WALLOPED THE WINSTEDS. One of the largest audiences that ever assembled on Mt. Nobe to witness a ball game, was present last Monday afternoon, to see the game between the Winsteds and the South Manchesters.

The Winsteds were the acknowledged champions of the state, they were favored to win a great victory, but no one here dared to predict a victory for the home team. Expectations however ran very high, everybody was interested, and everybody who could conveniently do so was present.

All the neighboring towns sent delegations, Rockville and Talcoville being especially well represented. Sports from Willimantic, Hartford, Thompsonville and other distant points were also on hand.

A dispute arose about the pitching distance, the Winsteds insisting upon the 60-foot limit, while Bowers contended for the 55-foot distance, which he has been working all summer.

In looked at one time as if we would have no game, as the Winsteds folded up their little traps and quietly strolled away.

The audience began to murmur and give evidence of its displeasure at anything being allowed to stand in the way of seeing this particular game.

The matter was finally adjudged by Bowers consenting to pitch the 60-foot distance. The Winsteds were called back and the game began, with the local players at the bat.

Seven menaving the stick effectively in the first inning, and piled up three runs. The Winsteds were retired in one, two, three order, not one of them seeing first base. They all struck short and were easily put out.

Moynihan opened the second with a two-bagger, but Cheney, Behnfeldt and Sullivan made short hits and did not reach first.

The Winsteds were set to sleep again on a long fly, a fan and a short strike, without finding first.

Bowers opened the third with a high fly which was handsomely muffed. Thomson made a foul fly and did the Mills safe and brought Bowers home, but was caught "off his base" at second and put out, and Spillane hit a long fly which was safely caught and the side retired.

The Winsteds could not ascertain the fact that there was a first base in the third inning, as they abided in numerical order on two short strikes and a wind mill.

Winsteds came to the bat in this inning, which was the first time that more than three had seen a chance to face the, (to them), invincible Bowers. One of them went out on a short strike to first, another on a long fly to center, and the third and last one did the fanning act on a foul fly to Mackey. Doyle did at first on a short hit, Moynihan hit safe for first, Cheney got base on balls, Behnfeldt found the leather for a bag.

There were three men on base when Sullivan took up for first, bringing in Doyle on a foul fly, bringing in Moynihan. Bowers came to bat next with three men still on bases and expectations ran high that he would line the ball over the fence and bring in all three hits of the assortment best known to human lips, he made a short strike and was flied out at first, thus retiring the side. In this inning Cheney was caught "off his base" trying to get acquainted with the home plate, and came in on a long fly to center, which was cooled the third baseman and fondly embraced the cushion, amid the yells and applause of the multitude.

The Winsteds were disposed rapidly in the sixth, the first strike going out a fly to right, the second striking for first, the ball three times without smacking into it pieces and the third going out on a short tap to second.

In the seventh inning every member of the home team came to bat but Bowers and every one of them pounded the ball knocking in two runs and driving it in over the fence. Spillane, Behnfeldt and Sullivan went out on fly scrapers, but they all had plenty of fun before they were all out.

Five Winsted players took the scratch in the seventh inning. The first was flied out by Bowers, the second and third hit safely for first, the fourth seemed to have a spiteful feeling against the air and pounded it incessantly three times, which the umpire very modestly invited him to take a seat, and the fifth between was put out by Behnfeldt on a very handsome back catch, for which the latter was generously applauded.

The home team did not score in the eighth inning, although five of them struck the ball, but they were promptly flied out.

The Winsteds managed to make two runs in the eighth, six of their warriors swinging the cudgel in defense of the base center of the ball and the weather on their brow, under the scorching sun they were receiving from fomen that they found to be in every way "worthy of their steel."

In the ninth inning Simmons seemed all the while to be in a bad humor, he invited him to take a seat, and the fifth between was put out by Behnfeldt on a very handsome back catch, for which the latter was generously applauded.

After half of the ninth inning the Winsteds did not score, and they started for home feeling anything but jubilant.

Although the attendance was very large, the best of order was maintained, thus giving the lie to the local tale that will as in former years, conduct a railing and recreation tent, upon the military camp ground, at Niantic, Conn., Aug. 11-18, 1894 inclusive, for the convenience and benefit of the men of the national military guard.

BUYING FOR CASH. A. H. Skinner has entered upon a new arrangement, in the management of his store beginning August 1, introducing a strictly cash system in all departments.

He has made sweeping reductions on all lines, and intends to make an object for economic buyers, who want honest goods at lowest living prices, to buy for him and pay cash for every article. He will buy his goods at the best possible advantage for spot cash, and sell his patrons in the same way, thus making clean work of it on both ends.

