WOMEN TO IRELAND

Successful Sailing and Real Estate News
Thomas McRoberts of Spruce street is planning to take a trip to Ireland next month. He will be accompanied by his wife. They expect to have a very pleasant visit to the land of their infancy and renew acquaintances of their childhood days and note the changes that have been made in the Old Sod since they resided there.

This fact coupled with his unflagging industry, his simple and economical habits of life and his abounding good health has enabled him to achieve the industrial success which his efforts have met with. He is well worthy of the vacation which he is about to take and his many friends here trust that he and his good wife will be blessed with excellent health and a safe voyage both over and back.

WAVE WHIST PARTY

Knights of Columbus Entertain Lady Friends At Foresters Hall
Campbell Council, No. 573, Knights of Columbus gave a whist party at Foresters hall Wednesday evening which was an acknowledgment of the valuable services rendered by the young women at the recent K. of C. fair.

There was a tie for the first prize between Mrs. John Hich and Miss Buzzell, both having eighteen points to the good. Lots were cast and favored Miss Buzzell who was presented with a clock. Thomas Brennan won the first prize for gentlemen, which consisted of a gilt edge pair of cards in a case. The consolation prize for gentlemen was won by Robbie Smith, the popular vaudeville artist who contested so capably at the fair.

The Knights appreciated very highly the valuable services rendered by the young ladies at their recent fair, and were pleased to give this demonstration of same.

DEER IN LAKE

Pursued by Two Dogs, a Deer Swims Across Lake Waugunbang
Several Manchester people who were spending last Sunday at Lake Waugunbang, South Coventry, saw the unusual sight of a deer swimming across the lake. Two dogs had been pursuing the deer through the woods on the west shore and had driven it to an open place near the water's edge. The deer jumped right into the lake and swam to the opposite shore, a quarter of a mile distant, leaving her pursuers behind. The dogs did not attempt to follow the deer into the water.

BETTER THAN GOLDEN GATE

August Bebelak went on a slight seeing tour to California recently but made up his mind that South Manchester was a prettier good place in which to live. He packed up his trunk and returned to "the land of steady habit" where he is now safely ensconced and is likely to remain. The Golden Gate has doubtless many charms but South Manchester is admitted herewith to possess a more desirable climate to cope with these, especially in the Spring and Summer time.

WIDOWED SAILORS SUPPORTED BY SOUTH MANCHESTER PARTY

A conference was held Tuesday afternoon between the officers of the Tuberculosis Free Bed Fund Association of Cheney Brothers and the members of the State Tuberculosis Commission including President Geo. Venable and John F. Gunshanan. The party visited the tuberculosis ward at the Hartford Hospital and inspected the Wildwood Sanitarium at Cedar Mountain. Three patients from this place are now being cared for at Cedar Mountain. Those from here who went on the trip of inspection were President Howard J. and Mrs. Taylor, Secretary Miss Ethel Brainard and Mrs. Eleanor McCann, a member of the committee. It may not be amiss in this relation to state that the local association not only cares for the patient himself but also assists the family dependent upon him when his assistance becomes necessary. Members of the local Free Bed Fund Association have contributed $2,000 for the work in which the association is engaged, and Cheney Brothers have donated a similar sum giving to the disposal of the officers $4,000 for the care and maintenance of some of the members of the association as well as afflicted with tuberculosis or are dependent upon persons so afflicted in the employ of Cheney Brothers.

SUED RAILROAD COMPANY

Mrs. Sarah Hayden of this place, widow of the late Robert Hayden, has brought suit against the N. Y. N. H. & H. Railroad Company for damages of $5,000. On the night of Feb. 5th, 1908, at about 11.15, Mr. Hayden was returning from Rockville to his home, and while enroute to cross the bell railroad tracks at the Manchester station was struck by a freight train and killed. Mr. Hayden carried negligence on the part of the company. She alleges that the locomotive bell or whistle were not sounded as the locomotive was approaching the crossing.

TRACK MEET TOMORROW

BY TEAMS REPRESENTING HIGH SCHOOLS OF SO. MANCHESTER, ROCKVILLE AND ENFIELD.

Events To Take Place at Hyde Park, Conn. Tomorrow. Contests Who Are Scheduled to Struggle for Honors—Large and Enthusiastic Gathering From Here Will Cheer Athletes.

The track meet of teams representing the South Manchester, Rockville and Enfield High schools will take place at Hyde Park, Rockville, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The local entries for which are as follows: 100 yard dash—Maguire, Morgan, Carney.

Running high jump—Maguire, Balseper, Stanley.

