CITIZENS MEETING

ATTRACTS LARGE GATHERING OF DEEPLY INTERESTED TAXPAYERS WHO LISTEN TO DISCUSSIONS.

First gathering of Sort Held Since New Form of Town Government Became Law Citizens Delighted to Hear Measure at Explanation Made and Light Thrown Upon Subjects.

A citizens meeting, the first of the kind to be held under the new form of town government under which the Town of Manchester is doing business at the present time, was held in the Town Hall last Monday evening and attracted a gathering which completely filled every sitting in the hall.

The meeting was called to order by Isaiah Symington, George W. Corah being chosen as chairman and E. L. G. Ebenhart as clerk.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the proposed amendments to the town government under which we are doing business at the present time. H. M. Burke requested Horace B. Cheney as chairman of the Board of Selectmen to explain the proposed amendments, which Mr. Cheney proceeded to do.

Twenty sections of the proposed amendments related to the establishment of grades, curb lines, widths of sidewalks, to regulate the erection of building lines, manner of appealing from decisions of selectmen on such matters, etc. Another had to do with the appointment of a milk inspector which Mr. Cheney warmly recommended saying that physicians claimed that 90 per cent of deaths among children are traceable to impure milk and therefore, supervision of dairy farms was highly essential.

Two sections were devoted to the appointment of plumbing and building inspectors which Mr. Cheney explained, claimed were needed here, and asked the voters to grant the extension of powers to the selectmen.

Mr. Burke rose to a question of information and asked what the duties of a plumbing inspector were. He held that he had searched the statutes of Connecticut very thoroughly and found no such office as plumbing inspector mentioned in the law.

Mr. Cheney maintained that the statutes did contain references to plumbing inspectors. Judge Alexander Arnot sustained Mr. Burke's contention that the statute did not contain any mention of a plumbing inspector.

Mr. Ebenhart held that section 1719 of the general statutes did provide for the appointment of a plumbing inspector and set forth the duties of same.

Mr. Burke read section 1719 in which no allusion is made to a plumbing inspector as such appears.

Mr. Arnot read and explained section 1810 of the general statutes relating to the appointment of building inspectors. He also read the law relative to the duties of a milk inspector.

Selectman Cheney maintained that all boroughs and cities have plumbing inspectors.

Mr. Burke met this statement by saying that they had those officers by virtue of power granted them in their charters but not by virtue of powers conferred upon them by the general statutes, thus maintaining his position that the general statutes recognized no such office as plumbing inspector.

Mr. Burke read section 1810 of the proposed amendments to the town act and analyzed it in detail, claiming it would be possible for the selectmen to give over to the charity and road superintendents all the power which the Board of Selectmen are supposed to exercise. He vigorously opposed the granting of any such powers to the selectmen.

He held that it was depriving the voters of privileges which belong to them, and which they should not turn over to the selectmen. He bade them consider this matter carefully and take warning of the advice he was giving them, assuring them that if they didn't they would regret it in the years that are to come.

He strenuously opposed section 23 which had to do with the appointment of a plumbing inspector maintaining that it impliedly gave the selectmen the power of creating another office thus adding to the expense of conducting the town's affairs. He held that the selectmen had necessary power regarding plumbing inspectors but that the statute which they could not pass this power on to the selectmen, they must exercise it themselves.

Mr. Burke said that when the town act was first passed it was understood that there were but two appointive officers, namely, Charity and Road Superintendents and that the selectmen were to give their services for $100 each per annum. The granting of these amendments would enable the selectmen to make three more appointive officers with full salaries, which salaries the Board of Selectmen would have the power to fix and the people would have nothing whatever to say about it other than to pay the bills. He vigorously opposed granting this extension of power.

Isaiah Symington spoke at some length against the adoption of the amendments. He expressed an opinion to vote it down, to retain all the powers which they now have, and to relinquish none of them.

