Dandruff and Itching Scalp Yield To Zemo Treatment

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF and ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO, a clean, refined, penetrating scalp tonic that gets to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the surface and destroys it.

A shampoo with ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate, but get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it.

Women's Woes...

Manchester and South Manchester Women Are Finding Relief At Last. It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must stand on their feet, must be constantly walking, talking, and handling things.

DR. C. M. PARKER DENTIST

Office Hours: 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Dr. Earl S. Sloan

Dr. Earl S. Sloan, Boston, Mass.

My being thrown into a field of labor where I met many men, some of whom were intelligent and attractive, was probably the cause of my receiving a number of proposals.

I practiced two years and related all temptations to marry. One day an old lady came to me and begged that I would make a diagnosis of a trouble that was afflicting her son.

She said she believed there was something on her son's mind that she would not confide in his medical attendant. A man, she said, would be more likely to give his confidence in certain matters to a woman than one of his own sex.

I found a fine looking young fellow some twenty-eight years old, six feet high and muscular. As I entered the room where he was候ing he looked up at me with a captivating smile that had evidently inherited from his mother.

"Sweetheart," he said, "do you know that the illness which brought me together was all a part of my own life?"

GETS GOLD FROM SEA WATER

Dr. Oscar Nagel Claims That He Has a Machine Which Will Do This.

Oscar Nagel, Ph. D., an Austrian physicist, whose name is well known in Europe, has recently published a paper in which he claims to have discovered a way to extract gold and silver from sea water.

Doctor Nagel's purpose, after he has passed the salt waters of the globe through his extracting pumps and apparatus, is to return them again to the sea, so that there need be no apprehension of the disappearance of these valuable bodies of water.

When her trusty maid of all work fell ill, Mrs. Cameron, saying that she should position the faithful Nancy, set about to obtain another.

"You're well-favored, ma'am," she said, "but she's a fine old maid, as 'a' I'm looking for a partner."

"You know the rest," said the woman, after another survey of her future mistress; and she held her "partner" for fifteen years, at the end of which time she attended the funeral of her mistress, and after it learned that a goodly sum had been left to "my cautious Tim," on the receipt at which she retired from active service.

ONE OF BEST KICKERS IN MISSOURI VALLEY

Captain Hackney, One of the Veterans on the University of Missouri Team.

BADGER'S "COME BACK" STAR

"Kackie" Moll, After Rest of Year, Resumes Position at Quarter-back—Better Than Ever.

One of the sensations at Madison this season was the return to the game of "Kackie" Moll at quarterback. The little fellow's rest of a year seems to have been a great benefit to him.

While the other coaches were shouting Stagg was thinking. When the front is on the pumpkin it is also on the famous game of base ball.

Occasionally a football coach varies the monotony by displaying a gleam of optimism.

Football promises to kill more in its few short weeks than baseball did all summer long.

Evidently Pennsylvania does not believe in shutting out her football rivals this year.

Deaths has begun garnering his 1911 crop of football players. No country can afford this kind of waste.

Even more excitingly funny than the review of football is an Englishman's review of baseball practice.

When bowling semi-pro ball, football and a few others all come at once, what chance is there for wrestling?

"Doc" Roller says the outlook for this year in the game is better than ever. He does not claim to be an optimist.

One would have to go a lot further than eight judges to find a dissenting voice in the matter of Cobb's supremacy in the American league.

A great critic comes out with the announcement that Stagg is coaching his team so that it can score on opponents. First time in the history of the game.

Utriana is making a hole that a referee's mistake cost them the Pennsylvania game. The little college with only 100 students defeated the Red and Blue last year.

Coch Hammett is said to be contemplating the use of lights at North-western. It was thought Hammett was troubled with too many lights and wanted a few less.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Too many coaches at Princeton? "Chick" Evans continues to golf it. He whom a paragraph offends is in need of tender skin.

A dead gift formally presenting the Anderson trophy to the American Automobile Association to be used as a prize in the Golden Tour, was accepted at Anderson, S. C., the other day, and the bowl was forwarded to Robert H. Cooper, president of the association.

It is provided in the deed of gift that the winner of the trophy, which is to be awarded for individual steeplechase, shall furnish a bond of $5,000 to guarantee the care of the trophy during the time it may be awarded under the terms of the following year. The trophy is to be awarded by the American Automobile Association.

