Letters From the People

THAT TROLLEY FARE QUESTION

Owing to the fact that through illness Representative Aaron Johnson of Manchester was not able to be present at the recent meeting before the Railroad Committee on the Manchester Ten Cent Trolley Fare proposition a report of which appeared in our columns last week, including Auditor Campbell's statement for the Connecticut Company, is submitted the following letter setting forth his views on the figures presented by the Connecticut Company before the Railroad Committee on that occasion.

Editor South Manchester News: I have become the figures presented to the Railroad Committee by the Connecticut Company. I note Mr. Campbell states there is no way to show the earnings or expenses of the line in question as there are no separate accounts kept. Also that he has prepared a careful estimate of earnings, etc. based on statistical records of the Company, and stated before the Committee that these figures were correct.

I am not at all surprised at these figures but am more than surprised that the Connecticut Company would present such a set of figures before the Railroad Committee and the people of Manchester and expect them to believe them.

First, Mr. Campbell states it cost to reproduce this line, including the power station, cars, etc., $1,198,620.00 and claims in his figures that this amount must be taken care of by the starting power of the road when in fact he knows that the hole line and out fit, including the power station cost less than the authorized capital stock of the Company which is $500,000.00 granted by the legislature in 1888.

Why should the people of Manchester be called upon to pay for such figures as he presents? What has been done to increase these figures from the actual cost of the construction of the road except placing a few switches and using larger cars? These have been offset by the reduction in car service which was done, first when the road was bought. Soon after the town had granted the company the right to lay extra switches the car service was again reduced and the expenses of the company decreased.

Second, Mr. Campbell states that the gross earnings of the road are $188,326.40 for 3,928,475 fare passengers. Where did he get these figures? He states in his opening argument that there are no books to show the earnings of the road. Why did he make this statement? Is he not familiar with the fact that right here in South Manchester is an office building kept by The Connecticut Company for the purpose of keeping account of the Company's line and business here?

Why did he not take the fare passengers carried from the trolley sheets in that office? He would without the slightest doubt have found that over 5,000,000 fare passengers were carried during the twelve months ending Dec. 31, 1910. Where are the receipts for the earnings of the electric power plant here? Not a dollar is mentioned about this in his report. Electric power is expensive in Manchester, for in some quarters has increased over 200 per cent in the last ten years.

If Mr. Campbell had taken the figures of the electricity produced during the twelve months in the S. Manchester trolley power station he would find a small little sum to add to the gross earnings of the road.

Where are the receipts from chartered cars? Not a dollar mentioned. Where are the receipts for the transportation of the U. S. mails? Nothing said about that. What about the trolley express? Where are the figures for that; or for advertising in the trolley cars; or for rent of land and buildings; or for park receipts; or for rent of equipment, etc?

Not one dollar of receipts for all these extra earnings was presented to the committee. Is it possible that Mr. Campbell overlooked all these important items? Or, was it done in order to conceal actual facts?

We are not satisfied with such statements as Mr. Campbell makes. The people of Manchester are entitled to the truth and there should be a way found in which to get it. We must have it. A master has the right to call his servant to account for his deeds and acts; so have the people the right to call their public servants to account. My experience with The Connecticut Company on this trolley fare regulation has been very interesting and I have often wondered why these public servants oppose their masters, the people. It is possible that these public servants think they are the masters and that the people are their servants? If that is so, things must be changed and it is up to the legislature to do it. It is the duty of the legislature which charters these public service corporations to protect the people.

Sincerely yours,
Aaron Johnson,
South Manchester, Conn., April 6, 1911.

REPLY TO MR. TOWNLEY ON TROLLEY MATTERS

Editor of the South Manchester News: I wish through your esteemed columns to make reply to the letter appearing in Tuesday's Manchester News aid by Calvert Townley, vice-president of The Connecticut Company.

Mr. Townley advised that he wishes to extend the double track line between Manchester and Hartford would be possible when necessary. Strange, very strange, that this schedule was not thought necessary before. Not that it was not needed before but such remarks just prove that it is only when the people make demands that they get anything.