Mr. Charles Stemberg of Eldridge street has been spending the week with relatives in Westland.

be aware of granting any extension of powers to the selectmen relative to the matter of plumbing inspector. He claimed that the chairman of the Board of Selectmen was also a member of the South Manchester Sewer and Sanitary District and that if the Board of Selectmen were given the power of appointing a plumbing inspector it meant adding one more to the string of monopolies of public utilities already held by Cheney Brothers, namely, sewer, water, electric light and gas.

George W. Finlay rose to a point of order saying that Mr. Symington was becoming too personal in his remarks in alluding to Mr. Cheney.

Chairman Ferris said that it was a meeting for free speech and full public discussion and he didn't feel that he had any authority to prevent any speaker from discussing at length any questions brought up, but suggested that Mr. Symington might allude to the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen rather than to Horace B. Cheney in person.

Mr. Symington replied that he had no intention of being personal or offensive in his remarks, that he was voicing the public opinion of Mr. Cheney as chairman of the Board of Selectmen and not in his personal capacity, and that if he had said anything that was complimentary or offensive to Mr. Cheney he desired to apologize for same.

Various questions were discussed for an hour and three quarters with very much interest and considerable fervor. The large audience listened with marked attention and seemed to be eager for the information that was being given out and the explanations of the various sections of the proposed amendments that were being made.

The meeting was highly successful and pleased the great majority of those present beyond measure. They expressed themselves after the meeting as being delighted with the privilege of having such a loss of public and general interest such as takes up at a citizens meeting and enjoyed a happy party. Music, games, Halloween experiments and the enjoyment of a bonfire celebration made up the evening's activities which were greatly enjoyed.

With a backache that aches all day, With rest disturbed at night, With urinary disorders, This a weary way, indeed. Doan's Kidney Pills drive weariness away. Are endorsed by South Manchester citizens.

Mr. John F. Tynan, of Foster street, South Manchester, Conn., says: "At the time I gave a public statement regarding Doan's Kidney Pills in August, 1909, I had just been relieved of a severe attack of kidney complaint. My back had ached nearly all the time and I was obliged to frequent a hospital. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the family some years previous, and I decided to try them in my case. I procured a box at a drug store. After using the contents of one box I felt so much better that I was glad to relate my experience for the benefit of other kidney sufferers. I have only had occasion to take a few more of Doan's Kidney Pills during the last few months, for my kidneys have given me but little trouble."

Nervous Prostration For Three Years

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me of a period of nervous prostration of over three years duration, and the Anti-Pain Pills are as necessary to us as the roof of our house. They have been household remedies with us for many years."

WM. J. LOUGHRAN, 1214 Catherine St., Philadelphia, Penna.

Much sickness is due to nervous troubles. Headache, dizziness, epilepsy and insanity are nervous troubles. There is a large class of disorders which arise from a weakness of the nerves of an organ or part, as weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidneys, bladder, eyes, etc. Dyspepsia and indigestion are usually the result of nervous disorders.

Restorative Nervine soothes the irritated nerve, and assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force.

FOSTER-PERKINS

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season was that of Edward D. Foster, cost clerk and paymaster of the Turner and Seymour Manufacturing Company of Torrington, of Miss Adeline F. Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edson A. Perkins at the home of the bride's parents, 337 P. O. street, Torrington, Monday afternoon.

The apartments were decorated in pink and green, a pretty combination of mountain laurel and carnations. Preceding the coming of the bride party two little girls in white formed an aisle through the midst of the guests by stretching long white ribbons from the staircase in the hall through the parlor and to the laurel arch in the corner of the library, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. John K. Moore of New Haven, a cousin of the bride.

Miss Florence D. Perkins, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, led the bride on the arm of her father. The bridesmaids were Miss Grace F. Butler at the piano played the Wagner wedding march on the entrance and the march from L'Embrago on the departure of the bride party. A reception followed the ceremony after which the couple left for a wedding trip. On their return they will live on Whiting avenue, in Torrington. Among the handsome presents was the gift of the bridegroom to the bride, a necklace set with diamonds and precious topaz.

