FOR TRADE SCHOOL

One of our principal industries here is the raising of children, as may be seen by the large school buildings which we have hereabouts. I believe this to be the most desirable communities in the state for the establishment of a trade school.

CHARLES L. RICKETTS, superintendent of the Hartford Woolen Mills said that the people of the town generally would be very glad to have a trade school established here, to be kept up and the people in this community to educate themselves so as to occupy higher and better positions in life.

CHAIRMAN HOWELL CHENEY. Chairman Cheney said in part. We have to present to the State Board of Education the reasons why it is one of our principal industries here. We should have a trade school here which would give an opportunity to get into the world of business and to acquire a general knowledge of the business and to equip boys and girls at 15 years of age with some technical skill whereby they could be better prepared for the time when they enter the world of business.

THE SPANIARD.

"Havock Eells in his 'Soul of Spain' has revealed intimately and charmingly the temperament of the Spaniards. According to him the Spaniard is still fundamentally primitive. In proof of his possession of the primal instincts of hospitality and charity he quotes the following anecdote from an Aragonese newspaper of a few years ago, at a time when there was much distress in Aragon: 'The laborer out of work came to the highway determined to rob the first person he met. This was a man with a wagon. The laborer had his knife and demanded his money. 'Here is $30, all that I have,' the driver man replied. 'These are nothing left for me but robbery. My family are dying of hunger,' the aggressor said apologetically and proceeded to put the money in his pocket, but as he did so his mind changed. 'Take this, chico,' he said, handing back $20. 'One is enough for me.' 'Would you like anything I have in the cart?' asked the wagoner, thinking with his generosity. 'Yes,' said the man. 'I have better have some rice and some beans.' The wagoner handed over a bag of oatmeal and then held out $5, which the laborer refused. 'Take them for luck money,' said the wagoner. 'I owe you that.' And only so was the would be robber persuaded to accept."

THE BABY CROP.

Worth More Than All Other Crops as a National Asset. When you come to think of it, there's no escaping the conclusion that the baby crop is worth more to this country of ours than all the corn, wheat, cotton, beef and poultry products put together—worth more in dollars and cents. Unhappily, we do not take proper care of our baby crop. The baby crop is worth more to this country of ours than all the corn, wheat, cotton, beef and poultry products put together.

MONTENEGRO DANCES.

The Kolo is a Feature of All Great National Festivals. The national dance of Montenegro is the "kolo," somewhat similar to the "fola" of Hungary. Both sexes take part, crossing hands and forming an unbroken circle. The music they supply themselves, each end of the horn alternating with the playing of a shrill, tinlike pipe. The kolo is very popular and is danced at all great national festivals and the effect of the tempo is very exciting and exhilarating. There is no other dance of the kind in the world. The kolo is very popular and is danced at all great national festivals and the effect of the tempo is very exciting and exhilarating.

THE SPANIARD.

"Havock Eells in his 'Soul of Spain' has revealed intimately and charmingly the temperament of the Spaniards. According to him the Spaniard is still fundamentally primitive. In proof of his possession of the primal instincts of hospitality and charity he quotes the following anecdote from an Aragonese newspaper of a few years ago, at a time when there was much distress in Aragon: 'The laborer out of work came to the highway determined to rob the first person he met. This was a man with a wagon. The laborer had his knife and demanded his money. 'Here is $30, all that I have,' the driver man replied. 'These are nothing left for me but robbery. My family are dying of hunger,' the aggressor said apologetically and proceeded to put the money in his pocket, but as he did so his mind changed. 'Take this, chico,' he said, handing back $20. 'One is enough for me.' 'Would you like anything I have in the cart?' asked the wagoner, thinking with his generosity. 'Yes,' said the man. 'I have better have some rice and some beans.' The wagoner handed over a bag of oatmeal and then held out $5, which the laborer refused. 'Take them for luck money,' said the wagoner. 'I owe you that.' And only so was the would be robber persuaded to accept."

THE BABY CROP.

Worth More Than All Other Crops as a National Asset. When you come to think of it, there's no escaping the conclusion that the baby crop is worth more to this country of ours than all the corn, wheat, cotton, beef and poultry products put together—worth more in dollars and cents. Unhappily, we do not take proper care of our baby crop. The baby crop is worth more to this country of ours than all the corn, wheat, cotton, beef and poultry products put together.

MONTENEGRO DANCES.

The Kolo is a Feature of All Great National Festivals. The national dance of Montenegro is the "kolo," somewhat similar to the "fola" of Hungary. Both sexes take part, crossing hands and forming an unbroken circle. The music they supply themselves, each end of the horn alternating with the playing of a shrill, tinlike pipe. The kolo is very popular and is danced at all great national festivals and the effect of the tempo is very exciting and exhilarating. There is no other dance of the kind in the world. The kolo is very popular and is danced at all great national festivals and the effect of the tempo is very exciting and exhilarating.