Mr. Townley further counsels, "We regard this insistent demand from the people of Manchester for a ten-cent fare for a ten-mile interurban ride with transfer privilege, as having no foundation in justice or equity, being absolutely unfair." To the people of Manchester I wish to say that any demand you make of a large, influential and important corporation, like The Connecticut Company, is unjust and unfair. It is also deplorable, and calculations to think that the Company's present investment should be made unprofitable if the ten-cent fare should go into force. If such were the case would The Connecticut Company continue to manage this road or would they offer it for sale? Individuals try to sell an unprofitable business but these large corporations are not different. I suppose they would still finance the line through a philanthropic and benevolent feeling for Manchester.

Our dictator declares that we are not to expect to get a fifteen-cent ride for ten cents and promise ten-cent and not fifteen-cent service if a reduction is offered. Does the gentleman request us to believe that we are getting fifteen-cent service at present? Often we have to stand up all the way from Hartford to Manchester. Every day all cars leaving Hartford in an hour, 5:30 to 7 o'clock p. m. are crowded to the doors, yet, and to the fore-noon. Is that fifteen-cent service?

We do not ask Mr. Townley to keep up the present character of the service, we want better service, and we would be paying for better service every time we paid a ten-cent trolley fare from Manchester to Hartford. I will also say that the people may always expect a policy of maximum retrenchment whenever we get the reduction we want. Furthermore, I will ask Mr. Townley: Is it not possible for a passenger who boards a car at Burnside switch to ride further, much further,—miles further for five cents west than it is for the passenger who gets the car at the terminus here to ride west for a ten-cent fare? Why this disparity? Why are not the same privileges extended to Manchester patrons that are now enjoyed by the residents of East Hartford.

One of the people,
Edmund A. Rogers,
South Manchester, Conn., April 6, 1911.

To The People of South Manchester.

Dear Friends: The semi-annual payment of The Salvation Army Citadel second mortgage will soon be due, the interest and principal to be paid at this time amounting to $680. The local good-will and the generous support and friends, have succeeded in paying all the second mortgage but $1,500, the amount due being only $1000 after this next payment has been made.

How is the good work being going on at the time and the corps never in its history was in a more prosperous condition than at present, especially among the young people of the town.

Will you who can, lighten our financial burden by giving a dollar or more donation to our building fund? Friends, you for all past assistance and in anticipation of a favorable reply.

I remain yours truly,
David Main, Adjutant.
April 4, 1911.

Post Office Sub Stations

Postmaster W. B. Cheney requests The News to direct public attention to the fact that unless persons residing in the vicinity of the two post office sub-stations in South Manchester, namely that on Pine street and that on West Center street give more patronage to these offices than they have been doing recently there is imminent danger that the post office department at Washington may discontinue the service here altogether. Interested persons should rise to the situation and bring in the necessary patronage to these sub-stations. They are a great public accommodation and should be retained. It should be borne in mind that these sub-stations can do any kind of business transacted at the South Manchester post office save the issuing of international money orders. Domestic money orders, cash money orders, registered letters, etc. can be issued by these sub-stations fully as well as at the main office and they are absolutely as safe. Postage stamps, postal cards, etc. can be had at these sub-stations also.

The United States government stands back of and protects all business done at any of its postoffice whether sub-stations or offices of larger degree. There is no difference whatever in the security at any of the postoffices in America.

There will be a men's meeting at Van the Hater's, 100 Asylum street, East Hartford, Saturday, April 15, to discuss on the grips and come here to respondents.

Frank Sullivan of New York City spent last week with his mother, Mrs. James Sullivan of Pine street and returned to the Metropolitan last Saturday. He had been suffering with the grips and came here to respondents.

Resolutions

Adopted By Division No. 1 A. O. H. At a special meeting of Division No. 1, A. O. H., held at South Manchester the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS: It has pleased Almighty God, the Supreme Ruler of the universe, to remove from our midst our late beloved brother,

MARTIN McNAMARA

WHEREAS: By his death his brother Joseph, the only surviving member of the family, is greatly distressed and this division has lost a loyal member.

RESOLVED: That we sincerely mourn the loss of our late brother whose manly character, sunny disposition, devotion and strict adherence to the principles of our Noble Order endeared him to his brother members.

RESOLVED: That the members of this Division tender to the sorrowing brother their heartfelt sympathy and condolence in this his hour of affliction.

