GREATEST MEDICINE ON EARTH
A prominent citizen of Evanville, Ind., writes:—"I was ill for five months with a pulmonary trouble, and had the best of doctors. I had hemorrhages and was in a very bad way. Through the advice of a friend I tried Vinol, and I feel that it saved my life. It is all you recommend it to be. I believe it is the greatest medicine on earth. I have advised others to try Vinol, and they have had the same results." (Name furnished on request.)
We want every one in this vicinity who is troubled with chronic coughs, or pulmonary troubles, to come and get a bottle of Vinol.
It does not go to the seat of trouble, but the inflammation and stop the cough, we will cheerfully return every cent paid for it. This shows our faith, and proves that you take the name.

DINNER PARTY MENUS.
By Martha McCulloch Williams.
So many letters have asked for menus suitable throughout for cooking in paper bags that here follow several, each suitable for a party dinner. Direction for cooking more than half their component parts have already been printed.
If you feel that you must begin your party feast with raw oysters, take them straight from the half-shell. If the half-shell way cumbers you, serve the oysters in cocktail.
If your oysters must be hot, put them in a paper bag after draining them well, add a generous lump of butter for each dozen of the oysters, a dusting of pepper and a little salt. Seal the bag, which must be thickly buttered, and cook for six minutes inside a very hot oven.
Here is my ideal paper bag cooked dinner for six.
Grapefruit au Rhum
Olives Warmad in Sherry
Salted Peas
Spiced Plums Celery Apple or Cranberry Sauce
Roast Turkey Raisin Stuffing

Pumpkin Pie Banana Pie
Pound Cake Caramel Cake
Nuts and Raisins
Coffee in large cups Sweet Cider
Water Watery Dried Beef Crisped in a Pan
Beef thus crisped till it crackles in the teeth is wonderfully relished at the end of a heavy dinner. It gives the satisfying tang of salt that is so refreshing. A very little—a mere mouthful, suffices. Put it thinly in a clean pan, with a tiny dot of butter, set the pan in the oven after the fire is out, but while there is still heat, shut the door and leave till wanted. The beef can be crisped over a low flame, of course, if the oven is wanted for other use. Make the wafers also hot and crisp.
To make pimento sandwiches, mince half a can of pimento, rub them well through a cake of the best cream cheese, adding enough French dressing to make the mixture spread smooth on the buttered bread. Few better accompaniments for any sort of salad can be found.
Peel and slice your turnips and put them in a well greased bag with a light seasoning of salt, a lump of butter barely dusted with flour, and enough thin stock to half cover them. Seal and cook in a gentle heat fifty minutes to an hour and a quarter, depending on the size of the bag. Empty into hot dish and if not rich enough add more butter, dust with black pepper, and, if approved, add a little vinegar. Mashing is optional.

SIXTY DRESSES IN ALL
Now on Display in Our Window
Go on Sale Saturday at 2 P. M.
Includes linen dresses, in white and natural; white pique welts, thin summer muslins, in fact the kinds are so varied it is almost impossible to describe them. There isn't over three of any one kind and most of them there is only one of a kind.
THE REASON is very easily explained. Our buyers were in Boston last week and had the good fortune to find 100 dresses in a sample lot which they bought for 50c on the dollar. We sent 40 to the Rockville store and 60 to this store. We have nothing more to say. If you look at these dresses and have the good fortune to find your size YOU'LL BUY. We won't have to urge you. Sizes 34 to 44.

