3-Burner New Perfection Oil Stoves 7.75

There has been the thought on the part of some that these stoves we are selling so cheaply were seconds or of inferior quality.

Now as a matter of fact there is no such thing as a second The Standard Oil Company is not putting out an imperfect oil stove.

They are making an oil stove in order to increase the demand for their oil and it is their one idea to make it just as perfect, just as cheap as possible.

The more satisfactory the stove, the lower the price, the more people will use them and consequently the more oil will be required by the general public.

In pursuance of this idea of making a place for more oil, the Standard Oil Company said to us—"You buy a certain number of stoves of us and we will let you have them at a price that will allow you to sell them cheap."

You see the idea—the Standard Oil Company sell us a good many more than they otherwise would; we double our output; you reap the benefit in a greatly reduced selling price.

The only thing about it is you will have to take the stoves in the crates.

Perhaps you think it would be a small matter for us to set them up and it actually does not take but a few minutes to put together one stove but when it comes to six or eight in a day the time required runs into hours.

If you find anything the matter with the stove on opening the crate or if for any reason it is not entirely satisfactory you can bring it back and we will give you a new stove or your money as you wish.

There is no good reason why anyone should stand over a hot coal range this summer. Any family can own a reliable oil stove at these prices.

Installments purchased will be welcomed at our former cash prices and on our usual terms.

All kinds of ovens $1 75 $2 00 $2 25 $2 50 $2 75 Cabinets for the two-burner $4 00 extra. Cabinets for the three-burner $4 50 extra.

UTILITIES DEBATE AGAIN PUT OFF

This Vital Matter Before Senate Next Tuesday.

LEGISLATURE WORKS SLOWLY

Final Adjournment Very Far Off—Senate Votes For Woman Suffrage and Passes Auto Bill Minus Speed Limit Governor's Airship Bill Becomes Law

USE TODAY.

Today is the time to pursue fortune. It is the time to make use of the chances which our grasp those we should seize. Tomorrow is never here, and putting off the good we may have for a question of time is not the best wisdom. Therefore use today. Do the kindness before you, the duty nearest you, and tomorrow will take care of itself.

Unexpected Helps

The recent work of the Board of Assessors in placing a valuation upon the taxable properties in this town with considerable opposition in many quarters at the time the figures were revealed to the property owners. Many persons felt that injustice had been done them in that the values had been placed too high upon their real estate. This was particularly noticeable in lands held for speculative purposes. It was the opinion of the property owners that lands thus held and not actually bringing in any direct or immediate return should be assessed at a much lower value than that upon which buildings had been erected and from which rentals and other revenues were being received. It was not brought to light at that time that the work of the assessors would redound to the benefit of such land owners as recent events have demonstrated that they did.

It has come to pass that persons owning building lots which they had been holding for speculative purposes have in many instances been financially benefited by the work of the assessors in placing values upon their land holding. Numbers of men holding building lots which the assessors place in the lists at a tax value of $1000 or more were much aggrieved at the time but later they are coming around to a very well pleased with the action of the Board of Assessors. This is due to the fact that land owners have been better enabled to get adjoining property for their building lots and the matter of making sales at the new figures has been made much more ready and easy because of the work of the assessors.

When a man seeks to buy a building lot and the holder asks him $1000 or upwards for it and the intending purchaser finds fault or rebels at the price asked, the owner pleases him by informing him that the Board of Assessors placed a valuation of $1000 upon the property and that at the present time it is being taxed at that extent. This is a very convincing argument and in many instances has facilitated the selling of building lots much to the benefit of the property owner.

Some of the harsh things that were said against the Board of Assessors at that time are now being offset by complimentary remarks and kinder feelings among persons who have been enabled because of the work of the assessors to secure greatly enhanced prices for their building lots.

Lower Water Rates

(Press, Bristol)
President C. T. Treadway of the Bristol Water Co. has notified the selectmen that a new schedule has been made for the Bristol water which is considerably lower than that in force for a long time. Hereafter the rate will be $15 per year for two way drains and $18 for three way show. There are about 130 of the former and only a half dozen of the latter. The reduction amounts to $2.13 per cent.

