

50 doz. 25c Window Shades at 12 1/2c at Closing Out Sale of Palace Furniture Stock. To Be Placed on Sale Next Monday Morning.

We have been obliged to disappoint so many people by being unable to supply shades, as advertised, owing to the fact that our stock became exhausted early in the sale that we have decided to take 50 dozen 25c shades from our own stock and place them on sale at 12 1/2c each next Monday morning at the

Sale of the Palace Furniture Stock

People have crowded in upon us beyond our expectations. We are obliged once more to ask for the indulgence of our patrons in the delivery of goods. We have hired two extra teams and several extra men yet we are unable to keep up with our deliveries, but all goods will be delivered as bought just as promptly as possible.

Sale on Kitchen Ware Postponed Until Further Notice

Owing to the fact that the kitchen ware of the Palace Furniture Co. is located in the basement of the store where it is dangerous to the public safety to allow the crowds to go down into the basement with inadequate facilities of escaping in case of fire; we have decided after our first night's experience to close this department, until such time as the first floor is cleared of the furniture stock and we have time to bring all small goods up to the main floor and make special sale of kitchen ware only.

The Palace Furniture Co.'s Store Will Be Closed to the Public From Friday Night Until Monday Morning. Open for Business as Usual at 7 a. m. Monday, Sept. 6th

We are forced to do this in order to get time to clean up all deliveries of goods this week and unpack the balance of stock in store-house and get it in condition to be sold.

We Are Open All Day Labor Day.

No home in Manchester should miss this opportunity to place furniture in their home.

REMEMBER: $1. Buys $2. Worth of Goods at the Closing Out Sale of the Palace Furniture Co.'s Stock.

LIST OF CANDIDATES

TO BE VOTED FOR AT COMING DIRECT PRIMARY IN SO FAR AS SAME IS COMPLETED

Contents Coming Up the Trail—Selectmen, Registrars of Voters, Constables and Assessors Have Sufficient of Applicants To Insure Struggle for Office—Not Much Money At Stake.

Last Monday marked the time limit for placing in the hands of the Town Clerk nominations for candidates at the coming Direct Primary, a list of whom will be found below.

Selections C. G. Watkins and George H. Allen are not in the running, this time as both have declined any further honors.

It must also be borne in mind with reference to the office of selectman here that no member of the Board is permitted to do anything to the town whatsoever unless in open competition on his own sole public.

It is quite apparent that if any man to accept the office of selectman in this town under present conditions as to give the satisfaction which it properly demands is not at all compensated by the revenue derived therefrom.

The honor of holding the office is a consideration to one who has served in that capacity. Civic pride is another inducement which weighs much in many cases and which calls for heroic sacrifices for the public good which otherwise could not be secured.

By virtue of the fact of Mr. Watkins' refusal to enter the Direct Primary for the nomination of selectman the friends of Edward J. Holl, one of our local real estate men, and of Samuel E. Darr, superintendent of the Rogers Paper Manufacturing Company, have entered their names and have indicated their desire for the nomination.

Because of the large Republican majority in this town it is considered that a nomination in a Republican Direct Primary may be taken as a guarantee of election.

As there are but few Republican selectmen to be chosen and there are six nominees, it is apparent that a contest is bound to ensue and that each candidate's chance for winning will be a matter of dispute.

How much of a contest may develop out of this situation remains to be seen.

Two of the Republicans on the list viz: A. B. Kenney and W. E. Alvord have been honored by being selected a number of times. Whether they will feel like putting forth any strenuous efforts to secure any further favors in that direction remains to be seen.

It has been set down on the tablets that "The tree of deepest root is found least willing still to quit the ground."

Whether this applies in a political sense or not such of our readers may figure out to his or her satisfaction. It is believed in some quarters that a number of years in public life develops an appetite for a continuance of same that is difficult to resist and that can be

OPEN AIR MEETING TONIGHT

Honorable Eugene W. Chapin of Chicago will address an open air meeting in the vicinity of the South Manchester post-office this evening at 8 o'clock, weather permitting.

It will be a subject which will be the no-license question, of which Mr. Chapin is a strong exponent. Mr. Chapin is attending the temperance field day of the Christian Citizenship League of Connecticut at Lake Compounce, where he is to deliver an address this afternoon.