Memorial Day
Next week Thursday, May 30, will be Memorial Day, a legal holiday and in accordance with agreement among the merchants here the stores will close at 12:30 on that day and will also be closed the night before the holiday. Homekeepers and all others interested will do well to take note of this fact. Present probabilities are that the silk mills will be closed all day Memorial Day, but at this writing, Friday forenoon, the question has not been officially or authoritatively decided. The usual custom has been to close at noon but this may be varied next Thursday.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING
LAST NIGHT ON NEW ALMS-HOUSE QUESTION AND EXTRA MONEY VOTED
H. O. Bowers Strongly Opposed Appropriation and Discussed Matters at Length—Two Hours Devoted to Consider This and Related Matters
A special town meeting in the Town Hall last evening it was voted to appropriate $4,400 additional for the construction of the proposed new almshouse. The matter was discussed for two hours and a ballot vote resulted as follows:
Whole number of votes cast 108.
Necessary to a choice 52.
In favor of appropriation 68.
Against appropriation 35.
H. O. Bowers was spokesman for the $5 faithful ones who opposed the appropriation and he debated the question at much length and with some heat and acrimony. He put forth every effort at his command to prevent the expenditure and cast some scathing rebukes over to the administrative officers of the town as represented by the chairman of the board, Mr. C. S. Cheney. Mr. Cheney came back at his assailant with vigor and celerity, and with lucid debate upheld the course of the board of selectmen in this and other matters generally. He hurled defiance at his detractor and challenged him or any other person present to specifically name a single instance in which it could be proven that the selectmen didn't act in a fair and honorable manner toward the people of the town generally.
Others advocating the appropriation were Charles Cheney, E. L. G. Honenthal, Robert E. Carney, Gustav Schreiber and William H. Scheldge. With this added appropriation, which will bring the total amount up to $22,000, the new almshouse will be built.
The name Lyness avenue was changed to Lyness street and the street was officially accepted by the town without debate.
The Adams' rest extension, so-called was changed to Chapman road. There was no opposition to this action.
Judge Alexander Arnold was the petitioner officer and Town Clerk Sanford M. Benton recorded the proceedings.

FLAG DAY—JUNE 14

Governor Directs Observance of Day in Public Schools
Governor Simon E. Baldwin has issued a proclamation designating Friday, June 14, as Flag Day. The Proclamation is as follows:—

STATE OF CONNECTICUT
By His Excellency
SIMON E. BALDWIN
Governor.
A Proclamation.
Pursuant to the statutes of this state, I hereby designate Friday, the fourteenth day of June next, as and direct that it be made the occasion in every public school within the state which may then be in session, of exercises to commemorate the adoption by Congress on June 14, 1777, during the first year of the existence of the United States, of the flag that should forever symbolize the new nation, constituted by the Declaration of Independence. Its thirteen stripes represent the thirteen states which joined in making that Declaration. The fact that Connecticut was one of these is the proud heritage of her citizens, among whom the children in her schools have as rightful a place as any of her sages.

Let their teachers, then, on Flag Day as a time to impress upon them the full meaning of the Stars and Stripes; one star for every state; one stripe for each of the "old thirteen."

MODERN WOODMEN APPLY NEW RATES

WRITING OF BUSINESS ON NEW PLANS IN PROGRESS SINCE MAY 1

Plan No. 1 is Favorite—Over Sixty Thousand Applications for New Forms the First Week

The readjustment of rates adopted by the Modern Woodmen of America at the Head Camp in Chicago in January last, is now in full force and effect, and on May 1 the writing of business under the new plans began.
Comparatively few have a thorough understanding of the various forms of insurance, and when the readjustment was adopted there was much protest, based on misapprehension of what was proposed. But this has been dispelled to such an extent that on the first six days following the taking effect of the readjustment there were received at Rock Island over 60,000 applications from old members for forms of the various new plans. This was exclusive of applications received through deputies and clerks. The members of the M. W. of A. are generally classified as new or old, the latter term applying to those over 30 years of age. They constitute only one per cent. of the total membership. The readjustment involves higher rates to older members, besides a better quality of insurance but they are not dropping out. They find that they can not do so well elsewhere. For the same reason the younger members are staying, and some who elected to withdraw during the first confusion following the announcement of the new plans are now returning.
The new plans are summarized as follows:
1. Whole life insurance, with level (unchanging) monthly rates, providing larger paid-up and extended insurance values than any company can give.
2. Whole life insurance, with pure current cost or natural premium rates, changing at periods. You pay, for just what you get, from month to month, and year to year; very cheap—cheaper than the rates in many cases.
3. Continuing present rates unchanged, as whole life rates, and granting the amount of whole life insurance purchasable by these rates, as measured by the Modern Woodmen table of

