TOWN NEWS AND NOTES.

Dr. T. H. Weldon of this place, assisted by his brother, Dr. John Weldon and also by Dr. Geo. W. May, both of Willimantic, performed a surgical operation for cancer on Mrs. Anna McGinn of School street last Friday.

The South Manchester Railroad Company have made extensive improvements in the matter of getting coal delivered to the power house of the local train.

Advertised Letters, South Manchester, Conn., Nov. 24, 1896.

Postal Card. Mrs. Chas. A. Frost. ROLLS M. ROOD, P. M.

George E. Barber has a gang of men at work building a temporary shed for the tramway company, at the junction of Love lane and Hilliard street, where they will store their open cars during the winter.

According to the returns filed in the railroad commissioners office for the year ending Sept. 30, 1896, the showing of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Tramway Company is as follows:

Capital stock, $300,000; debt, $300,000; cost of construction and equipment, $204,875; number of miles of electric railway operated, 18.63; gross earnings, $54,861; gross operating expenses, $49,065; net earnings, $5,796.

A political organization to be known as the Manchester Bismarck Debating Club has been formed and the following officers have been chosen:

President, R. P. Bissell, secretary and C. O. Treat treasurer. One of its prime objects is said to be to disseminate information on the political issues of the day.

A change of time table will go into effect on the South Manchester railroad next Monday morning, and the new schedule of trains will be found in our advertising columns.

Whitmore Eumous, who has been clerk and treasurer of the Eighth school district for a number of years past, has resigned the office, because he has moved to Hartford, and W. E. Hibbard, of the well known firm of Hibbard & Stannard, stores filling and steam fitters etc. has been chosen to fill the vacancy.

The grocers, butchers and bakers were the busiest men in town last Wednesday, supplying customers with needs for Thanksgiving Day, and all reporting having had an excellent Thanksgiving trade.

The five deers that were shot in Maine by F. E. Watkins, Dr. W. B. Tinker, Harry B. Cheney and John Davernport Cheney, and was on exhibition in the display window of Watkins Brothers furniture store last week, were cut up by W. H. Grant and lucious morsels of venison were distributed among friends in town as far as they could reach.

W. H. Childs of New York was in town last Wednesday and held a consultation with the selectmen and R. O. Cheney, with reference to the matter of adjusting the settlement of the East cemetery, by the acquisition of land on the west side of the cemetery, as proposed at the late town meeting.

A new bill has been made under authority of the Board of Managers, where they cross Center street and the cars passed through the new opening last Monday. A new stone abutment was built north of the old one, which is allowed to stand and the trolley line is straightened at that point very much.

T. W. Hannum of 802 Asylum street, Hartford, is having fine encoas with his new Nineteenth Century Shortland, which is claimed to be more easily and rapidly written than any other method extant, more legible and that it calls for the least amount of memorizing. It is chiefly written by curves, and thus avoids largely the provoking and time-killing angles that other systems involve. He is always pleased to explain its possibilities to all enquirers.

TOWN NEWS AND NOTES.

OLD MAN DISAPPEARS. Harvey Witt, whose home is about a half mile south of the Buckingham church is missing.

He lived alone, but his son Jerome lived within a quarter mile, and on Sunday afternoon last, about four o'clock, was talking to his father and found him all right.

No one had any occasion to go there until Tuesday morning, when his son Elmer went there. Found the doors all locked, the pantry window open, and noticed that there were no footprints in the snow, which proved conclusively that no one had passed in or out since the snow storm of Sunday night.

He thought his father had been dead within, and called on Arthur E. Ellis to go in with him, which he did, but they found the house empty, the old man's outer clothing, all but the pantaloons, were there, his bible was open at a chapter in Revelations and glasses were laid upon the table, the chairs were arranged in rows across the sitting room, as though a meeting was to be held, the bed had not been disturbed and everything seemed to be in perfect order, except in the pantry where the door had been placed against the door so that one could not enter from the kitchen.

There were no evidences of a struggle however and it is believed that he must have entered into the storm of Sunday night, bereaved, without coat, vest or shoes and probably perished from exposure.

