CRUSHED TO DEATH

READ OF LITTLE DORA JOHNSON

REDUCED TO PULP BY WHEEL OF HEAVILY LOADED TRUCK.

While trying to get on moving truck for side little one loses hold and falls beneath rear wheel—Driver E. P. Carter causes accident that after it occurred—Tala is exonerated.

While E. P. Carter was driving one of O. E. Willis's four-horse trucks on Charter Oak street last Monday noon, Mrs. Johnson, seven years old, daughter of John F. and Mrs. Johnson of 70 School street, fell beneath a rear wheel of the truck, which passed over her body, killing her instantly. The driver was not aware of the fact that the child was trying to get a ride until after the accident had happened. Two other children were in the party. They were the daughters of John J. Risley of School street and were all playing together. The Risley children had the good fortune to climb on the rear portion of the truck and thus escaped injury. The Johnson child sought to get a ride by climbing up between the front and rear wheels of the truck and being held hold to the ground with the all metal above.

The truck was loaded with four tons of paper being shipped from Case Highgate Park until the freight station at Manchester. The driver was attending carefully to his business, going slowly along when the accident occurred, and had no knowledge of the fact that there was a child on the truck. He immediately brought the horses to a standstill and tried to ascertain the cause of the striking. To his dismay he found that the child's head had been crushed to pulp by a wheel of the ponderous truck.

He immediately picked up the mangled form of little Dora and bore it to the side of the street. He required of the Risley children who the little one was and was informed. Medical Examiner W. R. Tucker was sent for. Dr. Tucker arrived as soon as possible, made the necessary investigations, found that Mr. Carter was totally without blame for the unfortunate accident and gave the removal of the child's body to Watkins Bros. for undertaking purposes. It was prepared for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are overwhelmed by the misfortune and the unexpected shock of the taking away of their little darling. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their overpowering grief. The accident has been the cause of discussion by people about town during the week.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, services being held at the residence, Rev. W. P. Anderson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church officiating. Burial was at the East cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson lost two children from diphtheria not long ago. They still have four children, three girls and a boy.

Mr. Carter came from Moodus recently to work for Mr. Willis. He is a married man, having a large family, and is greatly distressed because of the cruel accident, even though it was through no fault of his own. He feels very greatly distressed over the unfortunate accident.

REGISTRARS' NOTICE

Opportunity Given To Enroll for Fall Caucuses.

Readers of THE NEWS are hereby notified that the registrars of electors will be in session at the Town Records building, Friday, August 6, and Friday, August 13th, from twelve o'clock noon to eight o'clock in the evening on each of said days, for the purpose of enrolling voters for the caucuses.

It may be well to remind voters if they wish to participate in the caucuses that it will be necessary for those who have not already complied with the law in this matter to make their proper return to the registrars of electors at the particular caucus in which they desire to participate this year. Failing in this when the time for the caucuses arrives they will be excluded and not permitted to take part in its deliberations.

It may be advisable to state that persons who have heretofore complied with the registration laws need not pay any attention to this notice at this time unless they desire to change the caucus in which they have been voting in the past. It is, however, well known to all of the voters it becomes desirable to transfer from one caucus to another in that they have heretofore registered for the caucus in which they are now making application and which they now desire to participate.

James Trotter left the contract last week to Patrick Connor for the construction of two cellars on Hemlock street where Mr. Trotter intends to build two large double tenements. Work is now in progress on this job at the present time. Mr. Trotter has already constructed seven double tenements on Hemlock street, all of which are now occupied and business courses of construction will have the number to nine. Hemlock street is a very extension of Bigelow street and has been accepted by the town. Mr. Trotter is desirous of having the two tenements established the street and sidewalk lines and grades there in order to have things placed as they should be, in accordance with the lines laid out by the town's engineer. The highway machinery lock street is in bad condition and there is much need of repairs. The number of people who are now on this street are entitled to consideration from the authorities and should have the highway kept in better order for their use.

