The weather has been remarkably fine for a week or two past. Lucius Pinney is visiting his son Frank at the Annapolis navy yard.

The republicans nominated Edwin J. Smith of Hartford, for sheriff of this county last week Friday. Miss Christina Hutchinson spent the week visiting with friends in Glenbury.

John Marshall has had quite a struggle with typhoid fever, but is now thought to be nearly well. R. Benson of Pine street is quite ill. Dr. Bradley has been in charge.

The electric light, telephone and telegraph wires were more or less broken by Wednesday's wind storm. Hibbard Lodge, O. D. H. S. will give a dance in the Armory Saturday evening Oct. 20.

Mr. Minnie Hiner, 31 Chestnut street is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever. Twenty colored comedians will appear in the production of "Slavery Days" at Apel's opera house tomorrow evening.

The republican convention for the second senatorial district will assemble in Hartford tomorrow, at 92 Pearl street. Herbert O. Bowers moved into his new law office, over Cheney's store, last Tuesday.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the grand lodge Knights of Honor, of Connecticut will assemble in New Haven Tuesday Oct. 16. On a recent hunting expedition Frank B. Tryon secured five coons. This is about the best catch that we have heard of up to date.

Read what Tiffany the jeweler at 285 Main street has to say on the Browning question, in his new advertisement in another column. The Rockville Journal issued a half size portrait of Hon. E. Stevens Henry, republican nominee for congress for the first district, as a supplement, last week.

Negro plantation scenes, songs, dances, tambourine playing and general jollification will be the features at Apel's opera house tomorrow evening. An anniversary requiem mass, for the late Father Campbell, will be sung in St. James' church tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 9 o'clock.

The South Manchester base ball team will play the Glastonbury tomorrow afternoon. They will leave Cheney's store at 1 o'clock, going by bus. Remember that Manager Apel will run a special train Saturday evening Oct. 13 after the performance of Slavery Days at the opera house.

Mrs. William Walker, 119 Main street is convalescing, after a run of typhoid fever. She is under Dr. Bradley's care. Fred Waldo was at Antietam this week attending the demonstration by the G. A. R. He is a veteran of the 16th Connecticut Volunteers.

Charles McKee attended the G. A. R. celebration at Antietam this week. He fought on that famous battle field with the 16th Conn. Vols. A good investment for any young man or woman is a course in shorthand or telegraphy at Robertson's school, Hartford, Conn.

Watkins Brothers are offering some excellent bargains just now. Read their new advertisement in another column. Mrs. Lulu Doane was thrown from her bicycle last Saturday night, while riding on Main street, and was severely injured.

The democratic congressional convention for the first district renominated the Hon. Lewis Sperry last Monday. Mr. Sperry has already served two terms in congress.

Mrs. Anna Anderson of Waterbury and her sister, Miss Hanna Larson of Moline, Ill., have been the guests of Rev. A. G. Olson and family this week. J. H. and Mrs. Biron have been away all week visiting Antietam and other battle fields and attending the grand army exercises at those places. They are expected back tomorrow.

Miss Lizzie McCann is lying dangerously ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Davidson, 28 Church street. She had a cancer removed at the Hartford hospital some months ago. Large numbers of people walked out last Sunday to inspect the work on the tramway. The day was a delightful one, full of balmy breezes, blue sky and life giving sunshine.

The Epworth League convention will be held in the South M. E. church Tuesday Oct. 23. It is expected that the exercises will last one day and evening. Leon M. Holcomb and Belle M. Hayes, were married in Granby, Oct. 3, and have taken up housekeeping on Prospect street. Mr. Holcomb is employed in A. H. Skinner's store.

Don't fail to attend Professor Carpenter's mesmerism entertainments in Apel's opera house Oct. 15 and 16. They are the best of their kind we have any knowledge of. The Park building is to be heated by steam this winter. A Rockville plumber secured the contract for piping. Steam will be supplied from the boilers in the hotel building adjoining.

Beginning Tuesday Oct. 16, the steamer "Hartford", of Hartford & New York line, will leave Hartford daily at 4 p. m. instead of 5 o'clock as at present. There will be no change in the leaving time at New York. Arrangements are being made to place a new iron fence around the soldiers' monument at the Center in accordance with a vote passed at the last town meeting, when, on motion of E. D. Cheney a sum not to exceed $450, was appropriated for this purpose.

TOWN NEWS.

'CHARLEY'S AUNT.'
'Charley's Aunt' which has proved the funniest comedy seen in either London or New York for a decade will have its first production Tuesday evening, Oct. 23 at the Armory.