In addition the usual consumer's discount of ten per cent. is allowed. The annual saving to the town will be in the neighborhood of seven hundred dollars. This reduction, following that made to the borough for water for street sprinkling uses and the establishment of the general ten per cent. discount for prompt payment, has made a highly favorable impression and is very much appreciated.

The Girls Friendly Society of St. Mary's Parish is to have a box picnic at Island Park for the members of the Society on Thursday, June 2nd. The girls are requested to take the car leaving the South Manchester terminus at 8.37. Each girl is to bring her own supper and proceed to the Island Park at 9.30.

period by the railroad committee permitting a railroad to take land and give a bond for the damages and settle afterward. This was rejected in the house, and Senator Marden, chairman of the committee, explained that he had no hope that the lower branch would ever after that action.

Cattle Inspection Law. Another measure provides that all cattle which are shipped into Connecticut must either be accompanied by a certificate from the state authorities in the state from which they are brought that they are free from tuberculosis or otherwise healthy or be accompanied by the Connecticut commissioner on domestic animals and inspected under his direction, which includes testing with tuberculin. The senate amended the bill as reported by Senator Alsop's agricultural committee so that the expense of maintaining cattle in quarantine should not fall on the state for an indefinite period and passed it, but from the rather exciting hearing which this measure has passed through in committee it seems likely to be the subject of considerable debate in the house.

The house spent quite some of its time Wednesday on the judgment of the town court of Enfield, which has been made a matter of far more importance than it had any right to be. Judge Morrison, who is the editor of the daily Official Bulletin of the legislature, is opposed by both the representatives from Enfield, Mr. Alcorn and Mr. Simpson, who favor Charles J. Fowler of that town for the place. The senate has twice passed the resolution naming Judge Morrison for re-appointment, but Mr. Huntington of Windsor signed a minority report from the judiciary committee naming Mr. Fowler, and the two Enfield men supported this. The House made a sensational attack on the judge. The vote was 101 to 55 in Judge Morrison's favor.

Public Utilities Main Issue. Though the public utilities matter has become the main topic of legislative activity since the judiciary committee's two reports of last Tuesday, there are several other big matters which will be reviewed and not all of the important matters have been heard in committee as yet. The Judiciary committee has reported a bill which is favorable to removing all limit on the damages recoverable for accidental death, now limited to $5000, but the probable attitude of the small town representatives, who have heretofore resisted all efforts to remove this limit because they feared a highway accident which would kill some men of wealth and large earning capacity whose heirs might recover a sum sufficient to bankrupt the town, has deterred the committee.

Meanwhile its members have sought some check on the amount recoverable for death in a family, but which would protect these towns. No method of accomplishing this end has been found thus far, and the report hangs in the air. The House has reported a bill which would increase the powers and duties of the secretary of state in some ways, gives him a chance to call on the state police for the formation of a corps of motorcycle policemen to enforce the speed laws, upon the state to the use of any nonresident motorist who has been equipped with the latest of his own state—though he becomes a resident of Connecticut after a month's residence or maintenance of a place of business in the state—and makes other minor changes in the law.

As reported by the committee on roads, bridges and rivers, it contained a provision that no automobile shall drive the roads of this state at a speed greater than thirty-five miles an hour at any time, though leaving in the law the present sections which require the driver to make up a certificate of fitness, driving the criterion and twenty-five miles an hour for an eighth of a mile prima facie evidence of reckless driving. It also contains a provision that the rate for registration with the secretary of state should be 20 cents a horsepower up to thirty horsepower, and 25 cents for every horsepower above that point. The house amended the bill by striking out the speed limit and reduced the rate for registration to 10 cents a horsepower, and the senate accepted both amendments against its will because it was feared that if the bill went back to the house it would not pass again in any form.

