MINSTRELS NEXT WEEK

ARTISTS OF SOUTH MANCHESTER DIVISION, SONS OF TEMPERANCE WILL ENTERTAIN.

Helps To Repeat Their Fine Success of Last February—in Addition To Minstrel First Part as Olio of Vandeville Acts by Local Performers Will Add to Festivities.

On Thursday evening, April 30, in Cheney hall the Sons of Temperance Minstrel will again make their bow to the public. They have been rehearsing diligently for the last two months under the direction of Harry G. Anderson, and they hope to duplicate their success of last February.

Grand Opening Overture, Entire Company Only Mother's Picture, Otto Nelson When You Steal a Kiss or Two, Sam Nelson and Miss Saw, If the World Don't Treat You Right, Come Home, Dillon, Is It Very Far to Heaven? Miss Vitch She Borrowed My Only Husband and Forgot to Bring Him Back, Miss Black Don't Worry, Thomas Faulkner I'm Looking for the Man Who Wrote the Merry Widow Waltz, Sam Nelson Poor Little Mary, Checkboard Quinist Grand Finale, Under Any Old Flag at All, Alex. Johnson and Entire Company.

Bada's orchestra will be in attendance. Following the minstrel first part, there will be offered an olio of amateur vandyll acts which it is believed will prove fully as attractive as the minstrel feature of the program.

Chorus: The Misses Schmidt, Bose, Johnson, Hyde, Cunningham, Russell, Fletcher, Glenney, Crockett, Dillon, Martin, Walsh, Covallan, Vetch, Nelson, Mrs. Wm. Dillon and Meers Engel, Sonikson and Rogers.

Contractor E. L. G. Hohenbahl is building a six-room cottage for Arthur Bronke, same to be located directly west of Mr. Hohenbahl's residence.

Mr. Hohenbahl is also erecting a double penement for Mrs. Anna O. Chambers on East street. This building will have ten rooms with modern improvements.

Mr. Hohenbahl is building a barn for William Farrell on Bennett street. The building will be 18 x 24 feet and will be used at the present time by Mr. Farrell's son, Albert, who is running a fruit and vegetable route about town.

Mr. Hohenbahl is completing a four-tenement building of his own on Ridgewood street. These tenements will have four rooms each and will be on the same general style as the other tenements which Mr. Hohenbahl owns in that vicinity.

Mr. Hohenbahl is employing eight carpenters at the present time. Contractor Arthur Mercer has men at work on a double tenement for Carl N. Peterson on the east end of School street. The building will have ten rooms with modern improvements.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. CATHERINE TOOHY.

Mrs. Catherine Toohy of Woodland street died Friday night at her home after a short illness with pleurisy. She deceased was 90 years old and the widow of the late Michael M. Toohy, who was well known to the older residents of the north end of the town.

The funeral of Miss Abbie Tere-a Gannon was held from St. Bridget's church at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning and interment was in St. Bridget's cemetery. Miss Gannon was about 65 years old and had moved here from Staungatch about three years ago.

Hans Mes-mann of Manchester Green, 61 years old, died last Sunday after a short illness. His funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, burial being in the East cemetery. Rev. Manning B. Bennett, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, officiated. A widow, two sons and three daughters survive: Andrew and Henry, Mrs. Annie Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Marley and Miss Dora Mes-mann.

Mrs. Mary Orr of Wells street, 68 years old, died last Monday from a series of strokes. Her funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, Rev. W. F. Davis of the South Methodist church officiating. Burial was at the East cemetery. Mrs. Orr was widow of the late James Orr, was a native of Ireland and resided in South Manchester about forty years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gillam, mother of Dr. W. S. Gillam of this place, died at her home in Philadelphia, Pa. last Tuesday at the age of 78 years. Her funeral is to be held at Philadelphia this afternoon and Dr. Gillam is in attendance. He expects to return here tomorrow afternoon.

RESOLUTIONS. WHEREAS, His pleasure Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst, our friend and comrade, Harry Strang, be it

RESOLVED, That we, the members of Hose & Ladder Company No. 1 do hereby extend to his wife and family our heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement, and that we express to them our sorrow in the loss of a faithful and esteemed member, and it is further

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, be printed in the local newspapers, and be inserted in the records of the Company.

John M. Carney, George Smith, Richard O. Cheney, Jr., April 9, 1908. Committee.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

YESTERDAY COST LEON J. DUPONT OF HACKMATAK STREET ABOUT ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Two Hundred Cords of Hard Wood Cut in to Four Feet Lengths, One Hundred Fifty Telegraph Poles and Twenty Five Railroad Rails Consumed—Dry Underbrush and Leaves Fire Flamed.