RESOLVED: That with respect to our deceased brother our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, that these resolutions be entered upon the records of the Division and published in The South Manchester News and a copy presented to the brother of the deceased.

Last Call

It will be well for taxpayers to take notice of the fact that tomorrow will be the last day on which the tax collector will hold sessions for the purpose of receiving town taxes. The session will close at 4 p. m. Persons failing to pay their town taxes within the time indicated above are liable to an addition of nine per cent, being made to their lists. This is considerably more interest than one can secure from the banks and it is well worth saving by the timely payment of the town tax.

Will Close Mill

Cheney Brothers are preparing to close the mill which they have been operating in Middletown for the past year. It is probable that the closing will be effected this week. It will be recalled that they rented the mill and the machinery to help tide them over the busy season, and now that they are catching up with their orders they find that the local mills will take care of their output for the present. Some of the employees will return to this place and work in the local mills.

Notice

Owing to the fact that the stores are to be closed today at one o'clock in the afternoon our distribution of a free dinner set cannot take place. It will be given away tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock instead. The fact that today is Good Friday and a legal holiday interfered with our regular date of giving away the dinner set. Hereafter the event will take place on Friday afternoons as heretofore.

Good Work Going On

The officers of the local Tuberculosis Association learn with pleasure that approximately $1000. is to be realized by collections among members of the association for the purpose of carrying on the good work. This sum will be doubled by donation of dollar for dollar by Cheney Brothers, thus perpetuating the beneficent work of the association and insuring all and comfort to the distressed within the membership of the local body.

Coming Back

Frank Gorman, who has been in Dillon, Montana, for the past few years is on his way home and expects to spend Easter Sunday with his parents, J. and F. and Mrs. Gorman of Brainard place. Some reasons why you should order monuments at once: You can buy cheaper and get better work. You will keep workmen busy during the usually quiet season, being better for all lines of business to have money in circulation, as well as for the workers.

You will not be disappointed, as will those who order late for MEMORIAL DAY.

For on that day your friends will have the pleasure of seeing your work completed in the most pleasing manner and you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have the very best that can be produced and at the lowest price possible, and that you have not paid out one cent until work is completed.

INVESTIGATIONS STARTED DAILY

Connecticut Senate Progressive, but House Delays.

NO NEW HAVEN JUDGE YET.

Senator Dickerman Still Fighting For Judge Matthews. Though Conference Committee Cannot Agree—Senator Spellaey Would Impach Judge Clark of Hartford—Fire Insurance Investigation and Department Store Probe Still Up Assembly.

Hartford, Conn., April 13.—It had been expected that the New Haven city court judgeship, which has become an all absorbing object of interest since it became so clearly established that it was a matter of politics, would be settled today, but it wasn't. Senator Dickerman, the senate conferee, who last week asked to have it made the order of the day for 12 o'clock in the senate, secured a fifteen minute postponement today and will still confer with Messrs. Banks and Huxford, the house conferees. They, despite the fact that they concluded the conference with the statement that there was no hope of an agreement, he went back to the senate and asked further postponement to next Tuesday in the hope of reaching an agreement. This was finally granted and the matter made the order of the day for next week from today.

It had been rumored about that the Webb forces in the senate had gained a vote of 20, and when the matter came up today the senate would recede and concur with the house, and the space which may be occupied by spectators was crowded at 12:15, the house having adjourned. Senator Dickerman's request for a postponement was followed by several other conferees, meaning on the political phase of the situation by Senator Mitchell of New Britain, and then Senator Paddock of Bridgeport suggested that the conference committee had agreed to report today, and he believed it should be reported to the senate.

New Haven Judgeship Again Put Over. There was much legislative business in the senate today, and at length Senator Mahan stated that he had been at the final conference of the conference committee and had the house conferees tell Senator Dickerman that in his opinion there was no hope of an agreement or compromise. He moved that the report that the conference committee was unable to agree, which in substance had obtained from Senator Dickerman, be accepted and the committee discharged. Neither this motion nor that of Senator Mitchell of New Haven that the senate concur with the house in appointing Howard Webb in place of Judge Matthews was recognized by the lieutenant governor because Senator Dickerman's motion that the entire matter be postponed to next Tuesday was held to be before the senate. When this motion was put it was carried as a matter of course.