Drug Clerk Law Rejected. Mentioning the house was working itself into a fever over a measure which would forbid the employment of drug clerks over a certain number in any one week. This measure was the subject of some protracted hearings before the committee and even upon the floor, but there are few who agree with this. The minority report includes three bills—a commission bill creating a commission with the railroad, the railroad commission and the board of public utilities to have charge of other utilities than railroads and trolleys, a bill increasing the powers of the railroad commission and a bill to provide for the regulation and control of the water of the water of the state. There are many who feel sure that this is the way to pass the senate, though possibly with some changes in one or another of them.

Woman Suffrage Passes. Last week Wednesday was a busy day. The senate made history by passing the woman suffrage bill giving the women the franchise in municipal elections, thus delighting galleries filled with women for the most part not the young nor attractive. This is a broader bill than that on the foot of the senate calendar, which would give the franchise in city, town and borough elections to women owning 800 worth of property, but the latter was left at the foot of the calendar to await the action of the house on this one.

Senator McNeil of Bridgeport, the youngest member of the senate and chairman of the woman suffrage committee, made the speech which he has been pronouncing all season, and Senators Judson and Mitchell supported him in favor of the bill, though through their operators and even upon the floor which was lacking in the rising certainty of Senator McNeil. Senator Hooker protested vigorously against the bill, which he said would force women a vote which they did not want, but that did not avail, and a final vote showed fourteen senators for the measure to nine against it.

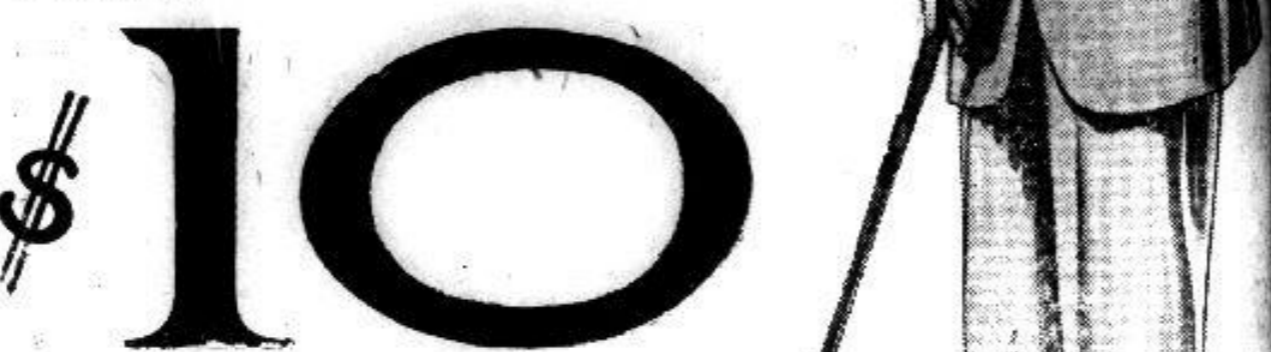

On the 24th, which was championed so strenuously by Mr. Hitchcock of Boston, in the house and which would prohibit the shipping of Connecticut seal outside the state, the senate accepted the adverse report of the committee and approved the bill. It also rejected the assessors favorably.

WISE, SMITH & COMPANY - - - - HARTFORD

HAYES WILL CASE. Appeal From Probate Taken. Allowance for Widow. The contest will come of the late Patrick R. Hayes was heard Monday forenoon at the probate court in this place before Judge John E. Fahy of Roxbury Judge Olin R. Wood of the local probate court drew the will and there was disqualified from hearing the case as judge. In making the will Mr. Hayes did not appear in any allowance for his wife Mrs. Nellie M. G. Hayes. She claims her dower rights under the will, but the probate court has refused to allow her to take the same. The principal beneficiaries of the will are Patrick O'Connell of Oak Grove street and Miss Annabel Gorman of Main street. The estate is said to include $1,000,000 in cash and a tract of land in Bolton. It is said that the real estate is mortgaged for half value, namely $400,000, the amount of which it is assumed. Assessor Henry L. Vibberts and Joseph A. Boston were witnesses to the will and were called in to give evidence for the defense. The probate court presented no evidence. After hearing the evidence of Mrs. Hayes, the court ruled that she was not entitled to her share of the estate. She will be allowed to set aside and ordered that the will be admitted to probate. From this decision the attorneys for Mrs. Hayes took an appeal. An agreement was reached between opposing counsel to allow Mrs. Hayes $200 for support pending the appeal. The hearing on the appeal was held at the residence of Mrs. Hayes at 112 West Street. The case is said to include $1,000,000 in cash and a tract of land in Bolton. It is said that the real estate is mortgaged for half value, namely $400,000, the amount of which it is assumed.