The alarm was given and searching parties went out looking for him. Towards noon on Tuesday, tracks were found in a neighboring field, half filled with snow, which correspond to his footprints.

A towel of his was found under a tree in a pasture close by the house recently. He was aged about 70, and it is feared that in a moment of temporary mental aberration he may have wandered off, become bewildered by the storm and darkness, and in his simple attire, it does not seem possible that he could survive the exposure in such cold weather, as we have had since that time.

He was father to Mr. George M. Barber of this place, and Mr. Barber has been in the sad quest for the aged wanderer up to the time the storm of Thursday evening, but no tidings have been found.

Mr. Barber went to a clairvoyant in Hartford yesterday, and was told that the old man was on the ledge and into the pond at Crosby's mill in East Glassbury, and on going there later in the day found tracks exactly as indicated by the clairvoyant as having been made by a person with stockings on, no shoes, and with snow partially covering them over, as they were found in the field close to the water. The arrangements are being made to recover the dead body today, in hopes to recover the body.

TOWN COURT. James Connors, who is employed by F. Gorman on the new Home & Hall street factory, was fined $10.00 last Monday morning charged with intoxication. He was fined $10.00, the whole amounting to $12.45, which F. Gorman paid for him and he was discharged.

THE BIG FAIR

ODD FELLOWS ON DECK

IT'S A RECORD BREAKER.

The following living pictures were shown:

- TUESDAY. 1. Fairy Doll by Moonlight. 2. Morning in Fairy Land. 3. Comin' Thru the Rye. 4. A Summer Day on the Lake. 5. Tears of the Muses. 6. The Proposal. 7. Judith.

WEDNESDAY. 1. Gospel. 2. Free Education. 3. Japanese Fan Play. 4. Penitent. 5. Confidence.

THURSDAY. 1. Music of Ancient Days. 2. Summer. 3. Comin' Thru the Rye. 4. A Summer Day on the Lake. 5. Fairy Doll by Moonlight. 6. Morning in Fairy Land. 7. Gospel. 8. Tears of the Muses. 9. The Proposal. 10. Judith. 11. Waiting.

A number of the above were repeated by request, as people were delighted with them and impromptu a repetition. The Living Pictures for this Friday evening will be as follows:

- 1. Music of Ancient Days. 2. Summer. 3. A Summer Day on the Lake. 4. Gospel. 5. Japanese Fan Play. 6. Confidences. 7. The Obliging "un" of the Party. 8. The Old Old Story.

There will be a matinee tomorrow, Saturday afternoon, and five living pictures will be given, the subjects to be determined later.

The fair will close Saturday evening with a grand distribution of awards and stanzas sale of odds and ends.

NOTES. Everybody is going to the Odd Fellows fair tonight and tomorrow night. Verily the Odd Fellows own the town and the fullness thereof this week.

It is estimated that there were 1600 people at the Odd Fellows fair on Wednesday evening and July 30th last evening.

The Odd Fellows Fair gathered every ebullient there was in town this week and the rest of the community had to go short. Collections were very hard to make, but everybody appears to satisfied and to enjoy the proceeding very much.

It is very rare indeed that one has such a chance to see such handsome electrical displays as are exhibited nightly in the Odd Fellows fair here, outside of the work has been attended to carefully, faithfully, scientifically and with an artistic interest and application.

The popularity of the living pictures at the Odd Fellows fair is attested by the fact that night after night people press as close up to the stage as they can get, but with the discounts of head and crowding for several hours, in order to have the pleasure of a view of the pretty scenes, at short range.

It seldom happens at a fair that the managers stop the sale of tickets on articles before the fair closes, but at the Odd Fellows fair here such has been the case on several articles, the sale of tickets has been so large that the managers have seen fit to close the books and sell no more.

One young lady reports having made 200 sales on an article in a single evening. We believe this holds the record. It is one thing to have artistic taste, the ability to execute the designs as conceived, to actually produce them, and make them real, living, tangible, and mated.

Those who had those matters in mind are capable of not only doing what is necessary to be done, but also to actually do it, strongly in evidence. The fancy book is probably the finest piece of decorative art in the fair and has won unlimited plaudits from every eye.

