TOWN NEWS.

A hearing will be held in the Capitol before the legislative committee, next Wednesday, in reference to the proposed act incorporating the ninth school district of this town.

Ira Chester Loveland died of old age last Saturday. He was 84 years and 5 months old. His funeral took place on Tuesday. Interment was in the Buckingham cemetery.

Trailing arbutus is beginning to show itself on the hills in this vicinity, but is not as yet well developed. Soon however this sweet and pretty flower of our New England hills will shed its fragrance and beauty in profusion.

Advertised Letters, South Manchester, Conn., April 16, 1895. William Walker, Miss Annie McCallum, Package. Mrs. E. K. Burnett. ROLAN M. ROOD, P. M.

By the provisions of the will of the late John C. Hollister of Glastbury, his son Wesley will receive $3,000, his granddaughters Alice A. Stanley $500, and his grandson Edward C. Stanley $500.

The full text of the proposed act incorporating the ninth school district, as drawn up by the legislative committee, appears in another column, and its provisions are worthy of the closest scrutiny.

The decorations in the churches on Easter Sunday were very attractive, and the music rendered was of a high order. Not many towns in the state of this size, furnish as high an order of music, or as capable musical talent as can be found here.

Prof. D. M. Bristol appeared in Apell's opera house on Friday and Saturday evenings of last week and on the following afternoon, with his trained pupils and gave an excellent entertainment, but the attendance throughout was light. The weather was against him.

The electric light poles from Manchester station to the Center, along Main street, are being removed and the electric light wires are being strung on the trolley poles. Workmen began stringing the trolley wire from the Center over north last Wednesday.

The question has been asked whether, under the new arrangement regarding the ninth district school, pupils from other districts who attend the high school here, will have to pay for tuition, and who are informed on the competent authority that such will not be the case, as long as the town supports the high school.

A musical and literary entertainment will be given in the North Cong. church this Friday evening the proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of the public library. A supper will also be included. The whole will be under the direction of the King's Daughters.

Owing to ill health, extreme old age and untoward weather conditions, Mr. Ralph Cheney has not been able to get out of doors much for sometime past; but the bright sunlight and balmy air of last Wednesday gave him an opportunity to enjoy a drive, which he gladly embraced. He is very feeble however.

Daniel Atkin, son of T. P. Atkin, injured himself internally while jumping a week or more ago, and has been suffering severely from the effects of the mishap ever since. He is under Dr. Dooley's care. The boy is over 17 years old and a pupil at Hunsicker's business college, Hartford.

As James Dowd's three year old son was playing with a bonfire last Friday his clothing caught fire and but for the timely arrival of his uncle, Edward Dowd, the little fellow would have been burned to death. As it was he is badly scorched about the body. Mr. Dowd had presence of mind enough to wrap his coat about the child and by smothering the flames saved his life. It was lucky that he happened to be about the house.

The pupils of the Highland Park school did not assemble last Monday morning, owing to the fact that it had been inadvertently announced that the school of the town would open on Tuesday, whereas the regular day of opening was Monday, excepting in district number nine, which opened on Tuesday. The teachers presented themselves, but did not open school.

Richard Donahue of Pleasant street died last week Friday, aged 63 years. His funeral took place Monday morning, a solemn high mass of requiem being offered up in St. James' church, Rev. D. A. Haegerty acting as celebrant. Rev. H. C. Morgan as deacon and Rev. Oliver T. Maguire of Willimantic as sub-deacon. The bearers were: Wm. M. Keating, John M. Carney, Hugh and Maurice Moriarty, C. O'Brien and a Mr. Jones. The casket was borne by the Messrs. Moriarty and Carney. The Rev. Maguire had charge of the funeral. Miss E. Keating sang Handel's beautiful composition, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" in sweet and sympathetic voice, and very effectively.

A male quartet gave Rev. Julian and Mrs. Wadsworth a serenade at the parsonage last Saturday, at the invitation of the minister. They sang some ten numbers among which were: "Near My God to Thee", "The Soldier's Last Farewell" and several college songs, all of which sounded very sweetly on the calm air, and the still night air and were very much appreciated.

The men who have volunteered to put in the electric lights in the South Meth. ch. are at work every night, as they must do it on their own time, and have every expectation that they will be ready to turn them on in the vestry, for the first time, next Sunday evening. They are putting in plenty of switches, and purpose to have it so arranged that the lights in all parts of the building will be under perfect control and may be lighted or extinguished in part or as a whole as may be desired.

Ruth Greenway, daughter of John Greenway of a Kesney court, died of typhoid malaria last Tuesday. She was 23 years old. She had been sick ten days. She had attended the last term of school up to the close and was vacationing at home. Her little schoolmates will play for her funeral, which was held on Wednesday. Watkins Brothers were funeral directors.

The annual meeting of the St. Mary's parish took place Monday evening and the following officers were chosen: Senior warden, John S. Cheney; junior warden, John Dugan. Vestrymen: John Wright, Henry Trotter, John Clements, W. B. Cheney, August Kurtz, J. B. Hubbard. Treasurer, Harry R. Cheney; clerk, John Hutchinson.

The lettering will be on the ends of the cars and can easily be seen and read. It was reported that the East Hartford high school here would accept the challenge to come here tomorrow afternoon and play our high school team, but they did not do so; hence there will be no game.

The South Manchester High School Athletic Association held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and made choice of the following officers: President, John Ray; vice president, Harry Montgomery; secretary, Wm Davidson; treasurer, Walter Spencer. The Little Vernon children gave a delightful concert in Cheney hall last Saturday evening, that was listened to by a good sized and highly appreciative audience. A neat sum was realized by the affair for the Sunday school library of the Central Congregational church.

Tickets for the production of the pleasing comedy "Josephine" will go on sale at the box office Cheney hall this Friday evening at 7 o'clock. They can also be had at the Standard school library of Rose's drug store. Admission 25 cents. Reserved seats 35 cents.

The sun shone bright and fair last Sunday, and the air was sharp, bracing and cool. But the new spring bonnets and dresses made their appearance all right. We have been having a series of wet and cold Sundays recently that prevented any display of spring clothing.

Owing to increasing business John P. Smith the liquor square pharmacist finds it necessary to enlarge his drug store. The partition is being moved back so as to meet the demands of trade and a new soda fountain will be put in. Adjutant and Mrs. Merriweather of New Haven, district officers for Connecticut, will conduct meetings in the Salvation Army barracks as follows: Saturday, at 8:00 p. m.; Sunday, 7 and 10:30 a. m.; 3:00 and 8:00 p. m. All are cordially invited.

It has recently been ascertained that the new trolley cars are too high to pass under the iron bridge of the South Manchester railroad at Center street and consequently the track of the tramway company will have to be lowered so as to overcome this obstacle. Maggie Hartwell lost a gold watch chain, with an ivory horn pendant set in with imitation rubies. As the trinket is a keepsake and prized on that account more than for its intrinsic value, she earnestly hopes that the finder will kindly leave it at the new mill office for her.

Wm Taylor who was recently sent to the reformatory at Middletown, died there last Friday. His remains were brought here for burial, by B. C. Apel, last Saturday. The funeral took place on Sunday, interment being in Rockville cemetery. Deceased was 34 years old and resided on Union street. Little Josephine Risley, daughter of John Risley Jr. of Highland Park, fell from a wagon while playing last Sunday and striking on her head caused a concussion of the brain. She has been in a dangerous situation part of the time, but is improving now, under Dr. Bradley's care.