It will be remembered that Mr. Chapin spoke here during the campaign last fall when he was the candidate of the Prohibition party for President of the United States.

Mr. Chapin also spoke in the Center Congregational church here during the winter, as will be pleasantly remembered by all who heard him. He is a man of much ability as a speaker and is well worth hearing.

He always has something to say and knows how to say it. In the fewest possible words, says it directly to the point and says it so clearly that all who hear him may readily understand.

AN APPEAL FOR AID

We have been requested to announce that Mrs. Frank O. Swenson of Pearl street, widow of the late pastor of the Swedish Congregational church on Spruce street is left with twice about 200 months old and in destitute circumstances.

THE EXPLORER PLANNED HIS DASH

Warned by Previous Failures, He Made the Most Careful Preparation Possible

For weeks the scientific world had waited breathlessly, hoping daily to hear from Peary. He, the Cook, was overdue, having been away from his permanent base in Igloolik for six weeks.

His great determination and intimate knowledge of polar conditions were looked upon as his chief assets to his advance on the pole.

Peary planned to make his dash in the summer months, while Dr. Cook advanced in the late winter. He made his dash upon the same general theory which he advanced upon the occasion of his first attempt.

COMMANDER ROBERT E. PEARY AND HIS SHIP, THE ROOSEVELT.

and proceeded to Cape Moss. There came the dash for the pole when he pierced the far north to a point which his instruments registered as 87 degrees 54 minutes latitude.

Peary's Route. This year his route, like that of Dr. Cook, was a general way from Grant Land northwest.

Peary in going through Baffin's Bay worked against the drift of the ice and not with it. The old notion of the polar sea was to the effect that the pole was so surrounded by an unpenetrable mass of grinding ice that it meant the destruction of any ship or human being to attempt to pass through or over it.

Peary called from Sydney on the Roosevelt, his search arctic ship built with the aid of government resources, on the ice on July 17, 1908. In the cargo were large quantities of looking weather conditions were of the best. Then suddenly a bad storm sprang up and Peary and his companions were forced into camp. There in a driving storm of ice and snow all hands remained for six days.

Provisions now ran low, and the allowances were shortened. Weaker dogs were fed to their stronger brethren, and by exerting themselves to the utmost the explorers were able to make fair headway.

Even should he reach the pole, he knew that he would never return safely to the mainland. Turning the expedition headed for Cape Morris Jessup, after putting up a flag at the point farthest north. The chance discovery of the north coast of Grant Land and the pole. The attainment of the north and south poles by American expeditions would be worth to this country many times the few thousands expended just for the closer bond, the deeper patriotism resulting, when every one of the hundred millions of us can say the stars and stripes float at both ends of the earth's axis and the wide earth turns about them.

Registrars' Notice Officially Ignored. On the relief train that had been rushed to the scene of the railway wreck was a newspaper reporter. The first victim he saw was a man whose eyes were in mourning and whose left arm was in a sling. With his hair full of dirt, one end of his shirt collar flying loose and his coat slipping over the back, the victim was sitting on the ground and weeping and sobbing.

cluded only by resolution to some office or office year after year. It is true that one may not at all times get the particular office which he seeks but nevertheless, if he gets the habit he has a penchant for office of some sort for which he seeks gratification whenever opportunity arises. It is noted that this characteristic is more strongly developed in some persons than in others and that their actions are governed accordingly. These observations do not of necessity apply to the cases herewith under consideration, but are of a more broad and general nature.

Meers, Cheney and Williams have just served out their first year as selectmen and might naturally be supposed to have more of a desire for continuance in office than have either Meers, Cheney and Alvord. The two new men, Meers, Cheney and Alvord are to make their maiden effort for reelection at the head of the Republican party of this town for the office of selectman. It may therefore, naturally be inferred that these latter will exercise themselves ardent in the endeavor to have the title of selectman as a badge of honor.

Another possibility that may tend to further intensify the situation is the fact that E. L. G. Hohenstahl will in all probability be named at the Prohibition caucus as their candidate for selectman. Mr. Hohenstahl has many friends outside of the Prohibition party and these would be glad to see him made selectman of the Town of Manchester. It is well-known that he is a man of progressive ideas, has a broad grasp of business affairs and is a thoroughly efficient in every way to fill the office, not only with credit to himself but with profit to the town. Should he be nominated, there is no doubt but that he would pull a large vote and tend to make the contest all the more interesting. With these views also men in the field there will doubtless be considerable activity in the struggle for a position on the Board of Selectmen.