The guests with the exception of the intimate friends were from one of the towns, among whom were the following from South Manchester and vicinity: Mrs. M. N. Foster, mother of the bridegroom and Lucius M. and Mrs. Foster of this place, and W. M. and Mrs. Foster of Wapping.

The groom is well and favorably known in this place where he formerly resided.

ON TO MICHIGAN

Rev. W. P. Anderson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of this place left town Tuesday for Cadillac, Mich., where he expects to spend a few weeks. Rev. Mr. Anderson's first ordained minister was at Cadillac, Mich., where he remained for four years. He left there 18 years ago and has not been back since. The Swedish Lutheran church at Cadillac is preparing to celebrate its thirty-fifth anniversary on Tuesday. Rev. Anderson will deliver a sermon in English at the dedication exercises. Martin Luther Swanson of Uplala college, Kenton, N. J., will preach in the Swedish Lutheran church here both mornings and afternoons of the two Sundays starting during Rev. Mr. Anderson's absence. Mr. Swanson will be remembered as the young man who taught the Swedish parochial school here last summer and who has preached in the Swedish Lutheran church herebefore.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

A charming halloween social was given by J. B. and Mrs. Barlett at their home 33 Pine street to the St. Mary's church choir last Sunday evening. The home was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, lanterns, etc. and looked very attractive. The gorgeous bus of the autumn leaves being heightened in beauty by the soft radiance of the lanterns. A choice collection was daintily served, vocal and instrumental music added to the festivities of the joyous occasion and all went merrily as merrily bell. The young people were merry fancy and grotesque costumes. Miss Grace Calman took first prize for a lady, her makeup being that of a witch. George W. Trotter was given a prize for his makeup of a smiling young and fat. Sports, high and all were zay at this festive, hallo'een social which will long and pleasantly be remembered by all who participated therein.

There were a number of women in this vicinity who have celebrated their one of Wise, 80 1/2 & Co's anniversary celebrations during twelve years back and have a nice souvenir to show for every year.--111

WARREN TOPPAN, Lynn, Mass.
Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20-'08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely freed that compound cold and suppressed the cough--and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years.

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

"The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics--the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of God Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

search one seal blowhole was found and an old bear track, but no signs of other small life was detected in the water of the crevices. At the big lead a few seals were gathered, but here the sea was sterile. The signs of seal and bear, however, were encouraging for a possible food supply. In returning the season would be more advanced, and the life might move northward, thus permitting an extension of the time allowance of our ration.

"Though the heat of the sun was barely felt, the rays began to pierce the ice with painful effects. The bright light, being reflected from the speckled surface of the storm driven snow, could not long be endured even by the Eskimos without some protection. The amber colored goggles that we had made at Annotook from the glass of the photographic supplies now proved a priceless discovery. They effectively removed one of the greatest tortures to arctic travel.

The darkened or smoky glasses, blue glasses and ordinary automobile goggles had all been tried with indifferent results. They failed for one reason or another, mostly because of an insufficient degree of vision or a faulty construction, making it impossible to proceed more than a few minutes without removing the accumulated condensation.

Relief In Amber Glasses.
This trouble was entirely eliminated in our goggles. The amber glass screened only the active rays which injure the eye, but did not interfere with the range of vision. Indeed, the eye, relieved of the snow glare, was better enabled to see distant objects than through fieldglasses. It is frequently very difficult to detect ice protrusions on cloudy days. The amber glass also dispels this trouble.

A BAD PRESSURE ANGLE.

one season when the pack is little creased and not elastic it is probably later, as the entire sea of ice becomes active. It may disappear or shift to a line nearer the land.

New Ice Stops Drift.
In low temperature new ice forms rapidly, and this offers an obstruction to the drift of the old ice. As the heavy central ice is pressed against the surrounding land pack the small ice is ground up, and even heavy does are crushed. This reduced mass of small ice is pasted and cemented along the shores of the big lead, leaving a broad band of troublesome surface as a serious barrier to sled travel. It seems quite likely that this lead, or a condition similar to it, exists strictly under the polar sea as a buffer between the land and the middle pack.

