The feast and the frolic were fine—and so was the water—they all went in. You remember that the evening was a moist one and only for that birthday surprise one and only for that birthday surprise party on Charlie the weather might have been dry still—but it wasn't dry Saturday evening. That didn't make any difference with the members of the Town Counsel Judge Olin R. Wood to make a right merry time and that was generous and welcome downpour. But the Connecticut Valley were becomming alarmed for the fate of their crops. The rain was most timely and is believed will bring the tobacco fields and other forms of farm and garden products rafely through. There were no wind nor hall as accompaniments of the very generous and welcome downpour. But the case with the E. M. F. It will be remembered that Mr. Gates was in the employ of W. E.