The living pictures however are the crowning artistic efforts of the whole and embody the greatest amount of work in selecting the scenes, in finding suitable persons to represent them, which means a great deal in itself, in selecting the costumes, with a proper observance of the harmonies of colors, of light and shade, then the posturing, the background, the stage surroundings, the dramatic, the colored lights, the necessary expressions on the countenances to convey the idea intended and the whole make up of so many scenes, characters, and costumes, and equipments, and all things necessary to give the best possible effect, and the enjoyment of a momentary glance at each of those pictures, means much more work and thought, and planning than would appear necessary at first, but all those things were forthcoming and their production was highly pleasing and successful, and constituted one of the most delightful features of this altogether delightful fair.

Those who executed this work were of all lower and praise from their fellow brethren and sisters in the fraternity, and it is but proper to say that not less gratifying to all concerned. He was the hero of the battle in the evening and carrying out of this great work, in such a manner, and worthy of admiration.

AN AFFLICTED FAMILY.

Last Monday afternoon while little Eddie, the oldest son of Win and Mrs. Parent of Trotter street, was filling a lighted No 7 oil stove with kerosene oil, the fluid became ignited and soon filled the room with flames.

Neighboring Parsons and some other of the neighbors, and President Chapman and Secretary of the tramway company came quickly to the rescue, and with the bed clothing soon subdued the flames, before any serious damage was done.

Mrs. Parent was in bed in the same room, with her infant child nine days old, and unable to get up.

It was providential that the accident occurred at a time of day when there were people at hand to take hold and extinguish the flames, or there is no telling how sad an ending might have been recorded.

It was feared that Mrs. Parent would sustain injury from shock and fright, but she is getting along as comfortably as could be expected, under all the circumstances.

It will be remembered that the afflicted people had a little girl burned to death while playing at a bonfire a few weeks ago.

Mr. Chapman very generously sent him by letter to take the picture of the scene contentment by which he is envied, in the following language:

"This paper will soon be sixteen years old. It is fairly prosperous, as country papers go. The editor is living on a minimum down to a science, the devil has long ago solved the problem of living without either food or raiment, while the business manager has joined the church and is so sure of his future that he doesn't care whether he lives at all."

"We've come out on the old hand press, week after week without money and without price. We print a good newsy paper, hold our old subscribers and get new ones occasionally. We are happy and contented. We may not have much to live for, but owing to the uncertainty of the future, we have nothing whatever to die for. We believe that our cheerfulness is reflected in the columns of our paper. If you want to participate in this carnival of cheerfulness we are now having it will only cost you a dollar a year. Just think of it, fifty cheerfulnesses for a dollar—joy is frightfully cheap these hard times."

CHINAMAN CAUSES A BUSINESS STRIKE. Thomas J. Scoville the undertaker had to vacate his premises at 377 Main street, and find room for a Chinese laundry. He had his rent from the Chinaman who had a lease of the room, and as the latter wanted to open a laundry in opposition to a countryman of his own who started in next door to the undertaking establishment, he persistently ordered Mr. Scoville out and is now in possession, Mr. Scoville having arranged with Mrs. W. E. Gleason to take her store on the fifteenth of this month, she having a lease of same for three years, and agreeing to make room for a Chinese laundry, at that time and give him possession. As the change will be only next door, it will make but a trifling little difference to Mr. Scoville, as he will in the meantime attend to all orders and when his sign is displayed at the new number, the difference will be scarcely noticed.

Mrs. Gleason intends to go out of the store business for the present, but will continue to carry on discharging in her apartments and attending to all her patrons the same as heretofore. During the next two weeks she will give bargains in such goods as she has remaining to be sold.

The Chinaman are apparently making ready for a business war among themselves, and as they had here a couple of years ago.

It would seem that there are so few of their nationality here that they would be friendly towards each other, but such is not the case. They are most vindictive and irascible folk.

ARE YOU A VICTIM? Here are a few of the descriptions that are being worn so generally by men, women and children, but there are many others, in fact too many to give the case on several articles, the sale of tickets has been so large that the managers have seen fit to close the books and sell no more.

