TOWN NEWS.

The S.M.W.C.T.U. will meet in the library building Tuesday, April 3, at 2:30 p.m. "After the Ball" was presented in the opera house last evening to a fair sized audience, and gave very general satisfaction. The performance was a good one, and those who attended were well entertained. Advertiser Letters, South Manchester, Conn., March 29, 1895.

A farewell meeting will be held in the library building on Monday evening, April 2, at 8 o'clock. It will be in honor of Captain and Mrs. Lindsay Pruitt, who will be served and an admission fee of 15 cents a person will be charged. Cards are out announcing the marriage of Frank A. Cook and Miss Mary Post Markham, on Tuesday, April 9. Miss Markham is a teacher in the Porter district school, and the ceremony will take place at the residence of her parents in East Hampton.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that all the blood-purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or secret nostrum. Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a very few days.

In the Sultan's Daughter, Miss Ullie Akerstrom will introduce a new Turkish dance quadrille and solo. The dress she wears was copied from a picture exhibited at the World's Fair. She will be at the Army, Wednesday evening, April 3. The battalion drill in the Army last Monday evening was witnessed by quite a number of persons and was interesting. The platoons were under the direction of Captain Bissell, Lieutenants Cheney and Keener respectively, and the whole battalion was under command of Major John Hickey.

Ullie Akerstrom's dancing has always been one of the salient features of her entertainments. She has a peculiar style all her own, and her audience never tire of seeing her glide gracefully through the measures of the dances. She will be at the Army Wednesday evening April 3. In the debate at the high school last Friday, on the following: "Resolved, that soap is more beneficial than salt," the decision was given in favor of the negative and the disputants were affirmative, Valentine Pulsifer and Gladys Hutchinson; negative, Lillian Holman and Mabel Wolcott.

Joseph Hutson will set sail for his native home in the north of Ireland to-morrow, where he goes to recuperate. His health will probably remain there permanently. He has been in poor health for a long time past. It will be remembered that he buried his wife here something like a year ago. Bissell street has had some substantial and much needed improvements made on it recently, and teams as well as foot-passengers will find much comfort in passing through there now, as compared with what it has been heretofore. People residing in that vicinity have special reason to be joyful.

Left will be over in a couple of weeks more, and then the customary spring weddings may be expected. In anticipation of this fact C. Tiffany, our well known jeweler, has provided a line of wedding jewelry that will charm the heart of any bride or groom, and in his new advertisement in another column, invites all to step in and see the attractive display. John M. Tooley of Hudson street, who with his son Maurice J. Tooley, conducts an undertaking business over north, purchased of M. S. Chapman a strip of land at the corner of Main and Hilliard streets. It is announced that the sum paid was $1,200. Mr. Tooley will probably erect a building there in the near future.

The love scene between the "Middy," Mrs. Priscilla Dodge, three times married, and Alderman Larry McKewen, an Irishman not long over, with a fine brogue as soon in the drama "Hickory Farm" is one of the most laughable things ever presented on the stage. Larry says to Priscilla, "Av Romeo had discovered you before he met Juliet, Juliet would have died an old maid." The comes the balcony scene.—X. Y. Z. The newly elected officers of Washington Royal Orange Lodge are as follows: W. M. Henry, Treasurer; D. M. John, Crockett; Charles, James Marley, R. S. Samuel Gray, F. S. Thomas, J. Gardner, T. Irwin Chamber, D. C. Henderson, Chamber; 1st Comd., J. H. McNally; 2nd Comd., James Harrison; J. T. John, Master; O. T. David Warner; 1st Comd. Man, J. H. Walsh, Wm Harrison, Thos. Foy, Thos. W. Tedford, Robt. Gogrove; trustees, J. H. Walsh, Irwin Chambers and James Marley.

LOOKS MORE LIKE TROLLEY NOW. The work of re-tracing the trolley wire was commenced last Monday, and it would seem that, with any reasonable sort of weather, it should not take long to finish the work. There is a piece of track to be laid from Watkins Brothers furniture store, to the driveway of the South Methodist church. The power station at Hartford is all ready for business, so that there will be no delay from that source. Whether there will be any delay in the matter of getting across the river at Hartford, remains to be seen.

ELISHA WILLIAMS' DEATH. Elisha Williams of Manchester Green died last Friday at the age of 76 years. The immediate cause of his death being heart disease. His funeral occurred last Monday afternoon, Rev. Thomas Simms officiating. He was an honored resident of this town and held the office of second selectman for a consecutive period of six years, beginning in 1880. His son, John M. Williams, is serving his second term as second selectman here now.

Another son, A. N. Williams, is traveling adjuster for the Phoenix Fire Insurance company of Hartford, and his daughter, Miss Eunice Williams, is a teacher in the public schools at Hartford. He also leaves a widow.

HIGH SCHOOL MATTERS. The probabilities are that after the new examinations for admission to the high school shall have been taken, that there will be a large increase of pupils. The decision was given in favor of the negative and the disputants were affirmative, Valentine Pulsifer and Gladys Hutchinson; negative, Lillian Holman and Mabel Wolcott.

