Allows for Regulation of Rates And Is Broader In Scope.

Men's Association, differs in some respects from the bill reported by the commission to the general as-embly at the last session. It will not contain a recodification of the laws a'ready on the statute books for the regulation of public service corporations. The powers which are now ve-ted in the railread commissioners and in the inspector of gas meters are transferred to the public utilities commissi n. The bill allows the commission to regulate rates. This provision, it will be recalled, was one of the principal bo es of contenti n at the last session. The sections in relation to the service of corporations are much broader then they were in the original bill. There was nothing in that bill to compet the corporations to furnish service to individuals. The new bill clothes the commissioners with sufficient authority to compel the corporations to give an attentive ear to the demands of individuals. It will be Trmembered that the experience which Mr. Carey of Southington had, brong it this matter sharply to the attention of the public at the last ses ion. The new bill follows more closely the New York state law in regard to espitaliza i n than the old law did. In regard to capitalization it is almost a copy of the New York law. It will make the lins of the many chronic office-eakers smack when it is stated that the new bill provides for a commis ion of five

Athletic Clubs For Women.

Athletic clubs for women are growing all over the country. Some of the best organizations are in the west. The Spokane (Wash.) Athletic club devotes two sessions a week to women's classes in light athletics, and here is where the housewife, who imagines she has all the exercise at home she needs, finds she is mistaken. Some of the most enthusiastic members of the S. A. A. C. class are matrons with extensive family affairs on their hands. Their notion is that they handle these affairs all the better for the gymnasium training.

"Women show the benefits much quicker than the average man," says Director Bullivant, "Improvement is noticeable as soon as they begin to breathe properly. It is a fact that most women breathe, only with the upper part of their chests, which is always an invitation to lung trouble and a cause of poor circulation. Digestion is also a weak point usually with the average woman, and here is where the most marked improvement results from faithful work in the gymnasium. Women who exercise reguarly eat reg-

HIS ONLY REGRET.

The Sarrow That Consumed Bichat When He Was Dying. Over a century ago died Xavier Bichat, the famous physician and anatomist, author of "L'Anatomie Generale." He probably dissected more human corpses than any other man in the world's history. He established a record when he opened 625 bodies during one winter.

Of his nerve a tale is told. When he lay on his deathbed he called his colleagues to him and said: "Dear friends, I am done, but what comforts me is the fact that my case is a remarkable one. I have had unusual symptoms for some days which I have analyzed. They have greatly surprised me." The doctors sought to reassure him. He answered that he was under no illusion with regard to himself. "I shall die fairly satisfied with my life and go to the grave with only one regret, one great sorrow."