Team Are Not Alert Then, Says Eckersall—Football Coaches and Players Differ on Time to Spring Deceivers.

Football players and coaches have different ideas as to the best time in a contest to spring trick plays or any other fakes which might catch opposing teams off guard.

Coaches of the big eleven regard it as a matter of course to spring a deceptive play, while others hold a contrary opinion.

In 1906, the first year of the forward pass, the old "shooting" trick invariably was attempted on the play following a kickoff.

The wound is not so deep as feared and it is thought that Carl will come out none the worse for his experience.

At a meeting of the trustees of the South Methodist church held last Sunday it was voted to have a street day put on the tar walks about the church property. This will conform to a similar work which Cheney Brothers have had done to the walks in front of the old Tiffany home and the Teachers hall. The firm has also had a top dressing placed on the tar walks on Hartford road, Forest street and about the mill.

Walter Gould, whose business card is in another column of this paper, is a practical erector, cutter and also a tool maker of thirty eight years experience. His hand made razors with hand handles are the slickest to be found anywhere. His carving knives and various other edge tools for different purposes, all hand made, are carefully tempered from the finest English steel. His specialty is in tool sharpening, as his card carries.

The trees on the lot at the south-west corner of Brainard place and Main street were cut down this week. Aaron Johnson, who owns the lot is planning to either move his Park Hill grocery store to that location or erect a new building for his business on that site. His plans are not complete as yet. Mr. Johnson has been contemplating a change of this sort for several years past.

The Epworth League of the South Y. Methodist church voted last Sunday to have a picnic in the park on the corner of Edvard Payson Weston, the pedestrian, deliver his lecture here on "Vicissitudes of a Walker." A committee consisting of T. J. Rogers, Herbert Robb, J. B. Griffin, George Davidson and John Beeson were appointed to make the necessary arrangements. An effort will be made to have Weston come here December 15 and the lecture will probably take place in the high school.

Some Advice A boy who calls his mother the "old woman," or his father "the governor," is building upon the sand. Do you want to be a power among men, to be a leader? Learn to control your temper, to know yourself. A boy who does not control his tongue and his temper will never become a master of men. Do not imitate the vice of fast young men, thinking it will make you manly. -Rayporter, Woodbury.

Florida in Winter What New England is in Summer

All indications point to an unusually busy season at the winter resorts of Florida and other sections of the South. The number of persons seeking relief from the disagreeable Northern winter and who experience unexpected beneficial results from the climate of Florida is increasing every year.

There is health, rest, recreation and pleasure for all in the great variety of city, country, seashore, lake and river resorts catering to people of every class, taste and means.

The old established and popular SAVANNAH LINE offers to the people of New England an invigorating and restful short sea trip from Boston to Savannah, Ga., and an opportunity for a visit to the latter city, which is one of the show places of the South.

Let us assist you in planning your trip. We are in touch with the proprietors and managers of hotels and boarding houses throughout the South and have representative located in several of the important cities, which places us in a position to help you find just such a place as you desire without delay or inconvenience.

Through tickets to Savannah, Ga., Jacksonville, Fla., and all other resort points, are sold by the principal company ticket agents throughout New England at extremely low rates. Complete information, illustrated literature, tickets and reservations may also be obtained by addressing C. W. Jones, New England Passenger Agent, 20 Atlantic Ave., Boston, Mass.

Have you got any free souvenirs? Hundreds of people are making a collection. Every day you spend a dollar or over at the Anniversary sale you can get a different souvenir. Wm. Smith & Co., Hartford.

Monthly Mission Meeting The monthly mission meeting of Swedish Lutheran churches of Hartford district will be held in the hall Swedish Lutheran church, Church street next Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday evening's meeting will be open to the public and a dress will be given by Rev. Dr. O. Johansson of New Haven. The next meeting will be conducted Wednesday and the evening another public meeting will be held at which the pastor, Rev. P. J. Corbett will be the speaker. The collection for the mission will be conducted by Rev. Jacobson, president of the Synod conference.

TEN CENT TROLLEY FARE

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION ASKS FOR CONNECTION COMPANY'S BOOKS

Further Hearing Set for December Twelfth. Auditor Campbell's Statement Admitted as Evidence. Endeavor to Get at Rock Bottom Facts.

