A Proclamation

Through the ages Christians have been looking to the figure of the Christ upon the cross as the highest symbol of the humility and the glory of sacrifice. Now, in a peculiar degree that symbol ought to appeal to the minds and hearts of all men. Daily across the seas men and women are as willingly offering themselves to a no less bitter fate are nobly laying aside health and honor and position for the greater suffering of others.

For us the call is not faint. Largely we go about our usual ways, we even profit from the outward circumstances of other peoples. We are prone to wrap about us a mantle of smug content. Yet distance does not dull our sympathies to others' pain nor blind our eyes so that we see not how they are fighting nobly for their freedom and the work of man.

M. H. HOLCOMB
By His Excellency's Command:
CHARLES D. BURNS, Secretary.

FASTING AND PRAYER

summoning all citizens of the State on that day humbly to call their God to witness that their hearts are open to a ready sympathy, that minds are in quiet concord, and that their wills are steadfast to answer any call to sacrifice that He may send to them.

Given under my hand and the seal of the State at the Capitol, in Hartford, this seventh day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and sixteen, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and fortieth.

Charles D. Burns, Secretary.

The draft is so perfectly balanced that the fine can be kept as you wish with night and day consumption.

The coal

Kudu controls fire and oven with one motion.

You can't forget. The Single Damper makes fast cooking a habit. It is a wonder of under-gas economy. It is a kindred device to the Kudu control which is a good cook—because the Kudu does the work.

It will accept no inheritance, gift, loan, bribe, graft, or other unearned money or goods. It takes from the world only the fair equivalent of what I give it.

I will never take revenge, will harbor no grudges and utterly eliminate any spirit of retaliation. Life is too short for destruction; all my efforts shall be directed to the welfare of my fellowmen in any business or sport that implies fraud, cruelty, or injustice to any living thing.

I will hurt no child, punish no man, wrong no woman.

In everything I do shall strive to add a little to the sum of happiness and subtract a little from the sum of misery of all living creatures.

I will constantly try to make myself agreeable to all persons with whom I come in contact.

I will never indulge in self pity, nor will I speak disparagingly of myself. I will talk of myself as little as possible.

I will regulate myself strictly, but will never undertake to regulate anybody else. I will not buy own bread.

I will cooperate with others in organizations for service, but will be long to no organizations that involve uniformity of opinion.

I know death is as natural as birth, that I am to die, and that no man knows his hour. I will not fret at this, nor dodge it, but will live that I am ready every day to go.

I will believe that honesty is better than dishonesty, kindness is better than cruelty, truth is better than lies, cleanliness is better than dirt, loyalty is better than treachery, and love is better than hate, or coldness and I will trust my life, my career to an unfailing reliance upon this creed. —Reporter, Woodbury.

Card of Thanks

I desire to express through the columns of the News, my most hearty thanks to all my friends for their great kindness shown at the burial of my wife. I would thank in an especial manner all those who contributed flowers.

Edmund Mellors, Paterson, N. J., April 11, 1916.

Card of Thanks

To the many friends and neighbors who were so kind, thoughtful and helpful in every way during the illness and at the death and burial of our husband and father, we wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation. We thank the South Manchester Foresters of America, the superintendent and staff of the Prudential Insurance Company for kind aid and sympathy, and beautiful floral tributes.

Mrs. Margaret McKeever and Children, South Manchester, Conn., April 12, 1916.

Gleaned From the Visiting Nurse. In order to keep your hands free when you are compelled to provide hot compresses for the invalid, run two long wooden rods into slots stitched in the edge of the flannel or flannel compresses. Run these sticks across the top of a pan of boiling water and when it is time to apply the compress it is easily wrung by twisting the sticks in opposite directions.

Small Successes Satisfy Many. There are none so low but they have their triumphs. Small successes suffice for small souls.—Boeve.

