TOWN NEWS AND NOTES.

Good strawberries have been retailed here this week at five cents a quart. The supply of this delicious fruit is very abundant hereabouts this year and the quality is of a superior grade indeed. We have had plenty of moisture and a fair supply of sunshine this month; two indispensable conditions to a large and luscious strawberry yield.

The Pentecostal meetings are being continued in the tent back of Center street each evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Bromley of Norwich is holding forth now for a period of ten days. On Sunday, meetings will be held at 10:30 a. m. at 3:30 and 7:30 p. m. All are earnestly invited to go and hear the divine truths preached by these men.

James Joyce came home last Tuesday day from Oregon. He left there last week Thursday. It took about five days to make the trip. He came to attend the funeral of Miss Grace L. Watkins. He has a leave of absence from the Pope Mfg. Co., with whom he is employed, having general supervision of their bicycle business west of the Rocky Mountains. He traveled 3,000 miles to attend this funeral. It was a case of unusual devotion.

A lawn festival will be given at the residence of Wm E. Keith's Noblesse, Wednesday evening, June 29. Strawberries and cream, cake and ice cream will be served from six until nine o'clock. They will also sell their furniture, household effects, lawn and garden tools etc.

TOWN NEWS AND NOTES.

At the business meeting, which was held on the steamer immediately after dinner, votes of thanks were passed to Messrs. Hale and Jones for the very successful evening they arranged, to Mr. Martin of the P. & N. E. R. B. to the managers of the Hudson River Day Line of steamboats and to Mr. Keith of the Union Square Theatre for the courtesies extended.

We are under obligations to the Actua Life Insurance Company of Hartford for a copy of their very convenient and timely pamphlet, "Our Navy as it Was and is." It is very useful for reference at the present time.

Every business man should advertise for the man who does not believe in advertising is a lack of nerve and in these days of hustle and push a man who does not advertise is like a ship without a rudder or a pump without a handle. There are many ways of advertising, but your local paper is the best medium and reaches the very people who give the business man his patronage.—Journal, Lakeville.

A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

H. B. Hale of the East Hartford Gazette and Captain Henry R. Jones of the New Hartford Tribune are entitled to a great deal of credit for the very pleasant and successful Summer Outing they managed for the Connecticut Educational Association.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD "TIP."

There has lately been much speculation regarding the origin of the word "tip." The truth is that in an old English tavern a receptacle for small coins was fixed in a conspicuous place, over which was inscribed in writing: "To insure promptness." Whatever was placed in this receptacle was given to the waiter. Other words followed the example, and soon the words were abbreviated to T. I. P.—Advertiser, Moodus.

TAX ON TELEPHONE MESSAGES.

Beginning with July 1st, the night rate between 6 o'clock p. m. and 7 o'clock a. m. for the Hudson River Day Line, free transportation being given over this line also. A snuffbox diamond was served on the floating palace, while the glories of the Hudson River scenery, than which the world does not furnish handomer or more picturesque along the banks of any of its rivers, was viewed with unbounded delight, expressions of heartiest approval being heard on every hand.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Thomas J. Scott wishes his friends here to know that his undertaking business is still being maintained and continued here, that all orders sent to his father, Thomas Scott, will be promptly filled, and that he will receive prompt, courteous and efficient care and attention as this firm have every equipment necessary to do the work in an up-to-date manner, besides the large experience in the undertaking business.

NO FOR QUARRYVILLE!

On Wednesday afternoon and evening July 7th, there will be musical and literary entertainment at the Quarryville church, including the baptism of Rev. Joseph Richardson's famous triplets.

Watkins Brothers are now showing the new model 45, Cleveland bicycle for $38. It has just come out and the price is phenomenally low one for such a grade of wheels as the Cleveland make.

The new policemen are now doing duty every night and the results are very satisfactory to the business men and to ladies and gentlemen who wish to pass through the streets untroubled.

