BASKET BALL

The basket ball attraction at the Armory this evening will be the "G" team against the Trojans of Hartford. There will be a preliminary game in which the Pierce team will represent this place. The games will start at 8 o'clock and will be followed by all round dancing until midnight, with music by Bude's orchestra. Admission is 15 cents and stage seats 10 cents extra.

At the opening game last Friday evening the "G" team had the Posse of Hartford as their opponents and to use a current phrase the "G" team "mopped the floor" with the Peeries players, the score standing 50 in favor of the "G" team with six for the Peeries. This showed that the "G" team entered into the spirit of the game with vim and energy and they kept things moving at an extremely rapid pace from start to finish. It may be expected that they will strike a very lively gait, this evening and a lovers of rapid basket ball playing will be delighted with the exhibition given.

The attendance at the opening game was highly satisfactory and the boys were given great encouragement from their friends who seemed delighted with the exhibition given. They look for a large and enthusiastic gathering at the Armory this evening. Following was the lineup and summary of the opening game:

G Team: G Team, Peeries Team, Schofield, Clark, Stewart, Olen, Ferris, Clark, Stevens, Smythe, Washburn, Mettlin, Brown, Gals from floor: Olen, Smythe, 3 Martin, Schofield, Clark, Stewart, Olen, Ferris, Clark, Stevens, Osoo, I. Ferris, Referee McCarthy, Timmer, M. Ferris, Scorer, Billie, Score, G 50, Peeries 6.

The preliminary game was between the Pierce and the St. Andrews, the Pierce winning by a score of 23 to 14. The first half was evenly matched, the score then standing 10 to 8 in favor of the Peeries. The Saints weakened in the second half, however, and let their opponents get a comfortable lead. The line up and summary follow:

Pierce: St. Andrews, Carney, Thornton, Dewey, Mahoney, El. Ball, Wright, Earl, Ballinger, R. Johnson, Goals from floor: Wilkie, Earl, Ballinger, C. Martin, E. Ballinger, 3 Wright, A. Johnson, I. Gals from floor: Ed. Ballinger, C. Martin, I. Ferris, Referee, Umpire, K. Ferris. Score, Pierce team 23, St. Andrews Athletic club 14.

NEW BOWLING ALLEYS

The new bowling alleys in the hose house of Hose & Laddie Company No. 1, South Manchester Fire Department were formally opened last Saturday evening, a goodly number of friends being present on invitation. Refreshments were served including cigars, and a number of exhibition bowling contests were enjoyed during the evening. The premises generally were inspected and greatly admired. The alleys are certainly a credit to those who have furnished them, and will be appreciated by the many who are privileged to their use. Clerks and other who are held down closely all day with office work and get only a limited amount of physical exercise will appreciate the privilege of using the splendid bowling alleys which were dedicated here last Saturday evening. The members of the company will be glad to have their bowlers visit the alleys Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings. Bowling alleys may rent the alleys Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and evenings.

CLOSING SEWER WORK

The work of connecting the various residences with the sewer in the district north of Center street and east as west of Main street is nearly all completed at this time. Thomas C. Collins who is superintending the sewer work for the South Manchester Sanitary and Sewer Company has faithfully and ably and has had very favorable weather for that kind of work. Practically all the property owners in the newly opened sections of South Manchester have had their properties connected with the sewer. The Center Congregational church is now being connected with the new sewer trunk line.

STRUCK BY AUTO

George Hunt, 9 years old, son of George E. and Mrs. Eliza of Backland, was struck on the forehead by an automobile near Babel's Pharmacy drug store Saturday evening and strange to relate was not seriously injured, as the machine which belonged to and was operated by A. J. Cavanaugh of Rockville was moving at a slow speed at the time of the accident. Mr. Cavanaugh carried the boy into the drug store where the wounds were dressed and then took him to his home. The little fellow had a narrow escape from a serious injury. Real estate bought and sold. For quick returns and satisfactory service try The D. Faulkner.

