HE'S AN EXPANSIONIST.

That Aaron Johnson, our popular and successful merchant is an expansionist is clearly apparent from the fact that he is constantly spreading out in a business sense, and in spite of his many extension and additions to his already large store on Chestnut street, he finds himself hampered for room more and more day by day. In order therefore to meet the requirements of trade he has determined to build on again and on Monday last ground was broken on the south east side of the present store for an addition that will be 20 x 25 feet and two stories spartment and will contain flour grain, ent that is 80 x 32 feet and is now used for his crockery ware etc. but is not at all sufficient to meet the demands of his trade. His present store is 31 x 80 feet and is overflowing with the very best groceries obtainable.