Parsons Theater

The bill selected for the second week of the season of the Hunter Bradford Players, beginning Monday, May 27, at 8 o'clock, is Margaret Anglin's sparkling comedy hit, One a Stocking, by A. E. W. Mason. It will be recalled that Miss Axlin presented the comedy in this city at Parsons' a little over a year ago, and it proved one of the most delightful comedy farces of the season. Based on an old English custom, the theme of the play is delightfully unique, and it is treated in an entirely natural manner by the author. It is a play that calls for fine acting and will afford the widest latitude for the splendid company that has been assembled at the Parsons theater for the eighth year of stock presentation.
Winning the favor and hearty approval of the patrons of Parsons theater this week the Hunter-Bradford Players have been launched on the high sea of success for the eighth consecutive season in Hartford. With the reorganization of the company, the fabric has been strengthened in every fibre, and it is not deviating an iota from the truth to say that it is the best Hunter-Bradford aggregation that has ever presented that popular organization at Parsons. And the comedy selected for the opening week—"Nobody's Daughter"—is another delicious surprise for the patrons, who have discovered that a truly fine stage piece had, up to this time, been enjoyed exclusively by the devotees of the New Theater in New York.
All the new members of the Hunter-Bradford Players are ideally cast in the opening bill. They include A. E. Ayson, polished, dignified, and forceful as John Frampton; Deirdre Doyle, artistic and charming as Mrs. Frampton; Frances Jordan, winsome and lovable as Honora May; Olive Oliver, delightful as the philosophical Mrs. Torrence; Louise Rial, splendid in the character of the old Scotch nurse; Charles Trowbridge, buoyant and manly as the lover; Etha Bryan and Master George Tobin; adequate in smaller roles, while Ernest Stullard, John Findlay and Albert Parker, Caldwells favorites, again show their talents in congenial roles. The play will be continued tonight and tomorrow night with Saturday matinee.

Obituary

GEORGE B. SLATER
George B. Slater died at the home of Spectator on W. Cowles last Sunday morning following a shock which he suffered last Friday. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the North Congregational church, Rev. C. M. Caldwell officiating. Interment was to the Brookland cemetery.

Mr. Slater was a lifelong resident of this town having been born here March 2, 1848. He was the son of Phaland and Catherine (Buell) Slater. He was a farmer by occupation and until a month ago operated a farm on Tolland township. He sold his farm and bought a home on Pine Hill and was preparing to spend the remainder of his years in retirement. He was an active member of the North Congregational church, was at one time superintendent of the Sunday School and for more than twenty years served as sexton of the church. Mr. Slater had been living on Charter Oak street for the past few weeks and left his home last Friday morning to go to Selectman Cowles house on business. It was while at the Cowles house that he suffered the shock from which he never recovered. He is survived by a widow and a brother, Henry of this place.

Attention G. A. R!

The attention of veterans of the Civil War is hereby directed to the fact that they are requested to attend divine service at the Methodist church in Belknap next Sunday, May 26th, 1912, at eleven o'clock, and also to decorate the graves of veterans buried at the Belknap cemetery. Automobiles will be furnished free of charge for this purpose. Veterans intending to go should either telephone or write Charles E. House of this place immediately as he has the automobile arrangements in charge. Mr. House will send cards to the homes of the Veterans who notify him of their desire to attend. Rev. George H. Wright, the pastor, will deliver a sermon suitable to the occasion. This matter of notifying Mr. House should be attended to at once in order that necessary arrangements can be made to secure the cars.
The Epworth League of the South Methodist church entertained the members of Drake Post No. 4 G. A. R. with their wives last Wednesday evening in the church parlors. Supper was served to the veterans and their wives, which was followed by an entertainment program given by members of the league.
Next Sunday evening the post will attend the North Congregational church where they will listen to an illustrated address by Rev. C. M. Caldwell. The members of the Special War Veterans and the Sons of Veterans are also invited to the service.

Mrs. Martha McAnelly

Mrs. Martha McAnelly died last Friday evening and her funeral was held from Watkins Brothers undertaking rooms Sunday afternoon. Rev. S. E. Ellis officiated and interment was in the East cemetery. Mrs. McAnelly was 75 years old and was twice married. She is survived by a son, Henry Saunders of Knox street and by a daughter, Mrs. Weir of Mystic.

Just Consider Its Location

It rises on a graceful slope to the east, just off the great State highway—The Middle Turnpike Road; the property fronting directly on Horan Street and extending back through the 46 acres, for years known as the "Quinn Farm."