Now that the poles are set up it is expected that the Board of Selectmen will order street lights placed at necessary points on that already well populated but poorly lighted thoroughfare.

FIREMEN TO DANCE

Orford Hose Company No. 3 of the South Manchester Fire Department are to hold their annual ball at Cheney hall New Year's Eve. The price of admission has been fixed at 25 cents. The proceeds are to be used in helping to pay for the new Auto-Chemical which has been ordered for Hose No. 3, and which is expected about the beginning of the new year. The boys will dispose of a 50c gold piece at their annual ball, and tickets on the coin are expected to be large and thus swell the proceeds.

ONE YEAR OLD

The first anniversary of the Manchester Green Village Improvement Society was celebrated last Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A review of the work of the society during the year was given by Mrs. J. H. Walker, in which she told of the good work done by the society for the money gathered, and the purpose for which same was spent. This society at present has a membership of 108. During the year eleven members removed from the Green and one died. A paper entitled "Our Literary Work for the Past Year" was to have been read by Miss Bachel, but owing to illness she was unable to do so. Her work was postponed for a later date. J. S. Rieley told of the outing at Crystal Lake last summer. Miss Bachel Woodbridge favored with a humorous sketch Monday, Tuesday and Saturday evenings. Bowling alleys may rent the alleys Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and evenings.

FIREMEN TO DANCE

A forest fire gained considerable headway in the water shed leading to the reservoir at Globe Hollow Sunday afternoon. Deputy Fire Warden J. Davenport Cheney was notified and a gang of men was sent to the scene where the fire was brought under control. It required very energetic work to prevent serious loss.

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET

TO BE HELD AT THE KEY HALL, THURSDAY EVENING, JANUARY TWENTY-SEVEN

Main Floor to be Covered with Building Paper in Order to Keep it Dry and Free from Stains--Best Place in Town for Such an Assembly--First Time for This Event to be Permitted There

James W. Cheney today informs The Newhart arrangements have been made whereby the annual banquet of the Manchester Business Men's Association will be held at Cheney hall, on the main floor, Thursday evening, January 27th, 1910. The dancing surface will be covered with building paper so as to keep it dry.

The dancing surface in Cheney Hall is usually kept polished as bright as a mirror and is always cleaned without the use of water. It ranks among the best dancing surfaces in the State of Connecticut. There is neither a roof nor a wall in sight in the entire floor; it is all made of carefully selected polished hard wood and is admired greatly by all out-of-town people who chance to see it on the occasion of a ball or such like.

It is intended to arrange small tables in the spacious ball room so that guests may be seated comfortably and in small groups of a limited number. There is no public hall in town that is so well adapted for the purpose of a banquet of the proportions that given by the Manchester Business Men's Association as is Cheney hall. In the refectory below are ample arrangements for heating coffee and keeping dishes and such like warm so that food may be brought to the table expeditiously and steaming hot if required.

The banquet of the Manchester Business Men's Association have always been held in Odd Fellows hall on Main street, but the destruction of the Odd Fellows building by fire last April left this community without a place suitable for such gatherings.

The business men of Manchester at those who chance to be their guests at the festive board on the evening of January 27th will appreciate the courtesy of being granted the use of Cheney hall for this event.

PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS

Already our merchants are preparing Christmas decorations for their stores and next week will find them all adorned in green and red, the characteristic colorings of the jolly and genial Christmas time. Plans are being laid for a large Christmas trade, and these expectations are quite apt to be fully realized. Conditions are favorable to a heavy Christmas trade. The community is prosperous. Those who are willing and able to work are employed at fair wages. The health of our people as a whole is good. But comparatively little illness has prevailed heretofore during the summer and fall. The outlook for the coming year from a financial standpoint is excellent. Good feeling in commercial circles prevails. Everybody is looking forward cheerfully to a long period of great plenty. Many people are already making selections and purchases of holiday presents. The tendency is becoming more and more prevalent among thinking people to buy early and avoid the scramble at the closing of the trading days just prior to Christmas. The great holiday will be here in three weeks from tomorrow. That's not a short time. Get ready for it in advance. He wins in time.

