Cost of Running Great Universities. The cost of running a great university these days counts up into hundreds of thousands of dol'ars every year. The money laid out annually by Harvard, Pennsylvania, Yale, Cornell or Chicago universities would thirty years ago have been considered a fair-sized endowment. It costs over $1,000,000 a year to run Harvard University, and while its endowment is about $9,000,000, it is constantly pressed for more. The endowment of Yale University increased from $273,-000 in 1887 to $4,582,000 in 1897, and yet Yale considers itself poor. Columbia University, in New York City, has funds amounting to $6,000,-000, but it is restricted in every one of its departments by lack of money. The need of money at the University of Pennsylvania is known to be a constant drawback to its usefulness.

Mrs. HARRY HARDY, Riverside, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham the story of her struggle with serious ovarian trouble, and the benefit she received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This is her letter: "How thankful I am that I took your medicine. I was troubled for two years with inflammation of the womb and ovaries, womb was also very low. I was in constant misery. I had heart trouble, was short of breath and could not walk five blocks to save my life. Suffered very much with my back, had headache all the time, was nervous, menstruations were irregular and painful, had a bad discharge and was troubled with bloating. I was a perfect wreck. Had doctored and taken local treatments, but still was no better. I was advised by one of my neighbors to write to you. I have now finished the second bottle of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am better in every way. I am able to do all my own work and can walk nearly a mile without fatigue; something had not been able to do for over two years. Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctors."
