of it. Oh, let us brighten up our manners and appear in gentlemanihoess or lady hood.

The trouble with many of our nets is that the meshes are too large. If a fish can get his gills and half his body through the network, he tears and ronds and works his way out, and leaves the place through which he squirmed a tangie of broken threads. In our desire to make everything so easy we relax, we loosen, we widen. We let men after they are once in the gospel net escape into he world, and go into indulgences and swim all around Galilies, from north side to south side, and from east side to west side, expecting that they will come back again. We ought to make it easy for them to get out. The poor advice nowadays to many is: "Go and do just as you did before you were captured for God and heaven. The net was not intended to be any restraint or any hindrance. What you did before you were captured for God and heaven. The net was not intended to be any restraint or any hindrance. What you did before you were captured for God and heaven. The net was not intended to be any restraint or any hindrance. What you did before you were a Christian do now.