Of course it is not to be supposed that all will pass, and furthermore all who do pass may not take the course, but there will surely be a large number of new pupils admitted.

DEATH OF RICHARD SHEA. Richard Shea died at his residence in Frog Hollow last Monday. It will be remembered that he married a Miss and not long afterward was taken with pneumonia. He recovered from this and got around again but suffered a relapse during which he sustained a shock. He was visited with another shock a couple of weeks ago and since that time steadily failed until the end arrived as stated above. His funeral took place Wednesday morning at ten o'clock at St. James' church and was largely attended. Deceased was about 29 years of age, was a man of good habits and drove the four horse road scraper on the repairs of the highways. Maurice J. Tooley was funeral director.

THE HORSE RAN AWAY. As Chas. T. Rindgo was out with J. M. Burke's grocery team last Wednesday afternoon delivering groceries etc. on South Main street, the horse became frightened while Mr. Rindgo was in a horse waiting on a lot of eggs, and broke into a run, lodging around Conch's blacksmith shop and making a number of short turns, until he got out to Main street again, then ran up to Cheney's store and turned into the street. He was caught by T. O'Gorman and Walter Lewis in front of Mr. Gorman's brick block. No special damage was done, except to break about a dozen and a half of eggs, spill a few gallons of oil, and break the back of the seat, which was thrown out. It is stated that some one drove by as the team was standing quietly, and by using his whip on his own horse, frightened Mr. Burke's horse with the above result. All things considered, matters fared very well, in view of the chances that were taken.

A BAND OF KENTUCKY MOUNTAIN DESPERADOS REPUTED BY DETECTIVES.

They Stopped a Train Near Somerset, Ky., and the Armed Guards on Board shot and Killed Two and Wounded One—One of the Robbers Wounded a Boy Stealing a Ride.

For the first time in the history of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, one of its trains has been held up by a band of mounted desperados and bandits, gathered from the most lawless part of the Kentucky mining region.

Through that part of the State there are few signs of life and civilization outside of the mining camps. Twenty-three miles from the town of Somerset, Ky., a passenger No. 2 was stopped by a band of desperados.

The three robbers were coming toward the station without seeing him, and so he got the train to stop. The desperados were then taken. The precaution had been taken to have a strong force of police on hand.

The robbers fired wildly and Eddy succeeded in escaping. He had a bullet wound in the back of his head. The desperados were then taken. The precaution had been taken to have a strong force of police on hand.

TOWN NEWS.

AN HONORABLE RECORD.

The Hartford Courant of Wednesday gave the following interesting historical account of our venerable and honored town clerk, which we gladly reproduce in full, believing that our readers will appreciate it.—Ed.

Daniel Wadsworth has completed forty years of service as clerk and treasurer of the town of Manchester. He assumed the duties on the first Monday of April, 1855, to succeed Samuel B. Dimock, who was elected clerk and treasurer at the annual town meeting in October, 1854, but who resigned six months after his election. The territory now included in the town of Manchester was formerly called the parish of Orford and belonged to East Hartford. The parish was set off as a town and called Manchester by the Legislature of 1853.

There have been eight town clerks since the town was incorporated. Daniel Wadsworth was the first to hold the position and the first office was in the house on Center street now occupied by George R. Rich. Mr. Woodbridge was succeeded by George Cheney and he by George W. Cheney and during their term the office was at the south end. William Jones was the next town clerk and the office during his term was at Buckland. Squire Phelps was the next to hold the office. The office at the Green in the house now occupied by the Rev. C. S. Sherman and the office was located there. Ralph Cheney was elected town clerk in October, 1847 and he held the office until the fall of 1854, during which time it was at the south end. Mr. Dimock came next and he held the office only a few months, when he was succeeded by Mr. Wadsworth, and since then it has been located at the Green. The office was created in 1853. William M. Roberts held the position in 1853, 1854 and 1855. In 1856 Mr. Wadsworth was elected to the place and Mr. Roberts held the office in 1857. Mr. Wadsworth was elected registrar again the next year and he has been elected annually since that time.

Mr. Wadsworth was first elected town clerk and treasurer by the whites and since his first election to office he has been elected with little or no opposition. As the annual town election in 1857 the Democrats nominated the late Dr. G. G. Griswold to run against Mr. Wadsworth. Dr. Griswold and Mr. Wadsworth were friends and before the polls had closed on election day Dr. Griswold stepped on the platform at the polling place and withdrew his name. Ever since that time Mr. Wadsworth's name has found a place on the democratic ticket as well as on the republican ticket, and for the past few years the prohibition party has conferred upon him the same honor.

Manchester is considerably more of a town now than it was when Mr. Wadsworth first assumed office. The Green covers the center of the town and the north and south ends were but thinly settled. In 1855 but $2,721.71 was realized from the grand list with a ten-cent tax and on the grand list of 1884 with a twelve-cent tax there was paid into the town treasury for year $42,373. There were twenty frozen men in 1855 and last year there were 187. Mr. Wad-

A FINE SUCCESS.

