REAL MADAME "SANS-GENE" Story of Adventurous Career of Marie

Therese Figueur in the French

All are invited.

Everyone knows the washerwoman who was so familiar with Napoleon in Victorien Sardou's play, "Madame Sans-Gene," but the real "Sans-Gene" who lived at that time was a dragoon in one of the great Corsican's armies and spent twenty years in camps and barracks, in campaigns and battles over Europe. In the Musee de L'Armee in Paris a special case has just been installed inside which stands her equestrian statue. Her real name was Marie Therese Figueur and she was born in Burgundy in 1774. When niz teen, at the end of the reign of terror, she enrolled in a cavalry regiment commanded by one of her uncles and soon acquired the nickname of "Sans-Gene." Mmc. The highest average ever attained by the Cubs was in 1904, when they secured .704. The lowest of any National league city is that with which the Rustiers have just finshed their season—287. by Washington.

In the National Chicago and Pittsburg have each taken four pennants. New York has just won her third. The highest the Reds ever were in the race was in 1904, when they finished third. The Athletics are now wearing their pennant clothing for the fourth time. Detroit won three flags in succession, which feat has also been performed by the Cublets. The White Sox won two and the Red Sox took two in succession, which accomplishment has just gone to the Athletics in their victory this year.

All in all, these records show many strange things to the "fan" and are appended hereto:
