The groom was accompanied by his best man, Mr. Woodhouse, and his father, Mr. Woodhouse.

FOOTBALL AS PLAYED IN LABORATORY
One must not imagine it is all work and no play with the Laboratory football team. Much to my surprise, I found that our good old game of football had been held in the laboratory. The game is played with a ball made of wood and is played on a wooden board. The ball may either be tossed or thrown, and the player who catches it may either kick it or carry it. Rough tactics are not barred. I have seen a man tossed in the air and another man carried off by a snout-blow, while pushing, tripping and blocking are all freely indulged in.

A LETTER PRESS.

It Was a Great Bargain, but Its Name Is Not Last.
One of the smokers had been exhibiting a diamond pin which he had purchased at a hard up traveling and made at least a few dollars. When the gray haired man heard a sign remarked:
"As for me, I never had but one real bargain offered me and I was too foolish not to take that."
"Something in the way of jewelry?" was asked.
"No; it was a letter press."
"But I don't see how much of a bargain could be offered in that."
"No? Well, I will tell you. I thought I was in love and was writing the thing two letters a day. Six months later, when I knew that I wasn't in love with her, I burned up the letters and used me for bread of promise."
"But you had been careful in your letters not to pledge yourself."
"I told her that I was in love and couldn't exhibit one single loving sentence in any of my letters—that is, any having connection with matrimony."
"But when the suit came to trial she exhibited every forty letters in which I said that I should die if she turned me down, and when she was offered $2,500 for her broken heart. Yes, sir, and I could have bought that letter press for $7 and had copies of my letters as fast as I could write and know I was up against it at the end. Great bargain, gents—great bargain, and yet I turned it down."—Baltimore American.

SELECTMEN MEET

It was almost impossible for heavily loaded teams to get across. He claimed that he had reported this to Mr. Ulrich, but nothing had been done about it. Mr. Ulrich on being questioned explained that he had referred the matter to the main office at Hartford, and that they had instructed their track foreman here to make the necessary repairs. Mr. Ulrich had conferred with the road foreman to learn why he had not made other business on hand, that he had not got to it as yet, but he was assured that it would be attended to at the earliest possible moment.

DAMAGE SUIT LIKELY
Attorney W. S. Hyde presented a claim against the town of Manchester for $200 for damages to a horse and harness. The horse was injured a year ago last January at the Union street bridge, because of a defect in the roadway. Mr. Hyde explained that Mrs. McVeigh had been to considerable expense because of the horse being injured. He also stated that he felt that the town should compensate her for such outlay and that he had authorized him to seek a compromise from the board of selectmen. Mr. Hyde said that he had not yet received an answer from the board of selectmen, but that he would continue to press the matter.

LETTER FROM SEWER COMPANY
The South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer Co. presented a petition to the board of selectmen, the petition being granted them to close certain streets in town while excavations are being made for the sewer. Mr. Hyde explained that the board of selectmen had been presented three weeks ago, but owing to the fact that the board had not been able to get the necessary permission was necessary to go on with the work. Mr. Hyde said that he had been to considerable expense because of the horse being injured.

LETTER FROM E. C. HILLIARD
Chairman Cheney read a letter from E. C. Hilliard, chairman of the board of selectmen, in which he had expressed his regret that he had not been able to get the necessary permission was necessary to go on with the work. Mr. Hyde said that he had been to considerable expense because of the horse being injured.

HIGHWAY AT BUCKLAND
J. B. Barron presented a number of selectmen seeking to have the highway straightened at the corner of Buckland street, and also to define the highway line. Mr. Barron pointed out that it was a very dangerous place, and that it was almost impossible to see across, teams or other vehicles approaching from either direction until they almost met. Mr. Barron pointed out that a stone wall had been built well into the highway at the Web place, narrowing the traveled road to a width of approximately 10 feet. The Web property was owned by Mrs. Mary A. Callahan at the present time.

