SELECTMEN MEET

IN PUBLIC SESSION LAST MONDAY. THEY HOLD EXECUTIVE SESSION

Order Town Boundaries Established and Maps Prepared of West Center and Olcott Sts. For Sixty Foot Highway. New Street Name Proposed.

At the afternoon meeting of the board of selectmen last Monday Board Superintendent Ulrich presented two drawings of a proposed bridge on Prospect street near the mill of the Rogers Paper Mfg. Co. One called for a straight girder bridge with a middle support and the other a 40-foot arch span bridge of concrete construction. The two bridges would be of about equal cost. Mr. Ulrich recommended the arch bridge. He was instructed to confer with Cheney Brothers and also with the Rogers Paper Mfg. Co. and see which style of bridge they would prefer, as they are the persons most directly interested in the bridge. According to the vote of the annual town meeting a sum not to exceed $4,000 was appropriated for the purpose of erecting this bridge.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Company accepted the terms submitted by the board governing the laying of their conduits on Middle turn pike from the East Hartford town line to the Bolton town line.

The road superintendent was authorized to procure and post the necessary legal notices about town regarding the licensing of dogs.

Charles Conroy was authorized to borrow $1,000 for the current expenses of the town.

There are $4,000 coming to the Ninth School District from the state this month consisting of $1,000 in grants presented by that district to the town for February.

The road superintendent was ordered to inspect the town hall and see what could be done to strengthen same in order to make it safe.

Also to prepare maps showing the necessary changes required for making a 60 foot highway on West Center and Olcott streets.

Also to employ suitable engineers to run out and establish the town boundaries in accordance with the triangulations made last year. Meritones and markers are to be placed along the several boundaries.

The monthly report of town bills were ordered paid, as appears in detail in another column.

Charity Superintendent Busley was authorized to employ a woman to assist in the work at the town farm providing that Caretaker Snow can be induced to remain at his present post during the coming year.

It was voted to hold the next public meeting of the board Monday, April 10, beginning at two o'clock with the afternoon session and at eight with the evening session.

Selectmen Cowell and Bad were authorized to see what could be done as to selling or exchanging some of the horses owned by the town.

It was voted that the tax collector furnish a bond for $20,000 satisfactory to the board of selectmen.

A petition signed by 60 property owners along West Center and Olcott street asking the selectmen to establish a 60-foot highway along the street named was presented by E. L. G. Hohenthal and discussed by him in extenso. Mr. Hohenthal gave all necessary information to the board relative to the persons who signed the petition and their desires regarding the proposed roadway.

He suggested that where land was to be taken from property owners the line be so drawn as to equalize same in so far as practicable.

In replying to an interrogatory of Mr. Hohenthal as to newspaper reports regarding double tracking Chairman Cheney stated that no order for double tracking had been issued by the Connecticut Company. He said that the Connecticut Company had never stated they would not double track all the way through to South Manchester. They never said they would not center the tracks. The papers were in error in making these statements.

Mr. Hohenthal suggested that one name should be chosen for the three streets which lead into each other, namely, West Center, Olcott and Chapel road. This multiplicity of names leads to endless confusion in locating residents there and when the thoroughfares are widened they should have this name suggested made with the others. Mr. Hohenthal suggested that it be named Broadway.

The roadmaster of the Connecticut Company asked the board of selectmen if they would agree to defacing the new guard rails at the Center mill. The question of centering the tracks and double tracking is determined by The Connecticut Company. The request was granted with the proviso that the Town of Manchester would assume no risk in case of accident or injury because of this delay.

The matter of having the tax collector furnish a suitable bond from a regular bonding company rather than the customary bonds furnished by individuals' friends was discussed at length. Chairman Cheney and Selectmen Durt and Reid were strongly in favor of this course but Selectmen Alford, Weldon, Cowles and Kenney would not agree to the proposition. Messrs. Alford and Weldon were especially opposed and debated the question with persistence and vigor. They were met with equal persistence by the gentlemen on the other side of the question. No change was made for the present.