It is the work of Brandon Thomas, a clever English actor, who has written several pieces for the London stage and who has produced in 'Charley's Aunt' a success such as a playwright rarely meets in his second year in the English metropolis and its extreme popularity may be guessed at from the fact that it has run all through the London summer with no diminution in the size of its audience. It is a comedy full of surprising complications and with a central figure which is the essence of eccentricity. This character, which gives the title to the piece, is that of an underdog, a man who, to oblige a couple of his chums and help them through an embarrassing predicament, consents to impersonate for about fifteen minutes, an expected widow from Brazil, who has failed to present herself at the time specified for her appearance. Once her chums and help them through an embarrassing predicament, consents to impersonate for about fifteen minutes, an expected widow from Brazil, who has failed to present herself at the time specified for her appearance. Once her chums and help them through an embarrassing predicament, consents to impersonate for about fifteen minutes, an expected widow from Brazil, who has failed to present herself at the time specified for her appearance.

TO BE TRANSFORMED.
The Manchester correspondent of the Times writes that the following interesting account of the proposed transformation of Depot Square, and we gladly reproduce it for the information of our readers.

The sandy plot of ground near the Manchester depot, called Depot Square, which has for years been an eyesore to residents in the vicinity, will be, before another summer, transformed into a handsome park. The annual town meeting appropriated $100 for the laying out of the square, providing an equal sum was raised by private subscription. The committee appointed under the vote of the meeting has nearly $500 towards the work, and will, we trust, be able to complete the plan.

There is no escape from his predicament. After a dinner party in the second act which he is forced to attend in his disguise, he is sent into a drawing room with the ladies, though he is aching for a smoke and passes ten minutes in a wretched feat his gossiping female companions will brood sunny topics which women are prone to touch upon when no male ears are within range, and to which he feels that he cannot, as a man of honor, be a listener. These points will give an idea of the humor of the piece. It may be readily seen that, amidst provoking complications are bound to ensue rapidly from the nature of the plot.

'That the coming of 'Charley's Aunt' has aroused unusual interest among comedy lovers is evident. The piece will be presented by an excellent company under the direction of Charles Frohman.

An interesting lecture.
A fair sized audience assembled in the South M. E. church last Sunday evening to listen to Rev. J. S. Waldworth's lecture on 'Rameses II, the third of the nineteenth dynasty of Egyptian rulers and they enjoyed quite a treat, for the discourse was quite pleasant and instructive.

He gave a number of interesting details that one cannot find in history, but the impression of one who was there, who has seen the royal remains, some of the monuments which he had erected, who walked over the same ground where this prince of Egypt had and pondered over the stirring scenes that had been there enacted over 3,000 years ago, were very much out of the usual order and all the more interesting. It was well worth listening to.

THE SCHOOL VISITORS QUESTION.
A good deal of interest is developing in the school visitors situation and the meeting of the joint board of school visitors and selectmen, which will be held at the school next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, is full of interesting possibilities.

As will be remembered Anna L. Biddle was declared elected at the annual town meeting, under protest, and it is found that she has registered, but is not a voter, that her husband, the Rev. J. A. Biddle, is not a voter, and the claim is made that under the circumstances she cannot legally hold the office of school visitor.

On the other hand it is urged that a statute passed in 1887, before women were given the privilege of voting in this state, declared that no person should be debarred from holding this office on account of sex, and that being the case, that the qualification of being a voter is not necessary, and therefore that the election of Mrs. Biddle is legal.

These are the points at issue, and an effort will be made to arrive at an agreement on them next Tuesday.

Herbert O. Bowers has been retained as counsel in behalf of Mr. Cowles and it is expected that Mr. Wood will act as legal adviser on the other side of the question.

Mr. Bowers will be at the meeting to present his side of the case, and Mr. Cowles will be on hand to act with the board at organization and otherwise.

A PRETTY ENTERTAINMENT.
The entertainment given by the Mutual Aid Society of the local Sons of Temperance, was attended by about 150 people, who thoroughly enjoyed the following program:

Reception, The Waiwading Regiment, Ethna Hutchings, solo, The Sentimental John, M. Aitkin; piano duet, Overture, Post and Pesant, Blanche Taylor and Eva Abbey; recitation, He Was a Little Deaf, Mrs. Mary Chamberlain, solo, Answer, Mrs. Dora Southwick; recitation, The Death Bed of Benedict Arnold, James F. Dougherty; duet, On the Moonlit Stream, John M. Aitkin and Fred Stage.

During the intermission, Part II. Banjo duet, Rocky Point, Schottische, Alice Chappell and May F. Reynolds; recitation, Poorhouse Man, George E. Keith; solo, Only Once More, Fred Stage.

Flag drill under the direction of Wm. A. Naylor, Lena Hohenhalt, Jennie Lind, Ed. Jennie Aspirwall, Gertrude White, Addie Howe, Florence Taylor and Sarah Weir.

During the intermission and after the entertainment, ice cream and cake were served in the lower hall. The society netted a neat sum from the proceeds, and similar channels were used for buying space in the best papers in town, which is an entirely new feature, and a very useful one, and the usual information as to churches, societies, business places etc. It also gives a list of removals from town from Sept. 1, 1892 to Sept. 1, 1894. It is a useful book to have.