CAPITOL VIEW HEIGHTS gives a beautiful panoramic view of the surrounding country, the outlook to the west taking in the dome of Connecticut's Capitol, and in the immediate foreground there are the beautiful residences of E. S. Ella, and E. H. Crosby, and beyond you see the Manchester and the tall commercial buildings of Hartford. It is about 5 minutes walk from the trolley at Manchester Green (by Middle Turnpike to the East).

From the newly macadamized State highway it is reached by well laid out winding Drives, of uniform 50 feet width, all recently graded.

Schools, Churches, Stores and Post Office are within easy reach and the natural and rapid drift of business toward "Manchester Center" enhances the value of this property.

Regarding the Lots

The lots will be sold under proper restrictions regarding buildings. There are one hundred lots on the tract—no lot being less than 50 x 150 feet in size and some half acres. They are divided up so that there is not an undesirable lot in the entire tract. These are facing on newly projected streets—Drives, including Chestnut Drive, Indian Drive, Overlook Drive and Eastern Drive, all surveyed and laid out for most picturesque and practical development. The lots are sufficiently large to permit of the raising of vegetables enough to supply the entire family.

Your Opportunity Is Now

An opportunity too good to lose—and sure to be accepted by thrifty men and women who look wisely into the future. Taking up this proposition with us Now on easy payments means that you will have something to show for it instead of regrets. Properties of this class with such ideal surroundings and in the very heart of the progressive Manchester Communities are not to be picked up often.

MACK IS MANAGER IN NAME AND IN FACT

Connie Mack, Leader of World's Champion Athletics.

The world's champion Athletics stand alone today in many respects. A lion looked surprised and said: "Why, surely, then, your father knows the salaries." His father, Ben Shibe, is president of the club. "No, I am positive," Tom answered, "that even my father doesn't know. Why, a few years ago Connie went to father and said: 'Mr. Shibe, so and so wants a raise in salary. What do you think?' " "Now, Connie, I don't want to have a thing to do with the matter. Do just as you want. That's entirely up to you. Anything you do will be completely satisfactory to me." "And Connie still does what he wants.

Choosing Flag For the Irish Nation

NOW that there is a fighting chance of Ireland becoming a nation once again many ardent patriots are discussing the pattern of flag which will fly over the parliament buildings in College Green, Dublin, the historic castle, and all the other seats of the yet to be constituted Irish government. Probably also Irishmen out of town if asked what the national flag of Ireland would reply without hesitation "the harp without the crown," meaning the golden Colts harp on a green ground, which is down so universally by Irish patriots today. Most of them believe that this has always been Ireland's flag, but the fact is that as flags go it is comparatively new. It first made its appearance in 1798, when it was adopted by the United Irishmen, and it is said they chose green because GOLDEN HARP ON GREEN GROUND. It is a blend of orange and blue, to typify the union of the north and south.

In point of antiquity the real Irish flag is the "spear and serpent," which appears in the arms of the O'Sullivan's. It is said to commemorate the incident of Gaothai Ginn, the ancestor of Milesius, who, tradition says, was cured of a snake bite by the rod of Moses. Next to that comes the flag of Fionn MacCumbha's militia, the golden sunburst on a blue ground, and the weight of opinion seems to favor this as the true national flag. Blue, indeed, was always Ireland's color until 1798. There are a number of other flags which have figured in Irish history, and all have their enthusiastic supporters. One of the most popular is

AROUND THE BASES

Kid Elberfeld has been sold to Milwaukee by the Washington club. Doc Johnson has been named as captain of the New Orleans team. Jack Nagle, a catcher farmed by the Naps to New Orleans, has been sold to New Haven.

Arthur Fletcher, Larry Doyle and Chief Meyers are Giants lucky enough to get three-year contracts. Don't worry; it won't be long before the Cincinnati fans will be saying that Hank O'Day is a good umpire.

Rube Hildebrand of the Cincinnati Reds has been sent back to the Montana team from which he came. Shotton, the Browns' outfielder, seems to be a much improved player this season, and he was coming fast last year.

Wild Conroy has been shifted to the outfield by Manager Ganzel. It isn't a new position for Connie, by any means.

