All during the summer applications for entrance to either the usiness or shorthand department have been pouring in, so that more than a week before the opening day had come we prophesied

Work has already commenced for an enlargement of the various departments and new desks will be ready for those who will come in on Monday next. Careful individual instruction characterizes all the teaching of both commercial and stenographic studies and every branch is made perfectly plain in a grand system of Actual Business Practice.

Monday and Tuesday Were The Busiest Days Ever Known at

Huntsinger's Business College

Days long to be remembered because they have emphasized what we have predicted for seven weeks, that this year's opening would be the largest in the history of the school. Years ago we surpassed all other schools in the State in numbers of pupils, in numbers of teachers, and for the past seven or eight years the only effort Huntsinger's Business College has made in the acquisition of numbers of pupils has been to surpass itself. This it has done every year. There is an inspiration in surpassing one's self—an in-spiration to the teachers, and to the incoming pupils.

If you are still undecided about taking a business course, we might be able to help you decide that matter if you will call to see the school in session, and see what is being done by enterprising,ambitious young people. We are not only surpassing ourselves in enrollment, but also in placing graduates in situations. 816 graduates placed in situations in the fifty-seven months and two weeks ending Aug. 30th is a record which speaks volumes for the thoroughness of the training, for the appreciation of the public of the Huntsinger graduate, and i shows that we remain permanently interested in our students.

Please call to see the college. Take the elevator just inside the entrance

The South Manchester Juniors Coming to the Front-Will Take the Place of the Regulars after a Time

They went up to Talcottville a week ago last Saturday and made the Talcottvilles acknowledge their superiority in a game of base ball. It is expected that they will take a fall out of the Vernons on the Nebo grounds tomorrow afternoon, and they promise to make that aggregation feel that there will be something doing throughout

OF THE ANXIOUS PARENT

We have learned how to prepare just such a training for young people as is necessary to enable them to do the work required in a merchant's or manufacturer's office. Almost every day one or more calls come to us from insurance companies, banks, or stores, for a good bookkeeper, stenographer, sipping clerk or office assistant. The calls ask for certain qualifications. We have accordingly laid our plans and adapted our courses so as to give every requisite. Ours isn't a common business college. It is no more like the ordinary business college than it is like the public school. We don't recite business lessons. We get right into the real thing and practice business just as it is done in business. We use the genuine business and legal forms, carry out bona-fide transactions and learn by experience. One price covers all costs, tuition and supplies. It is $12.50

Eight Years Ago

took the lead in numbers of pupils and teachers. Since that time it has each year surpassed its previous attendance. Of the twelve teachers in the four business schools in Hartford, eight are employed at Huntsinger's. Of the 750 people who attended the four business colleges last year, 500 attended Huntsinger's.

Mr. Huntsinger was especially educated for teaching, and has taught for twenty-six years; the principals of some of the other schools were trained for something else. Which principal, therefore, is best fitted to plan an educational course of training for young people? Surely the one with the preparation and teaching experience. Does not the school which places its claim upon painstaking thorough training given by capable teachers deserve your patronage, rather than the schools whose only claims to patronage are furniture? Does not the school deserve your consideration which has placed 820 of its trained people in paying situations in the fifty-seven months and three weeks ending September 6th, rather than those whose graduates are not in great demand and when they get situations frequently fail to hold them? At Huntsinger's no promises are made that are not fulfilled, no inducements offered that are not realized. Have you ever known of a school educating people by promises and fixtures?

Tuition $11. per month. No text books to buy. All supplies, stationery, etc., from the day of entrance to graduation need not cost more than from $8. to $10. The pupil buys his supplies wherever he chooses.
