LOOKING FOR GOLD BRICKS.

W. J. Rolston of the firm of Rolston & Brooks, 154½ Spring Street and Motor-George Dever are taking a sea voyage and trying to find some gold bricks out in Bolton Pond this week. They are not using the Jernegan process however and no "salting" will be allowed. They are camping out and are having a glorious time. We learn that a team has to be kept on the road daily in order to furnish them with enough to eat. They are feeling healthy and hilarious and have entertained a number of their friends during the week. They will have plenty of company from here to-morrow night. It is expected that they will return next week.

EXCURSION TO GLEN ISLAND.

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company announce one more Glen Island excursion from Hartford tomorrow. The train leaves at 7:25 a.m. running express to the steamer landing at New Haven. With a delightful steamer trip of about four hours the excursionists reach the island at 12:30 p.m., where three and one-half hours are allowed in which to enjoy the band concert, to visit the museum and menagerie, and view the rare plants and horticultural wonders with which the place abounds; all these features being free. Ample facilities are also provided for boating, bathing, fishing, bowling and billiards. The rate is only $1.25.

The annual camp meeting at Tylerville, near Goodspeed's station on the Valley railroad begins Tuesday, August 18, and continues over two Sundays. Entertainment and refreshments of the most satisfactory character and at very reasonable rates are furnished at the camp boarding house.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE WORKMEN.

Frederick A. Betts, insurance commissioner of the State of Connecticut appointed three expert accountants to examine into the affairs of the Ancient Order of United Workmen of this jurisdiction and report their findings to him. These gentlemen have performed that duty and sent in a detailed statement of the financial affairs of the order which is highly satisfactory and also complimentary to all concerned. In concluding their report they make the following acknowledgment: "The system of bookkeeping is particularly well conceived and carried out. All bills and accounts are audited weekly by the finance committee; death claims also have to be examined and passed on by the committee. The average time for payment of death losses appears to be about twenty days and the society did not have a single contested claim on its books." This certainly is strong praise for the order from an official and disinterested source and must be highly gratifying to all its members.

IS NOT DEAD YET.

It was reported in the newspapers hereabouts that James F. Farrell, formerly a member of the local lodge of Foresters of America, had died of yellow fever in Sibikey. Word was received by the local lodge yesterday to the effect that he is not dead, but is ill in New York. Mr. Farrell transferred from the local lodge here to a lodge in Boston, but the laws of the order specify that in case of a transfer of that kind, the lodge to which the member originally belonged is helden for all benefits in case of sickness or death, for six months after the transfer is made. As Mr. Farrell was transferred about five months ago, the local lodge will pay the bills, should any be incurred. It is the duty of the lodge to which he has transferred, however, to investigate the case and produce satisfactory proofs of sickness or death, before the bills can be collected from this lodge. The Boston lodge is now working up the case.

It is to be hoped that the report here given may be the correct one and that Mr. Farrell may live, as he was a young man who made himself very popular while he was here and was very well liked. He was also a member of the D. Y.'s he had been employed as a foreman steam fitter here putting in their skillers for Cheney Brothers in their mills. He resided in Framingham, Mass. to Co. H of the Ninth Massachusetts Volunteers.

EDITOR NEWS.

I would like to call the attention of the readers of your paper to the careless manner in which people throw waste paper about our streets. There is nothing in my opinion, and I think you will agree with me, that makes a village like ours look so unkept and untidy as to see bits of paper lying about the streets, and in front of business houses and private residences. I notice that school children are very careless in this matter, as you frequently see them going through the streets, dropping papers all about. I think they should be taught in our schools not to do this, for no other reason than the looks of the thing, and besides this, it is a direct violation of one of our statute laws, which I fear is not generally known and which I will give in full. "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened, "Every person who shall deposit, throw or sink any paper or advertisement in any public highway, or on private premises or property, without the consent of the owner of said premises or property, shall be liable to a fine of not more than six dollars, or imprisonment not more than six months, or both."

"Approved, June 25, 1855." From the reading of this law you will see it is very strong, not only when scattering papers about the streets, but putting handbills and advertisements anywhere on the highway. I trust by your calling the attention of your readers to this evil, that it will lead to greater care and vigilance on the part of all to have it remedied. James W. Cheney.

WHY ARE FAVORITE MILK BISCUITS WONDERFUL?

Because We never heard of but one person who did not like them, an old bachelor, cranky, cross, morbid, out of sorts with everybody and everything, always complaining about what was placed before him to eat. Because We have so many imitators who claim their goods are "just as good" as FAVORITE MILK BISCUIT. Because So few people believe the "just as good" story. Prudent purchasers know that only the best goods are counterfeited. Because Everybody who hears of FAVORITE MILK BISCUIT, even to the remotest parts, are never quite satisfied until they get them. Because No other so-called health biscuits has ever met with one-tenth part of the success that has been accorded to our FAVORITE MILK BISCUIT. Because Even royalty is beginning to wonder why on earth they are unable to get these Biscuits. Because Every person who eats one of these Biscuits wants to eat another. Because They are adapted to a greater variety of uses, appropriate to serve on a greater number of occasions than any other biscuits ever made on earth. Because They are without a perfect health food for young or old. Because Everyone looks for the word "FAVORITE" on the biscuit they like best. Now good friends, one and all, combine with me for pleasure, health and happiness, let "FAVORITE MILK BISCUIT" be the tie that binds. Sold by up-to-date grocers.