The presentation of "The Sultan's Daughter" by the South Manchester Dramatic Club, on Wednesday evening last, was one of the choicest entertainments given during this season, and the largest audience that has been seen there since Sept. 14 last, the opening night of the season, when Uncle Tom's Cabin was presented, was on hand to enjoy the treat. The applause was frequent, hearty and prolonged, showing unmistakably the pleasure experienced.

The special feature of the play was Miss Akers' novel and charming color-dance entitled "La Chromopee," one of the many skirt dances now on the stage, but different from any other in the wonderfully pretty color effects produced by the three calcium lights used, in which the blending of the colors and tints and the undulations of the many folds of wavy and fluffy silk of which the skirt is composed, were beautiful beyond description.

In addition to tint effects, solid pictures were thrown on the dancer, such as George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, Old Glory, Uncle Abraham and a number of pleasing designs in colors, the effect of the twisting of the flowing silk being to invite the figures with the appearance of life, to the surprise and delight of the audience.

The scene was one never before exhibited here, was enthusiastically applauded and was of itself well worth the price of admission.

But this dance was only one of the many features of the play, which was cleverly handled at every point, was full to the brim of fun and apart from the color-dance, was an entertainment far above the average, and thoroughly able to win public approbation on its own merits.

Miss Akers' Protean like ability as an actress is well known to need any words of commendation at our hands, but she has a company as clear as a crystal and one could wish to see, and several of them are thoroughly qualified to travel as stars in their own particular spheres; but as things now are, they are practically barred, in as far as giving them any publicity through the company's paper or other advertisements. The company expects to travel this way next season, and if so, will probably give South Manchester a call, and they are sure of a royal welcome if they do.

Mr. Wadsworth has the confidence and respect of his fellow townsmen, and he can conscientiously look back upon a well spent life. He represented Manchester in the Legislature of 1862 and was senator from the Second district in 1872. He was appointed a justice of the peace by the Legislature in 1848 when the appointments were made by that body, and he continued to hold the office until disqualified by age limitation. His life since he came to Manchester, with the exception of the last three years, was away from home at the Green. Mr. Wadsworth is an attendant at the Center Congregational church. He has a wife, a son, Herbert C. Wadsworth, who is employed by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company, and a daughter, Miss Annie Wadsworth, who makes her home with her parents.

Wilbur Grant and Walter W. Cowles, who have been conducting a meat and market business at 66 North Main street, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Cowles retiring from the firm, and the business will be continued by Mr. Grant the same as heretofore.

Fifty seven pupils took the high school examinations this week, but the results have not been ascertained as yet, owing, in part, to the extra work incident to the closing of the term, the graduation exercises, and the fact that each pupil was examined on four subjects, making quite a long list to be inspected and marked up.

Edward Hall was before Justice Sanford M. Benton last Monday morning charged with assault on his father Tobias Hall. He was found guilty and the crime cost him $19.34 and he did not have the wherewithal to satisfy the fine, which was taken to the Hartford jail by Constable Carl Brink. Deputy Sheriff C. O. Treat made the arrest.

James M. Burke qualified as justice of the peace and notary public last Monday. He was elected to the latter position on election last fall, and as the limit of time for qualifying expired April 3, his friends urged him to take the oath, which he did, somewhat reluctantly however, as the office is not to most of his tastes, and is not a desirable one.

The literary society of the high school held its last meeting for the term last Friday afternoon, and the following program was given: "Alumni Song," Robert Dugan; essay, "Zollis Censor," Charles H. Jones; music, Miss Annie Minkton and Sae Kimmer; piano solo, W. P. Keating; duet, piano and violin, Miss Ethel Gray, W. P. Keating.

It is reported that Constables Carl Brink and E. L. G. Hohenhalt, and Edward Fish and Fred Stays are to have positions as conductors on the local branch. It is desirable to have conductors in these positions, and whether regularly elected as such by the town or not, the conductors will be empowered as special officers, to make arrests, when in the discharge of their duties, should it become necessary.

The rapidity with which crop diseases call for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for such visits. An admirable remedy for the most common of these diseases, which have swept hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

MRS. LOUISA FUNK'S FUNERAL. The funeral of Mrs. Louisa Funk was largely attended from the Swedish Lutheran church last Sunday, N. E. corner of Yale and Main streets. The pall bearers were Aaron Johnson, Emil Peterson, Carl Swanson and O. F. Nyström. Interment was in the East cemetery. Watkins Brothers were funeral directors.

Jewel Mines.
The next great mining industry in this country will be for precious stones instead of gold, silver, or iron ore, if the prognostications of several large diamond merchants and mineralogical professors in this country are correct. The recent census bulletin giving the statistics of the precious stones found in this country has attracted the attention of millions of dealers in valuable gems, and after consulting with learned professors in our leading colleges they satisfied themselves that there were unknown possibilities in the mines of the Western, Southern, and even Eastern States. Experts were immediately engaged to examine the rich metallic fields of the Appalachian Mountains, the most favorable portions of the Rocky Mountains and a neglected industry in this country, and justify the formation of numerous branch companies to mine for all the precious stones in the United States, including diamonds, sapphires, rubies, garnets, beryls and over a hundred other valuable stones.