440 yard dash—Carney, Dunn, Quish, Pole vault—Stanley, Balseper, Quish.

200 yard dash—Maguire, Fish, Carney. Running broad jump—Martin, Maguire, Carney.

Half mile run—Clark, F. McEvitt, Martin.

300 yard hurdle—Maguire, Morgan, Carney.

Puttins shot—J. McEvitt, Maguire, Carney.

Half mile relay—Maguire, Martin, Morgan, Carney.

A large and enthusiastic body of sportsmen are expected to be present at the meet at Hyde Park. Three special trolley cars will convey the jolly party. The cars will leave the south terminus here at 10:40 and reach Hyde Park at 2:00 p. m.

A special of the Hartford Courant this morning gives the information that while the South Manchester High school boys were practicing for the meet at Hyde Park in Rockville, Conn. at yesterday morning the brakes on a trolley car were found to be out of order and it was found impossible to drag it back on the track with its own power. In the attempt to do so the car was pulled up on the driveway leading to the South Methodist church, causing the planking on the driveway to become considerably broken. Another car was sent down to take the commuters to Hartford, as a goodly number of men go from this place each day to work in the Hartford shops and these take the 5:45 a. m. trolley from the south terminus for that purpose. Later another car was sent down with workmen from the barn and after considerable effort the big car was brought back into position on the track.

During the day the driveway leading into the South Methodist church grounds was replaced, new planking being laid in the place of the old, leaving it in very much better condition than it was before the accident occurred. As a matter of fact the time had almost arrived when a new driveway would have been an absolute necessity had the accident not occurred.

Secret of the Locket.

The long, long ago there dwelt in a land far beyond the seas a poor old woman called Granny Grob, whose only companion was a little grandson named Danny Grob. Danny and his aged grandmother had hard work to it to keep the wolf from the door. Their little home consisted of ten acres of prairie land, on which they toiled early and late to raise their small crops, and five acres of wood-land from which they gathered their fuel when it was cold. The little possession had been left to them by Danny's father and mother, who had died with Danny was a baby. On the death of Danny's mother, who had found blood in her veins, there was found hidden away in her breast a small locket attached to a silver chain as fine as a thread of silk. About the locket was wrapped a piece of paper on which were written these words: "Do not open the locket until Danny is in his twentieth year. Then a gift will be found that will make his life a life of ease and joy. If he is instructed to do so. Only on this condition may he ever open the locket before his twentieth birthday. If severe illness or great danger threaten him or his dear old grandmother, he may open it and make use of its contents."

So the years had gone by, and Danny, so small when he was told of the locket, soon forgot its existence. He was an industrious little fellow, raising the corn and going to the fields to till the old granny helped, of course, doing all the "man's work," as she called the labor which was too heavy for Danny. Besides the garden and the wheat and barley fields there were a small flock of sheep and a mild eyed milk cow to be looked after.

Often on warm summer days, after the crops had been garnered, Danny would take his flock of sheep up the mountain side, some two miles from

THE DOLLAR.

The Evolution From the One Time Best or Below.

The dollar took some rounding. Nor did it formerly ring true, but much time, money and sweat were expended to immediately set himself to work to have the water extended to Orford Park so that persons constructing homes there will have the means to supply same with running water.

Mr. Hill will also add to the business activity of Orford Park by erecting buildings thereon himself.

It can readily be seen, therefore that Orford Park is going to be a scene of much business life in a very short time, and homebuilders will be well and comfortably established thereon in the near future.

Mr. Hill has clearly demonstrated great wisdom and the drawing power of judicious advertising by his action taken in this place. He is a generous employer of printers' ink, constantly using the local newspapers in his business enterprises, and finds his efforts in this direction abundantly rewarded. He believes in taking the public into his confidence letting him know through the newspapers what he has to sell, and giving the assurance of the way that their patronage is earnestly desired. He also finds that buying printer's ink is one of the most profitable investments he can make.

CHANGES IN TIMES.

Times do change. Thirty years ago an old fashioned steel tread spring wagon was a luxury. In a funeral procession a mile long one would perhaps see two or three of them. Everyone rode in farm wagons. Twenty-five years ago a top buggy was a rich man's good fortune and a top of few were seen. To-day a top buggy with rubber tires is as common as Democrats in Texas. Anybody can afford to buy one. A horse wagon in a funeral procession to-day would be a novelty. The aristocrats ride in automobiles and they are getting to be quite common. It's a fact that the dollar doesn't last as long as it once did with our grandfathers. We spend more for our socks and suspenders than our grandfathers did for their Sunday clothes and still we wonder why in the matter. Why? Because we live in a more advanced age. We have a light grey frock on the day and date named above.

