REGULATIONS GOVERNING

The matter of the wider use of school buildings for other than strictly school purposes is receiving more and more attention by communities all over the United States. The belief is becoming duite general that these expensive structures should be made use of more freely than has been the case heretofore and considerable discussions. It is always bubbling over with droll humor and touches a funny spot in every reader who is susceptible to the delights of dry humor should be made use of more freely than has been the case heretofore and considerable discussions. case heretofore and considerable discussion of the question has prevailed throughout the length and breadth of the land. As a result a wider and more general use of such edifices is becoming popular.

Working along these lines the Ninth such as the late Mark Twain was noted for. We best eak for this story a general who do read it that they will be delighted with the peculiar and original narrative. It savors of the gold mining days in California.

"MADE IN AMERICA"

Now Is the Time!

You know the European war has temporarily stopped the flow of foreign goods to this shore. Now is the time to learn to use "Made In America" articles.

You don't have to buy anything made outside of the United States. This country produces what you want-or it soon will.

When you buy at home you keep your money at home and not in the coffers of the European markets.

Colony had been purchased from the native king, the Africans were not friendly, and a hostile attack, together with the shiftlessness of the colonists, almost brought the venture to ruin. In 1791 the survivors were removed to a new settlement, and in 1793 the population of the colony was increased by the introduction of 1,200 negroes from Nova Scotta and the Bahamas. In 1794 the settlement was again transferred to Freetown, now the capital of the colony and the greatest seaport on the west coast of Africa. In the early days the government of the idle blacks was no sinecure, and Sydney Smith remarked, not without truth, that Sierra Leone always had two governors—one just arriving and the ofter just leaving. The soil of Sierra Leone is exceedingly fertile, but few white men are able to live there.

man he stood almost as high socially as did officers of the navy. Now he has to face an impudent little whelp of a boy when he goes to the owners' office at the end of a voyage. At sea, the captain is the absolute master, but in the office the boy is supreme. He looks the captain over and then grunts: 'Sit down; he's too busy to see you now. So the captain cools his heels while later comers march past him. He goes through that on every trip, and yet he dare not quit his ahip for fear he may not get another.