His motto is "Quick sales and small profits for cash." For some of his new prices in dry goods, boots and shoes read his large advertisement which appears elsewhere in "THE NEWS."

MRS. DRAKE WILL GO TO HOLYOKE. Mrs. Charles Drake has had her household effects packed up and will move to Holyoke, Mass., where she formerly resided. She has been in this town some fifteen years, has become very much attached to the place, and will leave with a sad heart, as she had formed many pleasant associations here, that uncontrollable circumstances compel her to break, and this town has become more of a home to her than Holyoke, as she has quite lost the friends of her youth, but still her relatives reside in Holyoke and she chooses to join them.

She will be missed here very much, as she was a woman who was highly respected and in her long stewardship has proved her worth in many occasions and earned the confidence and respect of all with whom she had dealings.

Members of Company G, will find "The News" in the Y. M. C. A. tent.

LIEUTENANT KEENEY. (Continued July 27.) Captain Charles L. Bissell presided at a special meeting of Company G, to-night to elect a second lieutenant as a successor to Thomas Crockett, discharged.

Fifty-eight of the sixty-seven members of the company were present. On an informal ballot Sergeant Harry Keeneey received 37 votes, Corporal Charles Lord 9, Corporal Joseph Nichols 8 and Sergeant Major J. P. Cheney 7.

The election of Keeneey was made formal and unanimous. Young Keeneey is a son of Captain Arthur B. Keeneey, who was for many years in command of Company G.

After the election, John Marley, who was first sergeant of the company and whose term of service expired recently, made a public apology to Captain Bissell and the members of the company.

Mr. Wm. Hobbs, sr. and daughter visited with friends in New Britain this week.

Prescriptions put up at Cheney's drug store seem to "get things" every time. Only pure, active drugs used.

THE CIRCUS WAS HERE. On Wednesday last Walter L. Main's combined circus and menagerie gave two performances on Hollister's lot.

The newspaper men were entertained most cordially by John Defer, the very genial and gentlemanly press agent, who extended every courtesy possible to them. He is a man with whom it is a pleasure to do business, and newspaper men everywhere will be glad to form his acquaintance.

The parade was out short, through a misunderstanding, by the manager, who left Main street at Birch, passed through Cottage street to Oak, to Main and thence back to the circus grounds, while hundreds of people were watching to see it come down to Cheney's way to pass among the silk mills, and all should do heretofore, as many were so much disappointed at not seeing the parade, which by the way, was one of the finest ever shown here, that they did not go to the exhibitions.

The shows in themselves were good ones, they have many clever performers and put up a good entertainment.

A wonderful feature of the show was the riding lion, who actually appeared in the ring, riding on horseback, at full speed, got off on a high board while the horse passed under and then mounted the lion to the great amusement of the spectators.

This is certainly a remarkable feat, as showing what a power human ingenuity can wield over such a ferocious animal as the lion.

In the menagerie two handsome colts and their mother attracted a great deal of attention, as did also a baby monkey and its mother. These are special features of the menagerie that everyone was delighted to see.

Another original specialty was a "rooster orchestra" in the side show, which is certainly a unique affair, and worth seeing. Taking it all in all the show is a good one, and will be worth a visit to the circus in former years, but still was very satisfactory, all things considered. No failures were seen and the show is a clean one in every particular.

IN FULL SWING.

The grocery department of Cheney's store was closed for inventory all day and evening last Tuesday, and on Wednesday morning opened up under the firm title of C. D. Strickland & Son, the transfer of the business having meanwhile been made. Messrs Strickland & Son are getting matters in shape as rapidly as possible and business is being conducted with the same smoothness and regularity as heretofore. The announcement of the new firm will be found elsewhere in The News and to it the attention of our readers is respectfully invited.

PROMOTED.

Miss Annie McDonough, who has been cashier and assistant bookkeeper with W. H. Cheney's Sons for the past two years, has been placed in charge of the cash and books in the store of C. D. Strickland & Son. Miss McDonough has filled the position with W. H. Cheney's Sons, with faithfulness, honesty, accuracy and capability, and Messrs Strickland & Son are fortunate in securing her services. She leaves with the warmest recommendations of her former employers, who, together with her many friends, rejoice at her well merited advancement.

AARON JOHNSON IS FOREMAN STILL.

In buying out the grocery department of W. H. Cheney's Sons, Messrs C. D. Strickland & Son have retained all the employees, so that in as far as the patrons of the store are concerned, the service will be the same as heretofore. The same men will run the teams and supply the people on their respective routes, and in the store, Aaron Johnson will still be foreman just as he has in the past.