WALNUT LODGE
Clifton Brown of Birch street is at the Walnut Lodge hospital for tubercular Fairfield avenue, Hartford, and the greatly improved in health since he went there for treatment two months ago. He is a carpenter by trade and they are furnishing him with some work at the hospital. Arnelan M. Brown, grandfather of Clifton Brown is very favorably impressed with the work done at the hospital at the Walnut Lodge hospital. He speaks in highest words of praise for the institution and heartily commends it to all who may be in need of treatment of that sort. The institution can accommodate about one hundred patients. Very little medicine is employed and no alcoholic stimulants are permitted. The treatment consists largely of dieting, regularity of habits and physical culture exercises.

INTERESTING BOOKLETS.
Principal R. M. Huntsinger of the Huntsinger Business School, 30 Asylum street, Hartford, has just issued three new booklets. They are entitled, "The Helpful Young Man," "The School," and "What the Principal Makes It." Mr. Huntsinger takes up these several subjects and discusses them clearly, simply and instructively. The booklets will be sent free to anybody making application for same. Any young man wishing to take up a course of business typewriting or business instruction, will do well to send for these publications of Mr. Huntsinger's and to School Journal, which will give general information regarding the school, terms, conditions of entering, etc. The little booklets are well worth reading and their contents are well worth remembering by ambitious young men and women, to whom we most heartily commend them.

ONE BACK TO HARTFORD
Swinhart & Son, who have conducted a ladies tailoring business in the Russell block on Main street since last October, have decided to discontinue their work there and return to Hartford, from whence they came. The Messrs. Swinhart find that they cannot get sufficient profit to help them to do their work and while they had an abundance of orders, they were unable to fill them because of this condition. They claim that the tailors object strenuously to working in country places and prefer very much to have employment in the cities.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

Manchester Military Band To Give Pleasing Program At Center Park.

The second in the series of four band concerts which are being given through the generosity of Mrs. Frank Conner and family will take place at the Center park this evening starting at eight o'clock. Conductor Arrild Weisman has arranged the following attractive program for this event:

March, Fighting Hope, Mackie Overton, Nation's Song, Laurensen Cornet Duet, Two of Us, Craner, Arrild and Ethel Weisman
Medley, Glistening Glow Worm, Stru Intermezzi, Honey Land, Denmark Ragtime Waltz, Johann, Lampe
March, Great Divide, M. Smith, Mazurka Caprice, Blau Yelichen, R. Elzenberg
March, Triumphal, R. Stitz
An effort is being made to have a band concert given in the business case some time in the near future if enough business men can be secured who will share the expense. This is also probable that a concert will be given at Manchester Green.

THE HUNTSINGER STANDARD.
For 21 years the Huntsinger School has been the standard for shortland and business training in Connecticut. Everybody knows its excellence, because it practices the Int-Int-Int system. It gives facts and figures. It has placed nearly two hundred graduates and students in situations that last 15 months.

MR. E. M. HUNTSINGER
It trains about 575 different pupils per year. More than 900 business men call on it for office help per year. Its ten experienced teachers are in attendance all the time and make a specialty of each pupil and teach everything correctly, hence the business men prefer the Huntsinger graduates. Its motto is "Thoroughness first, last and all the time."

WELL I DECLARE!
I'm Embroidered Fanny Waits Free
Just now every lady in South Manchester and vicinity can add to her wardrobe an extra silk embroidered dress waist which is given free by one leading merchant for sending them a customer for a man's suit.

THE FIRM IN QUESTION is the ever progressive Woolen Workers, No. 835 Main street, Hartford. These popular pattern makers have artistically embroidered front, cuffs and collar, in pleasing and clever design. They come in three-yard lengths and you have your choice of color and embroidered design. They'll make and ship you a dress waist—something out of the ordinary. 'The Woolen Workers invite all of our lady readers to come to their store and give their opinion on these patterns.

