The German Lutheran Concordia parsonage is completed and the pastor, Rev. Otto Rappolt has moved into the new structure. It is located directly west of the church at the junction of Winter and Garden streets. The members of the church have greatly improved their property. When they purchased the land a few years ago it was far from being the attractive site which it now is. There was a deep depression there and the expenditure of money had since made it. There was much filling required to bring it up to grade and there was also covered with trees and was not in the least desirable. It was simply cheap. At present it has been enhanced in value and now ranks favorably with the property in its immediate vicinity. Contractor Gustav Scriber built the parsonage.

Some Comparisons

A pin must be pushed to make it go, so must man. A pin needs polish to do its work smoothly, so does man. When one pin is six to ten long in one direction it is known as a straight pin. A man with a big head is not much good, neither is a man with a big head and a long neck. Finally, there are some pins going too far, so do the needs of some men. Under pressure a straight pin will often become crooked. The same is true of men. Most pins have considerable brass in their composition, so do most men. Finally, there are some pins that are bent. The same is true of men. The South Manchester Railroad Company has received a new locomotive which is known as No. 4. It is a product of the Baldwin Works in Philadelphia. It is somewhat heavier than Engine No. 8 and will be used in handling freights on the local line.

Globe Hollow Reservoir To Be United With Folly Brook—Sixteen Inch Water Mains Being Laid—Pumping Station

The South Manchester Water Company started a gang of men at work Wednesday morning on Pine street at Cheney hall making excavations for the laying of water main to Folly Brook. This is carrying out the plans which they have made for increasing the water supply at Globe Hollow. It is the purpose of the South Manchester Water Company to lay 16-inch water mains from the Folly Brook pond in the West part of the town over to Globe Hollow. A pumping station will be installed at the Folly Brook pond and a pump installed having a capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute. This pump will be operated by a sixty-five horse power motor or engine. The 16 inch water main will have a capacity of 1500 gallons of water a minute. There is a rise of 140 feet from the Folly Brook pond to the Globe Hollow reservoir. It will therefore be seen that considerable friction must be overcome in forcing water from the Folly Brook pond to the Globe Hollow reservoir. It is an uphill drive of the water through the mains. The water that is available from Folly Brook is practically equivalent to that existing at the present time into the Globe Hollow reservoir. It is not believed that the proposed new pumping station will have to operate so continuously. It is intended however to have it ready for use at all times should such a condition be required. This accession to our water supply will be a very valuable one and will serve to meet the requirements of South Manchester for a considerable period of time.

The developing of real estate that is in progress in this community. The erection of buildings here as well as private sales of same, the constant erection of many residences and tenements result in a constantly growing population. The South Manchester Water Company is accordingly invited to parallel with the public. It is very desirable that the flowers be sent to Cheney Hall, or to Balch & Brown's store, Manchester, in the forenoon and that as far as possible, they be arranged in bouquets, wreaths, crosses, etc.

All ex-soldiers of Manchester and vicinity, not members of the G. A. R. are cordially invited to parade with the Grand Army of the Republic, on May 30th, 1911. Citizens in carriages are requested to form and keep in line in the rear of the procession, as the right of way through the streets, leading from the hall to the monument, has been given the Grand Army by the Town Authorities.

All comrades from North Manchester will meet at the Railroad Station at 1:15 and will be carried to South Manchester by automobile.

G. A. R. Committee: Maranthon H. Keeney, Henry W. Barrows, Lucius Panney.

Citizens Committee: Charles I. Balch, Arthur Cook, Frank D. Cheney, Louis St. Clair, Charles Arthur Loomis and Harry E. Olcott.

Flower Committee: Miss Mary Cheney.

Organist: Miss Carrie Lull.

At close of services the procession will disband at Monument Grounds.

demand for running water in this community. It therefore behooves the South Manchester Water Company to keep pace with these improvements to extend their water mains as called for and to provide at all times a sufficient volume of water to meet all demands. Another feature of this source of water supply in the West part of the town is that it is practically free from contamination as there are at present very few residences on the water shed there and are not likely to be permitted in the future. It is therefore apparent that the source of water supply at Folly Brook is pure and clean and wholesome and as a result all the more greatly prized.

THE ELUSIVE FLY. Any one who has tried with outstretched hand to catch a fly cannot fail to have noticed its wonderful alertness in escaping. "One reason for this," explains a naturalist, "is the fact that the fly was watching the movements of its would be captor out of all or most of its 8,000 eyes. Another reason for its rapid retreat is that, instead of seeing one hand coming toward it, the fly could have seen at least 7,000 hands all looking alike and all moving down upon it in the same direction. A third reason of the fly's altness is its ability to vibrate its wings nearly 700 times in a second and to travel through the air at a rate of a mile in two and a half minutes or twenty-four miles an hour."

More deaths from snake bites occur in India in houses than in the fields or in the jungle.

Antiquity of the Bee. The bee has been man's companion and friend from the very dawn of historic time. As far back as we can go we find the busy bee working for man's delight. The oldest writings of the Hebrews, Greeks and Romans are full of references to honey and its interesting makers. The "honey of Hymettus" was noted for its delightful flavor and from the bees that made it the most illustrious of the Greek writers and orators took some of their most telling simile and illustrations.—New York American.

THE ELUSIVE FLY. Any one who has tried with outstretched hand to catch a fly cannot fail to have noticed its wonderful alertness in escaping. "One reason for this," explains a naturalist, "is the fact that the fly was watching the movements of its would be captor out of all or most of its 8,000 eyes. Another reason for its rapid retreat is that, instead of seeing one hand coming toward it, the fly could have seen at least 7,000 hands all looking alike and all moving down upon it in the same direction. A third reason of the fly's altness is its ability to vibrate its wings nearly 700 times in a second and to travel through the air at a rate of a mile in two and a half minutes or twenty-four miles an hour."

More deaths from snake bites occur in India in houses than in the fields or in the jungle.

Antiquity of the Bee. The bee has been man's companion and friend from the very dawn of historic time. As far back as we can go we find the busy bee working for man's delight. The oldest writings of the Hebrews, Greeks and Romans are full of references to honey and its interesting makers. The "honey of Hymettus" was noted for its delightful flavor and from the bees that made it the most illustrious of the Greek writers and orators took some of their most telling simile and illustrations.—New York American.