This included passes for both the children and their wives, or members of their families as the case required.

Many took the New Haven boat from New York to New Haven and thence by the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad home.

This trip as a whole is a most enjoyable one and we can heartily commend it to any of our readers who may want to take a delightful tour this summer and are still undecided as to where they should go for a short trip.

There is about as good a variety of land and water and magnificent scenery as one could wish for in certainly a rare treat. The following persons were in the party:

H. B. Hale and Miss Sarah Hayden of East Hartford; Captain Henry R. Jones and daughter, Miss Catherine Jones; Mrs. Pratt, Rockville, W. C. and Mrs. Pratt, Rockville, W. C. and Mrs. Sharpe and daughter, Miss Eva E. Sharpe, Seymour; A. E. and Mrs. Knox, Woodbury; J. S. and Mrs. Jones, Westport; G. C. Woodruff, Litchfield; W. J. Flood and son, Joseph W. Flood, South Manchester; C. H. and Mrs. Schley, Guilford; E. H. and Mrs. Cross by Gastonville; E. S. and Mrs. Greer, Hartford; H. M. and Mrs. White, Torrington; Warren and Miss Jessie Hayden, East Hartford; H. D. Walds, East Hartford; C. E. and Mrs. Perkins, Torrington; J. A. and Mrs. North, Collinsville.

FINE HARNESSES.

Win Carr, our popular young harness maker, has completed a handsome set of fine medium or general purpose single harnesses for Frank Cheney. They are hand-made throughout, all of the work being done in Mr. Carr's harness shop, and have hand-creased loops, which is a special feature, the usual method being to press them with dies. It is quite a nice piece of work to do this by hand and is much more durable than the machine process. He made a set of single-harnesses for N. T. Paistler lately, of the same general style and finish, and is now at work on a medium or general purpose set of the same construction and quality, for F. D. Hale, of the Brookdale Paper Company.

ST. JAMES CHURCH NOTES.

Beginning next Sunday a partly new system of pew rentals will be introduced here. Those who do not hire regular settings will be assigned to special seats and a fee of ten cents for the sitting will be collected each Sunday. In this way the revenues from new rentals will be largely increased and the payment of same will be more evenly divided. Furthermore, persons who have regular settings will in this way be protected in their use, as others will not be permitted to use them, to the exclusion of the rightful owners. This is but a matter of simple justice and no doubt will meet with the hearty approval and cooperation of all concerned.

Rev. W. J. McGurk is attending the retreat of the Catholic pastors of this diocese in Worcester, Mass., this week. He will return tomorrow evening.

There will be no instructions for the confirmation and first communion classes tomorrow morning, as Father McGurk is not in town. The instructions will be resumed the following Saturday however.

Sunday school has been discontinued for the summer.

SACRED CONCERT.

A sacred concert will be given in Laurel Park, Sunday, July 8, at 2 p. m. by Hatch's Military Band, Charles P. Hatch, conductor, at which the following program will be rendered:

- 1. Star Spangled Banner. (Audience requested to sing)
2. March, "Sempi Fideles." Sousa
3. Overture, "Pique Dame." Suppe
4. A new flower song, "Hearts and Flowers." Johnson
5. Military, "Popular Power." Caffery
6. Introduction and waltz movement from "The Maid of the Forest." Ellengren
7. Military, "The Spirit of Liberty." Honey
8. Popular march, "The Camps." A. L. Ellis; "The Spirit of Liberty." Honey
9. Selection from, "The Song of the Sea." Herbert
10. Paraphrase on Barnby's famous song, "Sweet and Low." Ripley

The new rate is a half rate, because the time is doubled, just as an evening night rate where the message rate remains the same, but the number of words allowed is double that allowed in the day time.