THEY'RE ABSOLUTELY FREE to any lady who brings or sends a suit customer, which is quite easy considering that during July and August the Woolen Workers are tailoring to measure 300 suits at $19 and an extra pair of trousers free. They claim they can afford this price each because they want their customers to lay off their trained tailors during the dull summer, and thus to the busy fall break green men into their painting tailoring system of 10 stores. Read their advertisement on page 4.

New Permanent Building To Be Located On Main Street.

It is understood that a moving picture concern from out of town is making negotiations to locate here. The plan includes the construction of a permanent building on Main street that will accommodate 500 people. The property owner and the show owner have practically come to terms regarding the construction of the building and there are only a few details to be adjusted relative to the lease and some minor matters. The moving picture company who are to operate here are presently conducting similar enterprises in other places and are quite successful in their work. It is believed that an institution of that kind properly conducted on Main street can be made profitable and that it will afford innocent and instructive entertainment for the people of this place. The plan contemplates the construction of a building that will have all modern safety appliances for the presentation of moving pictures in compliance with the laws of the state. There will be no music with the pictures, but here such as the late American watermelon (the name being) is permitted. Everything will be made absolutely safe for the public in this new structure.

MANCHESTER WATER SUPPLY
W. H. Childs of New York, one of the stockholders of the Manchester Water Company is in town endeavoring to effect a compromise with the newly organized water district of Manchester, whereby the property of the Manchester Water Company may be used. Several propositions have been considered by the Manchester Water Company, one of which is to sell the entire plant to the Manchester Water District. Another is to have the Manchester Water District purchase the plant from the Manchester Water Company. The latter proposition is now being offered to the Manchester Water Company. It is also said that the Manchester Water Company are now willing to offer the Manchester Water District a lower rate on by-products. There several propositions are being discussed and a public meeting to be called for that purpose in the near future.

Miss Wilma Yorgens expects to go to Philadelphia in the next few weeks to take up a course of vocal instruction with one of the leading vocal masters of this country. She has relatives in Philadelphia with whom she will live and through whose intervention she is assisted in securing the advantages to be derived from a course of instruction under this distinguished master. Miss Yorgens is a teacher of the piano and has also a violin. She is a member of the South Manchester High School.

MAY USE OLD TEETERS
Messrs House & Hale have expert mechanics at work today making tests of the old House & Hale block which was destroyed by fire last April. They are very anxious to have the old House & Hale block used in the reconstruction of the proposed new House & Hale block completed in about two weeks.

MAY BEGIN TWO WEEKS
It is understood that Farr Brothers are preparing to begin the construction of their new brick block on Main street on the site of the late American hotel in about two weeks. The plans and specifications are practically prepared and they are negotiating for contractors to do the excavating and prepare the foundations for the proposed new block.

IN MONTANA
George P. McKinstry, until recently a photographer in the Cheney block, writes from Kalispell, Mont., that he is enjoying life in that place and that he is well and happy. He writes that he likes that part of the country very much and that he will live and be back inside of six months, so some people predicted he would before he went away.

ABOUT TRADE SCHOOLS

The question of where the two trade schools that are to be opened by the State Board of Education will be located is arousing considerable interest about the state and officials in various Connecticut manufacturing centers are concentrating their efforts to have their own school to win out. South Manchester, through Cheney Brothers, was early in the field and probably was the first to make an offer to the school there. A building fully equipped for the purpose. The following items on this subject will be read with interest here.

Bridgeport is making a hard fight for one of the two trade schools to be located in Connecticut. Reports from that city say that it is conceded that Hartford will get one that Secretary Hine of the state board of education is anxious to have the other located in New Britain. Manufacturers and business men have united in Bridgeport, are making an earnest effort to have one of the schools there and it is said that the city is receiving some support from Danbury, Norwich, South Norwalk and Stamford.