BEAUTIFYING MANCHESTER GREEN
Chairman Cheney presented a petition from the Manchester Green Improvement Society to have the Manchester Green beautified. Mr. Hyde explained that the Manchester Green was a very beautiful place, and that it was almost impossible to see across, teams or other vehicles approaching from either direction until they almost met. Mr. Barron pointed out that a stone wall had been built well into the highway at the Web place, narrowing the traveled road to a width of approximately 10 feet.

DELIGHTFUL SERVICES.

Large Congregation at South Methodist Church Last Sunday Evening.

The charming musical services presented at the South Methodist church last Sunday evening under the direction of Mrs. Maple Case Crowell, the organist, attracted a large and well filled the large auditorium, and pleased the hearts beyond measure. The chorus of twenty-five voices was leading you to the artists mentioned in the columns last week. The musical selections were all from Gounod's "St. Cecilia."

The opening number was a tenor solo "No Shadow's Knower," by Mrs. Greene. Mrs. Cook sang a solo "I'm Glad to Have You," and a solo "I'm Glad to Have You." A trio of female voices, "I'll Shall Come To Pass" was rendered by Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Cook. The chorus sang "They That Sow in Tears." Mr. Watkins gave a solo "I'm Glad to Have You."

A double quartet sang "The Fighting Post for Silver." This was followed by a soprano solo "I'm Glad to Have You."

Those Who Come Out of Great Tribulations." Mr. Kendall gave a solo "I'm Glad to Have You." The ladies chorus sang, "And I Heard the Voice of Hesperus." These numbers were all rendered with well trained and very great credit is given Mrs. Crowell and also the talented soloists, as well as chorus who in each number, as well as them in with much diligence in making this service the finest success which it was.

Rev. Mr. Davis, the pastor, made a short address elucidating the value of the service rendered by each artist. Expressions of delight were heard on every hand from persons who had the pleasure of attending the musical service. Mrs. Crowell has been regular in repeating it here. She has also been successful in Hartford.

Local Paragraphs

Love, Tomatoes and Finance.

By ESTELLE CLAYTON.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

The big man of the town of Strongsville was Jacob Strong. First, his grandfather had founded the town; second, he had been a justice of the peace for some years; third, he had received almost every honor once to send him to the legislature, and, lastly, he was worth about $50,000.

Mr. Strong felt his business and expected respect accordingly. He did his best to make his son Horace and his daughter Maude feel their superiority over all other human beings in and around Strongsville. He succeeded admirably with the daughter, but the conduct of his son gave him no little anxiety.

One morning he said to the latter: "Horace, I am failed and frustrated to learn that for months past you have been paying attention to the daughter of Scribner, the carpenter. You have been talking with her, you have frequently called at the house. What does it mean?"

"Miss Scribner is a nice young woman, an artist, well educated, as well as good manners. I am not such a fool as you think me. You know you and when I am, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Being the son of a man of position and wealth, with money and social prestige coming, you must look higher, sir, far higher."

It was true that Miss Nettie Scribner was the daughter of a carpenter, but as the favorite of her Aunt Hilda Bascomb, a rich old spinster, the girl had been sent to a seminary and enjoyed exceptional opportunities in all but wealth she was the peer of any girl in the county.

As a matter of fact the people were engaged, but keeping it a secret. Horace had hoped that when the time came to announce the fact to his father it would be received at least in a reasonable way. But the conversation of the morning showed him the breakers ahead.

"What Mr. Strong meant when he referred to the new school and social life coming was the fact that he had organized the Strongsville Cannery company. The cannery building was already under way. It was a large, well planned country around the town, but with poor facilities for shipping fruits and vegetables, and he had succeeded and entered on the idea of a tomato cannery.

He had investigated until he was sure that the profits would be large. He put in almost all the money and controlled things, and what few other stockholders there were did not belong to Strongsville.

