Miss Mary Wood of the Forest House has returned from a outing in the Berkshires.

This community has been singularly free from fire during the past year and our well equipped fire department and the efficient and experienced men who manage and operate the apparatus have much credit to them for this fact.

Miss Emma Walden has entered the employ of the Travelers Insurance Company in their Hartford office.

The Misses Maude and Mary Chapman of Oak street are spending the week at South View.

Miss Elizabeth Tyson of 91 Oak street is at Atlantic City for a stay of two weeks.

Miss Inez Campbell of New Britain is the guest of her cousins, the Misses Mary and Caroline Campbell of Locust street.

Frank P. Quish of the Naval Reserve came up from Pelham Bay, N. Y. Wednesday afternoon for a short visit at his home on Garden street.

Miss Marian B. Taylor of 143 South Main street has secured a position in the Mount Kisco, N. Y. High School as physical training instructor and expects to begin her new duties there September 1st.

Miss Taylor is a native of South Manchester, a graduate of the South Manchester High School and also a graduate of the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics. She is the daughter of Selectman Howard I. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor.

James H. Quinn of Park street has gone to the Massachusetts coast for an outing.

Judge of Probate William S. Hyde and Mrs. Hyde left South Manchester yesterday for a mountain resort where they intend to enjoy life a while.

Miss Mary Mallen of the Johnson Block, Main street is enjoying her annual vacation. She spends part of the time as the guest of her sister at Brewster, N. Y. and before her return always pays a visit to New York City, Coney Island and other points of interest along the Atlantic coast. She usually remains away some four weeks each summer.

MOOSE CARNIVAL CALLED OFF

The proposed Moose carnival which was to take place on the Main street baseball grounds all next week has been called off and there will be no carnival. The reason for giving up the project as stated by members of the amusement committee is the high cost of construction work for the electric wiring for the carnival.

It appears from members of the committee that representatives of the Manchester Electric Company gave a very high figure for the construction work, in fact it was so high as to make the carnival prohibitive.

Two years ago when the Adams carnival was here the Moose paid the electric company $25 for construction work. A few weeks ago an effort was being made to bring another carnival to town and it was stated that the construction work would be about $100.

When electrical construction figures were submitted for the proposed carnival the Moose were a little taken back to find that the cost price had jumped to $215.

In the contract which the local lodge had with the carnival company the local organization was to pay for electrical construction work and also for the electric current used, so this big advance in cost of construction work meant much to the local lodge. The committee visited the carnival which is playing in Rockville this week and it was found that the Rockville lodge of Moose, under whose auspices the carnival is being conducted, was to pay $20 for construction work. The Washburns Shows, which were to furnish the amusements for the carnival were interviewed and they looked upon the local lodge as a hold-up and were frank in stating so. Leon W. Washburn, the head of the Washburn Shows told the local committee that he would rather cancel his contract with the local lodge than force the lodge to pay such an exorbitant figure.

James C. Tucker, director of the local State Trade School has returned from a visit to his native place in Pennsylvania and is back at his office here directing the affairs of the Trade School. He was absent for two weeks and was accompanied by his son, ten years old.

David and Mrs. Ford of Spruce and Oak streets will leave town tomorrow for a tour of the shore resorts. They make short stops at various places and manage to pick out more or less recreation and diversion in their travels.

In renewing his subscription to the News Democrat, J. Sullivan of Ferry City, N. Y. writes that he has two children, a son and a daughter, in France and the other at Camp Meade, Md. He says that he notes with pleasure in reading the News every week that the boys from his home town are doing nobly and he wishes them all manner of good cheer and success. Mr. Sullivan is the son of the late Cornelius Sullivan, who is in the tank service and is commander of the 1st New York State Cavalry. He is well and favorably known in South Manchester. It will be a friend of the good things to see a soldier enough to be serving in the fighting ranks of the United States.

Oozing Fountain Pens. An application of heavy oil to the joints of a fountain pen will effectively overcome the oozing out of ink at the nib. The types of fountain pens, having points which disappear by turning the nib into the barrel, sometimes leak because of wear. To remedy this, soak the pen in warm water and permit to dry, particularly inside. Then apply oil on the spindle that is revolved. Heavy cylinder oil is the best for this purpose. The lubricant should be worked through the bearing from end to end. The pen is then refilled and excess oil wiped off.

Positive Not Negative. Be one thing or the other. Don't be a dummy for life to band theories upon. Be a real person, with likes and dislikes, with interests and activities, with something that is positive. Be pleasant, not merely not unpleasant; be courteous, not disagreeable; be good to look upon, as far as in your power; be well informed, as far as possible; that whatever you are, be that thing to the utmost. Give to those who are around you your very best and unconsciously they will give you the very best to you. Try it and see.

God in Nature. More than ever we need to appreciate the works of God as shown in the natural world. A blue sky, flickering shadows on the grass, the green of the field, the blue of the sky, the flight of a bird—these things are all so beautiful and so wonderful that it is in the world. Let us listen to the voices of the brook. Let us watch the waves of the lake. We may or may not know what it is on the far side, still in the world. Let us listen to the voices of the brook. Let us watch the waves of the lake. We may or may not know what it is on the far side, still in the world. Let us listen to the voices of the brook. Let us watch the waves of the lake. TRADE SCHOOL BOYS WILL BUILD BUNGALOW

The carpentry department of the trade school has been awarded the contract to build a five-roomed bungalow in Hillierville for Mrs. David McDonnell, who is to use it for a dwelling. Work on the excavations was started this week.