In a destructive fire in a wood lot owned by Leon J. Dupont just over the Manchester line in the town of Glastonbury yesterday 300 cords of wood, 150 telegraph poles and 25 railroad ties, were almost totally consumed.

The wood choppers noticed the fire about ten o'clock in the forenoon, and because of the strong wind that was blowing at once saw the danger that confronted them and gave the alarm to the neighbors. It so happened that Mr. Dupont was out of town yesterday while his property was being destroyed.

Nevertheless, willing hands were stretched forth to do all they could to combat the flames, but as the underbrush and leaves were dry and all in good condition to add inflammable material to the burning flames, the utmost efforts of the workers were insufficient to save Mr. Dupont's property.

It will be remembered that Mr. Dupont bought this from Adam Practice lately and had wood choppers at work there all winter. About 100 of the telegraph poles were drawn to an adjoining lot and saved.

Insurance companies refuse to insure wood piled in a wood lot surrounded by brush, leaves, etc., and consequently Mr. Dupont suffers the entire loss. He has about 300 cords of standing wood left on the lot yet. This was burned somewhat but not to any great extent.

By hard work of the men assembled elsewhere in our columns, and in planning to locate here permanently about the middle of May. Mr. Biddle's health has become impaired to such an extent that he doesn't intend to perform active ministerial duties in the future.

It will be pleasantly remembered that St. Mary's Episcopal church in this place from August 1, 1895 until May 1, 1908, a period of nine years and nine months and that both he and his good wife formed many very pleasant acquaintances in South Manchester and vicinity.

People about town generally, irrespective of creed or nationality will be very glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Biddle take up their abode in this community. They are sure of being most cordially welcomed by all who had the pleasure of knowing them.

RECEPTION TONIGHT. Rev. Charles N. Lovell, pastor of the North Congregational Church is expected to dine with his bride today on their return from a wedding tour and members of the parish and other friends will give them a public reception this evening. Bada's orchestra will furnish music for the occasion and a very festive time is anticipated. The ladies will have the pleasure of forming the acquaintance of many of the parishioners and other neighbors and citizens of Manchester.

READY FOR CAMPAIGN. Washington Loyal Orange Lodge are organizing a fine band and expect to be in good condition for the coming fall campaign. The boys usually have a good fine band during presidential campaigns and furnish inspiring music. It is expected that the young men who came into line this year as members of the lodge will be able to give as good an account of themselves as have their predecessors in the years that are past.

GOOD OPPORTUNITY. In our Want Column today will be found a notice of a milk route for sale which will pay anybody having any business in the Cheney block for the give their prompt attention. This is one of the oldest milk routes in town, and with the receipt they will have a favorable celebration. Lack of interest prompted the remaining few members to vote to disband.

CLUB DISBANDED. The Orford Social Club, which has occupied rooms in the Cheney block for a number of years past has voted to disband. Their furnishings have been sold and with the receipt they will have a favorable celebration. Lack of interest prompted the remaining few members to vote to disband.

INCREASING. Clean, prompt and courteous attention to customers have increased facilities for the tea man's sales.

Homecoming

By Cecily Allen. Copyright, 1908, by Homecoming. He was extremely fair to look upon. The Nat Gregory's realization of this fact was nothing new, but some- thing just at this particular moment it was borne in upon him afresh and at a novel angle.

His hair was blue black, so were her lashes and her eyes were a wonderful blue, which, somehow, some- thing, turned to an equally wonderful violet. The last time that Nat had looked into them his own had been full of stinging unshed tears. How could he stand six months in Panama with the light of those blue (or were they violet) eyes denied him?

But her smiles had been so brief and unsteady that even to her, lady Panama had had caught himself reading between the lines and finding there a certain note, the small narrow smile, the girl steeped in admiration and fed on compliment.

She was smiling at him now across the car's broad aisle and above a great "granny" muff of gray fur. That huge mass of fur made her face look all the more plump and dainty. Occasionally the man on the right interrupted the friendly glances which Peggy Barton always cast at Nat Gregory, and he glowered. Nat Gregory knew just how the chap felt. He had intercepted the same sort of glances, and they had made him squint too.

She simulated a tiny cough and in- stantly raised the muff again. The cough was a good excuse for fetch- ing up, but somehow the absurd little deception annoyed Nat Gregory. It is an sometimes with men who have had much to do with women, and who are broadened by travel and contact with men of affairs.

So he let his glance wander to the girl in the seat next to him. She was a different sort of smile, a wholesome, friendly smile, without any sug- gession of ownership behind it. Peggy Barton always assumed that air with her—her sister Janet, never.

For you see, Janet was the ugly duckling of the Barton family, famous for its pretty daughters and the good matches they made. Janet was not so beautiful, acerbically beauti- fully, but she was not so beautiful as her younger and less attractive sis- ter around with her as a foil.