AN EARLY RISE.

Good Authority on Frost in June Says We Had One.

A light white frost was seen by early risers hereabouts Wednesday morning, June 3, 1908. Wesley Hollister, the Charter Oak street dealer is one of the earliest risers in this vicinity, as the writer of these lines can testify, because Mr. Hollister's horse has been gone past the writer's domicile about three o'clock in the morning, according to the writer from his much coveted slumber. Mr. Hollister is authority on frost in June, as he is up early enough to make any discoveries of "that kind" that may be possible, and he says that he had a light grey frost on the day and date named above.

THE YALLOP will have a line of foreign and domestic wools on display Friday and Saturday afternoon and evenings at the Warehouse. His where he will be pleased to take measurements for suits and summer suits of the kind of ready made goods. These wools are of the highest quality. Some from the north, and the quality of material is of the best and the quality of workmanship is of the best.

WASTE PAPER
Better Use Recyclables for Same and Avoid Trouble

In view of the fact that waste paper receptacles are placed at convenient places along Main street it is very much desired that people see to it that these receptacles are not filled with anything but waste paper. It has been to considerable expense in the matter of endeavoring to keep waste papers from being distributed upon our streets, sidewalks and lawns. He has had printed notices of the law regarding same placed in public places and has instructed Chief Sheridan to see to it that the law is enforced. The placards containing the law were found in various spots of the town.

Two new roads have been laid out to the right of the entrance leading across the cemetery to the north, the other one extends from the vault to the east of the cemetery, and includes a section of the cemetery which is to be used for single graves, in which there will be room for 1000.

One of the new roads is built of granite, secured from the West, and the other is of gravel. If the experiment of making granite roads proves satisfactory it is likely to be extended to the other drives about the cemetery, as gravel roads in them become more and more popular with the public, and cause considerable labor and expense in the matter of keeping them in order.

Interested persons will do well to make a tour of inspection of the James cemetery and they will be pleased to find the nice condition in which it is being kept. The lawn idea is being carried out quite thoroughly and satisfactorily there. Go and look it over at your first convenience.

SUNDAY'S WEATHER.

Charming All Day But Closing With Thunder Showers at Night.

Sunday last furnished us most charming weather all day long. It was a beautiful day, with a few clouds here and there, but no wind, and the weather conditions most auspiciously in every respect. The result was that the people who were out in all directions were loaded to their utmost capacity. Pleasant people found great enjoyment in being out for carriage drives, on the new trolley line, and in enjoying the beauties of the park with its many lights at twilight among the trees, for the first time. One visitor said he had never seen the park at twilight, and he was a lover of dancing, will be seen there often with his "merry widow."

There are many attractions at Laurel park this year, but as usual the foremost attraction is the dancing in the pavilion. There Harry's 1st Infantry band plays almost continuously and its music is not surpassed by any organization anywhere. Tomorrow will be another big day at the park, as there will be the dance and evening, rain or shine. Laurel Park is an excellent place to spend the day, or any time. The second in the series of band concerts will be played at 3.00 p. m. Sunday by Harry's 1st Infantry band with the following program:

WAIT ANOTHER RECEIVER.

A receiver for waste paper should be placed at the factory located in North Manchester. The daily papers are sent out from Hartford on the trolley to the factory and when the packages are broken up the boys who have charge of them are to be sure and put the waste paper in the proper receptacle. The receiver should be placed at the factory at the agency at the Republic Drug Store.

LAUREL PARK.

Ever since Laurel park was first opened, it has been a popular place of recreation for residents for miles around. DANNY'S WORDS HAD WEIGHT WITH THE OLD WOMAN.

He home, where they might nibble the fresh young heritage that grew there. Old Granny Grob remained at the house and changed the water in the bucket and a bit of golden butter for their supper, or span tax in the cool shadow of her loom room.

While they were very poor, but they were busy and happy. But one day their peace was sadly threatened—aye, even their very safety. It came about in this wise:

While Danny was watching his sheep on the mountain side one fine autumn afternoon he saw a hand of men surrounded the sheep and the sheep and surrounded the flock, driving every sheep away into their own mountain stronghold.

With a heavy heart Danny ran to the mountain side to tell his grandmother the awful news of their loss. When he arrived there, he found the old woman sitting in the doorway weeping and lamenting loudly and heartbrokenly, her well patched apron over her face.

"Oh, lad, the mountain robbers have been here and taken all our grain and the cow."

"Oh, lad, the mountain robbers have been here and taken all our grain and the cow."

"Oh, lad, the mountain robbers have been here and taken all our grain and the cow."