The fire insurance investigation resolution came into the house this morning, but there was nothing done regarding it to take it for the calendar in the regular routine. It will be up for discussion on Thursday. The senate passed a measure creating a permanent office of examiner of public records to be appointed by the state librarian, and the house finally adjourned after the bill making it a misdemeanor to convert a receipt for malt liquors to any other purpose after the conference committee had fixed up a nice bill, and the senate had agreed to it.

Big Day in Both Houses. Last week Wednesday was a big day in both houses. In the senate a bomb exploded when the unfortunate report of the joint committee on insurance rates in this state came up for consideration. There accompanied it a minority report favorable to the adoption of the resolution which would provide for an investigation by a special commission composed of two senators and nine representatives, the same size as the joint standing committee. This was signed by Representative Thomas of Waterbury, a Democrat, but the senate paid little attention to the politics of it, and when the smoke had cleared away it had passed the resolution.

Senator Lawlor of Waterbury, also a Democrat, was the father of the resolution, but the investigation is said to have originated with business men in Waterbury and elsewhere and the resolution to have been drawn by a Republican ex-representative from that city. The moment the matter was reached on the calendar the senate was a busy place. The Hartford senators, Plave, Hixon and Spellaey, and Senator Penn of Waterbury, who is senate chairman of the committee on insurance, did their best to oppose an investigation, but were pretty much alone in that.

Fire Insurance Investigation. Evidently most of the senators without regard to political affiliation have been hit in fire insurance, and they felt that this was a good time to set to work at the rates and methods of the companies, many of which are located in Hartford. Senator Mahan, the Democratic leader, was especially vehement in his assertion that it was impossible for a man who was insured against fire to receive the face value for his policy in case of loss, while Senator Woodruff, Republican president pro tem, supported his position in equally strenuous remarks.

Appeals to the sentiment of pride in the Hartford companies and statements that the state could not regulate fire insurance rates and that any man who felt that he had received improper treatment could appeal to the state insurance commissioner and receive redress were equally of no avail in stemming the tide of criticism, and when the vote was finally taken by Yess and only six senators voted in favor of sustaining the majority report, the four from Hartford and vicinity and Senators Wright and Hammond, both Republicans, they it was. Those who voted nay on the majority report were as follows: Senators Alsop, Halloran, Marlowe, Mitchell, Shattuck, Woodruff, Lator, Loundsbury, Mahan, Avery, Park, Bartlett, McNeil, Jr., Paddock, Park, Donovan, Elliott, Meera, Birkmire and Leonard. About or not voting, Senators Halley, Dickerman, Parker, Platt, Judson, Foster, Barium and Fidelity.

Must Not Destroy Beer Barrels. The majority report in favor of the investigation was at once taken up and adopted, but not so to the house. The report was not so to the house. The report was not so to the house. The report was not so to the house.

Department Store Probe Again. While the senate was considering the fire insurance companies the house had its hands full with the investigation of industrial conditions among the department stores and other mercantile establishments, a vote on one phase of which had adjourned the house for lack of a quorum the day before. This should have been taken up the first thing upon the opening of the house, but there was not a quorum present at that moment, and Majority Leader Banks tabled it for a few minutes. The previous question on industrial conditions of the Whilton amendment to the investigation resolution, which originally called for an investigation by one senator and four representatives and would be amended by this so as to strike out the word "manufacturing" and be made applicable to all mercantile establishments and all departments of them, was up when the house was adjourned and this was ordered.

The question was then on the indefinite postponement, and Mayor Dunn of Williamstown moved that the vote be taken by yeas and nays. More than one-fifth of the house arose on this, since the Democrats solidly supported their fellow member, and the yeas and nays were ordered. Indefinite postponement was lost by a vote of 140 to 72. The Whilton amendment was then adopted.

Labor Committee Too Busy. Leader Banks now came to the front with another amendment which would constitute the committee on labor the investigating commission, but Chairman Chandler of that committee begged off for it and showed the house that the committee was so busy that it wouldn't be possible for it to take on any more work. Finally, after some recriminations about the purpose behind these amendments, Mr. Hall of Willington, who had been working hard against the investigation from the beginning, moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on labor to decide as to the necessity of an investigation and agree to support the investigation if that committee should report in favor of it.