OCHIE, THE CHICKASAW.

The colonel was in command, and it was our business to obey orders. His mouth was straight and firm, and his small grey eyes were naturally close together. His chin was clean shaven, and on either cheek he wore a thick and formal whisker.

Colonel Bailey selected me as one of his associates. For the other he picked out an unassuming fellow, known in the community as "Frozen Pete." I suspect that he had some great confidence in our ability to catch the thief. For when we reached Lehigh and found the outlaw under lock and key he seemed very satisfied.

understood and grasped the rope near its centre, while Oche, dropping full length upon the ground, wriggled his naked body into the burrow. Thanks to his extreme slenderness and to his Indian blood he crawled through the tunnel with all the dexterity of an animal.

Pete crawled into the tunnel as fast as his own exertions would permit, and now the Indian, drawing the rope taut, pulled him along with all the strength of his little body. Twisting and turning, the cowboy escaped safely through.

The colonel grabbed the end of the rope which had almost disappeared in the burrow, and running back with it 15 feet he ordered me to go before him. The fire was within 50 yards of us. The wind drove sparks and smoke against our faces. It was no time for sleeping here, like the gentle lambs we are, he slipped his hands untied, the rope from his ankles and left the burrow to his fate.

Colonel Bailey got on his feet and took a step toward Oche. The outlaw staid motionless. The sheriff made a sign with his hand, and I perceived the outline of a hard object in his rear pocket. It was the butt of a derringer pistol; but I am not the man to criticize the conduct of Til Tidford, or Youth's Companion.

OVER 225 GRADUATES PLACED IN SITUATIONS the past fourteen months by Huntinger's Business College. We could have filled more positions if we could have found suitable persons. Huntinger's up-to-date training pays because persons will use it as long as they live. Our attendance the past year was nearly three times as large as that of any other business college of Hartford. Actual Business Practice throughout the entire course. Opening Aug. 29th. Send for new Catalogue and College Journal.

TOWN NEWS AND NOTES. WHY IS IT?

Huntinger's Business College has steadily grown every year from its foundation while some of its competitors have as steadily dwindled. Why is it? A general and absolutely truthful answer would be "It has won success by deserving it."

It has given the best training because Mr. Huntinger gives what was given him, because his knowledge of business needs is the most complete, his natural fitness for the work unsurpassed, his assistants all of long and successful prior experience, and the best to be found anywhere.

The College has been a growing success because each successive year has shown more clearly that the best possible business education is the only one worth having at any price. Anything less is a graveyard of blighted hopes and grandiose but unattainable dreams.

Members of Company G, First Connecticut Volunteers have been sending home large pictures of the boys as they appear when off duty in Camp Alger, Virginia, at which place they are still stationed, as the order for their removal to Porto Rico has been countermanded.

A collection will be taken in St. James church, Sunday, August 21, to pay for the new confessionals that have been erected, for the necessary improvements that have been made in the sacristy and chancel, including raising the pedestal of the statue of the Sacred Heart, arranging respectables for altar purvises at the rear of same and making matters in general more convenient for all concerned.

A closely contested game of base ball took place on the Mt. Nebo grounds last Saturday afternoon between the Central street and Charter Oak street teams. The Central street boys won, the score being 8 to 2. It was good ball for the players who are more or less inexperienced, but they gave a very good account of themselves.

Letters have been received here from the South Manchester gold seekers in the Copper River region. They have passed in safety over the Third Glacier, have come into a land that blooms with as lovely wild flowers as they ever saw, has plenty of berries and an abundance of game. They celebrated the Fourth of July with a game dinner. All are well and full of hope. The streams are swollen with melting snows and ice so that they cannot do much prospecting until colder weather sets in. They need a long rest now and will probably take it.

The employees of The News, together with the members in general hereabouts, were very much surprised as well as amused, to see John Cowan come in to the office last Friday, all radiant with smiles and arrayed in a stunning bicycle costume, including bicycle breeches, bicycle hose, red bicycle cap, with a large white star on the crown, and a maroon colored bicycle sweater. John was pushing his wheel by hand; as the hot and humid weather had so swollen and loosened the chain that it expanded and the wheel could not be propelled by the usual method of pedaling. But John's beaming countenance belied the fact that, with all the wheel's faults he loved it still; including the bicycle outfit.

A large line of LIZELLE'S choice perfumes can be found at Waldon's drug store in the new brick block. If you have never used these perfumes give them a trial. They are all right.