Home Again

Frank Abbey was brought from Hartford Hospital to his home on Charter Oak street Tuesday afternoon in an automobile. It was a lovely winter afternoon and Mr. Abbey withstood the transfer as well as could be expected. He has had a severe struggle for his life. The surgeons had to resort to the scalpel several times in order to release the poison which was endeavoring to take possession of his person to a very dangerous extent. With characteristic grit and perseverance Mr. Abbey fought the good fight and so far has been victorious. It is now believed that he will win the contest. His life long abominable habits stood him well in hand in this severe struggle for his life. At times relatives were greatly alarmed that victory might not swing in his favor. It appeared as if the scales were nearly equally divided and the odds seemed to be quite as much in favor of defeat for him as of victory. He is to be congratulated upon his success and his family are greatly relieved accordingly. It now looks as if he could "come back", as the current phrase goes. Home looks very pleasing to him at present. He feels more than ever the thrill which love of home brings to all.

He will be represented in the store by his brother, Robert, and will give the business his personal attention evenings. Miss Mary Martin will continue as clerk in the store, and Mr. L. J. In so far as the general public are concerned things at the store will go on practically the same as heretofore, with one exception. Judge Lindsey Here

Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the Juvenile Court, Denver, Colorado, delivered his lecture, "The Misfortunes of Micker," at High School Hall Wednesday evening, closing the series in The Popular Entertainment Course.

Judge Lindsey made a strong plea for the protection and uplift of the boy who is born into an environment which has strong natural tendencies to evil, which surrounds him with wicked associates and which tends to keep him in a degraded state as he advances through childhood, boyhood, manhood and frequently goes from bad to worse down to a dishonored grave.

Mr. Rogers of this place and Mrs. Ruth McCue of Hartford were married yesterday afternoon in Worcester, Mass. by Rev. Dr. Vincent Sullivan, pastor of the First Universalist church of that city. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage. Irving street and was witnessed by the girl college friends of the bride.

Mr. Rogers is the son of Alexander Paul Monmers, is the one theme foremost among music lovers hereabouts and is being looked forward to by those with unusual interest. When it is known that Moreno has studied abroad under the best vocal teachers of earth, that he has mastered no less than twenty operas, that he sings with equal fluency in English, French, German and Italian, that besides the operas he has a treasury filled with gems of song written by the best masters it will be readily seen that a treat is in store for all who have the good fortune to hear him. As a matter of courtesy to his friends, school mates and neighbors home temporarily with the bride's parents. Mr. Rogers will continue his duties here the same as formerly and will go back and forth daily. It is the intention of Mr. Rogers to take up his abode here permanently after a time.

Pay Taxes Now

Tax payers about town will do well to note the fact that the tax collector is holding daily sessions at the Hall of Records for the purpose of receiving their taxes, both town and personal and payable according to law.

Local tax payers are unusually burdened with taxes this year. First they have the increased valuation to contend with; second, they have a school tax in the Ninth School District, and third, they have a fire district tax to meet. It is true that direct school taxes in the Ninth District have heretofore been practically unknown.

All of these taxes in themselves are quite proper and no one finds any fault with them as such the only burdensome feature of the whole affair is that they are all called for practically within a short period of time.

Many Deficiency Appropriations. Not only that, but the house passed a resolution introduced by Judge Hutchins of New Haven providing that the appropriations committee should not arrange the presentation of these numerous deficiency appropriations when they come before the house that they will be printed, either in the Journal or elsewhere, item by item, so that the members may familiarize themselves with what they are for.

Dry Brook Must Go The South Manchester Sanitary & Sewer District are preparing to bring suit to East Side residents generally by removing the obnoxious dry brook nuisance which has so long made life on the East Side so intolerable and unsanitary.

Removal of this nuisance will be a long and costly job and its abolition will mark an important step in the progress of this community.

