WANTED NAME CHANGED

M. J. Maguire petitioned the board of selectmen to change the name of Autumn street to some other that would not conflict with Adams street and suggested that the name "Downing" be substituted, or else the name "Water" street. Mr. Maguire held that he found many instances where letters had been misdirected and persons had been confused in locating people residing on Autumn street. Adams street is in the West part of town and Autumn street in the east, probably two and one half miles apart and that it caused great inonvenience when persons were so mis-

The board of selectmen did not think that there is sufficient similarity between the names to cause any great trouble warranting a change. They held that the names of "Summit" and Summer street, "Gardner" and "Gar 8.45 signing of bills was in order and the spoils of learning acquired, digest-

Winter Games In Japan.

Many Americans have an idea that Japan is a warm country in winter. I is not. Many portions of it are as cold as any part of the United States. You see in one of the pictures how the Japanese women wrap themselves up in cold weather. One queer thing is that they carry paper umbrellas stretched upon bamboo frames in the midwinter. You notice also that in the picture called "The Winter Walk" the Japanese gentleman is gallantly holding an umbrella over his lady, even though they both are walking upon queer little wooden shoe stilts to keep their feet up out of the snow. This picture of the winter walk is copied it strengthens and vitalizes from a painting by a famous Japanese from a painting by a famous Japanese artist called Utamaro. Maybe the umbrellas are carried to keep the wind off.