Manager Davis of the Cleveland Indians let Faber go to the Highlanders because his young catcher, O'Neill, looks like a wonder.

John M. Ward, president of the Boston National league team, has retired from the competitive field as an amateur golfer.

Pitchers Baker and Reis, Outfielder Gilbooley, and Third Baseman Scott have been sold to Erie by the St. Louis Nationals.

Hugh Jennings is as frisky as ever on the coaching lines. Auto accidents cannot shatter nor train wrecks stifle his infinite variety.

Pitcher Radabaugh, a Cardinal last fall and shipped to the Montgomery Southern association team this spring, is pitching great ball.

Theodore Brettenstein, veteran, southpaw pitcher, has been released by New Orleans so he could sign as Southern league umpire.

Manager Frank has sent Pitchers Galm, Frost and Cheney and Outfielders Dawson and Melzel to the New Orleans team of the Cotton States League.

Joe Adler, first baseman, has been released by the Cubs to Jersey City, and Pitcher Pierce, obtained by waiver from the Giants, has reported to Chicago.

GREATEST SLABMAN IN GAME

In All Elements of Pitching Walter Johnson, the "idaho cyclone," Entitled to Decision.

Discussions break out frequently as to the greatest slabman in the game today. But at the wind-up of each argument no one seems able to compile a choice with any edge on Johnson, the Idaho cyclone. If a vote were taken among the profession there isn't any doubt but that Washington's premier would stampede the convention and get the nomination on the first ballot. There are others who have shaded him at various angles. Mathewson knows more about the art of pitching—Ed Walsh can stand as much punishment, Brown carries a better curved ball and Rube Marquard shoots almost as much smoke. But in the combined elements of pitching greatness the smoke-ball Swede is probably entitled to the decision. He won 22 games with a team in seventh place last season, after facing a bad start, due to poor condition. There were only five slabs in his league who did as well, and the other four were all with clubs pitched a much loftier altitude in the race.

SPEAR AND SERPENT.

the three golden crowns on a blue ground, which figures now in the arms of the province of Munster. This was accepted after the Norman invasion in 1170 as the flag of Ireland, the three crowns typifying the three kingdoms of Desmond, Ormond and Thomond. It was retained until 1547 when Henry VIII, fearing that the three crowns might be confounded with the triple stars of the pope, abolished it and substituted the harp.

Coming down to more recent times, we find that Grattan's patriot parliament did not recognize green, although it did accept the harp. Its flag was a golden harp on a blue ground.

A new flag was evolved at the time of the union, apparently to incorporate it in what is now known as the union jack. This was the red sash on a white ground, which was christened "St. Patrick's cross." Apparently it was "lifted" from the arms of Trinity college, Dublin, though how Trinity came by it is equally a mystery. The weight of informed public opinion in Ireland is in favor of the blue ground, but is about equally divided between the harp and the sunburst. It is argued for the harp that modern Irishmen are more familiar with it than with the sunburst while the advocates of the sunburst urge in its favor its antiquity and its purely Irish origin as well as its symbolic significance.

R-C-H Twenty-Five Long Stroke Motor

Since the entrance of the R-C-H into the local field it has made rapid progress. All who have seen or availed themselves of the opportunity to ride in this car are warm in their praises. Those who are fortunate enough to own an R-C-H are congratulating themselves on their good judgment, as the car has more than lived up to all that the builders claim for it. The R-C-H is six months in advance of all competitors. Those who follow closely automobile advertising are no doubt aware that a number of the most prominent builders of motor cars in this country are calling special attention to several features in their 1913 models which are already shown in the R-C-H. "Imitation is the sincerest flattery." The R-C-H models range in price from $700 to $900 and this includes full equipment such as top, windshield, lamps, horn, tools, etc. The touring car models are equipped with Jiffy Curtains adjusted in an instant and which make the car entirely weatherproof.

Those who wish to buy an automobile this spring and want more value than was ever offered before in motor cars, should own an R-C-H, the allotment for this territory is almost closed. Call, telephone or write for a demonstration.

Children's Memories

Every one fell silent for a moment while the sun, low over the tops of the apartment buildings, broke slowly from behind a cloud and threw a long shaft of light over the rug and the scraps of cloth and the bits of thread.