RALPH CONE

MANCHESTER'S OLDEST CITIZEN CLOSED EARTHLY CAREER YESTERDAY

Ripe in Years and Rich in Respect of His Fellow Man—Exemplary Character. Keenly Alert to Public Affairs to End—Happy Old Age

Ralph Cone of Manchester Green died at his home yesterday evening at six o'clock from the general infirmities of old age as he was in his ninety-third year and the oldest man in town.

The funeral will take place Monday afternoon at two o'clock with services at the residence, Rev. Dr. George W. Reynolds will officiate. Burial will be at the East Cemetery.

He was critically ill last fall and day after day the end was expected, but his remarkable vitality served him well and he rallied and was once more able to labor. Throughout life he had been a man of exemplary habits, had lived a most regular, orderly and methodical life and made the best possible use of his vital resources, which were indeed amply abundant.

Mr. Cone was a native of Manchester Green where he spent his entire life and where he came to be honored and respected of his fellowmen. He was born October 20, 1818 and was the son of Marvin and Mrs. Cone. In 1844 he married Miss Esther Wells Woodbridge, with whom he lived happily for 46 years, his beloved wife having passed over the bar nineteen years ago. One son was born to them, Arthur W. Cone of Manchester Green, who is now an ill for many years has been agent of the town of East Manchester and superintendent of the East Cemetery. Also one daughter, Mrs. Mary Cone Jooney, widow of the late B. F. T. Jenney of Manchester Green.

Mr. Cone represented the town of Manchester in the state legislature for two terms, namely in 1865 and again in 1866. At that time the state legislators were elected for one year only. Mr. Cone's father also represented the town of Manchester in the state legislature, his term being in 1844. Mr. Cone was an ardent republican and kept well informed on things political. He was present at the making of considerable of the history of the United States and was keenly interested in all things that made for the welfare of his native land, of the State of Connecticut and of the Town of Manchester. He was a keen observer, was naturally well informed and was an interesting conversationalist. He kept closely in touch with passing events, was a faithful and constant reader of the newspapers and was able to read with interest and comprehension any newspaper or magazine or any other publication notwithstanding his great length of years.

Of all the men serving in the state legislature with Mr. Cone in 1866 but one is living today, namely, William B. Bailey of Berlin. P. T. Barrows, the world distinguished showman was a member of that body.

Mr. Cone learned the business of carriage builder under the tuition of his father who founded the Cone carriage shop at Manchester Green. Mr. Cone worked at his trade all his life. The Cone carriages acquired an enviable reputation and were known many miles away from the humble workshop in the pretty village of Manchester Green. Mechanical skill, honesty, efficiency, careful attention to the most minute details and ever keeping up with the times and best there was known in the craft were the distinguishing features of Cone built carriages.

The Cone shop also built harness and the first harness made here was constructed by the Cones. Daniel Waterworth, who for forty years was town clerk, became a partner of Mr. Cone at the death of Mr. Cone's father and continued to hold his interest there until he died.

The first house owned by the town was operated by the late W. H. Cheney, then proprietor of Cheney's store. The house was under the ownership of the Cones. The Cones were the first undertakers to establish business here and the Cone shops made their home.

Watkins Brothers were the first undertakers to establish business here and the Cone shops made their home. The Cones were the first undertakers to establish business here and the Cone shops made their home.

Mr. Cone joined the Center Congregational church in 1833 and retained membership therein up to the date of his death.

He never became a member of any of the fraternal societies. He was distinctly a home loving, church loving and God loving man and measured his life serenity by these standards and by the strictest application of the golden rule.

Besides his son and daughter, as noted above, he is survived by three granddaughters: Mrs. Carrie Straw, wife of Arthur J. Straw of Lyndville, Miss Marion Cone and Miss Helen Cone. The funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Cone, 10 West Side, at 10 o'clock on Monday. The interment will be at the East Cemetery. also leaves one grandson, Ralph A. Cone of Manchester Green, and two great-grandchildren, Harry Straw and James McCaw, Jr.

