and the task consumed many months, he took to drink and became mildly insane.

A big bouquet of Australian cut flowers, which had been frozen, was recently sent Queen Victoria by Lady Duff. After the ice had been thawed the blossoms are said to have presented as fresh an appearance as though just gathered.

A Diver's Experience with Ghosts. A diver who went down to work on the steamship Viscaya, which was in collision and sunk off Barnegat light, had a gruesome experience. It was a difficult job, so two divers were sent down—one of them to remain on deck in sixty feet of water, to act as second tender to the other diver who went below. The latter had been jerked but a few minutes when three jolks came over the life-line. When he had been hauled up on to the deck he was so unnerved that he forgot he was still in sixty feet of water, and signalled to have his helmet removed.

When both divers had been hauled to the surface, he said that while he was working through a gangway, he had seen a white object coming toward him; and that he had seen a white object coming toward him; and that he had seen a white object coming toward him.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

DRESSING THE HAIR. Part your hair in the middle, waving it deeply. Allow a few locks to stray forward on the sides, curling them towards the temples, and allow them to remain in curls rather than coming them out. Have a fluffy, but very light bang a little longer in the center than on the sides. The waved portion of your hair carry back loosely and let it pin with the rest, which you should braid and turn under, tying with a black ribbon. Let the side hair fall out as much as possible without looking too pronounced.—[Detroit Free Press.]

THE NEWEST BLAZERS. A pretty white duck blazer, with hair line of black, has a fitted back with full gored skirt two inches deep. Two side fronts and single dart adjust it. The fronts turn back in revers and a notched collar much wider than men wear. The sleeves are large gilette pleated at the top. The skirt has six gored—two on each side much sloped, the front and back nearly straight—and is about four yards wide at the foot. Such fabrics are double-faced and need no lining. Pipe-buzzers, cut short and full in the bust, are rounded below to show rest of skirt, and have a notched collar stitched near the edges. Curved slit pockets are on the sides.—[Harper's Bazar.]

WOMEN AS PUBLIC SPEAKERS. "If women are going to speak in public," said a man the other day, "they must become public speakers. I've listened lately several times to women presenting their views from a platform, and I've lost every bit of interest in those views because of the thin, throaty voices which uttered them. A woman's voice is attuned to a small room; she cannot stretch it to fill a large one without practice—that is, the majority of women cannot. With the megaphone, it is possible to take an object lesson in this, and a woman has only to have a cylindrical object of her papers, and then to speak herself out of a dozen seats away, and her own voice cloquence turned on, to amaze at the sounds she will hear. If her vanity doesn't send her flying to the nearest theater of eloquence, she will be the exceptional woman—in having none.—[New York Times.]

There is a woman in Oakland, Cal., who is such an expert shot that when she desires a chicken for dinner she steps out into the back yard, pistol in hand, and unconcernedly shoots off the head of the first good broiler that gets within range. Her maiden name was Lydia Dodge, and from early girlhood she had been fond of pistol, rifle and shotgun practice. In fact, she has never been able to get away from the subject, for before she was married to H. R. Crane she used to teach the young ladies how to shoot in a backwoods school. Her husband is a crack shot and a fair game deer hunter, and under his tutelage she has become remarkably proficient with rifle and pistol.

Mrs. Crane recently surprised the members of the Columbia Pistol and Rifle Club by blazing away at the shell mound range targets with a 40.5 Winchester like a veteran. She stood the recoil without flinching, and struck the bull's eye repeatedly at 200 yards. The club proposes to admit her to membership.—[New York Journal.]

HYGIENE AND COSMETICS. Any cosmetic which helps to improve or beautify an organ without injuring the health is helpful to hygiene. In other cases, however, although the desire to be beautiful is natural, the cosmetic used are injurious. The eye, for example, and the cosmetic becomes a wicked enemy to hygiene. If one applies himself to a careful and scientific care of the skin, he must employ very important hygienic means. If one makes his bath tender by continually wearing a covering which will not allow the air to come through, premature baldness will be the result. If one considers the normally built human foot beautiful and has a covering made reasonably suitable to its shape, he fulfills a very important hygienic condition for good walking. If one considers the pointed shoe handsome and forces his foot into it, this is a cosmetic, and by no means a hygienic one. Crisples, corns and calluses are the result. We see, therefore, that hygiene and cosmetics stand in no relationship to each other, and should not be separated. Hygienic measures are dictated by reason; cosmetics by vanity. Naturally those

Why not, indeed?