It's Your Kidneys

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles—A So. Manchester Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. So, Manchester people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. Robert Curran, 60 Spruce street, South Manchester, Conn., says: "For a long time I felt tired and nervous and I was unable to perform my duties. Being convinced that these difficulties indicated diseased kidneys, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. These gave me prompt and permanent relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster & Allen Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. (Remember the name—Doan's—and take it.)

Dies From Burns

While playing about a bonfire last Friday afternoon, Irene, the four-year old daughter of John and Mrs. Crawford of Oak street fell into the flames and her clothing ignited. Her mother and neighbors rushed to her rescue and her clothes were torn from her body, but not before she had been painfully burned. Dr. Weldon was called and did all in his power for the little one, but despite his efforts she died Saturday afternoon. Her funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, Rev. M. B. Bennett officiating and interment was in the East cemetery. Her father and mother she is survived by several brothers and sisters.

FEDERAL BUILDING

MASONIC SITE FOR SAME FORMALLY ACCEPTED BY U. S. GOVERNMENT

Much Opposition to This Section Likely to Emerge. Manufacturing and Business Interests in South Manchester Will Line Up Against Same.

The Post Office Department at Washington have this week notified F. A. Verplanck chairman of the Board of Trustees of Manchester and Lodge No. 73, A. F. and A. M. that they have accepted the offer of the masonic lodge here for a site for a federal building to be erected at the Center, the U. S. government will take place in time to meet the government's requirements.

The proposed site is located at the southwest corner of the masonic property fronting 140 feet on Main street and 150 feet on East Center street. The line will pass through the present masonic building which will have to be removed before the transfer of the site is made; or else give the U. S. government a satisfactory bond that such removal will take place in time to meet the government's requirements.

It is altogether within the probabilities that the masonic body will erect a new building that will be in harmony with the proposed surroundings.

They have reserved a building lot fronting 60 feet on East Center street and directly east of the proposed site for the federal building. They also will have two large building lots fronting on Main street directly north of the proposed federal building.

The acceptance by the United States government of a site for a federal building brings up the entire question with renewed energy and there are a number of conflicting interests disturbed hereon accordingly.

The manufacturing and business interests in South Manchester are strongly opposed to having a federal building erected at the Center and there is every reason to believe that vigorous measures will be instituted to prevent it if possible.

A site somewhere on Main street between Birch street on the north and Eldridge street on the south would satisfy the manufacturing and business interests here and there is every likelihood that pressure will be exerted to bring about this change.

The matter is quite likely to come in for much publicity. It is already the one great topic of discussion hereabouts.

A valuable delivery horse owned by E. E. Scammon of the Spruce street hardware and coffee dealers died last Saturday.

PRIZE WALTZ

At Cheney Hall Next Week By Military Band

The annual prize waltz to be given by The Military Band of Manchester will take place next week Thursday evening, April 27 at Cheney Hall. The entire band will furnish music, which will be continuous and Prof. C. Foley will prompt.

A prize of Ten Dollars in gold will be given to the best lady and gentleman waltzers. Three impartial out-of-town judges will determine to whom the money is to be awarded. The contest is open and all who choose may enter. During the next few days doubtless many of our young people will be qualifying for the contest. There are many young people in town who have been taught the art of waltzing by dancing masters and this will give all such an opportunity to put their qualifications to an impartial and practical test. Leader Arvid Weiman of The Military Band of Manchester has prepared the following choice musical program which will be played at the concert and dances for the prize waltz next Thursday.

SCHOOL TAX

J. Watson Goslee has been awarded the contract to collect the two-mill tax for the Ninth School District Incorporated. He and Alvin W. Greene were the only bidders and Mr. Goslee being the lower will gather in the gold. This task was originally assigned to the late F. W. Mills, who had been the collector for the district since it was incorporated, some fifteen years ago, but who was never called upon to collect a single dollar of taxes in the district. This is the first school tax to be laid by the Ninth School District Incorporated and is brought about because of the construction of the new school building at the Center. That will be the first school building for the Ninth School District Incorporated to own. The other school buildings in the district belong to Cheney Brothers. The entire amount to be collected by the district is to be taken in two collections, the shadow of the first division of which is now moving over and upon us, as noted above.

The other collection may be taken next year or the year following, as the school board determine.