St. Patrick's Day

The country of America is broad and free and great.

She takes unto her mighty heart the stranger at her gate;

I hadel here a ragged boy, without a single groat,

Without a friend, without a place, without a Sunday coat.

She fed me and she prospered me, she filled my pockets with gold,

She gave me a little home and money to the bank,

But once a year my soul goes back to places far away,

And wanders o'er the bogs and brooks upon St. Patrick's Day.

I smell again the smoky peat upon the cabin hearth,

I see the settle by the door—the dearest spot on earth.

I hear the music, glad and sweet, of New's silver voice,

Whirl up the wild and windy glees the peevish pipes rejoice.

And then the best and bravest lads that ever saw the sun

Come marching by at early morn, both fall of fight and fun,

With emerald feathers in their hats, and silken aches gay,

A blackthorn stick in every fist upon St. Patrick's Day.

Old Erin's flag in silence hangs upon a willow tree,

Her sorrows scattered far and wide o'er auld land and sea,

Her mischievous leprechauns are dead as last year's rose,

But close against her bosom still the little shamrock grows,

For while a bit of Irish sod is there its roots to lay,

The shamrock star of Ireland will flourish and be glad;

He'll wear a shamrock on his breast upon St. Patrick's Day.

Miss Irving.

His health is gradually losing its grasp upon life. Mr. Ryan is making a resolute struggle to regain the mastery however and if will power can overcome his present difficulty, namely cancer of the stomach, he is sure to come down the home stretch as a winner. He has plenty of Irish luck and is a determined fighter. Let us hope that he will make good.

Miss Mildred Anderson, daughter of Rev. W. F. and Mrs. Anderson of Church street has resumed her studies at Tufts college, Boston, Mass., after an interruption of three months. She has been recuperating here for the past five weeks.

Homekeepers about town are much interested in the free distribution of dinner sets being made at Robinson's Specialty Shop. Representative Johnson III is entering with an attack of acute indigestion and overwork serves as his excuse for his absence. He was in Hartford Wednesday, where Representative D. Knight of Lakeville administered temporary relief. Mr. Johnson was later brought to his home in an automobile and Dr. W. W. Wilson to his aid. Word received from him this morning brings the information that he is very much relieved and hopes to be himself soon.

Mr. Johnson has been working very hard in behalf of the trolley fare bill for Manchester and is further burdened with heavy duties on legislative committee of which he is a member. Whenever Mr. Johnson has any work of this sort cut out for him he goes to it with all the energy he possesses and does not spare himself in any way. He is a highly energetic and untiring man and is rather impulsive and matters such as are confronting him in the present legislature bear heavily upon him. He is a very serious worker but his heart is very warm and he gives the very best that is in him to the tasks assigned to him.

Word was received here last evening that several of the cottages at Lake Wangumtang were broken into last week and articles of value taken. Most of the cottages are in the hands of the navy, owned by William people were entered. It is not the fact that the Manchester cottages, which are at the north end of the lake, were entered, but several of the cottages are being used to go to the lake tomorrow to make an investigation. The William owners have reported their loss to the state police.

Andrew and Mrs. Swanson of Arch street are rejoicing at the arrival of a new born son in their household.

A BUSINESS MAN

Who has "Too many irons in the Fire" cannot do justice to all of them. We devote all of our time and experience to the shoe business and consequently are better prepared to serve shoe buyers than those who divide their attention between several departments.

The spring lines of shoes, thousands of dollars worth of which are already on our shelves, are unsurpassed even in the largest city stores. They are the acme of nobly appearance, comfort and durability and the prices are right. Comparatively low expenses enable us to undertake the city prices.

In addition to soliciting consideration before you make your spring purchases we wish to thank the public of Manchester for its generous patronage during the past winter as the increase in our sales in rubber goods alone aggregated many hundreds of dollars, which was undeniably due to the low prices at which we have been selling rubber goods.
