The Game of Postman.

Boys and girls of every age will find the game of postman immensely enter taining. The only thing to prepare for it is a list of cities and towns equal to the number of players. One of the players is selected as the postman, Having removed as much of the furniture from the room as possible, arrange chairs around the walls and have the players occupy them. There must be no empty chair. This is es-

The postmaster gives to each player the name of a city or a town and then blindfolds the postman and places him in the center of the room. The postmaster himself stands where he can overlook the players. Everything being ready, the postmaster begins the game by saying, for example, "I have sent a letter from New York to Boston." The moment he has spoken the players representing New York and Boston respectively get up and move quickly to change places. It is the object of the blindfolded postman to catch one of them as they run Stetson's original "Uncle Tom," Mr. or to take possession of one of their chairs. The Game of Postman. Boys and girls of every age will find the game of postman immensely entertaining. The only thing to prepare for it is a list of cities and towns equal to the number of players. One of the players is selected as the postman, Having removed as much of the furniture from the room as possible, arrange chairs around the walls and have the players occupy them. There must be no empty chair. This is es-

The postmaster gives to each player the name of a city or a town and then blindfolds the postman and places him in the center of the room. The postmaster himself stands where he can overlook the players. Everything being ready, the postmaster begins the game by saying, for example, "I have sent a letter from New York to Boston." The moment he has spoken the players representing New York and Boston respectively get up and move quickly to change places.