This fact that Danbury, Stamford, Norwich and South Norwalk are with Bridgeport in its efforts to have one of the two trade schools located here should have an important bearing with the state board of education when it finally comes to a decision. Bridgeport is the leading manufacturing city in the state. It is well named. "The Industrial Capital of Connecticut." Where could such a school be located more appropriately—Bridgeport?

New Haven, Bridgeport, New Britain, Manchester and other manufacturing communities in the state are also striving to secure one of the two proposed new trade schools. Manchester is going on fast in its customer intelligently and public spirited way as to offer a fine building—gift, of course of the Cheney brothers. Each place is urging its advantages. The board of education is listening.

It is interesting to note the energy with which towns chase after new institutions. In this case the strife is natural and creditable. These schools will mark an era in our social progress. If they come anywhere near to fulfilling expectations, they will be of great influence and will prove of benefit no more to individuals than to the whole community. The strife to get one in their place in the state might enter upon with credit to itself.

But the incident serves to recall how eagerly other institutions are sought after, irrespective of their nature. The story goes that along with the establishment of any institution there goes a certain amount of trade—to that extent they are all trade schools. It seems immaterial what the institution may be. If it were announced to-day that we proposed to remove the state prison, it would cause just as much excitement as that which has been raised by the proposed removal of the state penitentiary.

The trade schools, it is gratifying to note, are of a different character. What is a difference? The school is not a mere institution to be established by law, but one that is to be established by the people. It is a school that is to be established by the people, and it is a school that is to be established by the people.

A FEW REMARKS

Made by Inclusive Writer and Ken Ober, Server About Conn. Legislature

In last week's issue of the Shore Line Times, F. E. Norton, the legislative correspondent for that publication wrote down on his table the following observations regarding the Connecticut legislature, and some of its distinguished members. Mr. Norton is a keen observer, he will venture in matters political, and we believe his observations will interest many of our readers.

Last week was not exactly a pleasant one for the plain people of the state as far as the actions of the law makers were concerned because the Senate got hold of two bills drawn in the interests of common folk and did things of an unpleasant nature to them. The bill removing the limit of $5,000 for damages resulting in death, and a very mild employers' liability bill were swatted, the former being killed outright and the latter being rendered pretty groggy. Not all the members who voted against the Manchester bill voted against these measures—Senator Luther for instance spoke for both bills—but the death damage bill was defeated 10 to 10 and the employers' liability measure was turned down by President pro-tem Brooks, his vote being needed to win it. A day later the bill was recalled and it may yet survive but the battle will be longer out while this paper is going to press. It is interesting to note that several would-be candidates voted against these measures, including Senator Barman who acted as if he did it with a good deal of reluctance while Senator Hines voted the disagreeable matter by leaving the court. Senator Sears also voted against both of them, though both were reported from his committee and Senator Barnum, lessened the chances of his nomination for a place on the state ticket. It was somewhat discouraging that but it was marked by the greatest solicitude for small corporations and smaller industries that a serious accident might be sufficient to wipe such a one out of existence. Doubtless his fear might be realized twice in a century but as things are now every day sees the head of some poor family killed and the corporation, big or little, which employed him firmly entrenched behind the few low servant rate and the $5,000 damage limit. It does not signify, this suffering occasional women and children, so long as the corporations are saved from harm. No wonder a certain wise Hebrew praised the deed more than the living as he saw the oppression that arose under the sun. While the senator was suffering from fears for the small corporations he might have gone through the Senate chamber to the lieutenant governor's room and found a considerable crowd of attorneys and others who had been working for the defeat of the bill. He would have had no trouble in recognizing all of them but he would have looked in vain for one representing a small corporation of the sort he was concerned about but he would have found that all of them are in the pay of the biggest corporations in Connecticut, a fact of common knowledge to every senator of the state.

And yet some senators are not a bad lot. Senator Barnum for instance, who has three times placed himself on record for the corporations and who admitted responsibility for the peculiar utilities bill is a man of undoubted integrity in his business affairs. Senator Smith who can outstrip any man in different views on the same topic in fifteen minutes, is the state's attorney for Windham county and an altogether pleasant and charming man yet both are simply awed at the state might enter upon with credit to itself.