Dr. Weldon's contention was that the town's indigence should be given the privilege of selecting their own physician and not be compelled to take treatment at the hands of a doctor whether agreeable to them or otherwise, as must be the case if the appointment of a town physician as made by the selectmen be permitted to stand. Dr. Weldon stated that he treats 80 per cent of the town poor, and has done so for years.

Dr. Weldon at the special town meeting last evening renewed his contention in opposition to the appointment of a town physician by the Board of Selectmen basing his arguments largely upon the theory that the town's indigent poor should be given selection in the matter of the physician who was to serve them. He made an earnest appeal in behalf of the indigent poor whose circumstances compelled them to accept town aid in this way, and he urged the board to keep this in mind when it came to the question of deciding.

Dr. Weldon explained that he didn't sign the agreement reached by the selectmen primarily because he was opposed to the appointment of a town physician by the selectmen; and secondly because the agreement left for himself. Dr. Weldon considered that to be too vague. He worried making it positive and emphatic that the indigent poor shall receive the aid of the agreement being such that each physician was to determine that year.

AMICABLY ADJUSTED

J. T. Robertson has made an amicable settlement with the Town of Manchester and the Connecticut Company whereby Mr. Robertson receives $300, two thirds of which sum the Connecticut Company assumes, and the balance is acknowledged as a liability of the Town of Manchester.

The claim for damages arose out of the fact that the trolley poles and part of the trolley tracks abraded upon land of Mr. Robertson near the Oakland street bridge at Apes corner. The change made on Oakland street near Apes corner of laying the macadam and of changing the trolley tracks damaged Mr. Robertson's property, as did also the destruction of the dam beneath the bridge, and the proposed construction of a new bridge on Oakland street near Apes corner, all of which necessitate certain changes in his property which Mr. Robertson has to pay for. Chairman H. B. Cheney of the Board of Selectmen represented the Town of Manchester in the deliberations, and Assistant Surveyor E. A. Nettleton, the Connecticut Company.

FIRE NUMBER TWO

Last Friday evening about six o'clock a defective fuse at the residence of E. S. Talbot of Manchester Green caused considerable apprehension and activity among the operatives of the Glassboro Knitting Company who had just emerged from the mill at the close of their day's work. Chemical establishments were employed and the attempted ravages of the fire element were subdued.

REV. GEORGE ROGERS INJURED

Word has been received here that Rev. George Rogers of Plainville, Mass., was injured in a collision with a runaway horse. Rev. Mr. Rogers was riding a bicycle at the time of the collision, and was knocked off the wheel and three of his ribs were broken. The runaway was hitched to a carriage containing five persons. The horse became frightened at a passing trolley car. Rev. Mr. Rogers is the brother of James Rogers of Pearl street, and Mrs. James Vetch of Church street. Mr. Rogers of Pearl street went to Plainville, Mass., last Saturday to see his brother.

THANKSGIVING WEDDINGS

HANSON-MCCAFFREY

E. S. Hanson of Hartford and Miss Mena M. McCaffrey of Woodland street were married by Rev. W. F. Taylor, pastor of the North Methodist church, Thanksgiving Day, the ceremony taking place at the home of Eugene Wilson of Woodland street. The nuptials were witnessed by a goodly gathering of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. A wedding feast was served, congratulations extended and a general edification observed. The bridal couple were kindly remembered with many charming and all-glass with music presents. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Hanson will establish their home in Hartford where Mr. Hanson is employed.

JUDGMENT

Ralph H. Judd and Miss Gertrude Brothers were married by Rev. W. F. Taylor, pastor of the South Methodist church, on Thanksgiving Day, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Robert and Mrs. Brothers of Winter street. George and Mrs. Boyce were the official witnesses of the compact. Relatives of the contracting parties were present and with spirit into the merrymaking that followed the official ceremony. The groom is the son of Orris H. Judd, manager of The Forest House on West street. Mr. and Mrs. Judd received a nice collection of choice and attractive wedding presents.

