For Millinery Come to Us

We are putting forth especial efforts at this time to meet the requirements of the ladies of South Manchester and vicinity in supplying attractive millinery and all things appertaining thereto, and beg to assure them that we shall endeavor to serve them satisfactorily in the present emergency caused by the disastrous fire of last week, which destroyed the millinery department in the Boston Store, together with the general demolition of the entire building and contents.

We have enlarged our stocks to meet the conditions now before us and are displaying a magnificent assortment of Untrimmed Hats for Women, Misses and Children. Flowers, Feathers, Straw Braid, Crowns, Bandeaux, Buckles and every requisite in the line of Millinery Trimmings.

Trimmed Millinery

from the bank. Suddenly the crocodile gave a powerful sweep with his formidable tail, as resistless as though made of spring steel, and hurled both men, screaming in pain and horror, directly in front of the lurking hippos. Before aid could reach the unfortunates from the camp the hippos drag-ged them, broken and torn, beneath the turbid waters, to stamp their bodies deep into the slime and mud. Night, in fact, is invariably a time of action in the neighborhood of a hippo wallowing place, and native hunters effect many killings and captures after dark by the crude means they employ, though personal conflict with so imposing a foe is naturally avoided in the blackness that obscures his body. One of these native hippo slaying agencies consists of a weighted spear, often tipped with poison, which is suspended over a tree branch near the animal's tracks. The suspending cord is attached to stakes fixed on either side of the tracks. The animal coming along strikes the cord, and the stakes are uprooted, thus releasing the spear, which strikes deeply into the body or YOUNG TENNYSON head of the hippo. The dangerous disposition of the East African hippos when assailed or angered is well illustrated by the accounts of their sensational assaults on railway locomotives on the line extending from Mombasa to Lake Vic-toria Nyanza. Engineers and railroad officials relate that hippos are stirred to towering rage by the snorting, puffing, whistling, fire glowing engines and that repeatedly they have come on the tracks near the Athi river station and charged boidly at the head-light. Only quick work of the en-gineer in stopping the train has averted serious accident, as a collision with hippo would surely result in wrecked cars. > Following is an extract from a famous African hunter's account of an East African native hippo chase, which illustrates the favorite method adopted by jungle inhabitants, whose in genuity must remain unquestioned: "We accompanied the natives on board of a huge raft made of reeds and logs and floated down the river on moonlit night. low Politicians Are Harassing Governor Frank I That Michael Kenealy Was Not Listed for Superrior Court Bench by Late Governor Lilley.

HARTFORD, April 27—Probably no man ever went into the governor's chair freer than Governor Weeks, but if these politicians don't keep away from him with their stories of what Governor Lilley was going to do regarding judge ships and other appointments, to say no hing of matters of legislation, the new governor will be in a sanatorium, or Muldoou's White Plains establi homest, or some other place rebuilding his shattered health before the state has had a chance to find out how good a governor he really is. He means to carry out the wishes of the dead governor as far as he can and as it seems practicable to do noder the circumstance. There are cortain through the House, as matters etand Yet Mr. Lilley might have done this.

For Governor Weeks to try to do it would be for him to attempt the impossible. The House is de ermined not how many Chandlers pring to is defence. The matter comes up again temorr we for consideration as the order of the day in the House and will be settled, probably, about the time the compositor is setting this up. The general policies of the adminisration will remain about the same, however, and it is the wisest thing that the new governor could do to follow a line of conduct modelled thus. The people of the state elected Governor Lilley on the strength of certain well defined and strongly declared policies. He told just what he would do and went a good deal farther than the Republican state platform in this. Governor the Citadel at the present time. publican state platform in this. Governor Weeks ran on the same ticket and tacitly endorsed what was said by the head of the ticket during the campaign. So to be sure, Governor Lilley's platform went farther than that of his party, but

Nor does Governor Weeks wish to repudiate it. Governor Lilley made almost all of the important appointments, with the exception of two judges of the Superior court, whom he had practically picked when he took to his bed for the last time. He even selected men for the public utilities commission and for one or two other commis sions, none of which Governor Weeks is his associates on the ticket.

It can be stated definitely that Governor Lilley did not mean to appoint State Chairman Michael Keneally to the Superior court bench, despite all of the assertions that he did. It can be stated just as definitely that Governor Lilley did intend to appoint to the Superior court bench Attorney General Marcus Holcomb and would have done this if he had lived, though it was not until he had taken to his bed that his decision on this became finally made. Governor Lilley was very anxious indeed to have Judge Holcomb run for governor. He foresaw that Everett J. While Governor Weeks will, in general, stand for the policies of Governor Lilley, it remains to be seen how strenuously he will push some of them. Then and not until then did he give up the idea and decide to place Judge Holcomb where he had all along known he would shine, on the Superior court bench. Another thing which had stood in his mind against this previously was Judge Holcomb's age, which is on the shady side of 60 and won't permit him to serve on the bench many years. But he's going on the bench now—unless a cataclysm occurs—and as long as he does serve, it will be with distinction.