But the incident serves to recall how eagerly other institutions are sought after, irrespective of their nature. The story goes that along with the establishment of any institution there goes a certain amount of trade—to that extent they are all trade schools. It seems immaterial what the institution may be. If it were announced to-day that we proposed to remove the state prison, it would cause just as much excitement as that which has been raised by the proposed removal of the state penitentiary.

The school is not a mere institution to be established by law, but one that is to be established by the people. It is a school that is to be established by the people, and it is a school that is to be established by the people.

AN IMPRACTICAL JOKER.

He Thought It Was Very Funny to Fire the Hayrick. Practical joking, "the moment form of wit," is common in Hungary. Formerly the pranks used to be coarse, if not dangerous, but that is changing now. The only saving grace of the Magyar practical jokes, says W. H. E. Bovill in "Hungary and the Hungarians," is that they are not perpetrated in a spirit of bitterness.

One of the most famous jokes of the kind was told by János Gyrfi. Exiled in one of the most inaccessible parts of the great plain, he lived and died a peasant and a husband. He was told of a beautiful girl who was spending a night with a Count Keglevich. "Wishing to be impressive, he journeyed thither in a beautiful new coach, which he was very proud of. On being shown over the grounds by the count's steward he was directed to a remarkable hayrick. He was to spend a night with a beautiful new coach, which he was very proud of. On being shown over the grounds by the count's steward he was directed to a remarkable hayrick. He was to spend a night with a beautiful new coach, which he was very proud of. On being shown over the grounds by the count's steward he was directed to a remarkable hayrick.

Why, my friend," said the count, "you yourself burnt it last night. The hayrick was on fire. It was burning and the evening threatened to be wet and we put your carriage under the risk to keep it dry."

TARIFF REVISION

This country has a long and a more haggard and discussing exhibition than the tariff revision has developed. It has been truly said by one of the close spectators that the trusts are going to run the country unless the country is able to regulate the trusts. Take the wool combine. It is the largest and most complete. It proposes before it is through to control not only meat but the leather business and likely the shoe industry, too, through the close monopoly business through control of tallow. It was because on the 8th, but it was out on tallow, which the confederates had put on the free list.

The paper just set up a free fight for its monopoly and where free trade was desired and expected it got off with a reduction from $9.50 to $8.00. This really is a triumph for the trust. The newspapers put up a stiff fight for relief. They employed a very capable representative to conduct their fight and Edward R. B. Zetser, of New York has been instrumental in his agitation. It is suggestive of the boasted "power of the press" that with all its efforts it has been stung by others but when it comes to work for itself it is denounced as selfish and its methods rebuked.

These are only typical illustrations of what every combined interest is striving at. The efforts of the trusts to maintain their monopolies and to lighten their grip are unmistakable. The question arises what in the world they want when already they are saturated with property. Why should they want more? Why drive every body out of his own business by the mere sale of getting it into the hands of the exhibition of unscrupulous selfishness which Washington has been witness to, as indeed, the entire country has, should lead to prompt measures for establishing a tariff commission, high-paid and efficient tariff commission, continually in session, and able at any time to answer questions that Congress may put as well as to make to Congress recommendations for needed change. It will come some day. The longer the Cannon and Aldrich crew stay in office the more they will have over-turn when it comes—Canaan.

ANTI-SPLITTING LAW

Governor Weeks has signed the act forbidding splitting up public places. The new law is as follows: Section 1.—No person shall spit on the paved walk of any public street, park or square, or upon the sidewalk of any lot or in any hotel, restaurant, apartment house, tenement or lodging house which is used in common by the guests or tenants thereof, or upon the floor, platform, steps or stairs of any public building, church, theater, railway station, store or factory, or street car, or other public conveyance.

