TUESDAY SAW THE BEGINNING OF OUR Annual August Furniture Sale

For this great yearly event no effort has been spared to make it the most noteworthy happening yet in the way of furniture selling in New. England Most of the offerings in this sale had to be made up during the factories dull periods in order to get these extremely low prices and when these lots are sold we cannot replace them. We have been constantly in the furniture markets during the past three months taking advantage of every opportunity to get out of the ordinary values for this great August furniture sale. Owing to our syndicates immense purchasing power no quantity is too large for us to handle. That is what brings down the price. Buy now, even if you have not immediate use for your purchase, we will store the things free of charge until you want them

See the sad old millionaire Passing in his motor car; Ah, how heavy is his care And how drawn his features are! What a pity he has not Anything to make him giad; Sorrowful, indeed, his lot— Thinking of it makes me sad. Muffled in his warm fur cost, You may think him richly bless But a lump is in his threat, And a pain is in his breast; He is not compelled to work, He may ride around at will, But a thousand sorrows lurk Underseath his waistcoast still.

All his days are dismal days,
Joys may come to you and me,
But no smile of his betrays
Any hint of hidden glee;
Things which he cannot possess
Still confront him everywhere;
Hence his lack of happiness,
Poor old, sad old millionaire.