The Clergyman's Visitor Finally Got What He Was After.

"In that regard," said a theatrical manager, speaking of a stage blunder he had committed, "I made a mistake, as queer a mistake as I have ever made by a friend of mine, a clergyman."

"The clergyman had advertised for a better and the next morning after breakfast well dressed, clean shaven young man in black was ushered into his study."

"What place? said the clergyman."

"—Henry Arbutnot, sir."

"—Age?"

"—Twenty-eight."

"—What work have you been accustomed to?"

"—I am a lawyer, sir."

The clergyman started. This was odd. However, as he knew many were called in the law, few chosen.

"But," he said, "do you understand the contents of a household?"

"—In a general way, yes," murmured the applicant.

"—Can you carve?"

"—Yes."

"—Wash glass and silver?"

"—I can do that, sir."

"—Are you married?"

"—No, sir."

"—That," said the young man, "was what I called to see your husband's name in the yellow pages."

"—You are a lawyer?"

"—Yes, sir."

"—What business?"

"—I am a lawyer, sir."

"—You are a lawyer?"

"—Yes, sir."

THE MINE PACK BURRO.

Information Gleaned by the New-comer in Camp.

He was a newcomer in the mining camp, and as everything he saw appeared novel and interesting he kept asking a rapid fire of questions that seemed mighty foolish to the boys.

The black little pack burro, mostly ears and voice, pleased him immensely, and he supposed they were kept as pets or else as camp scavengers to scold the labels of the pack cans and eat stray packages. He came across one packing a wheelbarrow secured on the back with wheel and handles in the air.

"My good man," he asked the owner, "can you tell me why the little donkey is tied to the wheelbarrow in that odd fashion?"

"I shure can, stranger," replied that accommodating individual. "This ass has been acquired by old Walpole Higgins for a horse pet at the Bully Boy mine, an' 'bein' as the animal is too deliv'ry' to walk all the way over them rough trails, the old man drives him uphill an' at the summit jes' naturally turns him round to hitch on the wheelbarrow. It do come on old Walpole, but it's mighty restin' for the jassaz."—Success Magazine.

AN ICONOCLAST.

His Views on Visiting the Birthplace of Great Men.

If you like you may visit the house where Longfellow was born, but have no expectation of seeing anything rather foolish to make pilgrimages to the birthplaces of distinguished men. You are certain to be disappointed. The house of the poet is at least, if not a pile of ruins, a wretched, squallid hole of a garret, which only makes you sorry for the man who was born there. Mr. Hill to secure additional adoring lists. Several such have been sold already. During the three days' sale there was a total of 41 lots disposed of, at prices ranging from $1.00 to $10.00. The private sale by Mr. Hill, largely to persons desirous of acquiring more land adjacent to their original purchase.

Persons who attended the sale of building lots on Orford Park were very favorably impressed with the layout of the land and words of praise for same are heard everywhere from persons who made examination of the premises and are qualified to pass judgment thereon. It is recognized that considerable of the growth of South Manchester will be fair to extend in a westerly direction, the principal reason being the proximity to the silk mills and also easy access to the trolley for Hartford. It is quite apparent to observers that, during prosperous times when the factories in Hartford are running to their capacity, more and more persons are going to reside in South Manchester and follow the trolley to work in the Hartford shops. During the prosperous period last year that fact was clearly in evidence, as over 200 persons used to make the trip daily from this place to Hartford to follow their call vocations in the Hartford shops.

In the years that are to come this condition is sure to be more and more pronounced as, with the advent of more rapid transit and the fact that the population, Manchester is certain to be more and more a suburb of Hartford.

It does not require any very great stretch of the imagination to see that the west side of the river will have a business section of its own, the same as the east side now has. Persons who made purchase of building lots on Orford Park did so in a very large measure with the purpose of erecting buildings thereon. With additional residence constantly being built on the west side and the consequent increase of population, it is not difficult to see that the west side of the river will have a business section of its own, the same as the east side now has.

TWO-CENT POSTAGE

Post Office Rate in United Kingdom To Be as Far With That of United States.

Post Master General Meyer announces this week that an agreement has been made with the British government providing a postage of two cents as the same between the United States, Great Britain and Ireland, same to become operative October 1, 1908.

Sidney Buxton, the British postmaster general made a similar announcement in the House of Commons at London, England, this week. The matter of "ponny postage" as it is called in England has been under consideration for some time, and as far back as last July President Roosevelt approved Post master Meyer's course in having a "restricted union" with England.