Five Hundred State Troops and Hatch Band Headed This Way—High Class Entertainments Booked and Militiamen Bid Fair to Stage Big Event.

PALACE THEATER

Censors Invited To See Display This Forenoon—Fifty Business and Professional Men Present As Well As Police, Court Officials, Newspapers, Men.

The five nights bazaar to be given by Company C First Infantry C. N. G. at the Armory April 25, 26, 27, 28 and 29 promises to be one of the biggest attractions that the company has ever undertaken and will also prove one of the big attractions of the amusement season, opening as it does directly following the Lenten Season. The censors of entertainments are leaving no stone unturned to make this event a success both from a social and financial stand point. The amusement committee have been active in their work and as a result have a list of attractions that are sure to please. It is planned to have every night a feature night and there will be something doing at the time of each Saturday matinee. It will be one of the features of the bazaar and the kiddies will have an opportunity of attending the event and partaking in the festivities the same as their elders.

The proceeds of the bazaar are to be used by the militiamen in equipping their new quarters in the Barnard school building and as they will need a considerable sum for this purpose the added money will have a strong tendency to increase the sale of the book.

The book, "Three Weeks," is being widely read and differing opinions are expressed as to the merits of the work. Be that as it may the reading is going on and is likely to continue.

This is the first time that the local censors have been called in a large number of them, and the censors are being asked to exert every effort to insure the safety of the spectators.

The opening night of the bazaar, March 24, 1916, will be the first time that the censors will be present at the theater.

Obituary

MRS. CHARLES A. DAY

The community was shocked to learn of the unexpected death of Mrs. Charles A. Day, which took place at her home on Elm street at four o'clock last Monday morning after an illness of three weeks.

She had been suffering from an attack of the grippe since last week Tuesday, but kept about until Friday when it became necessary to combat an attack of pneumonia. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon, with services at the residence, Rev. Dr. George W. Reynolds officiated. Burial was at the East cemetery. Owing to the serious illness with pneumonia of Mrs. Day and also of Miss Cornelia Rich, sister of Mr. Day, the services being delayed at the cemetery, the funeral was private. Mrs. Day was a native of Middle Gladwin, was 49 years old, and resided in South Manchester for the past 15 years.

She was well and favorably known and the profound sympathy of the large circle of friends goes out to Mr. Day in his sad bereavement which has befallen him. Mr. Day and his devoted attachment to his wife and daughter for several years past, the funeral was private. Mrs. Day was a native of Middle Gladwin, was 49 years old, and resided in South Manchester for the past 15 years.

At this writing, Mr. Day seems to have survived the very trying ordeal with that courage that fittingly becomes a veteran of the Civil War, which is the proud record which Mr. Day possesses. It is now believed that he passed safely through the crisis, and is regaining his former health.

Lucius and Mrs. Pinney of Prospect street have turned from a month's stay at the St. Christopher's Infirmary to their own home in time to encounter the 12-inch fall of snow last Saturday and Sunday.

The lighting of the streets has been a new kind of service, police, Foster street, and has made arrangements of the lights on the street. An additional light has been added near the junction of Foster and Center streets and the former street is better lighted now than it ever has been.

At the meeting of Manchester Lodge No. 1475, Local Order of Moose in Foresters hall last Wednesday night, the members of the principal streets of the town with this substance.

Chatham at the time of his death, had an appointment with one of the principal men of the age had been estranged from him by his errors and the other half by the exertions which he had made to repair his errors—Macaulay.

Chairman Howard L. Taylor of the board of selectmen is having maps prepared of the water shed for the storm sewer system that is to be built in the west part of the town.

It will be necessary to condemn some land for rights of way and Chairman Taylor is preparing the way for these proceedings.

Selectman A. F. Bowes was back at his job as president of the board of selectmen last Monday evening.

He brought with him "some real Hay River" cigars, which they enjoyed.

Selectman Bowes returned from a southern trip last week and reported having enjoyed the best trip of his life.