NIXON-HOFF

David W. Nixon of Hartford and Miss Alma C. Hoff of this place were married at the rectory of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Thanksgiving Eve by Rev. Manning H. Bennett, pastor of the St. Mary's Episcopal church. Julius and Mrs. Hoff of West Center street were in attendance on the bride and groom. The bridal couple were established their abode in Hartford where the groom is employed by the Pratt & Cady Company.

LECTURE AND CONCERT

John F. Gushanahan of Hartford, member of state commission on tuberculosis, will deliver an instructive lecture at High School Assembly Hall, Tuesday evening, December 14. Mr. Gushanahan will discuss some phases of the Great White Plague, and will endeavor to disseminate some information upon this very important subject that will be good to know about. Mr. Gushanahan is devoting much time, attention, study and observation to his subject, and is in possession of much valuable and interesting information. It is well that a rational citizen should what he has to say and get acquainted with the facts he has to present. Timely application of the suggestions to be offered may be the means of preventing and relieving suffering, heartache, and disorganization of families. One may not be too well fortified to ward off the attacks of this insidious, persistent and deadly foe to mankind.

SUB-STATION REPORTS

STRIKE ONE FOR 'BODY'

Information received here this week brings the glad tidings of the birth of a daughter to Charles and Mrs. Rogers formerly of this place but now of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Rogers was known here as Miss Minnie Smith. Mr. Rogers was one time a successful backstop on the South Manchester baseball team. The happy parents have many friends here who will be glad to extend their congratulations. In two ball parades this may be termed "Strike One" for "Golden" as Mrs. Rogers is familiarly called here. This is a child, first born.

MRS. RICH GETS VERDICT

Her Usual, Daniel Murphy, has to pay for Board Bill claim.

The jury in the court of Common Pleas yesterday afternoon reported a verdict for the plaintiffs to recover $14.19 in the suit of Julia Rich and her husband against Daniel Murphy, all of South Manchester. Mrs. Rich is the daughter of the deceased. The verdict covers $11.50 alleged to be due her for board. Harry M. Burke of South Manchester was attorney for Mrs. Rich, and Benedict M. Holden of Hartford represented Daniel Murphy, who was assisted by Charles E. Hatheway of this place. The case was tried in Hartford.

CASE OF DIPHTHERIA

The 14-year-old daughter of William Thomas Smith of Charter Oak place is suffering with diphtheria, and is under the care of Dr. T. H. Weldon. The case has been officially reported to Medical Examiner Dr. W. R. Tinker and the premises are quarantined. Luckily it is supposed that the family are not confined within reach of the contagion. They are living apart from their home, and are seeing with friends. By this arrangement Mr. Smith and his son William are enabled to continue their work and save money wherewith to defray the money expense of this unexpected visitation. The girl is being cared for by a nurse, who alone is in the contagion enclosure with the patient. This community is very much in need of a place where patients suffering with contagious diseases may be removed apart from other people and receive necessary treatment without endangering the health or the lives of their neighbors.

APPENDIX REMOVED

Miss Hulsh Andersen, daughter of Charles and Mrs. Anderson of South Manchester recovered from the amputation of her appendix Tuesday morning, suffering with appendicitis. The offending appendix was surgically removed Wednesday morning at 9:30, and at noon Miss Andersen recovered from the anesthetic. Word received here from her hospital this morning brings the information that Miss Andersen is in good condition and is considered to be resting comfortably. All her vital organs are sound, her blood in good condition and her chances for speedy recovery appear to be excellent.

All In a Garden Fair

The Evening Visitor Whose Presence is Not an Intrusion.