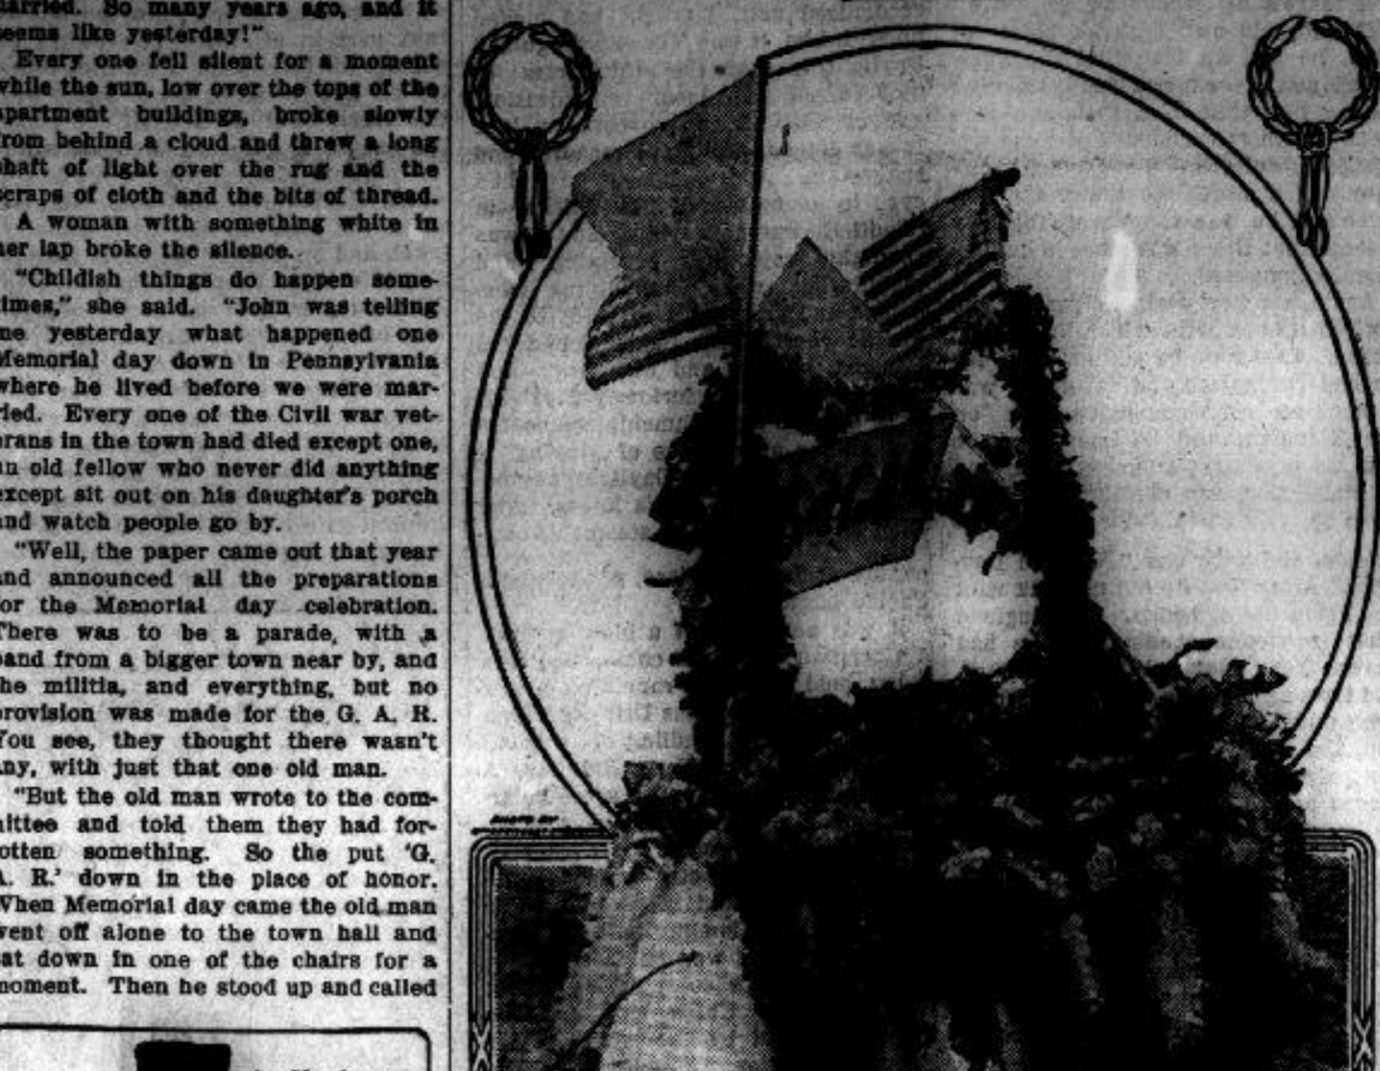

A woman with something white in her lap broke the silence.

"Childish things do happen sometimes," she said. "John was telling me yesterday what happened one Memorial day down in Pennsylvania where he lived before we were married. Every one of the Civil war veterans in the town had died except one, an old fellow who never did anything except sit out on his daughter's porch and watch people go by.

"Well, the paper came out that year and announced all the preparations for the Memorial day celebration. There was to be a parade, with bands from a bigger town near by, and the militia, and everything, but no provision was made for the G. A. R. You see, they thought there wasn't any, with just that one old man.

"But the old man wrote to the committee and told them they had forgotten something. So the put 'G. A. R.' down in the place of honor. When Memorial day came the old man went off alone to the town hall and sat down in one of the chairs for a moment. Then he stood up and called

In Memory of Naval Heroes

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

A BEAUTIFUL and touching tribute is paid to the memory of the sailors who gave up their lives during the Civil war by Tent No. 18 of the National Alliance, Daughters of the Veterans of the United States.

A little boat filled with carnations, roses, lilacs, jessamine and arbutus, led by G. A. R. veterans to the edge of a river and given, amid prayer, to the crew of a launch who take it to midstream. There it is launched, and amid the booming of a salute and the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," it sinks quietly and slowly, leaving the water around it dotted with blossoms.

The lad was a good listener and a good questioner. Scuggled there on the patriot's knee, he playfully twirled the bronze star in the lapel of the blue coat. He had been absorbing a lesson in his country's history.

"The veteran ran his gnarled fingers through the boy's hair fondly as he heard the question, but the old man heard thoughtfully silent.

"Why did you have to shoot each other, grandpa?"