Something of this was passing through Nat Gregory's head as he sat watching the little comedy. The other chap would be furious if Nat crossed the aisle and talked with Peggy, and he would strike a happy medium. He would join the party and talk to Janet.

How well he could remember their many trips together—Peggy, Janet and himself—to the links, where he and Peggy played golf and Janet sat on the veranda or disappeared in the woods where wild flowers were thick; to the matinee, where between the acts he and Peggy shared together the duties of the play as if it were a personal matter, while Janet read the advertise- ments in the programme; to the rink, where he and Peggy skated together and Janet found some girl friend as a skating partner or against the wall making humorous mental comment on the changes that befell her.

What a jolly little beggar Janet had been in those days! If she had been dead he had never allowed it to be said that she was standing before the trio now. The man, Fred Marsden, had been dilly-dallying. Peggy had turned away from the rink and had been sitting on the sofa, and Janet just murr- red, "Do come."

BREAKING IN NEW MEN. One Corporation Publishes a Text Book For New Employees. A large corporation has lately shown its appreciation of the value of giving new employees a thorough general knowledge of the business by publish- ing a book describing in an interesting fashion all the details of the company's work.

AN ANECDOTE OF KEAN. How One Actress Won and Another Lost His Good Opinion. Keaton, who is the indomitable love of praise even from his humblest work- ers, says the London Tatler. During his brilliant management of the theatre in the part Saturday evening, the star is an Englishman by birth and in the play he appears as an Englishman, who leaves his native land and comes to this country, where he marries an Indian. Faversham has been in the Indian since 1887 and he came to Ameri- ca a year later, when he was only 20 years old. He supported Misses Mad- den's Plink a couple of years and was for six years leading man at the Zan- ny's theatre, New York, under the Frohman management. He is an actor who has made good and in The Squaw Man he is seen at his best. Among those who will appear in his support are Margaret Bourne, C. H. Malles, Benton Churchill, George Deyo and Mad Hufferd.

THE SQUAW MAN. The Squaw Man will be seen at the Parsons theatre Saturday afternoon and evening. William Faversham, who has been playing the role of Jim Carson for the past two years, will wind up his career in the part Saturday evening. The star is an Englishman by birth and in the play he appears as an Englishman, who leaves his native land and comes to this country, where he marries an Indian. Faversham has been in the Indian since 1887 and he came to Ameri- ca a year later, when he was only 20 years old. THE GREATEST FEATURE OF THE HUNTSINGER BUSINESS SCHOOL. Its high standard of work, which compares the graduates to those in business. Are YOU making the most of your opportunities? Why not a specialist in shorthand, bookkeeping or typewriting? We have helped thousands young people to become a success, and if you are willing to do your share of the work we can help you, too. The teachers to assist you when and where you need help. Thirty-seven typewriting machines in daily use. School occupies three whole floors. The Huntsinger School is best because it has the most thorough courses of study and the finest teachers. In preparing pupils for business we do not overlook their moral welfare. New pupils start every week. E. M. HUNTSINGER, Principal, 30 Asylum St., Hartford, Conn. 4 doors west of Main street.

CHAUNTY OLCOTT. The familiar type of characters in- cluded in the novel Irish drama are ab- sent from Theodore Barr's new play, O'Neill of Berry, in which Chauncy Olcott will be seen at Par- sons theatre on May 1, for two per- formances. There is no brutal lead- ing, no bawdiness or vulgarity, and the story, which is a strong and moving one, might have occurred in any other land or among any other people. Mr. Olcott's play is a happy opportunity suc- cessfully as a soldier of fortune, romantic lover and self-sacrificing friend. The four new songs written and composed for this production are acknowledged as best efforts and are received nightly with shouts of approval.

HARTFORD OPERA HOUSE. VAUDEVILLE. Vandeville will finish the week at the Hartford opera house an entirely new bill opening there Thursday afternoon. Manager Jennings has the pick of the talent at the Hartford opera house several acts away up among the headliners. The principal on the program is the Great Chadwick trio, in a sketch For Sale, Wagon's Act, which has set audience wild everywhere it has been seen. The act was a tremen- dous hit at the Garrick theatre last week and has proven an applause getter here. Others on this bill which are en- tirely new are: The Great Chadwick, a burlesque comedy and dance, a novel sketch and Mrs. Ma Chadwick, cham- pion buck dancer of America, closing with the Sherman moving pictures.

THE FIT OF AN OXFORD DEPENDS ENTIRELY ON HOW THE UPPER LEATHER IS CUT. The Emerson Oxford does not require tight lacing, which always stretches the best of upper leathers, it lasts longer and always retains its stylish shape. "See that Fits the Heels" and prove to you that it is honest all through. C. E. HOUSE, So-Manchester.