By A. C. ROWSEY.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

It was a queerly placed little house, set far above the wide, asphalted road that had been graded through the hill crest to the river, a hundred and fifty yards distant to the west. There was a ragged front of jagged rocks and pebbles, a broken, hand-hewn door that led to the old colonial house at the top of the man made cliff. Shaky with age, a fence of white planks ran along the edge of the precipice as if to fend off the hated city from the innocent, fresh country beauty that skirted over its rocky top with the street below.

For Nature was in league against the palling. She strove to cover the rocks with flowering honeysuckle and lung the flowers, like ripening grapes, in the seamy sides of the cliff where the dynamite had in tearing the live rock in twain opened wide crevices and gaping wounds in her side.

She fled toward the house, leaving Miss Snowden to face the enemy. He came idly up the path, stopping like a man who carries a peony in a remissive way.

"Well, sir! How dry you come here!" rang out the challenge from the top of the stairs as he passed. "A man!"

"I was opening the gate," he said. "It's 'de' gasped the girl, rising in dismay.

She fled toward the house, leaving Miss Snowden to face the enemy. He came idly up the path, stopping like a man who carries a peony in a remissive way.

GOING TO MERRIE ENGLAND.

E. J. Holl, our very energetic and equally successful real estate man, will sail from New York next Wednesday on the very speedy, commodious and palatial floating palace, the Lusitania, for a short visit to his native home in Merrick, England. He will spend the fully Christmas holidays with his aged mother at Knighton, Radnorshire, England. Mr. Holl expects to make but a short visit this time and will combine business with pleasure. He expects to return early in January, 1910. He makes frequent trips across the Atlantic to England, and spent an extended visit there last year.

PARSONS THEATER

THE THREE TWINS
One of the most important musical comedy productions of recent years. Three Twins, with the original New York company is playing an entire week's engagement at the Parsons Theater this week with matinee tomorrow afternoon. A very strong cast, headed by Clifton Crawford and Beattie McCoy, and a big singing chorus mostly fetching young girls, is included in the organization of 70 pupils that Manager Gates brings to Parsons.

These Twins in the past two years has gained a bonafide measure of fame. For five months it was a potent attraction at the Whittier opera house in Chicago and moving directly into New York it found instant favor and for nearly a year was at the Herald Square theater, playing to the biggest business ever done by that house.

The book of Three Twins is an adaptation by Charles Dickson, of the farce, Inocoo. The music was written by Karl Hochstein and lyrics fitted in by O. A. Hauerbach.

The story has to do with three men, of no relation whatever, of whom two resemble each other very closely, while the third makes a resemblance possible through the use of a wig, beard and moustache.

Tom Gashope is the one who assumes the disguise and dresses in the effort to escape the continued importunities of a stern parent, who wants him to marry his ward and will not consider his intention of marrying his ward's companion. Tom selects as his disguise the likeness of a photograph of a man which he finds on the beach.

That the most ludicrous of complications and entanglements follow can readily be understood when it is considered that two of the twins are engaged and that the other is married and both the sweethearts and the wife are on the scene all the time. Mr. Crawford has the humorous role of Tom and also contributes several amusing specialties. The scene hits its humorous note, the chief of these being Miss McCoy's Yama, Yama Man. In this number her graceful eccentric dancing is a revelation in terpsichorean effort. Many new effects in stage lighting and mechanics are utilized to produce novelties that have become the talk of the country. Liberal expenditures of money and a keen artistic understanding have been combined in the making of a spectacle that has not been equalled in this age of lavish stage display.

POLLY OF THE CIRCUS
Fredrick Thompson's Polly of the Circus with Ethel Tullafors as Polly will be seen at Parsons theater Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 8th and 9th. The story of the play is novel and it has that which invites even a jaded taste to a simple level in romance. It is a piece that one can see and go away from happy with laughter and tears. In little story it will hold and beautifully framed. The scenic production is most elaborate and the dress scenes true to life. Ethel Tullafors as Polly has won her way into the hearts of her audiences with her sweet and tender manner and exquisite acting. The many characters of the play are all in capable hands.