The following report relative to the public utilities commission (a) the ten cent fare between Manchester and Hartford is taken from the Hartford Courant of last Monday and seems with interest for the people of this community at large. We reproduce it in full so that the public may know just how matters are progressing in this very important case of the commission against the powerful Connecticut Company.

The public utilities commission has made an important ruling in the matter of advertising from the trolley fare between towns and this city on the lines of the Connecticut Company. The fare is now 10 cents and the trolley fare is 10 cents.

The commission, after considering the motion (and independently deciding to obtain whatever information pertains to the question submitted in this case) makes the following ruling under the provisions of Section 9 of Chapter 126 of the Public Acts of 1911:

First. The petitioners are permitted to file with the commission, as a part of their case, written statements made by C. L. Campbell as auditor of the Connecticut Company, made over his signature as such auditor to the railroad committee of the Legislature in 1907 and again in 1908, purporting to give an estimate of the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company and the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company and the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company.

Second. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce for examination by the commission the daily reports of each conductor on the Hartford and Manchester trolley lines for the year ending June 30, 1911.

Third. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce the reports (in the form of a statement) showing the amount of fare paid and passengers carried on said line during said months, as distinguished from the number of passengers on said line and the number of transfers during the said months.

Fourth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce a statement showing the number of through passengers on said line during said months, as distinguished from the number of transfers during the said months.

Fifth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce a statement showing the mileage of mail tracks operated in the Hartford division, as called, and the number and type of cars now in regular service.

Sixth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce all stock books and books of accounts of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company, and all the stock books of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company, and all the stock books of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company.

Seventh. It appearing in the evidence that an appraisal has recently been made by a Massachusetts commission of all the properties of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, and also its trolley property in that state, and the fact that the Connecticut Company owns all the properties of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, including its trolley lines in Massachusetts and Connecticut, which include the respondent company, and, on further investigation, this commission having ascertained that Professor George F. Swain of Harvard University was at the head of the commission making such appraisal, therefore the Connecticut Company is directed to produce a copy of the appraisal made by the said appraisal commission of the Connecticut Company's property in Massachusetts, and to what they wanted the Connecticut Company to give the public.

the commission's rulings on the different claims, and what the commission has to say in addition, follow:

1. The daily reports of each conductor on the Hartford and Manchester lines for each period of time as the commission may direct.

2. The monthly report for the Hartford division as made by the division superintendent to the vice president of the company.

3. The stock books and treasurer's book of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company.

4. The auditor or some other officer representative of the Connecticut Company who can testify to the statements submitted by the respondent company to the Connecticut Company by the railroad committee of the Legislature in 1907 and in 1908, pertaining to the Hartford and Manchester trolley line.

5. Mr. Sage of Hartford to testify regarding the daily reports made by conductors on the Hartford and Manchester line.

6. The amount of income received from advertising from the handling of freight, the handling of the United States mail, and from any concessions at Laurel Park, on the Hartford and Manchester lines.

The commission, after considering the motion (and independently deciding to obtain whatever information pertains to the question submitted in this case) makes the following ruling under the provisions of Section 9 of Chapter 126 of the Public Acts of 1911:

First. The petitioners are permitted to file with the commission, as a part of their case, written statements made by C. L. Campbell as auditor of the Connecticut Company, made over his signature as such auditor to the railroad committee of the Legislature in 1907 and again in 1908, purporting to give an estimate of the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company and the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company.

Second. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce for examination by the commission the daily reports of each conductor on the Hartford and Manchester trolley lines for the year ending June 30, 1911.

Third. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce the reports (in the form of a statement) showing the amount of fare paid and passengers carried on said line during said months, as distinguished from the number of passengers on said line and the number of transfers during the said months.

Fourth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce a statement showing the number of through passengers on said line during said months, as distinguished from the number of transfers during the said months.

Fifth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce a statement showing the mileage of mail tracks operated in the Hartford division, as called, and the number and type of cars now in regular service.

Sixth. The Connecticut Company is directed to produce all stock books and books of accounts of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company, and all the stock books of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company, and all the stock books of the Hartford, Manchester & Rockville Trolley Company.

