Special Autumn Announcement To the Women of Connecticut

Right at the beginning of a new season with the most attractive showing of women's wear that we have had for many years—as the Autumn Opening Days plainly proved-with better values as well, your attention is called to our new suit department on second floor, front, which is unanimously proclaimed ."The Style Center" of the state. Since its opening a fortnight ago, we have had nothing but praise for its spaciousness, its location, its fine light, and last but most important of all, for its convenience for easy selection from the immense stock of lovely garments in latest styles for miss, maid or matron. Never was there more care taken in their choosing, as early inspection will quickly prove. Let us tell you of some of the new arrivals. Better yet, let us show them to you.

Tailored Suits

Our showing gives you choice of the best that can be produced. Made of every conceivable material and color, cut in the latest and most approved models fined as they should be and tailored to perfection, we are offering the best stalues in the city priced from $15 to $150 each

Some sample suits are offered in beautiful models, just one of a style and priced $35 each and upwards. We worth the attention of the woman who wants something exclusive.

Young women's topcoats. We are told daily that we are ahead of all others in the extreme smartness of our kinds. They are made of such fabrics as zibeline, chiachillas, cheviots and the popular double faced cloths. Every miss and young ledy seeds a top coat. Ours at $10 to $25 are unequalled.

Regarding the waists. You do yourself an injustice to buy elsewhere before seeing those we have. Made of silk, chiffon or net, we have never offered prettier styles. Other waists of crepe, voile or the dainty lingerie effects, are making our department a busy one. See what we are selling at 98c to $7 98

Misses and children have an entire section of our new suit department devoted to their needs: Let us show the pretty dresses in 6 to 14 year sizes, made of galatea, serge or flannel from 98c to $7 50 each. Our leader in girls coats is made of American cheviot for $3 95 each. Ask to see the middy blouses, rain capes, and rain coats. Also the Peter Thompson suits and Nor-

No student of history can deny that the grandeur of this nation and the height that ft has reached among nations during the last sixty years has been due to the guidance and the force and the energy and enterprise of the Republican party. We propose to have that continue. We propose that the force represented by the Republican party shall continue useful in the history of this nation. With that in mind,

I would urge upon you the necessity for closing up the ranks, finding out who is a Republican, and who is not, and when you find a man who is not, do not count him for the party. One who is not loyal never helps. There is no use, gentlemen, temporising about this matter. A man is a Republican or he is not. Is he going to support the national ticket, and is he going to support the State ticket? If he is he is a Republican, and if he is not he is not a Republican. Now, such a policy may cost us some votes, but in the not distant future these gentlemen who have deserted us in the hope of enjoying office, on the one hand or ising about this matter. The address of President Taft to the Beverly Republican Club. Beverly, Mass., Sept. 3, was as follows:

Gentlemen of the Beverly Republican club and, I am glad to say, my fellow citizens of Beverly, I thank you for this cordial greeting. This club suggests one or two thoughts of a political character that I did not touch upon in the remarks I addressed to you on Saturday. It suggests the necessity for renewed organization of the Republican party under present conditions. The Republican party under present conditions. to the party liself is the jealousies, the factions, the quarrels within the party that long life and success are apt to generate, and, while, of corres, a third party is a misfortune to the Republican party in the loss of sorest votes, we must be philosophical and look at this result on its good side as well as on its bad side.

I conceive in respect of the life of the Republican party that secession of a third party soing to give us new vitality in the very feeling of fight that the injustice of the cicims of the third party will assouse in us as real Republicans. We know that we are a better set of men than we are now called by those who were very giad at one time to be known as leading Republicans. We know that we stand in the nation as the guardian of those institutions of civil liberty under our constitution, the preservation of which has made this nation permanent and great, and that nothing could come to this country of greater political injury that such as palit in the Republican party stand of the coarse orew that came crowding in every year at the eastern ports was before, pledges itself to maintenance of the policies which restored and promoted prosperity.

There is a paramount issue. What the high party significant party will assous in us as real.

In this connection we suggest particular attention to Woodrow Wilson's expression about "the unlikely fellows" from southern and eastern Europe being "tolerated because they usurped no place but the very lowest in the scale of labor."

The Republican party, whose first president was Lincoln the rail splittor, whose second president was Johnson the tailor, whose third president was Grant the tamer, whose fifth president was Garfield the towpath mule driver, whose eighth president was McKinley, in his youth an iron founds. A popular shade is made of over-imping silk petals with bead fringe. These come in green, yellow, red, old rose, blue and pink. The same shader can be found in the electric shade made to fit 16 candle power bulbs.

For bedroom use a pretty candle shade is made of the quaint English chints or a rather thin cretonne. The heading at top and bottom is of guimpe in harmonising tone or the guimpe may be used at the top only and a cotton bell fringe at the bottom.

New Medici Collars.

The new Medici collars, distinguished by extended ruff effects in the back, are gaining wider representation and will no doubt be welcomed tation and will no doubt be welcomed on all sides, says the Dry Goods accommist. The Medicis have the advantage of being more generally becoming than many of the Robespierre styles. The general effect is softer and more youthful, while the extended ruff in the back affords a delightful finish. Fine fancy nets and batistes in combination with shadow laces and hand embroidery are favored in the development of some of the most striking novelties. Great individuality is given to this style by the cut of the jabot or vest effect with which it is finished.

Leather collars.

Leather collar and cuff sets of Dutch style are, possibly, the newest of all the generous host of novelties at the neckwear counter. The collars are made of kid, with bands of suede cullining them, and the fronts, left slightly open, are fastened across with two buckled straps. The cuffs are of the same style fastened with straps and buckles. There are collars and cuffs of white life, with catalde bands and straps of suede in, white, gray, green, or blue, and there are black sunde sets with bands and straps of suede in, white, gray, green, or blue, and there are black sunde sets with bands and straps of wide front set on with wrapped seams backles. The lather sets are used with little silk nocks, with heavy linear, govers, bullered coats.

Golden brown Shantung is employed for our simple and a ective model, which has the skift made with a wide front set on with wrapped seams and trimmed at foot by two lacer revers with a button and loop sewn at the points; small buttons trim the sides.

> If you are in the habit of taking a pitcher of iced water to your room en retiring, try this: Procure a square pasteboard box (with lid), sufficiently large to hold your pitcher, and give it two or three coats of varnish on the outside, allowing each coat to dry thoroughly. Place your pitcher of water in this box on retiring, putting the lid on tightly, and you are sure o having cold drinking water any hour

The Lyric Orchestra are giving dances at Tinker hall , ach Saturday even. ing and intend to so continue throughout the season, providing it is found that the dance-loving public will patrontz the dances sufficiently to warrent the management in continuing the service. The members of the orchestra are George Ramedell, violin; Ebnie Weiman cornet; Charles Murphy, clarinot; Ben Fark r, plano. This number may be increased from time to time should business warrant.