THE CANDY SHOP
Familiar to a night at Corey is one of the verbal lines of the announcement of the Candy Shop, the new Charles Dellinger musical comedy to be seen at Parsons theater for two performances on Saturday, December 11. It reports from New York and Chicago where the production enjoyed a long run, that the show is more fun than at the Island it entitles is fairly true. The Candy Island corner of one of the resort's seaside parks on a hot night, with water chutes, carousels, merry-go-rounds, side-shows and ballet skippers all in full swing. The jolting candy, the ballet, and all the other human and mechanical elements of a night whirl at the beach are said to be reproduced with occasionally increased comic effect.

HARTFORD THEATER

To pay off a debt of honor Jack Wright, a newspaper reporter in the play of The Lottery Man, a new comedy by Rida Johnson Young, in which the reporter will present Fritz Boott at the Hartford theater tonight and tomorrow matinee and evening, offers himself as the chief prize in a contest, which he persuades his paper to conduct in order to reimburse his chief for money he has borrowed from him. This is one of the amusing situations in the newest comedy by the author of Brown of Harvard.

The paper which Jack Wright starts a lottery, offering as a prize a thousand "moss broken" medals. Before Wright realizes the consequences, he falls in love with an attractive girl only to realize that nothing can come of a difference there is in fact.

Rev. Dr. George W. Reynolds will preach at Orange hall next Sunday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. He will speak for his theme, "The Kingdom of God." The service will be open to the public.

A BIT OF SLANG

Origin of "Making a Noise Like" This or That.
Captain Henry G. Lynde, U. S. A., was the inventor of the slang expression about "making a noise like" this or that. At Peckskill in 1840 he gave instruction to officers of the New York national guard doing duty in that town.

Mr. Lynde's first day he formed the officers into a class in the big mess hall, which was open at the sides, so that all that went on inside was seen and heard by the enlisted men passing back and forth. In teaching the officers how to give the commands class Lynde impressed upon the class the necessity of clear enunciation and of making commands like an officer, saying "arms," not "ump," etc.

The private capacity for turning things to their own amusement was shown a few minutes after that first class was dismissed, for officers heard through their company streets heard privates in front of a group of men shouting out, "Make a noise like an officer," whereupon the entire "class" would roar "Ump!" A reporter sent an account to a New York paper, and from that the expression, such as "Make a noise like a hoop and roll away," etc.

However, it is seldom one hears the word "arms" or "ump," the voice finding it much easier to stir the word "ump" it may mean anything, and as the preparatory command indicates what is to be done the command following is merely a signal for the execution of what has already been specified.—Army and Navy Journal.

LEGAL ADVICE

The Lawyer's Duty In Giving Counsel to His Client.
In the realm of advice a lawyer may readily be seen consulting his client how to uphold the rights secured to him by the justice of his cause or how to obtain benefits from the application of technicalities and the use of the weaknesses of the particular statute which he is to apply.

Every time a lawyer encourages an application of the law as resulting in injustice, casts disrepute upon the law or its administration he is plainly promoting discord either in the present or the future.

Every time a lawyer counsels controversy for the establishment of a right as recognized by existing law or for the promulgation of new law beneficial to the majority of society he is exercising his true function, and should be cheerfully paid for the charge which he lays upon his individual client and through him upon industry and progress in the mass. If reasonable in amount, it will earn respect and should be cheerfully paid.

When, however, a lawyer gives the other kind of advice the expense, perhaps cheerfully borne by the client who profits personally therefrom, should be finally laid upon society as a whole, which is thereby paying for its own injury and naturally resents the charge.—Donald R. Richberg in Atlantic.

THE BISHOP STAYED.

He Risked a Row, but Didn't Have to Leave His Bed.
The bishop of a southern diocese was once making a missionary tour through Arkansas and the Indian Territory, and on his arrival at Natchez he said to the landowner of a hotel, "I have been traveling for a week, day and night, in a small wagon, and want a comfortable room."