Section 2.—The term splitting, used in this act shall be defined as the act of expelling any secretion from the chest, throat, mouth or nose. Whenever water is used in preparing buildings, the water which is used in hard water affects the soil. The alkali which is in the water is a standard preparation for bleaching white things and removing stains and dirt. It is a very much to touch colored surface. To make it dissolve half a pound of washing soda in a quart of boiling water. The clear liquid and keep closely corked in a dark place.

Section 3.—The term splitting, used in this act shall be defined as the act of expelling any secretion from the chest, throat, mouth or nose. Whenever water is used in preparing buildings, the water which is used in hard water affects the soil. THE DIAMOND CUTTER.

When the expert looks at a diamond he can tell you in a moment whether it came from and even whether it was cut lately or some years ago. He knows by its color when it comes for the color of the Brazilian diamond differs from that of the South African, and even in South Africa different colors are found in different mines.

In the rough the diamond has little brilliancy, for there is a crust that must be cut away before it can properly reflect the light, and it is this crust which makes the diamond so brittle. The skill of the diamond cutter is to cut away the crust and to give the diamond a shape which will make it as brilliant as possible. SARATOGA SPRINGS.

The Water Was First Used by the Indians. The Saratoga Springs "cure" by the settlement of this community by the white man, when the High Rock spring was only a bubbling spring, drunk at first by the Indians as a fresh water spring. Finding that their health was improved by the water, they brought them to it. The man below received them in his blanket. In the morning the king and the minister met. The king expressed his surprise at the High Rock spring for the healing of their ill. The "outward and visible" water about the spring in the form of a cone, called turf, which still exists to this day, and from which it received its name and through which the water bubbled to this day.

In 1800 the Congress spring was discovered and became renowned the world over as a saline cathartic. This, with the sulphurous water of the Putnam spring, made Saratoga Springs famous as the leading health resort of the United States. The remainder of the thirty-five mineral springs were discovered from time to time, and all have a wide therapeutic application in the treatment of most all chronic diseases and are divided into four groups according to their chemical nature. These groups are: First, sulfur, mineral, alkaline, sulfate, carbonate, simple, calcareous, muriatic and saline. Second, chloride, fourth, sulphur, National Lycopodium.

Living Over Catskills. Paris, in many of its districts, is built over the Catskills, says Harper's Weekly. These vast subterranean chambers and galleries produce an unusual and curious effect. The Russian's foot possesses one peculiarity; the toes being generally webbed to the first joint. The Tartar's foot is short and heavy, the foot of a certain type of savage, and the toes are the same length. The Spaniard's foot is generally small, but fine. The Englishman's foot is of the most case short and rather deep and not, as a rule, as strong proportionally as it should be.—Arconot.

Man and His Feet. The Frenchman's foot is long, narrow and well proportioned. The Scotchman's foot, according to anthropologists, is high and thick, strong muscular, or upon the whole, the Russian's foot possesses one peculiarity; the toes being generally webbed to the first joint. The Tartar's foot is short and heavy, the foot of a certain type of savage, and the toes are the same length. The Spaniard's foot is generally small, but fine. The Englishman's foot is of the most case short and rather deep and not, as a rule, as strong proportionally as it should be.—Arconot.

Lincoln as He Knew Him. Asked under the civil service rules to write what he knew about Abraham Lincoln, the applicant for the position of New York City. "Abraham Lincoln was born in Kentucky, very early age. His father moved the family to Ohio, settling down the Mississippi. If he had not been killed by a murderer he might be living today. He was an intelligent man and could easily have been president of New York City."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Needed Airing. "What's the matter with you?" demanded Boreh told. "I've got a right to air my opinions, haven't I?" "Oh, man, let me tell you, I don't care what you say, but I don't want to hear you saying anything that isn't true."—Philadelphia Press.

