SHORTHAND AT HUNTSINGER'S COLLEGE. The success of Huntsinger's Shorthand Department rests upon a thorough knowledge of the subjects taught, and a wide and successful experience, a full appreciation of the requirements of the professional office, an intimate knowledge of the wants of the modern counting-room, as well as upon an unwavering determination to render faithful, skillful, conscientious and acceptable service. It is a pleasure and but just to say that the Department has long since won a reputation for thoroughness and efficiency that is indeed of a substantial and gratifying character. The training is thorough and comprehensive and in full touch with the modern and progressive ideas concerning proper stenographic qualifications. Satisfying success are positively not tolerated. The newly superficial fads no advocate here. To attain a high order of efficiency is the one aim and controlling purpose of this Department. Business Grammar, Spelling, Business Correspondence, Punctuation, Typewriting, etc., are topics which in connection with the study of shorthand receive special attention. The Department travels the widest field of dictation work from the easiest and simplest in thought and construction to the most varied and difficult literary or technical expressions. This faculty having the pupils with a vocabulary of the widest reach, as well as acquainting him with every variety of legal, commercial, and literary phrasing. To still further emphasize the character and dignity of the instruction, the Department has secured the services of the best of skilled stenographers now holding lucrative and responsible positions in the leading mercantile and manufacturing houses in Hartford and other cities.

SOME STRONG POINTS ABOUT HUNTSINGER'S. His doctrine is that brains and not nerves make a good school, although it requires two and one-half floors of the Hills Building to accommodate its pupils. It teaches Patented Actual Business Practice from the Street. It employs three expert teachers of penmanship. It never claims more than it can fulfill. It deals honorably, liberally and just with all patrons. It is a high-grade, progressive, up-to-date, thorough business school and has merits of an exceptional order. Progress is the watchword of Huntsinger's. The ethical and intellectual interests of pupils are carefully guarded. This school is emphatically endorsed by all newspapers as well as by the business community generally. Special advantages are offered to special hundreds of young men and young women with the enthusiasm to make a success of life. It gives free, two-hour instruction to pupils every day outside of regular study hours. This school course and provides fifteen type-writing machines for the use of short-hand pupils. It extends time for sick absences. The foregoing are only a few of the points of Huntsinger's Business and Short-hand College.

MRS. DAVID SHEEHY'S DEATH. Relatives and friends of David and Mrs. Sheehy were shocked to learn of the sudden and unexpected death of the latter, which occurred at her residence in Highland Park yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. She was delivered of a son Tuesday forenoon, but the little fellow died at birth and as the mother had been suffering from Bright's disease for some time, complications arose which the physicians were unable to control and the young wife and mother soon passed away.

It was a sad blow to her relatives and friends and they have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral will take place, from the residence at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. It deceased was but 35 years of age and had been married a little over a year. She was apparently a rugged, joyous, healthy woman, full of hope for the future, bright and merry in her nature and in every way a desirable person.

It is too bad to have her thus cut down in the pride and joy of young motherhood, the bloom and promise of her youth. Burial will be in the East cemetery.