An indulgent smile melted the deep lined face as the soldier made answer:

"Ah, laddie, boy, that's a question that has puzzled many an older head than yours. But you see, the country was divided about some very important matters. The north and the south couldn't seem to see things alike. Well, they tried to fix it up one way and another, but finally it came down to this question—whether the United States of America was to be one country or more than one. Both sides thought they were right, no doubt. They couldn't agree about it, and both sides were so sure they were right that they were willing to die for their belief. So in the end they just had to fight it out and settle it. Maybe we'll find a better way to settle these differences some day, but that won't be in my time and perhaps not in yours either, laddie, boy."

"Well, your side won, didn't it, grandpa?"

"Yes, my boy, there's only one country here now," said the old man simply.

"Your side was the bravest, wasn't it, grandpa?"

"No, son; we used to think so once, I suppose. The other fellows thought they were the bravest, too, but we all got better acquainted at Bull Run and Chancellorsville and Gettysburg and Spottsylvania Court House, and some of the other military so-called, and I guess we're all content to call quiet on the question of bravery. Our side had the most men and the most money—what they call resources, you know—but I wouldn't like to say today that we had the better soldiers."

"How many men were on your side, grandpa?"

"The lad was the bravest, wasn't it, grandpa?"

"No, son; we used to think so once, I suppose. The other fellows thought they were the bravest, too, but we all got better acquainted at Bull Run and Chancellorsville and Gettysburg and Spottsylvania Court House, and some of the other military so-called, and I guess we're all content to call quiet on the question of bravery. ## BELOING TO PAGE OF HISTORY

Everlasting Wreath of Laurel Has Been Woven For All the Hosts That Fell.

We are approaching a nation's holiday, and we pause in the midst of life to consider death.