Still Alarm. A still alarm brought the auto chemical fire extinguisher of Hose three to the home of Emil Grazel on Spruce street corner of Pearl Wednesday afternoon. N. B. Richards was the only fireman at liberty to respond to the call at the time the alarm was sent in and he took out the machine. He drafted R. L. Carney, the Contract correspondent who responded with alacrity to the summons. On reaching the scene of the disturbance it was found that a chimney fire was in progress in the slum tenement owned by Mr. Grazel. (George Letts, an experienced fireman

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS. Fake Cures For Consumption. By SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS. Any nostrum which claims to cure tuberculosis is a detriment to the patient, since, if it does not stand in law, the patient is by falsely inspired hopes from the careful regimen of life wherein lies his best chance of recovery. By J. BERRY GROPE

When I was sheriff of Arapahoe county there was the all-potent race!

He was not only slick, but a desperado. No one dared resist him, shelling out whenever he ordered one to do so.

My collaborer agreed, and I, getting out my horse, rode away. I wasted no time distributing tracts, but rode straight to the Bittinger place.

When I reached the widow's house I told her that I was going to take the vineyard of the Lord in that region for a few days and would like to put up at her house.

and felt assured that the Bittinger dollars would receive his early attention.

"On second thought," I said, assuming a reflective air, perhaps it would be well, together, for to unite our persuasive efforts on Bittinger together we might accomplish what neither could do alone.

He did a bit of reflection himself. I knowing his thoughts perfectly. Without my assistance he would break into the room I had described from without and take the risk of getting shot.

"I think, brother," he said after considerable weighing of the advantages on either side, "we will work together. I mean we will make the attempt to soften this man's heart together."

"Then I will join you there," I replied. "There are several places on the way at which I wish to leave tracts. Suppose we meet there for the midway."

Southern Ports Blockaded--Four Federal Armies March Against Virginia--Confederates Hold Harpers Ferry, Concentrate at Manassas and Form an Important Army in the West--McClellan's Troops Engage and Rout the Enemy at Phillip June 3, With Slight Losses on Each Side--Harpers Ferry Retaken, Jefferson Davis Arrives in Richmond, New Confederate Capital--Death of Stephen A. Douglas, Stanch Union Supporter.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

THE end of May, 1861, saw important movements under foot on both sides. In a general way the Union campaign embraced the blockade of southern ports at the naval front and four different armies encamped on the edge of Virginia or marching toward that state on land.

In the west there was at that time a regular stock which guarantees them as new, distinctive and perfect in every detail.

Small charge for alterations--compelled to on account of these sensationally low prices.

EARLY PICTURE OF PRESIDENT JEFFERSON DAVIS OF THE CONFEDERACY, HIS HOME IN RICHMOND AND STATEHOUSE OCCUPIED AS CONFEDERATE CAPITOL DURING THE WAR.

Other cities of the north, which were recruiting, drilling and preparing to go to the front.

On the part of the south the plan of campaign was largely defensive.

The chief occurrences of the week ending June 3 were the occupation of Harpers Ferry by McClellan's troops and the surprise and rout of the Confederates at Phillip, about twenty miles distant.

McClellan's troops crossed into Virginia (now West Virginia) from Wheeling, crossed down into the Potomac, and at its mouth was then the terminus of a railroad from Richmond which formed part of the through route from the