As president of a tomato cannery company, Jacob Strong felt himself to be a tangible profit. But his factory can stand idle while I build one of my own. Better talk business, Jacob Strong, than idle words in a nice young man, I think a heap of my niece. It's a love match, and it would be a pity to see it broken off. Isn't there some way that I can turn these tomato contracts over to you and let your factory begin work? There's money in the canning business, and I don't want to kill an industry."

Mr. Strong fought for an hour and then gave in and shook hands. By the time the contracts were assigned to him he was smiling. By the time the woman in the rusty old bonnet was ready to go he was ready to remark happily:

"Just so, Miss Bascomb; just so. Mr. and Mrs. Scribner are most worthy people, and if Horace is in love with their daughter I have no objections to a marriage. He is old enough to judge for himself, and it is not for me to interfere. Good day, ma'am, good day, and thank you ever so much for calling."

Unpaid Lives.

The life of the criminal is simply an unpaid life. If a person were perfectly poised wrongdoing would be so rampant that it would be unthinkable.

It is the one-sided, the unpoised mind that goes wrong. It is just as normal for the balanced mind to choose the right, the good, as for the magnet to draw to itself whatever is kindred.

Just as the needle in the mariner's compass always points to the North star, no matter how thick the fog or how the tempest rages, there is a need within every human being which always points to the North star of rectitude, of right, of truth, no matter what storms of discord, of weakness or of crime may be raging in the individual mind. Nothing can prevent this little indicator from pointing to the right, no matter how far the individual may drift from it, how low he may sink in vicious living.—Success Magazine.

The teacher had been reading to her class of the industries of Russia. Among others mentioned was pig raising. The pig is used almost exclusively as an article of food, very little of his body being valued except his flesh and his bristles.

"The Russians have much to learn from the Americans in this respect," she continued. "In America all parts of the pig are used except his bristles. At this point a pupil raised her hand and asked why this was so."

"What part of the animal is it?" she asked.

"The bristles," she answered.

BUYING MORE LAND

E. J. Hill, the local real estate agent, has purchased about thirty acres of land on Main Hill. The land is situated next east of the Zopher Hill farm. It is on the south side of Main Street, which bounds it on the north, and is bounded on the east and south by the Hockanum river extending down to the bridge which is crossed by the roadway. The purchase includes a large tobacco barn which has a capacity of about eight acres. There is also another barn on the premises. The land is presently used as a meadow to a large extent.

MEETING OF JOINT BOARD

OF SELECTMEN AND SCHOOL VISITORS HELD TUESDAY AND ESTIMATES MADE FOR ENSUING YEAR

Additional Amounts Asked for in All Districts Excepting Fifth, Sixth and Seventh—Higher Salaries Paid Teachers Principal Reason for Increasing Estimates. Probable Addition Call for Increase.

The joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen of the Ninth School District and the Joint Town School Board was held at the Hall of Records Tuesday afternoon. John M. Williams and William E. Arnett represented the Board of Selectmen; Judge H. O. Howland and James M. Burke, the Joint School Board, and Howell Chesney and Rev. W. J. Metcalf, the Ninth School District. (See Selections) Williams acted as clerk.

Estimates of the expenses of operating the school for the town for the coming year were made.

Claims were also allowed of several districts in cases where their expenditures had exceeded the appropriations made at the annual meeting of the board last fall last October.

It will be noticed in the school reports appended below that the board recommended an increased appropriation of teachers of over $2,071 as compared with last year. The board is not recommending this increase for the purpose of the Ninth School District (where the board is using steadily made over the standard of the teachers, to have more supervisors and to give the pupils the advantage of attending a school of experienced teachers. The increase in the estimated appropriations for teachers' salaries last year over the preceding year was only $423 in the Ninth School District.

Considerable attention from the school board is being given to the question of the increase in the salaries of the board for the year 1909. The increase proposed is $270 which is nearly double the amount that was expended for same last year in the Ninth School District. The growth of the schools is indicated by the increase in the appropriation for text books and supplies which is $1,000.