One young lady reports having made 200 sales on an article in a single evening. We believe this holds the record. It is one thing to have artistic taste, the ability to execute the designs as conceived, to actually produce them, and make them real, living, tangible, and mated.

Those who had those matters in mind are capable of not only doing what is necessary to be done, but also to actually do it, strongly in evidence. The fancy book is probably the finest piece of decorative art in the fair and has won unlimited plaudits from every eye.

The living pictures however are the crowning artistic efforts of the whole and embody the greatest amount of work in selecting the scenes, in finding suitable persons to represent them, which means a great deal in itself, in selecting the costumes, with a proper observance of the harmonies of colors, of light and shade, then the posturing, the background, the stage surroundings, the dramatic, the colored lights, the necessary expressions on the countenances to convey the idea intended and the whole make up of so many scenes, characters, and costumes, and equipments, and all things necessary to give the best possible effect, and the enjoyment of a momentary glance at each of those pictures, means much more work and thought, and planning than would appear necessary at first, but all those things were forthcoming and their production was highly pleasing and successful, and constituted one of the most delightful features of this altogether delightful fair.

Those who executed this work were of all lower and praise from their fellow brethren and sisters in the fraternity, and it is but proper to say that not less gratifying to all concerned. He was the hero of the battle in the evening and carrying out of this great work, in such a manner, and worthy of admiration.

LECTURES FOR YOUNG MEN.

Rev. J. S. Wadsworth is planning a series of lectures for young men, to be given in the South M. E. church on the following dates, with topics as given below: Sunday, Dec. 1. "The Young Man on the Threshold of his Career"; Sunday, Jan. 3. "The Young Man in Business"; Sunday, Feb. 7. "The Young Man in Society"; Sunday, March 6. "The Young Man in Church."

It is proposed to give these lectures an attractive musical program. Next Sunday evening Miss Frost will render several selections at the close of the lectures. The choir is in good training and, as a volunteer choir, is doing excellent work. These lectures will be of a popular character, and all are most cordially invited to attend.

SEVERE CONTENTMENT. The editor of the Lawrenceville, Pa. Herald, in a recent issue of his paper, expressed his desire to see the picture of the scene contentment by which he is envied, in the following language:

"This paper will soon be sixteen years old. It is fairly prosperous, as country papers go. The editor is living on a minimum down to a science, the devil has long ago solved the problem of living without either food or raiment, while the business manager has joined the church and is so sure of his future that he doesn't care whether he lives at all."

"We've come out on the old hand press, week after week without money and without price. We print a good newsy paper, hold our old subscribers and get new ones occasionally. We are happy and contented. We may not have much to live for, but owing to the uncertainty of the future, we have nothing whatever to die for. We believe that our cheerfulness is reflected in the columns of our paper. If you want to participate in this carnival of cheerfulness we are now having it will only cost you a dollar a year. Just think of it, fifty cheerfulnesses for a dollar—joy is frightfully cheap these hard times."

CHINAMAN CAUSES A BUSINESS STRIKE. Thomas J. Scoville the undertaker had to vacate his premises at 377 Main street, and find room for a Chinese laundry. He had his rent from the Chinaman who had a lease of the room, and as the latter wanted to open a laundry in opposition to a countryman of his own who started in next door to the undertaking establishment, he persistently ordered Mr. Scoville out and is now in possession, Mr. Scoville having arranged with Mrs. W. E. Gleason to take her store on the fifteenth of this month, she having a lease of same for three years, and agreeing to make room for a Chinese laundry, at that time and give him possession. As the change will be only next door, it will make but a trifling little difference to Mr. Scoville, as he will in the meantime attend to all orders and when his sign is displayed at the new number, the difference will be scarcely noticed.

Mrs. Gleason intends to go out of the store business for the present, but will continue to carry on discharging in her apartments and attending to all her patrons the same as heretofore. During the next two weeks she will give bargains in such goods as she has remaining to be sold.

The Chinaman are apparently making ready for a business war among themselves, and as they had here a couple of years ago.