Beginning with July 1st, the night rate between 6 o'clock p. m. and 7 o'clock a. m. for the Hudson River Day Line, free transportation being given over this line also. A snuffbox diamond was served on the floating palace, while the glories of the Hudson River scenery, than which the world does not furnish handomer or more picturesque along the banks of any of its rivers, was viewed with unbounded delight, expressions of heartiest approval being heard on every hand.

The managers of the steamer kindly reserved special tables for the Editorial party so that they could dine together like one large family, and showed every attention and courtesy possible. An excellent dinner was served and enjoyed to the utmost.

On reaching the metropolitan headquarters were made at the Starvart hotel, Twenty Ninth street and Broadway, and in the evening the entire party were admitted free to Keith's Union Square Theatre, special reserved seats having been reserved for them in the orchestra circle.

This mark of distinction will be better understood when it is stated that the theatre furnishes a continuous performance of high class vaudeville, that one admission gives a sitting in any part of the house, and that reserved seats have been reserved for them in the orchestra circle.

FOR A EUROPEAN TOUR.

Edward Jackson of this place, the well known architect, and Albert F. Booth, a Hartford merchant, left New York City to-day via the steamship State of Nebraska. They expect to land in London, Londonbury, Ireland, then go to Mr. Jackson's home in Portland, where they will leave their heavy luggage, and mounted on their wheels, with a good camera and over 300 plates, which they are taking with them, propose to take views of the principal structures in the several countries they will visit before they return.

Their itinerary will be in part as follows: to Belfast, Glasgow, Scotland; North Bridge, Manchester, England; London, Windsor, Paris, France; Rome, Italy, returning by different route; super which will be given by the aid of the Quarryville church and the proceeds will be used for church purposes.

They expect to spend two months in making this tour and will bring back examples of the best specimens of architecture that the world possesses to-day.

While in Paris Mr. Jackson will study the details of the great buildings that are now in course of construction there for the coming international exposition.

This trip will give him a vast amount of material that will be of inestimable value to him in his business, and while he will no doubt experience a great deal of pleasure in bicycling through these countries of the Old World, he will also bring out of his great practical information which will render him a valuable service in his subsequent labor here.

Like good wine Huntenger's Business College at 30 Asylum street, Hartford, improves with age. As years roll by evidence of the faithful and skillful work performed by Mr. Huntenger as principal, principal and executive here, the institution become more and more apparent, and as the school waxes big and strong it also gains in popularity and increases its hold on the respect and esteem of its pupils, their parents, relatives and friends, and also the business communities of which its graduates form a very essential and valued part.

We learn that the school year just closing has witnessed the largest attendance of any in the history of the school, there being over 400 pupils in attendance. More than fifty graduates of the Huntenger have been placed in positions during the past 13 months.

These splendid achievements but what Mr. Huntenger's appetite for knowledge is the better reason for it, and to that end he has reorganized his present very able faculty of teachers for the ensuing year, a fact which certainly must be very gratifying to both principal and teachers. To the latter, because they are thereby assured that they have filled the best in the year, and to the former, in that a faculty that has been fortunate enough to find a faculty that could keep up the rapid pace and high standard set for them; facts which give an absolute guarantee to the public that better results are sure to follow the year for the fact of the very excellent understanding of the methods of work and requirements of the positions that the teachers now have.

We have no hesitancy whatever in recommending Huntenger's Business College to any of our readers who may be looking for business training. New pupils are now enrolling for the September opening.

NEW POSTAL CARDS. Individuals Can Have Their Own Hereafter

The South Manchester post office has been advised of the new law which goes into effect July 1, permitting the use of private postal cards. The government has always before had a monopoly on postal cards, but the new law permits business men to get out cards of their own and send them through the mails for one cent each.

The advantage to be derived by the change is considerable. A firm has a large number of postal cards printed, and for some reason does not wish to use them all. Those not used are a dead loss to the government does not redeem postal cards. Now the firm can have cards printed and they are not all used, the loss is only the cost of the card and the printing, instead of one cent each.