When the Royal Baking Powder makes finer and more wholesome food at a less cost, which every housekeeper familiar with it will affirm, why not discard together the old-fashioned methods of soda and sour milk, or home-made mixture of cream of tartar and soda, or the cheaper and inferior baking powders, and use it exclusively?

How to Dress. If there is any one thing a woman ought to know, writes "Bab," it is how to dress herself, and yet, somebody who, is very little over five feet, with a waist that would require to be lugged in sections, and a general development under her chin that hints at a dairy, will elect to wear a black brocade with huge bouquets of pink roses upon it, and nobody has the courage to tell her what a mistake she has made. If anybody did say anything she would cry; that kind of a woman always cries and says that the material was handsome, and she could not help being fat. Well, she can help looking fat. She has a funny fashion of wearing a jet belt. Now, any kind of a belt will make her look larger, but she ought to know just as she does not know how to dress, she does not know how to carry it. The eagle buried its claws in the child's clothing and succeeded in carrying him a short distance. The boy was heavy and struggled desperately, and the eagle was forced to the ground with its burden, not, however, releasing its hold. The boy then succeeded in scattering stones with which he dealt the eagle a blow on the head. The bird was dazed for a moment, and was secured by several railroad employes who had come to the boy's assistance.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Whether the presence of germs in milk on every trip a bottle of Pyralis, as it is now known, is not only effective on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

Carpet tacks, of which our grand-grandfathers knew nothing, are now grumbled at the rate of 50,000,000 a day.

Light gloves wear longer than dark ones because the coloring process necessary to produce a dark color rots the skin and shrivels it.

Cap and loose wraps are a necessity not to be ignored while large sleeves are in vogue, so they are sure to be more than jacket.

Combined in great earnest for ribbon trimmings for the decoration of their gowns and millinery for the spring season.

White ribbons sewed together, gathered on one edge like a ruffle and finished at each side of the front breadth with a rosette.

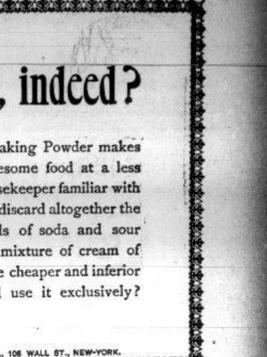

Skirts are slightly stiffened in the back by an interlining of stiff muslin or gossamer cloth, which comes for the purpose of its being more than hair cloth and not so heavy.

New creped zephyr gowns come in stripes, chain and dotted effects, some of the fabrics showing a creped color stripe alternating with one in cream or ivory white, likewise crinkled.

Very pretty vine-embroidered, over-stuffed or tack and insertion, all-over fabrics in lawn, French muslin and Indian linen are shown this season, designed for yokes, waists and bordering for summer dresses.

Braids has been treated in a new way, which has found especial favor for mantles and capes. A collar of graduated rows of braid, united by herring-bone stitches of black silk, is supplemented by a plaited flounce of the same style, used for edging the cape and skirt of the cloak.

Besides the language of every line of every inch of the design, and of every yard, from one inch to one of every yard, in cream, rose, white, black and butter color, are more novel garnitures of filled tulle lining with sparkling sequins and sequins. These will be alike popular for bodice trimming and decorations in millinery.

TOWN NEWS.

A new born son greeted Mr. and Mrs. John Ringrose last week Friday. Henry A. Lydall delivered an interesting address before the Manchester Temperance League Monday evening. He spoke for an hour on his experiences for four years in the late war, during which time he took part in twenty eight battles. He was listened to with the closest attention and his recital of many of the incidents was thrilling.