Seventh. It appearing in the evidence that an appraisal has recently been made by a Massachusetts commission of all the properties of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, and also its trolley property in that state, and the fact that the Connecticut Company owns all the properties of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, including its trolley lines in Massachusetts and Connecticut, which include the respondent company, and, on further investigation, this commission having ascertained that Professor George F. Swain of Harvard University was at the head of the commission making such appraisal, therefore the Connecticut Company is directed to produce a copy of the appraisal made by the said appraisal commission of the Connecticut Company's property in Massachusetts, and to what they wanted the Connecticut Company to give the public.

Eight. The commission will take cognizance of all facts relative to this case contained in the Connecticut Company's annual report for the year ending June 30, 1911, now on file.

It is further directed that the foregoing order be complied with on or before the 15th day of December, 1911, at which date the hearing on the Manchester and Hartford trolley fare case will be again taken up by the commission and the parties interested therein given a further hearing. As this is an arbitrary date set by the commission, it may be changed to the convenience of the parties, upon application therefor.

By order of the Public Utilities Commission.
Henry F. Billings, Secretary.

It is officially stated that the Connecticut Company, the trolley holding company of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, will meet at every point to the ruling of the public utilities commission that the company shall file with the commission, as a part of their case, written statements made by C. L. Campbell as auditor of the Connecticut Company, made over his signature as such auditor to the railroad committee of the Legislature in 1907 and again in 1908, purporting to give an estimate of the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company and the volume of business done on the Hartford and Manchester lines were a part of the whole system of the company.

requested to procure the attendance of Professor George F. Swain, on the 15th day of December, 1911, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, or such early date thereafter as may be convenient for Mr. Swain, to testify before this commission pertaining to the valuation of the Connecticut Company's property in this state. As Professor Swain is without the state, this last provision is made as a conditional request and not as a positive order.

Eight. The commission will take cognizance of all facts relative to this case contained in the Connecticut Company's annual report for the year ending June 30, 1911, now on file.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Cured by Vinol—Here is Proof Seymour, Ind.—I was troubled with a chronic stomach trouble, and five weeks ago it got so bad I had to give up work. I had tried various medicines without relief, and was finally induced to try Vinol. After taking the first bottle I was greatly benefited. Am now on the third bottle and ready to resume work. Am rapidly gaining in weight and strength. Edw. Nieman.

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion and at the same time it builds up the tired, overworked and run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

Gifts For the Home

All kinds of match scrapers have been made by the trade in artistic colorings and materials, but none of them seems to fill the place of the homemade "Scratch My Back."

The scraper illustrated is built from an oblong of corrugated paper about five and a half inches long and three and a half deep. A postcard forms the front of the useful convenience, and the back is of sandpaper, with the wording in gold, "Scratch Here."

The edges are paste-partioned together, and a narrow ribbon makes the

Some Gifts For Her

The large pockets are for veils, handkerchiefs and other articles of the sort. The small pocket is for hairpins, and a handy pin cushion is ready for stray pins.

Ribbon Corset Bags.

The new ribbon corset bags make most acceptable presents for the woman who is fond of the dainty little conveniences of this sort. They are easily made and more cheaply than when purchased at the stores.

The flowered ribbons with the solid satin borders are the most popular for the bags. It takes four strips of the ribbon, feathered together or put together with the crocheted rings, leaving a turnover at the top, where the ribbons are cut in points and finished with sunflower bows. The hangers are of the narrow ribbons, with a big sunflower in the center to conceal the nail upon which the bag is hung. They hold two pairs of corsets and keep them free from dust.

The sunflower roses are the accents. Garter bags to match are also among the new fads and are made of the same material, with a wide flap that fastens with a button and loop. They are hung with ribbon, finished with the roses, as the bags are.

A Helpful Gift.

Very smart to wear with the Irish lace turnover collars are the new neckties covered with Irish crochet lace. Any one who crochets can easily make a pin like the one illustrated. Such a gift will please the girl who is very fastidious about her neck dressing.

Some other helpful though humble gifts are going to appear on Christmas morning, the work of a mother of several business girls. She is making over stocks for her daughters, who have so much need of these articles. She has saved pieces of their shirt waists and their summer skirts and has in some cases embroidered them in simple designs or is making them up simply tailored. When neatly laundered they will afford a sense of luxury to the girls which few gifts could lend.

A Handy Gift.