The private cards must conform to the size and form of the regular postal cards. That is, they must be the size of the so-called 11 postal cards, three and one-fourth inches by five and one-half inches. The quality must be substantially that of the government cards and weigh six pounds and three ounces to the thousand. The color may be gray, white, cream or light blue.

On the address side must be printed "Private Mailing Card, authorized by act of Congress, May 19, 1898." In the lower left hand corner must be printed the words, "This side is exclusively for the address," and in the upper right hand corner of those cards which printers and stationers must be the words, "Stamp here."

To send the cards a 1-cent postage stamp is required. Anything must be printed or written on the cards, as upon the regular postal cards. If the cards are to be sent to foreign countries they will require full letter postage.

CONNECTICUT CATHOLIC NO MORE.

The paper that has been published in Hartford for a number of years past and known as the Connecticut Catholic is now no more.

It has passed through the chrysalis stage and now appears under a new name and in a materially new guise. The improved character as regards its reading matter, scope and sphere of its work.

It has dropped all the town correspondence and the Irish letters, and takes up instead the disseminating of Catholic information of a general character, the explanation of Catholic rites and ceremonies, the discussion of religious subjects and the treatment of such topics from a Catholic standpoint as make it of deep interest to Catholic people anywhere, who read English.

Regarding its quality of contents of the paper, the Hartford Times speaks in the following highly complimentary and eulogistic terms:

The Catholic Transcript makes its appearance with the formal approval of Bishop Tierney. It starts out on a promising career. Its publishers and editors have high ideals and the ability to carry them out. Their purpose is to publish a paper that will be a credit to the diocese. The reading matter will be carefully selected, and will be instructive and entertaining to those who wish to get Catholic news of a general and local character and plenty of other news besides. The editorial columns are in charge of a clergyman of well known literary ability and of high scholarly attainments. The work of the editorial is well controlled in their nature. They will be the expression of opinion, and opinion cannot be expressed without provoking dissent. But controversy, when the controversialists are Christian gentlemen, does not imply offensiveness or intolerance. The editorials in the numbers of the Catholic Transcript that have already appeared are temperate in tone and of high literary merit. Apart from their interest as contributions to the general literature they have a special interest and grace of diction that makes them delightful reading to the person who appreciates good English. The work up to this point is most commendable. The business manager, Mr. Blurry, thoroughly understands his business. The reading matter is of a high and readable form, the print is clear, and the general appearance of the paper is attractive.

He will send an order team out every morning and will deliver them in New York during the same morning in time for use at dinner. He will give his entire attention to the market and order trade. He believes that he can serve the interests of his patrons better in this way and purposes to give the plan a trial.

An unusually large audience attended the morning exercises in the Center Congregational church last Sunday to hear Fred A. Stacey sing. They were delighted with his work in which he showed marked improvement under the skillful training he has been receiving in New York during the past two years.

When the war with Spain started Patrick R. Hayes put up a handsome new American flag of the best material obtainable on the American hotel and covered to keep the Stars and Stripes floating there until the war came to an end. The constant winds we have had during the Spring months have torn the ensign considerably and Mr. Hayes finds that the war is still on, by a very large majority. He proposes to keep his own flag and it need be put up on an other new flag. He would fight for it to the end if necessary.

VERY ACCEPTABLE GIFTS. Rev. J. M. Taber, formerly of the South Methodist Episcopal church of this place but for the past forty years in Providence, R. I., has been troubled very much with his throat for some time past and was anxious to secure an appointment to a pastorate in the South. His wish has been granted, he has been assigned to a large church in Chicago, Tennessee. He preached his farewell sermon in Providence last Sunday and is now in his new field. His people were very anxious to retain him, as he was very popular and they wanted to have him stay out his life years with them.

As a sentimental testimonial of their esteem, they presented him with five shining gold eagle pens and gave Mr. Taber presents of all kinds. Mr. Taber had no inkling of these generous offerings until they were presented and he was taken completely by surprise.