It would seem that there are so few of their nationality here that they would be friendly towards each other, but such is not the case. They are most vindictive and irascible folk.

Puritana

It cures from head to foot.

Trade Mark.

REGISTERED.

To make the cure of any disease complete and permanent, the purifying, correcting and building-up process must begin and end in the Stomach.

Owing to the inclement weather of last Saturday, it has been decided to give another free distribution of Don's Kidney pills, which will take place at the drug store of W. B. Cheney and C. H. Rose. See advertisement in another column.

The case of Joseph Parais who was in the superior court this week charged with burglary at the residence of W. B. Martin, was solved, as the prosecution was not in possession of enough evidence to convict. Should such evidence be found, the case may be renewed at any time.

Winter has evidently arrived and brought all the implements of the trade along, including apparently a make a stay of several months with us. The hills and valleys have held the light covering of snow that fell last Sunday night and the ground is firmly frozen.

There will be a special service of song at the Salvation Army on Tuesday next Dec. 8, entitled Pique Jock. The story is founded on fact and is in connection with the life and conversion of a poor Scotch boy. There are five chapters, as follows: 1. Jock; 2. A Drunkard's Home; 3. Fiery Fury; 4. A Weary Tramp; 5. Faith Rewarded. A hearty welcome is extended to all.

Staff Captain and Mrs. Cousins of New Haven led a special meeting in the Congregational church, East Hartford last Monday evening and were assisted by Ensign and Mrs. Parsons of this place. The Staff Captain and wife led the meeting in the Army barracks here on Tuesday last.

Grand Master Workman John Currier Gallagher of New Haven will visit with Manchester Lodge A. O. U. W. in Brown & Patten's hall next Friday evening, Dec. 11, and explain the new theory of classified assessments. Members of Orford Lodge are invited to be present and as the subject is one in which all are deeply interested, it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

The case of Charles Watkins the fireman, who was fined $35, by Judge Bowers recently for having helped to swindle John A. Alford, and defiantly took an appeal to the superior court, was heard this week and on the recommendation of State Prosecuting Attorney Eggleston, he was sentenced to jail for eight months.

A quiz drill, such as Company G had last Saturday night, consists in asking and answering questions as to various points of military duty, discipline, tactics etc. without the use of arms, and is calculated to discover wherein officers or privates are deficient in knowledge on those points, so that they may be instructed. It is as useful in its way as the ordinary drill.

They had four inches of snow and sleigh riding in Central Park New York last Monday and six inches of snow in New Haven, while we did not have much more than a half inch on an average here. It does not often occur that way. Usually they have less snow at the coast than at a distance in land, say for instance in this place. We have frequently found good sleighing and skating here, when there were neither in New York City.

Oscar Keeney of Somerville died suddenly last Sunday evening, before medical aid could be procured. He was 37 years of age, was a wooden manufacturer, a very energetic business man and a member of the state legislature, a brother of Senator Keeney of Somerville and also a brother of C. R. Keeney the paper manufacturer of New Britain. He leaves a wife and three children. He was a member of the Congregational church. His parents still live and also three brothers.

At both masses last Sunday Rev. R. C. Gagan called attention to the fact that acts of vandalism were being committed in the Catholic cemetery and he asked that evidence might be procured as to who the offenders are so that they might be punished. It is believed that boys are the perpetrators and if the fact can be fully established, vigorous measures will be taken at once to relieve them of their execrable tendencies. It is said that several of the monuments etc. were injured by these persons.

Miss Parlos gave the third in the series of her lectures in Cheney hall last Wednesday afternoon, her subject being "Care of the main part of the house, rugs, windows, furniture." On Wednesday afternoon of next week she will lecture on "Fuel, Lighting and Ventilation," and on the day following, Thursday, she will lecture on "Cooking of meats, fish and miscellaneous substances." This is done in order to close the series of lectures for the Christmas holidays set in. It is very desirable that young housekeepers who have small homes should attend these lectures, as there is so much in them for such persons that is actually invaluable. They will learn many things there that are of vital importance to them.