THE RIGHT PLACE.
Do you advertise on the backs of restaurant bills? Are you putting a card in guide books? Are you susceptible to the blarneyings of the gentleman who puts beautiful charts in all the railway stations and hotels? Do you take a space—the only one left, in the thousand and one schemes that come around every day, or you ever get a cent's worth of benefit out of any ten dollars you ever spent that way? If all the dollars that are diverted from the newspapers into these and similar channels were used for buying space in the best papers in town, there would be fewer merchants who say that advertising is a doubtful undertaking.—Exchange.

SIXTY YEARS OLD.
We have before us a good poster of 'Macomber, Welch & Co's mammoth zoological exhibition' that spread its canvas 'At Woodbridge's hotel, Manchester, Saturday, Sept. 27, 1894.'

The poster is in a remarkably good state of preservation, and is owned by the person who attended the show at that time. It is quite a curiosity. It shows, by comparison, what a great change has been made in the printing of such posters since that time. It was considered in its day to be the leading affair of its kind in this country, but as a matter of course was nothing in that kind now on the road.

Plain white paper was used, illustrations of the different animals are given, and the opening announcement is as follows: 'This splendid collection of natural history, containing upwards of one hundred and twenty different varieties of zoological subjects, far exceeds any establishment ever exhibited in America. This magnificent display of the works of nature requires the assistance of no less than twenty-five horse, aided by fifty men, including the celebrated Tremont military band from the city of Boston; the whole arranged in three extensive pavilions, containing 120,000 square feet of canvas. Likewise a splendid gallery with seats, arranged and exclusively appropriated for the accommodation of ladies. Never has there been an exhibition where such order, style, neatness, and even elegance are preserved. Such is the marked superiority of the arrangement, as to afford the highest gratification to all who honor this establishment with a visit.

The band will be drawn in a splendid procession on the north side of the depot, and the grand cavalcade at each town or village will be announced by the band playing a number of popular airs.'

The show exhibited at Manchester, Mass., and no doubt there are several of our older inhabitants who may remember it with pleasure.

Pleasant Vincent, who located at the corner of Hale Day & Co. on Charter Oak street, hereby gives notice that he is prepared to do harness repairing in all its branches, and furnish any new parts desired. He solicits a share of the public patronage.

A well made, neat fitting, close looking, and desirable suit, cheaply made, can be procured at Peter McParlane's for a very reasonable sum of money. These are good strong points, and worthy of your serious consideration. Go there and be convinced.

MORIARTY-SPILLANE.
Thomas F. Moriarty and Miss Minnie Spillane were united in marriage Tuesday Oct. 9, 1894 in St. Bridget's church. A nuptial mass was sung by Rev. M. J. O'Connor of Edgeport, but formerly of this place, and a cousin of the groom, and the nuptial knot was also tied by James J. Moriarty was best man and Miss Bridget Roma bridesmaid.

The usher was Michael Moriarty of this place and Wm Manning of Windsor Locks.

The bride was attired in white broad cloth, trimmed with ribbons and lace, and carried lilies of the valley and a white enamel bridal prayer book. The bridesmaid wore cream colored cashmere and carried lilies of the valley. A wedding breakfast was served to about 100 persons, at the residence of Thomas Coleman on Lyall street.

After a brief honeymoon the young couple will occupy apartments in the Norman Loomis building, on Depot Square, which is already furnished for their occupancy.

THE NEW DIRECTORY.
Bowers' new 1894-5 directory for Manchester is issued, and persons in need of one should apply at once, as there are but a few extra copies on hand, and these may be had at Herbert O. Bowers' office, over Cheney's store, at Oliver Magne's new stand, at F. W. Mills' at C. H. Rowe's and at the Herald office.

The new directory map contains all the latest changes in streets, etc. that have been made since the last directory was issued, and also shows the route of the electric trolleyway.

The numbers of the residences are given in the directory, and this is an entirely new feature, and a very useful one, and the usual information as to churches, societies, business places etc. It also gives a list of removals from town from Sept. 1, 1892 to Sept. 1, 1894. It is a useful book to have.

Apel's Opera House,
Saturday, Evg. Oct. 13.
Second Annual Tour of the Biggest and Grandest Afro-American production ever presented in New York and New England Railroad Company's platform. The roadway will then follow in an easterly direction the New England Company's platform, passing on the north side of the depot and extending to Main street. North Main street, beginning at a point near Biswell's store, will be laid in crushed blue stone, extending to the railroad tracks, with a forty foot roadway. There will be two green plots in the center of the park with a stone driveway of blue stone passing between them. The old water tank on the square will be removed and two others, each of a capacity of 1000 gallons, will be erected by the committee, but there is no doubt that further subscriptions will come in and the committee feels secure in beginning the work. The New York and New England Railroad Company has agreed to haul the stone for the roadway over its line, free.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY.
If all people who have decayed teeth ever that they could have them filled at our office WITHOUT BRUSHING, we would need twenty operators to attend to our patients. Our friends are keeping us pretty busy as it is, we do not want the credit, but will demonstrate the on fire success of our painless method of filling teeth, to anyone who may be in doubt.