This reduction in postal rates to the United Kingdom will be heartily appreciated in this place as this town contains many who came originally from the United Kingdom and who have relatives and friends there with whom they are in frequent postal communication. The fact that they can send a letter to their relatives in England, Ireland Scotland or Wales for two cents will certainly be highly appreciated by that portion of our community who have occasion to frequently use the mails to these countries.

ONE SAT STILL

Thunder and Lightning. When Captain Ogden's ship, the Endeavor, lay in Mercury bay, New Zealand, in 1796, a brown boy of eight, who afterward became a chief and a great age, went aboard of her. His name was Tanhiwa.

It was easy enough for the brown boy to pick out Kapene Kaku (Captain Cook) among the men on board. Tanhiwa said; he was the leader of the "goblins," a very great man. He walked the ship grave and dignified. His coat was of a green color, and he carried a sword in his hand. He was good as well as great. They were shocked that a grampus Maori stole a piece of calico.

"They paddled away," Tanhiwa continues. "The cabin went down into the hold of the ship, but soon came up with a walking stick in his hand and pointed it at the canoe. Thunder pealed and lightning flashed, but these in the canoe paddled on."

"Then they landed. Eight rows to be the canoe, but the chief sat still with his dogskin mat and the goblin garment under his feet. His companions called him, but he did not answer. One of them struck him, and the chief fell back into the hold of the canoe, and blood was seen on his clothing and a hole in his coat."

THE POLITE FRENCHMAN.

He Will Say "Pardon" but Will Grow You Off the Pavement.

Among the myths about the Parisians that have been passed on the world at large is the notion that they are the polite people we have. That is a good deal of nonsense. It is true that they are generally polite, but it is not true that they are so polite as to be generally polite. It is true that they are generally polite, but it is not true that they are so polite as to be generally polite.

Actually the Parisian is not polite. He is not even passably polite. He is discourteous and disagreeable. He walks along the streets as if he owned them and refuses to turn out, so that you have to be careful not to bump into passersby who are used to the ordinary street courtesy, swoop upon the best seats in the public conveyances, will not budge an inch when your chest seats are beyond him, crowd you in the restaurants and cafes, give every woman he meets and is generally offensive. To be sure, if he sees a chance to get anything away from you or to advance his own interest at your expense, he says "Pardon" and goes what he has in mind. His politeness consists of that one word, "Pardon," for as his language goes, he is courteous. But it is all courtesy, and it is all courtesy.

It is likely that the delegates to the Occident's convention, which is to be held this summer will be served with meals in the Salvation Army hall corner of Spruce and Birch streets. Mr. Galt is to that effect as now in progress.

THE JUNIOR PARTNER.

By Madeline Lewis. Copyright, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

It was just one of those advertisements which hundreds have answered in vain term heartless...

She had little hope when the answer was sent off in its blue envelope that it would be heard of again...

"I had thought of 88 a week," she replied, "but if you think that is too much I'll take 80."

"Let me see as to your stenography," said Mr. Gray, with a smile. "No need to be a bit nervous. Just imagine that you have been here for some time."

"I understand, sir." Mr. Benson returned to the outer office and communicated the news.

WARM WEATHER NECKWEAR.

The favored hats of the season and their trimming. The warm weather fashions are all with us, and, like the fashions of the past, they are much more sensible than they have been.

There is in many of the new hats a genuine poetic taste shown in the choice of materials and in the combination of colors.

Then we find a wide canvas hat with a wide brim and a wide band, and a wide band of white or light blue ribbon.

By and by there came a legal holiday and the world almost forgot that such times the "old man" usually hangs about for half a day anyhow.

"No, Walter, there is no occasion for jealousy on your part. Mr. Gray is a good man, and I have never thought of her. Besides, he is at least forty-five, while I am only nineteen."

"I understand, sir." Mr. Benson returned to the outer office and communicated the news.

HUNTER-BRADFORD PLAYERS.
Those who enjoy romantic comedies of the old school will enjoy the presentation of A Royal Family in which the Hunter-Bradford Players are appearing at Person's Theater this week. A Hair to the Hoorah, Our Best, delightful charm of sentiment pervades the play from beginning to end and the dialogue is crisp and bright, a characteristic of the stage works of Captain Robert Marshall, who wrote the comedy. The stage settings and costumes are on an elaborate scale, and the palace garden scene in the second act is a pretty piece of stagecraft that illustrates the completeness with which the Players' management makes their productions. "A Royal Family" is a continuous comedy and a departure from the other works of the stock company. The play gives other members of the company chance to do most commendable work. Orms Calder, John Westley, Edmund Eilon, Ida Egan, John Findlay and others present in the roster are well cast in "A
