REWARDING OUR HEROES.

A rich man's little daughter And ran out upon the ear track, Where she loitered long at play, Caring nothing for the trolley As it whirred around the bend, Knowing nothing of the angel That was waiting to descend.

The rich man stood and trembled With his darling on his breast,
And the motorman was lauded
And his hands were proudly pressed !
By a hair's breadth he had saved her—
He had acted just in time—
And the negrie called him make And the people called him noble, and pronounced his deed sublime.

The rich man gave him money, Gave him land and gave him praise, Gave him presents for his children, Made him glad in many ways. And, at night, knelt with his darling The brave motorman from danger And to save him when he died.

The rich man's little daughter And her lips were parched with fever, And all hope had ebbed away, But a doctor watched and waited, Ere his trying task was done.

He had left his bed at midnight, He had watched with weary eyes; He had braved the flercest weather, Sighing when he heard her signs, And he gioried in his triumph When he saw her smiles come back, Even as he smiled who saved her When she played upon the track. But no crowd pressed round the doctor,

And no happy cheers were board;
He had done a thing that's common,
Nothing thrilling had occurred.
And the rich man fumed like fury
When he got the doctor's bill,
Which he called an outsage—lawyers

THE CONNELLY BENEFIT.

- AT -

Members of Company G. C. N. G., are bustling to make the proposed benefit to First Lieutenant John Connelly a rousing success and judging from the impetas already given it looks as if their efforts would be well seconded by the public.

The event will take place in the Armory on Thursday evening of next week and will consist of a concert by the South Manchester Military Band, the presentation of "Finnegan's Fortunes" by the St. Bridget's Dramatic Club, a butterfly dance by the Misses Maud Purnell and Minnie Stevenson, and vocal solos by Mrs. George Turner, William Carr and William Crawford, Jr. This will make a program of considerable variety, and as it will be given wholly by local talent it is sure to attract a large audience. The admission fee will be set at 50 cents and all will receive full value for their money. Furthermore the cause is a worthy one and will receive much support for that reason alone.

It will be remembered that "Finnegan's Fortunes" was presented by the St. Bridget's Dramatic Club last winter for the benefit of St. Bridget's church and was well received. It is a roaring Irish farce with fun galore from start to finish and will put the audience in the merriest of moods.

The butterfly dance by the little misses is quite a lengthy one and is very pretty. It will be one of the features of

The solos, too, by Mrs. Turner and Messrs. Carr and Crawford are sure to please, as all are capable and accomplished singers and are very popular in town. The program therefore will be well worthy of the occasion and we' bespeak for it a hearty reception by the public. It will be followed by dancing.

The Instinct of Motherhood Dying Out Among American Women.

"There are other graver facts of which I can but hint here which prove how deep is the decadence of the old sacred family life, and how rapidly the instinct of motherhood is dying out among our women," writes "An American Mother" in the Ladies' Home Journal. "One is the rapid and enormous increase of divorces in this country, especially in the northeastern farming States. It is not only the gay, self-indulgent husband and wife who tire of each other, but the plodding farmer and the woman who is old and worn out with work.