CONTEST FOR REGISTRAR. Isaiah Symington the local tailor and clothing dealer has entered the lists as candidate for the office of Registrar of Voters on the Republican ticket in competition with Thomas Ferguson, the present Registrar. This promise to be an interesting struggle. There are only two starters in the race and as they work their way around the circuit each operator can easily keep them in view and watch the progress of the dash for the goal. From the time they start at the judges' stand, pass each of the p's on the course and sweep in under the wire at the close of the polls on the day of the Direct Primary, each will make a statement as to whether he has won or lost and to the not to be undisturbed in the heat. The red flag at the last station on the home stretch will be waved with jealous eyes by the on-lookers. As they come down the stretch the finish line the hoarseness of their friends will cheer them on to greater and greater efforts until one or the other wins the coveted laurel wreath of victory. It promises to be a pretty contest and will be watched with very deep interest. In making the Registrar Ferguson has the edge. Which of the contestants will nail the winner's flag to it is a Peary remains to be seen. Both candidates have friends galore, both are splendid contestants, both know the rules of the game and will play them for all they are worth from start to finish. The audience in the grandstand and on the bleachers and in the proximity of the judges' stand on both sides of the track will be filled with exultant expectations for the outcome of the race.

CONTEST FOR ASSESSOR

Joseph Albion the present Republican assessor finds himself confronted by the opposition of a running mate for the office of assessor this time in the person of Alexander Trotter of East Center street. Mr. Trotter has never entered the lists personally before in the political game, but will have a try at it this year and see whether he can muster adherents enough to land him in position as one of the assessors.

FOR CONSTABLE

There are seven nominees for the office of constable on the Republican ticket. As but four Republican constables can be elected under the law, it is apparent there will be a contest for the position of constable. The Republican ticket elected last year were David Crockett, Robinson Crockett, William G. Glenny and William F. Madden. All of these have submission papers filed for the contest of anybody being Primary and their friends will again seek to have their names added to the list of constables of the Town of Manchester. Officer Samuel Gordon and Charles E. Brown are the new applicants. Constable E. J. Wilcox is the Republican nominee of the present. One cannot go to effect until on or after October 1st.

THE TOWN WARDEN

Under the present law it is necessary to nominate a town warden at the opening Direct Primary for the reason that the amendments to the new laws of town officers have been made. The new law provides that the warden shall be elected at the opening of the town meeting on or after October 1st.

BILLIARDS—AND SOMETHING ELSE.

The Chance That Came With a Lesson in the Game.

By M. J. PHILLIPS. Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

The trouble was that, while Carrick admitted his offense and was anxious to present his excuses, Miss Welland by her manner ignored the existence of an offense and so made excuse impossible. At first blush that sounds all right, but it wasn't.

"You don't hold the stick properly," pronounced Carrick. "The lesson progressed better than I expected. Well, standing and running are good examples of such actions, which cannot be accurately carried out without learning to hold the stick properly. Newborn animals cannot stand. They sprawl, and before they can stand, walk or run they must acquire this water-tight shell of the cerebellum, the mysterious and little understood hind part of the brain."

SWINGING THE ARMS.

The Habit a Relief of the Time When Man Went on All Fours.

Sir Victor Horsley, lecturing before the Medical Society of London, explained our habit of swinging the arms while walking, which he stated was quite unnecessary, as a relic of the days when we walked on all fours.

It was their first summer out of college, and they had always been chums. But now a girl had come between them.

LEGALLY A CORPSE.

Therefore He Could Not Possibly Have Been Murdered.

It was the custom in the good old days in Great Britain and Ireland to hang condemned men for half an hour and then hand them over to their friends. A man named Moberly was hanged in this way. At the end of half an hour his body was given to his friends, who put him in a coffin they had brought with them and palloped off with him on a cart. But before they were out of sight of the gallows authorities the corpse in the coffin was the property of the coroner.

THE AFRICAN MARKET.

Prices That Wild Animals Bring in Fluctuate with the Demand.

The prices of wild animals naturally fluctuate with the demand. An excessive supply of rhinoceros would soon reduce the market value. Rhinoceros is the most valuable animal in the world every day they are on the hunters' or the dealer's hands he is losing money.