An inexpensive gift for the woman who sews or embroiders is a book made of stiff cardboard backs, 4 by 10 inches, and covered with heavy silk or an art linen in dull colors.

Embroider across the upper face the word "Silk." Run this in a diagonal direction and put a little spray of flowers around it.

On the back cover work the recipient's monogram or her three initials in a corded outline.

Inside the covers are a dozen manila envelopes, arranged with the flap to the outer edge of the book, that are destined to hold as many colors of silk. The make and number of the silk to be carried on the outside of the envelopes. Three holes are cut through the covers and also in the envelopes. Ribbon is run through these holes and tied at the back in small bows.

The book is fastened together with a cord or ribbon to match.

Pretty Workings.

A pretty working is made just like a pocketbook and is of denim or black silk. Within are compartments in which are the usual things found in such a bag. The ends are gathered so that the articles are easily to get at, and the capacity of the bag is thus increased.

AN EMBROIDERED PILLOW SLIP.

Cooks find that these little conveniences to set at the hour when a cake of fat must be taken from the oven. They are made of the new silk cases of which and glass? They are made of glass and are placed over the top of the pan, forming a lid. The same of the glass is blown in the glass of each hot. These come in various sizes, but they are all made of the same material. They are made of glass and are placed over the top of the pan, forming a lid. ### For the Hostess

TOASTS FOR ALL OCCASIONS.

Here's to the joy of lazy days,
Sun kissed and sweet with clover.
To eyes of youth and rosy cheeks,
The goodness of life all over.
Go breathe it in the air,
It's what's always true.
Here's to the heart that's true,
To eyes that look of love and true.
To friendship old or friendship new—
To the one it loves, be it me or you.

Life as we've found it,
And frolicked around it,
Life, with its many troubles,
This merry world we live in,
Love, blessed cover,
Turns them to love with a kiss!

Of all who doubt and fear,
And say to them "Be of good cheer."
Then come the wild weather,
The maddest shriek, "Oh, you—"
We will stick by each other,
However it blow. —Lonewolf.

To the housewife—May her coffee and the slanders against her alike ever be without grounds.

A Musical Contest.

Perhaps this will answer the correspondent who requested a game suitable for a musical club. I found it in a magazine and gladly pass it on:

Once on a — a lover hold
His sweetheart's hand raised to —
And whisper — in her ear,
"You have the — to my heart, my dear."
The maiden's heart — leapt and fast
For fear this — would not last.
This pretty maid was sore afraid,
When'er her beau would —
So — and shrewd was her name,
He scented romance from afar.
One night her pa came with a big — and she —
And when he knooched her lover
— that!
I give you grant me one request,
Then answer me —
I pray us a short — for some token,
And the tender — shall soon be broken.

But up he sent her to her room,
And left the lover to his doom.
Then around her waist she —
— and soon descended to her room.
Next day they sent her pa —
"We're married." This was all she wrote.

Apple and Nut Charlotte.

Make this in a large dish or in individual molds: Blanch eight ounces of either hickory or walnut meats; dry for a day, then pound or break very fine. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth, add a pound of pulverized sugar, stir in the nuts and two tablespoons of orange flower water. Beat until well mixed, then drop in strips on buttered paper and bake in a slow oven. After this paste is set but still soft, stick nut meats along the top of strips. When

MADEME MERILL.

The Greek line is the dominant culture fashion.
Heavy as well as light laces are fashionable.
Suit coats are finger tip length or shorter.
The use of antique fringes is a new phase of fringe fashions.
Complexion veils of white or tinted maline, with or without chevron dots, are worn.
The deep collar, either square or pointed, is still worn. In many cases reaches to the waist line at the back.
The full explanation of the continuance of the narrow skirt is that, with the development of design taken from the dress of the Moslem countries, it must remain.

White Crechet Buttons.

Small and large buttons made of white cotton thread crocheted, are now in first fashion. They are placed on blouses, on one-piece frocks, on top wraps, in every size. They are used on blouses instead of pearl buttons, and on white linen skirts.

SHIRT WAIST BASKET FOR GIFT.

The new shirt waist baskets make a delightful present for maid or matron. They have taken the place of fabric covered boxes. The baskets have two trays placed one above the other, but so carefully fitted that the weight of the upper one does not in the least injure the freshness of whatever is placed in the lower one.

