things, by adorning the stage with a forest scene, with dark green background, and ample green foliage all around about. A large and handsome satin American banner, and another of equal size, beauty and material of emerald hue, bearing the Harp of Erin in gold, and emblematic of the Is'e of St. Patrick, further ornamented the stage. Green ribbons, and green decorations were worn by many of the young ladies and young gentlemen present. Pretty gowns, many in attractive tin's of green were worn by the handsome daughters of Eric, and a merry and light hearted assemblage of well dressed and well behaved young people disported themselves in a free and easy manner. The grand march was led by Michael J. and Mrs. Moriarty, followed by about 60 couples. The balcony was well filled with spectators, and many others preferred to occupy seats in the main floor during the progress of the grand march. Lennon's orchestra of 6 pieces discoursed sweet and up-to-date mu-ic, as well as some of the music of the ancient Irish Bards. A medley of Irish airs during the concert was a noticable feature, and recalled to the minds of many, recollections of the Emerald Isle.

The grand march was led by Michael at the evening school here this winter, was presented with a hands me signet ring of roce gold by his class last Wednesday evening. The class closed its studies Tuesday night, and on invitation of Mr. Nichols, assembled at his residence, as noted above. They were his guests and were pleasantly entertained. Whist, pit, games, vocal and instrumental music, and the enjoyment of light refreshments were the diversions of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols made matters very pleasant, and the hours sped along unnoticed un-