"Sorry," said the landowner, "but I don't believe there is a room here for you. There's a horse race, a Methodist conference and a political convention in the city, and every hotel is full up. The only thing I can give you is a shake-down." Then, observing the bishop's tired face, he added: "The best room in my house is reserved to a noted gambler, who usually remains out all night and seldom gets in before breakfast. If you will take the risk, you shall have his room, but if he should come in there'll be a row, I'll promise you that."

The bishop decided to take the risk. About 1 o'clock in the morning the gambler returned and promptly shook the bishop by the arm.

"Get out of here or I'll put you out!" he shouted.
The bishop, the gentlest of men, raised himself on one elbow so that it brought the muscles of his arm into full relief.

Colonel John Sneed's Conversations on Domestic Problems

Copyright, 1900, by C. S. Yost.

V.—Getting on in the World

"YES, that's all right, Bill," said Colonel Sneed to his son-in-law as they smoked their after dinner cigars, "that's all right, I'm mighty glad to hear you've been promoted and got a raise. You might find it a little more of a man with ambition and pick and ginger, and I glory in your success, my boy; I certainly do. But you must have been a good deal of a gentleman lately, have you?"

"No, Colonel, I haven't. Work's been pretty heavy the last few months, and it's kept me at the office almost every night. I don't like that part of it much, but a fellow's got to hustle if he gets along in the world these days."

"Oh, Bill! That's about the way I'd stood it up, and as I was just telling you, I like to see that kind of a spirit in a young man; but, son, if government best looks are quoted at ninety-nine and a man was to go around town boys! all he could get at a dollar ten what would you think of a career?"

"Oh, but! So would I. So would everybody. I don't reckon there's anything better than government bonds. They make the best kind of waddin' for a safe deposit box, and as works of art they're mighty hard to beat, but any man who pays more than the market price for 'em is a bigger fool than a Thompson's colt. It's a good deal the same way with this thing you're getting on in the world. It's fine, it's worth a whole lot, but it's a hard way, my boy, when a man gives up all or most of the things he likes to do in order to win financial success he's selling short on happiness with a mighty slim chance to get hold of the stock for delivery."

"Yes, I know what you'll say—you're yerkin' to get a start, to lay a foundation of a little fortune, to provide the right kind of a home for your wife, and I'm pitten' you on the back all the time and sayin' 'Bully boy! That's the sort of stuff that makes men; that's the power that makes the world go round. But a man wants to be mighty careful that he don't keep on runnin' around the track after the fish, and he wants to look out that he don't lose diamonds while he's scramblin' for pearls. My old father was a country doctor, and he always carried his medicine calomel and such like in a big pair of saddlebags. I remember one time he had to get up in the middle of the night and ride out into a patient. It was an urgent case, and the old gentleman went down the road like Satan bestin' tenkards, his saddlebags bouncin' up and down at every jump. When he got to the place he found a strap had broke and every bit of his medicine had been scattered along the road. 'After that night of odd,' he said, 'he took back to a distance of one and two-tenths miles from the hive in a closed box. They always give me a box of mine when I'm released. The same is true when their eyes were covered, so that that sight was not essential."

"As regards odor, experience seems to prove that bees perceive odors at only short distances. When a needle dipped in ether is brought near the head of the bee, it shows signs of perceiving the odor, but not so when the needle is placed back of him or near either the bees will return to the hive. M. Bonnier made the following experiment: At 600 feet from the hive he placed in the air a strip, and at the same time found it proceeding to and from the hive. Such bees he marked with green colored powder. He then placed a second supply of strips at a distance from the hive, but spaced at twenty feet from the former. Other bees were now engaged in the work of movements to the point, but these were not the same individuals as the green marked ones, who were still working on the first supply, and he marked these red. This gave two distinct sets of bees, able to distinguish two directions which formed a very acute angle. These facts are of great importance in a special directive sense which does not reside in the antennae, but probably in the cerebellar ganglia."