The first tray is designed for the best blouses, those that are most expensive to do up. This tray is first covered with a heavy white linen, then with a sheet of lavender scented cotton batting and finally with dotted veils or embroidered muslin. Attached to the inner side of the tray are half a dozen little sheets or leaves of linen, one of which is laid over each freshly laundered blouse as it is placed in the basket.

The lower tray, which is several inches deeper than the upper one, is for the tailored waists and the different sort of cutting skirts, and while it is not lined with velvet or plush, it is lined with a heavy white linen, then with a sheet of lavender scented cotton batting and finally with dotted veils or embroidered muslin. Attached to the inner side of the tray are half a dozen little sheets or leaves of linen, one of which is laid over each freshly laundered blouse as it is placed in the basket.

DELIGHT THE BABY.

A girl is making as a Christmas present for the child of one of her friends a blanket rug that may prove a suggestion to young mothers.

The thought came to the girl when she heard her friend complain that the mat must keep her baby in a chair or carriage so much, but must let it roll on the floor. As that floor is dirty she thought she would make a suggestion to young mothers.

Pincushion Gifts.

Several Quiet Concocts That Will Delight the Recipient.
The making of pincushions appeals to many women of artistic inclination, especially home workers, as the work gives opportunity for turning to account odds and ends of lace, dress materials and trimmings.

Pincushions for hanging should be divided for those intended to be laid on a table, a bureau, to rest either in a pocket, basket, a housewife of

Very Useful Presents

One girl who believes in giving Christmas presents that can be used in making for several of her girl friends this year the daintiest possible flannel skirts.

Pincushions are especially out of favor, but the sensible girl knows better than to discard flannels. She insists, however, that they take up as little room as may be.

The skirts being made full that need. The use of fine white flannel as wide as can be bought and are cut from a circular pattern, so as to fit snugly around the hips. The tops and bottoms are bound with inch wide white ribbon in a delicate color, and the placket and back seam are outstitched in a color to match.

To avoid extra bulk the skirt fabrics with a button and buttonhole rather than with ribbon ties.

One skirt, for the best friend, has a line or two of small embroidered dots down the center of the skirt. The dots are in pink mercerized cotton just above the pink satin binding at the bottom.

Another useful gift is handkerchiefs, of which one can never have too great a supply. The one illustrated is of the handkerchief linen finished with a narrow hem, above which at intervals are two rows of hemstitching, which are rows of featherstitching. The handkerchief has an edge of pretty princess lace.

There are 3 Features in Crawford Ranges

which make them superior to any others

1. The Single Damper
2. The Oven heated by cup-joint flues
3. The Two Hods in the base

Either of these features is worth the price of the range. The Single Damper is the greatest help in cooking ever invented. One motion—push the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest.

The Oven is heated by the cup-joint flues all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots," Quickest and surest baker.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. The ashes fall through a chute into a Hod which is easy to empty. The Coal Hod is beside it.

Gas Ovens and Broilers for end or above range if desired.

GENEVIEVE'S MATCH

By Marion Gordon

Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.

My wonder if she is waiting for Ben Marlow—rather thought she was, I'm sure. He had been abroad three years and she had time to get over that fancy. August spoke as if love were a malady that required a certain time to run its course, after which the patient might once more go forth and tempt contagion.

"Ben Marlow is the handsomest, the richest, the very nicest fellow in Gene's set, and I don't wonder she lost her heart to him. I wonder if she knows that Ben came home yesterday?" August picked up the morning newspaper and turned to the steamer arrivals of the day before.

"Benjamin Champier Marlow," she read thoughtfully. "I'll ask her husband."

"You would be the first to criticize Gene if the count squandered her money," commented Mrs. Whitmore. "At least, it would be spent royally," was Miss Levering's strange remark.

"Augusta Levering!"

"Well?" defiantly.

"Would you marry a man like Count Tremaine?"

Augusta flushed darkly. "I believe we were speaking of Genevieve and the match you expected her to make," she said coldly. "There has been talk enough about Genevieve and the sort of match she would make from the time she put up her hair—and that was a good ten years ago—you needn't try to evade the situation, Bessie; Gene has had every opportunity to make a good match, and so far she does not seem to have met the right one."

"She says they do not come up to her ideal," murmured Genevieve's mother. "You know Gene is an exceptional girl."

