HIS GREAT LOVE FOR HIS PEOPLE

St. Patrick's Confession Shows How Ardently He Longed for Their Welfare.

Word-Breastplate of Prayer a

Short Litany—His Synod.

How yearningly St. Patrick loved his people may be learned from the following passage in his Confession, worthy of St. Augustine or St. Paul: "If I have ever done any good for the sake of my God, whom I love, I been him to grant me that I may shed my blood with these proselytes and captives for his sake, even though I should never receive burial, or each member of my body should be most borribly thrown to the dogs and wild beasts, or the birds of prey should feed upon it." After these follow a few "other canons attributed to St. Patrick," then the "Charter of St. Patrick," on the antiquity of the Church of Gastonbury in England, very quaint and entertaining. Next we have "The Book of St. Patrick the Bishop on the Three Dwellings," a profound yet practical and unctuous sermon on heaven, hell and this world.