With the big lead and the many possibilities for troublesome delay behind, a course was set to reach the eighth-fifth parallel on the ninety-seventh meridian. What little movement was noted on the ice had been easterly, and to allow for this drift we aimed to keep this central pack. After a run of eleven hours the pedometer registered twenty-three miles, but we had taken over the top to cross the block.

The night was beautiful. The sun sank into a purple haze, and soon there appeared three suns in iridescent colors, and those soon settled into the frozen sea. During the night a narrow band of orange lightened the northern skies, while the pack surface glowed in magnificent shades of violet and blue and purple blue.

Last Glance At Visible.
Satisfactory observations at noon on March 24 gave our position as latitude 53 degrees 31 minutes, longitude 90 degrees 27 minutes. The wind and clouds of Grand Lead were still visible, and a low bank of mist in the west obscured brightening outlines of the snow-covered land. This we believed to be Crocker Land, but mist presently cleared the horizon and did not offer an opportunity to study the coast.

Until midday the time was used for observations and a study of the land conditions. The dogs sniffed the air as if scenting game, but after a slight

HAVE YOU HEARD?

HALE'S CELEBRATION SALE

BEGAN WEDNESDAY NOV. 3RD.

ENDS SATURDAY NOV. 13TH.

This sale is causing more comment among the women of the town than even the right of the selectmen to straighten sidewalks. Why is it? Simply because it deals with the vital things that concern every family in the town. The little needs on which you save a dollar before you know it. Ask your neighbor if perchance you have not been here. Many new additions to the list of sale goods, since our first circular.

BUSINESS MEN MEET.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Business Men's Association was held last evening and the election of officers resulted as follows: E. S. Ellis, president; E. L. Russell, first vice president; W. E. Hubbard, second vice president; F. W. Mills, secretary and treasurer. The directors for two years are: C. G. Watkins, W. C. Chesney, D. J. Ward, W. E. Alvord, J. B. Hubbard.

President Ellis announced the following banquet committee who were clothed with all power to do as they deemed best relative to the annual banquet: O. F. Topp, N. E. Richards, F. W. Mills, R. L. Russell, J. W. Chesney, C. N. Balch, W. E. Hubbard, G. B. Keith, F. A. Verplanck, F. E. Watkins. After the meeting an oyster supper was enjoyed. It is believed profitable to secure Cheney Hall for the annual banquet, providing the business men furnish either a crash covering for the dancing surface, or two coatings of building paper.

ALTON-TAYLOR

Miss Myrtle Taylor, a sister of Mrs. Everett H. Gates of Huntington street, and Richard B. Alton of East Hartford were married last evening at the home of Mrs. Gates by Rev. William C. Prentiss, pastor of the First Congregational church of East Hartford. The bride also was attended. The ceremony was witnessed only by intimate relatives of the bride and groom. They received a number of valuable presents. After a wedding trip they will reside on Central avenue, East Hartford, where they have a home handsomely furnished. Mr. Alton is employed by the National Fire Insurance company of Hartford.

FORESTERS BAZAR

The big event of the week here in a social way has been the Foresters Bazar, which has been drawing crowded houses at the Armory Opera House each evening beginning Tuesday. Stage entertainments and dancing have pleased the enormous throngs amazingly and great entertainments prevail. The distribution of awards will take place tomorrow evening, for which three distinguished persons who are not members of the order have been selected as judges, viz: Aaron Johnson, W. E. Alvord and A. L. Wertheimer.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS

Laurel Camp Royal Neighbors of America will give a whist, social and dancing contest at Masonic Hall Monday evening, November 29th. Mrs. Emma Benge and Mrs. Mary A. Johnson have the arrangements in charge.

DID YOU NOTICE IT?

That on riveted cast dining room sets that is on display in Watkins Brothers window today is certainly a beauty and is attracting much attention. Passersby are wont to stop and admire it. It is hand polished, the surfaces having all the brightness and sheen of a French mirror. We are told that the price is quite reasonable. One may buy either the separate pieces or the whole sets.