Not for ostentatious reasons do we gather in "God's Acre" once a year. In the minds of brave mothers who can still remember and of daughters who have inherited the knowledge of a tragedy, there is no Decoration Day. To us it is a day when we wish to not to decorate. One day is set apart as a memorial of a country's dead, and we observe it yearly, not to honor the fallen of the living, but to include with the departed soldier, those others who have gone before. Our memorial to all the missing, whether we grew the little mound with ivy or myrtle or with garden flowers, is as good as "Any wreath that man can weave there's an imperial crown. We only mark such separate spots so that we may be left alone, so that we may forget. Time has softened the sorrow of a nation and placed a halo over the brow of the holy dead, and history has carved the name of the hero into the living flesh of the nation's heart."

Of the THIRD GENERATION

IT did they want to kill one another, grandpa?"

"It was the eve before Memorial day. The tattered head of my father nestled contentedly beside my father's grizzled beard.

"The veteran had been chatting reminiscences of the old Homeric Civil war days, of bivouac, forced march and battle field. He had taken from his closet the dusty blue coat, with the bronze star in its buttonhole, and had furnished it up and tried it on, as if it would pass muster for the dress and glory of one more Memorial day parade on the morrow.

"The lad was a good listener and a good questioner. Scuggled there on the patriot's knee, he playfully twirled the bronze star in the lapel of the blue coat. He had been absorbing a lesson in his country's history.

Memorial Day Sermon

REV. CHARLES F. WEDDEN
Pastor of the Baptist Church
Boston

N the foremost rank of memorials stands the monument to the soldier. The myriad mounds of rank and file stir tender and deep emotions. The veterans of the thrilling scenes of '61 and '65 are passing. Over forty-eight thousand in 1909 answered the last call. Memorial Day should be sacredly kept and should most properly recall the stirring events of the Civil war. "What mean ye by these stones?" the descendant of Joshua asked, as they saw the memorial pile by the River Jordan. So the youth of today inquire of the silent sentinels raised to commemorate the soldier of '61.

I am reminded of an example of patriotism not usually known. Colonel Shaw, whose monument of bronze stands upon Boston Common, is not alone in deserving such a memorial. Upon among the Berkshire Hills there is a modest shaft that marks the grave of another gallant leader of negro troops. I refer to Colonel Channing Bassett, of the Bassett Grand Army post of Michigan, the grandfather of my children and the father of that noble lady, my wife. How Colonel Bassett inspired his men is illustrated by the heroism of a negro lad who was the color-bearer. An Colonel Bassett handed the flag to the lad, he gave this charge: "My boy, bring back the colors or tell to God the reason why." All through the fierce fight they watched that standard. Once it was seen to fall—the lad's arm had been shot. But grasping the staff with his left hand, the flag moved forward again, waving over the dusky troops. Once more he was wounded, but he stood firm. He had told to God the reason why.

But I recall a memorial which comes close to every veteran in the land. It is the name endeared to you by a thousand recollections and sends the warm blood throbbing through your veins. It is the dear name of your Comrade, Comrade!

Your companions in arms! They have fallen, but your thoughts bring the old familiar forms and scenes back again. You sleep in the same tent and perchance share the same blanket; or you watch by the campfire warming and sheltering your comrade from the cold and the storm as he has done for you. You divide your scanty rations or you dispense the hotty duff of poultry or bacon; you cheer him on the fat and dusty march; he stretches his hand or musket to you in the struggle through the dangerous swamp; he fights by your side steadily hand to salute the flag that floats above the Union—the flag of the free heart's hope and home—the star-spangled banner of our fathers—the flag that, uplifted triumphantly over a few brave men, has never been obscured, destined by the god of the universe to wait on its single folds the eternal song of freedom to all mankind, emblem of the power on earth which is to exceed that of which it is said the sun never went down.—Col. Henry Waterson.

Ever-Narrowing Circle.

In addressing the Grand Army of the Republic shortly before he died, President McKinley said:

"The circle is narrowing. One name after another is crossed out by the black pen of grim death. Day after day at our feet lie the bones of our heroes who are fast growing scarce. They have gone to the great hereafter of our common country, and we are left with a few brave men, who are fast growing scarce. They have gone to the great hereafter of our common country, and we are left with a few brave men, who are fast growing scarce."
