Come and See The Chinese Renaissance Rug

It is the first of its kind ever produced on any loom except by the slow and labous devices of the Orient. No American-made rug ever approached the elaboration of this rich HERATI WILTON.

Here is a brief recital of its history; The original was made by a famous artist of Pekin, China, in a prize competition against his fellow craftsmen, and this rng won FIRST PRIZE. Like all masterpieces of Oriental weaving, it depicts the patience of the Oriental, his faith in the future and his closeness to a religion of

The task of reproducing this rug was enormous, especially when you consider that every part of the pattern is distinct and totally different from all the rest of the design. It establishes a new standard for American homes. Come and see this novel and enchantingly beautiful rug on exhibition here for the first time,