Our Great August SALE OF FURNITURE

An Event of Vital Importance to Every Home Furnisher--Vast in Magnitude--Supreme in Underpricing. Having determined that this August Furniture Sale shall eclipse all furniture sales we have ever held, we have made extraordinary preparations. For a month past, crowded upon crowded, comprising Thousands of Dollars Worth of Bought Directly From the Foremost Manufacturers and never before in the history of our store have we bought Furniture. No store or chain of stores can possibly underbid Wise, Smith & Co. in the American market, and as we do a Strictly Cash Furniture Business it stands to reason that unlike the store that trades on credit, we have no "poor accounts" and therefore can afford to do and undersell all others at all times, and now for this Great August Furniture Sale we are going to give the good people of Connecticut values like of which have never before been equalled. Remember that it is impossible to give even a tenth of the offerings in this advertisement. So if you have in mind any article of furniture which is not mentioned in this announcement you'll surely find it here at the Great August Sale. Sale now in progress and continues through the whole month of August. WISE, SMITH & CO., Hartford.

disposed with the authorities as by law required. The streets are quite level and will need hardly any grading. Mr. Holl makes it a practice when he gives streets to the town to let the turf go with the streets.

On the Fairview tract there are 53 lots ranging in size from 99 to 85 feet front and 150 and 150 feet deep. This tract is known as the old Talbot meadow but in recent years has been owned by the late Frank Merkel.

Mr. Holl has also sold three other lots on Fairview and has options on two others at the present time. Inasmuch as the tract has only been opened with streets for one week it will be seen that there is considerable activity in that section.

SETTLED AT LAST

COMPLICATIONS ABOUT LAND BOUNDARIES BETWEEN CHENEY BROTHERS AND OTHERS ADJUSTED.

Can New Connect Main Street Sewer with Newman Street and Valley Street Lines - South Manchester Fire District Are Given Right of Way From Main Street Building Site for Hose Houses.

Arrangements have been made this week and deeds transferred whereby the complications regarding land boundaries at the Center have been adjusted.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Selectmen was held at the Hall of Records Monday evening.

It will be remembered that something of the purpose of permitting Hose Company No. 2 of the South Manchester Fire Department to erect a hose-house thereon, with the assistance of the South Manchester Fire District.

The matter of changing the grade of the trolley tracks on Oakland street because of the proposed macadam road to be built there was discussed at length.

Chairman Cheney was of the opinion that the Connecticut Company should pay the expense of changing the grade of their tracks without having the town put to add extra road from the Public Acts, revision of 1902, to verify his view of the matter.

Mr. Bristol read from the Public Acts of 1907 which showed that it became the duty of the town to pay one-half of each cost of the tracks.

Inquiries made by Chairman Cheney elicited the information from Mr. Bristol that the Connecticut Company charged 45 cents a yard for removing earth, etc., from the trolley tracks where change of grade is made by order of the selectmen of any town.

Chairman Cheney thought this an excessive charge and held that where the work was done on large quantities of earth that the rate mentioned by Mr. Bristol could be secured.

Mr. Cheney asked Superintendent Ulrich's opinion on this matter. Mr. Ulrich replied that he didn't think the charge excessive in view of the small amount of work resulted in this particular case.

Chairman Cheney inquired of Mr. Bristol if there was some prescribed form or blank available for the use of the Board of Selectmen in issuing an order relative to the changing of grades of tracks and the details thereof.

Mr. Bristol replied that it was customary for the Board of Selectmen of any town to issue the representatives of the Connecticut Company to arrive at a mutual agreement regarding this point and that in so doing it was sought in so far as possible to avoid legal technicalities or expensive formalities of any kind.

It was also explained that the order had to be issued within ten days to comply with the statute.

PLANS ACCEPTED AND ORDER ISSUED. It was voted to accept the plans for the proposed macadam road as shown on the map. He also stated that mail such order was issued the Connecticut Company could make no move in the matter as this was the final step in the proceedings.

It was also explained that the order had to be issued within ten days to comply with the statute.