"I admit it—exceptionally—singularly charming when she chooses to be—yet some of the men who have loved Genevieve have been fine fellows, and in their own way, good matches."

"I know it, Augusta," Mrs. Whitmore was quite meek now.

"Bessie, for Gene is my favorite niece, and if I never marry I shall leave her all my money."

Genevieve Whitmore was the only niece Augusta Levering was blessed with, and therefore her favoritism was compulsory rather than a matter of choice. But Augusta Levering had desired herself all her life, and consequently her whole viewpoint was wrongly focussed. It would need a distinct shock to bring her back to an understanding of rightful values and the requisite conclusion was not far distant.

Later in the afternoon Genevieve donned the most modestly graceful up-der that her aunt secretly envied. Mrs. Whitmore had returned to the drawing room and was talking to the ladies up as her daughter entered.

"So you are back again, darling?"

Genevieve looked at her aunt and

She dashed into the room, and she may be taken unawares—it's my right to know," she accused herself. "For Gene is my favorite niece, and if I never marry I shall leave her all my money."

It would need a distinct shock to bring her back to an understanding of rightful values and the requisite conclusion was not far distant.

Later in the afternoon Genevieve donned the most modestly graceful up-der that her aunt secretly envied. Mrs. Whitmore had returned to the drawing room and was talking to the ladies up as her daughter entered.

"So you are back again, darling?"

Genevieve looked at her aunt and

"Yes, and hungry enough to eat a square yard of bread and butter," said Genevieve, as she tossed her hair on a chair and slowly drew off her gloves. The two older women looked at her adoringly.

Genevieve had dropped in at a tea in the next block and they talked about it now. In the midst of the talk Augusta tossed her bombshell.

"Gene, did you know Ben Marlow had returned?"

"Oh, yes, I saw him at the tea," returned Genevieve, coolly.

"Is he as handsome as ever and as fascinating?" demanded Augusta.

"Quite, Aunt Gus," said the girl, carelessly. "He attracted me as much as he ever did." Miss Levering did not see the gleam of mischief in her niece's eye. Mrs. Whitmore was indignantly rattling the teaspoons.

Augusta's eyes were fastened on her niece's white face, and she almost shrieked. "Bessie, I do believe the witch is engaged to Ben Marlow!" Augusta was delighted.

"Ben Marlow?" repeated Genevieve, contemptuously. "Mother, dear, I was going to tell you first, but I shall have to make a public confession. I've promised to marry Neal Walter."

"Neal Walter!" almost screamed Miss Levering.

"Neal Walter" echoed Mrs. Whitmore, faintly.

"What is the matter with Neal?" demanded Genevieve, rising and standing before them in outraged dignity.

"Matter? The very idea of marrying that insignificant little nonsensical! A pretty picture you will make marching up to the altar with that ridiculous homely, red-headed infant in your arms. I distinctly refuse to be present!" Augusta swept to the door.

Lovlier than ever, Genevieve stood there staring from one to the other of them. Her cheeks were flushed to a warm red and her breath came in startled little gasps between her parted lips. Her soft, black eyes were wide with wonderment.

"Why, Aunt Gus," she said at last, with genuine reproach in her voice. "How can you talk so about Neal? He certainly is not as tall as I am, but he is not insignificant, and as for being homely," she paused and a little smile curved her lips. "I never thought of Neal as being homely. I think he has the most adorable face in the world. She looked down at her mother and was relieved that she received a loving pressure of the hand.

"The mother arose and leaned against her beautiful daughter, with arms around her waist. "I don't believe you quite understand, Augusta," said Mrs. Whitmore, quietly.

"Understand what?" demanded Miss Levering, bewildered.

"Why, that Gene loves Neal Walter—and nothing else matters!" said Genevieve's mother.

"Nothing else matters?" repeated Miss Levering, as she went upstairs to her own room and sat down before her writing desk. "Nothing else matters," she said again, as if the truth of the statement was slowly forced upon her dormant understanding.

She pulled out a locked drawer, and from its recesses drew she brought a photograph and propped it before her on the table. It was of a young man, a musician, seated with a "cello" before him. His face was handsome, his fingers over the instrument and one hand drew the bow across the strings.

Tears came into Augusta Levering's hard eyes as she addressed an envelope, she had written a letter and sealed the envelope she arose and looked defiantly at her reflected image in the glass. Then she was positively handsome again.