Mrs. Mary Foley died at the residence of her brother-in-law, Florence Mahoney, of Tolland township, (with whom she lived for over 14 years), last Wednesday. Her funeral will take place this Friday morning at nine o'clock. Services will be held at St. Bridget's church by Rev. Richard C. Dragan. She was also a sister of Patrick Dwyer of Maple street. She was a widow and leaves no children.

Some fifteen representatives of the so called Coxy movement reached this place Saturday evening. They were permitted to sleep in the town hall and the kind hearted citizens furnished them with ample food. They took their departure on Monday morning, for Middletown, leaving pleasant recollections of the hospitable treatment they were accorded in South Manchester.

The cart of the Adams Granite Works, corner of Pearl and Ford streets, Hartford, appears in the advertising columns of The News, and to the attention of our readers is directed. It is a handsome fire less long established, having a reputation for turning out good work, and this season, is under the direction of an energetic manager, Mr. C. T. Adams, who means to make it an object for people to trade with him. He has laid in a new stock and is prepared to execute orders promptly and correctly.

The meeting in Cheney Hall last Sunday evening to celebrate the golden anniversary of the grand division Sons of Temperance was well attended. Rev. Alfred Smith of Boston spoke for one hour, giving some historical account of the rise, growth, development and good work of the order during the past half century. He made a strong plea for all temperance workers and citizens in general, to unite and see that the laws seeking to control and subside the liquor traffic were properly enforced.

Mrs. Mary Ahern, who has resided in this town for the past thirty years, died at her home in Frog Hollow last Sunday. Her funeral took place Tuesday morning, services being held in St. James church at 9 o'clock, by Rev. D. A. Haggerty, who offered up a requiem high mass for the repose of her soul. The funeral was largely attended, as Mrs. Ahern was a woman that had many friends and was well thought of. She leaves two daughters. They have a comfortable homestead, the result of hard good management and frugality on the part of their parents. Maurice Tooley was the undertaker.

IRONS-BRITTON. George W. Irons and Miss Mary A. Britton were married at the residence of the bride's mother on Winter street Thursday morning, May 3, at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. A. Fildes officiated.

CARD O THANKS. I wish to hereby publicly thank my neighbors and friends for their kind assistance during the last illness of my dear departed husband, and also for their condolences, cordial words of sympathy and good cheer, and the many marks of esteem shown me both: all of which are heartily appreciated by his bereaved wife. Respectfully, Mrs. BERNARD DONNELLY, South Manchester, Conn., May 2, 94.

Y. W. C. T. U. A meeting of the Y. W. C. T. U. will be held at the residence of Miss Anna Hastings Monday evening May 7, beginning at 7 o'clock. As business of importance is to be transacted, it is expected that all members will attend. They are making arrangements for holding a "Clothes Pin Social" in the town hall about the latter part of this month, full particulars of which will be given in The News later on.

CONNECTICUT EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION. The next meeting of the Connecticut Editorial Association will be held at the Allen House, Hartford, Monday evening May 21, 94. Papers will be read as follows: "Benefits of Buying Paper Stock of Drummers," Henry T. Meehan, representing John Carter & Co., Boston; "Libel," E. G. Allen, Shore Line Times; "Critical Criticisms," E. S. Fla, Herald, Manchester; "Practical Hints," F. P. White, Standard Patriot.

RICHARDSON-FARQUHAR. Jonathan Richardson of Enfield, Mass., and Miss Ellen Farquhar of South Manchester, were married at the rectory of the Episcopal church on Wednesday, May 2nd at 3 p. m. The Rev. J. A. Bidde officiated. James Harrison was best man and Miss Emily Farquhar, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. The happy couple have gone to homekeeping in Enfield, Mass. A wedding reception was held at the residence of Wm. Harrison, and the bridal couple received a number of handsome and valuable presents.

The Glenwood Range

Contains many new features combined with those proven by experience to be very valuable. Every detail has been considered at great length by men who have had long experience in the business, and nothing has been left undone to make this a perfect range. The castings are of the best quality of iron, and their smoothness and fineness of texture are remarkable. This range should be critically examined to fully comprehend all its many points of excellence.