Mr. Johnson has served the public in Cheney's store for the past 13 years, starting in at the foot of the ladder, and by hard work, faithful, honest, intelligent, manly, courteous and upright conduct, has worked his way up to the very top-most round, and holds the unbounded respect and confidence of his late employers, the good will of his subordinates, and is a great favorite with patrons of the store.

He is thoroughly familiar with every branch of the great grocery business which W. H. Cheney's Sons have built up, and Messrs Strickland & Son are to be congratulated on having secured his services, as his thorough knowledge of the store and its patrons is invaluable and his general business qualifications are of such a character as to peculiarly fit him for the distinguished position which he has filled so long, so well and so satisfactorily.

His many friends will be pleased to learn that he can still be found at his old post of duty where he will be happy to serve them in the future as he has in the past.

FREE LIBRARY.

The free library was opened last Tuesday and books can now be secured the same as heretofore. Some necessary repairs were made on the interior while the building was closed.

This is a good place for our young people to spend their spare evenings, as there is an excellent collection of books, magazines, newspapers etc. placed at their disposal and a fine opportunity is here afforded for all persons so inclined to go and improve their minds, free of cost, and certainly the opportunity should be embraced.

Questions are constantly arising on which the young and active mind needs information, and if persons have not got the books treating on these subjects at their homes, let them go to the library and see if they cannot find them.

They will be always made welcome, and certainly they could not be better employed than in adding to their store of general knowledge in this way. Men's ready made suits in nice variety at Peter McParlane's.

Rev. Julian S. Wadsworth will preach at the Willimantic camp meeting Wednesday afternoon Aug. 8. Subject "In the Footsteps of Paul in Athens."

Rev. Julian Wadsworth will deliver in his church Sunday evening the third in the Egyptian series of popular Sunday evening lectures sermons. The subject will be "The Land of Goshen and its Last Remaining Obolisk."

The prolonged drought and hot weather have practically ruined the huckleberry crop hereabouts, and what promised, a few weeks ago, to be a prolific yield, is now withered and shriveled up in head and shriveled, and a very short supply must necessarily be the result. It is too bad that this is so, as the huckleberry is a staple article of food and highly prized.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

SOCIETY IDUN.

The annual reunion of Society Idun was held in the Swedish Lutheran church last Friday evening and was largely attended. The principal address was made by Herr Lagerlof, who gave an account of the good work the society had done during the past year, showing how useful it had proven itself in the times of adversity through which we have just passed, and urging upon all the importance of keeping up the good work of furnishing aid and comfort to one another in times of distress.

Vocal music was rendered by the church choir, Ebon, quartet and a quartet of mixed voices. Solos were sung by Miss Esther Vilkberg and Herr Lagerlof. Recitations were given by S. J. Ohquist, Miss Lotten Carlson, August Rydin, Misses Esther and Frith Vilkberg, and the reunion was one of the pleasantest the society has had.

RETURNED THE BEER.

The 132 bottles of lager beer seized in the refrigeration of the Cowles last several weeks ago, was ordered returned to the owner, Theodore Goset, superintendent at the Mather Electric company's works, who boards at the Cowles hotel and bought the beer for his own private use.

He claimed the property when the commission proceedings were brought before Justice Ellsworth, and showed receipts bills, proving that he had bought and paid for same.

No objection was offered to the contrary, after mature deliberation, the justice ordered it returned to the owner.

NEW STORE AND TIN SHOP.

L. S. Emmons has opened a new store and tin shop back of his residence North Main street, directly opposite the North Congregational church.

He handles the goods of the Barstow Store Company, having been in their employ these many years, and is a practical stove man, having worked at every branch of the business more or less for the past forty years. He understands his work thoroughly, is very skillful in the matter of setting up and operating heaters etc., and has a large line of goods that are said to be unexcelled by anything in the market. He will be pleased to have his many friends give him call, when in need of anything in his line.

SUPERINTENDENT OF TOWN FARM.

Charles E. Taylor has been appointed by the selectmen, as keeper of the town farm, to succeed Charles Drake, deceased. He took charge August 1, and has moved his family there. He is brother-in-law to C. W. Allen, by whom he has been employed as clerk in the Cowles hotel for several years, and has had considerable experience at farming. The experience obtained in these two callings will serve the better to qualify him for the important position and trust now confided to him. It is stated that Mrs. Taylor is a very capable woman, and will be greatly aided in strengthening the management and making it a success.

The free library was opened last Tuesday and books can now be secured the same as heretofore. Some necessary repairs were made on the interior while the building was closed.