"Because—she—loves him—of course nothing else matters!" she cried triumphantly.

Americo-Syrian Trade.

Syrian traders will seldom buy goods without having opportunity to examine samples. European dealers and send-over salesmen with samples, who cover the entire Levantine territory. These agents are usually of the same nationality as their principals, and in Turkey are under the jurisdiction of their respective consulates. Americans have failed to obtain trade by sending goods on consignment, and to meet this difficulty an American-Syrian chamber of commerce has been established at Beirut, the membership to include merchants from all over Syria and the Levant. The object is to disseminate information, to establish communication between merchants and manufacturers and to take and transmit orders for goods.

Boy Shot Big Eagle.

Ten-year-old Otto Frame, a farmer's boy living seven miles from Michigan City, killed a big baldhead eagle and saved the baby from being shot. The injury is not from death last week.

The children were playing alone in the yard, the older members of the family were down the street. When they saw the big bird circling above, the boy ran into the house and called down his father's shotgun. As he ran back to the yard the eagle swooped down upon the boy. Otto raised the gun and fired both barrels. The big bird fell dead and shot through the breast within a few feet of the little boy. Soon after Otto's father, Ottomero B. Frame, returned. They discovered that the dead eagle had measured eight feet from wing tip to wing tip.—Chicago Tribune.

LAYLIGHT FOR LABOR

Brain Worker Should Force Himself to Observe Sensible Hours of Toil.

TIME ORDAINED BY NATURE

Bad Habits, Hard to Correct, Too Easily Formed if One Allows Moods to Influence—Never Let Accident Set Up a Rule.

Some men work best late at night. They claim that the machine gets warmed up and into high speed trim only in the later part of the day and small hours of the night. The majority of night crews seem to concentrate their thoughts. It is a time when interruptions are easily shut out. Sleep is the prospect when the task is done, and not added toil, so that they feel free to expend the last pound of steam.

It is folly to preach health rules to such workers. The fact that the habit is established, night work appears to be about as healthy as day work. Yet confessedly it is against nature and relatively few can establish the habit.

Some brain workers go at their task only when they feel, in the mood. The early morning, the six hours after breakfast, before crowds after exercise, with and without food, indeed, all possible variety can be found in the biography of literary and professional men.

From which it is plain that accident alone sets up the rule for each man. The ordinary habit once formed, with the exacting demand for results when in the field, holds the toiler, and he rarely changes.

Some sound judgment would indicate that the day is for work and the night for rest, at an early period of life one should look to the tendency of habit. Why should not a brain worker begin his toil with the same daylight uses that other animals employ? Why not eat to work with the head as one eats to work with the hand? Begin in youth to set up the practice. Refuse to be permanently switched off by a few moods that chance to turn out for one's work with the hand. There is nothing to be gained by this. The machine, the brain, comes to your terms. You had better lose one job now than 30 years of jobs later on, when you break permanently. There is something in the very birth of the morning that is nature's own secret. The mind is the awakening canner may be counterfeited by stimulants. If man does not greet the new day feeling at his best he has drifted from the joyfulness of his boyhood and is going wrong.

DEFER NOT UNTIL TOMORROW

Opportunity of Today is the Golden Moment to be Seized and Made the Most Of.

There is no morrow; though before our face The shadow named so stretches, we all ways Fail to overtake it, hasten as we may.

So the poet tells us. The reason is underlying, then, why you should read now, while there is time and you have the opportunity.

"The hardest thing to find in the human is yesterday's paper," a knowing one remarked. "Therefore read now. Don't wait for tomorrow, but read and enjoy today. Duties, the whirl of everyday work, may call you tomorrow, and a good hour filled with enjoyment and profit will have been lost."

"Deferring till tomorrow to be a done-for fellow," wrote Congreve to his friend, He knew, and you know, how much is implied in that sentence.

Tomorrow is in the distance. We can keep our hand on the wheel of today with an eye on tomorrow. Add to life's meaning and riches by getting another's point of view. You will profit by the other side of all questions by reading our page.

After all, his day, deeply, fully, wisely, and let tomorrow take care of itself.

Superior Things.

But the things which have life are superior to those which have not life, and of those which have life the superior are those which have reason.—Aretius.