The boys of the carpentry department of the trade school will do the concrete work for the cellar and foundations; will erect the building and do the painting. The electrical department of the trade school will do the electric wiring. The plans and specifications were drawn in the department of mechanical drawing at the trade school.

There are 30 boys working in the carpentry department of the trade school, and all are at work on the bungalow now being constructed by the carpentry department.

It will be recalled that the boys of the trade school built a twelve-roomed house for Cheney Brothers on Eldridge street last year. That was known as "House No. 1." They are presently at work on a twelve-roomed house on Pine street for Cheney Brothers. That is known as "House No. 2" and is almost ready for plastering.

The bungalow in Hillierville is to be known as "House No. 3." The work on erecting these houses is placed in charge of some boy of larger experience and mechanical ability who is authorized to act as foreman, under the general supervision of the instructor in carpentry. The boys doing the work are pupils who have had from two months to two years of study in the trade school.

This plan of placing them at work in actual construction of dwellings is very profitable to the students. It enables them to put into real practice the theory which they learn in the classroom and which is gleaned from the textbooks, through the interpretation of their instructors.

Mr. Washburn will be inconvenienced a little by cancelling his contract, as he had booked this town and was to move from here to the Connecticut fair in Hartford for Labor Day week. However, he sagaciously cancelled the contract and a result there will be no carnival.

It was intended to have Speaker Champ Clark of the National House of Representatives speak one evening during the carnival, but this engagement has also been cancelled. The amusement committee of the local lodge feel satisfied that they have not cancelled rather than to force to pay such an exorbitant figure.

LETTER BRINGS FIRST NEWS OF LOCAL MAN'S DEATH

Mr. Walter Venant of Pearl street received a letter Monday afternoon from Sergeant Walter Tedford, announcing that her brother, Sergeant George Thompson had been killed in action in France. This was the first information of Thompson's death to be received in town. A cablegram was received last week from Dr. C. E. Heselgrave which announced that all the boys of Manchester were well with the exception of Thompson and Newman. The cablegram did not give much enlightenment. In fact it led to much confusion. There were two members of Thompson and Newman. The cablegram and two by the name of Newman. Sergeant Henry T. Newman's death was announced early in the month, but it was not known whether Dr. Heselgrave's cablegram referred to Sergeant Henry T. Newman, or to Private John G. Newman, who had been in the hospital for several months. Neither of the Thompsons had been reported as wounded, so the cablegram didn't shed very much light on the subject. Sergeant Tedford's letter was as follows:

"France, August 3, 1918. In behalf of the many friends and comrades of George Thompson, I wish to extend to you and the other members of his family our heartfelt sympathy and sincere regret at the death of one who died so bravely for his country and humanity. He gave his life that we that live and those who live after us may live in the love of God and good fellowship. In giving his life he gave us the theory that we should live for almost that any one man can do. He died for that great cause, sister and brother, and we wish you to know that we will always proudly bear his name in memory with us wherever we may go."

Sincerely, Sergeant Walter Tedford, 100th S. Inf.

Sergeant Thompson was a native of this town and was 23 years old. He was the son of the late Nelson and Mrs. Thompson. He enlisted in Company G in 1915 and went to the Mexican border with the company. He was an expert with a gun and was regarded as one of the best shots in the regiment. For this reason he was picked as a sniper. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Walter Venant, Mrs. Isaac Proctor and Miss Jennie Thompson, all of South Manchester.

For the week commencing Monday, August 19th, the Poli Players are presenting an unusual attraction in the present drama, "Enemies Within," a play written by A. H. Van Buren from a story by Kilburn Gordon and E. H. Culbertson.

"Enemies Within," described as a melodrama in three acts, treats of the activities of enemy agents operating in America. The scene is laid in Washington and is a tale of intrigue and fact and fiction, and tells a stirring, thrilling story that grips and holds.

The recent disclosure attending the discovery of the German ownership of the New York Evening Mail, and the evidence offered every day in the newspapers, is a long time realizing. "Enemies Within" treats of this problem in dramatic fashion and while by no means to be described as a propaganda play, it exposes the methods by which the most successful of the numerous enemies within operate. There are two love stories, and the dramatic conflict between the two sides of the war, and a young American officer, for the possession of certain valuable information, is thrilling to the last.

Mr. Van Buren knows Washington well and many of the characters in "Enemies Within" are drawn from life. The play is a masterpiece of dramatic construction and is a masterpiece of dramatic construction and is a masterpiece of dramatic construction.

BISHOP NILAN URGES FOOD CONSERVATION
 Catholics of Connecticut Hear of Food Administration's Plans To Save Wheat and Create Big Sugar Reserve

At all the masses in every Catholic church in Connecticut on Sunday, a very lucid explanation of the aims of the United States Food Administration was read in the form of a circular letter from St. Rev. John J. Nilan, Bishop of the Hartford Diocese.

deny involves everything that may be needed to carry our war to victory. The greater the number of men in the army, the more abundant are the supplies to feed, clothe and equip them. The call of millions of men to military service must necessarily reduce the number available for the force of production. The curtailment of production can be offset only by conservation. Therefore, one can readily see how vital is the conservation of food for months to come.

The demands from Europe require vast supplies from the people of America. Just now conservation of sugar is most essential. The amount of sugar that may be used for each person for all purposes within the course of a month is only two pounds. This is due to the fact that very much is needed abroad and a considerable amount is required for canning and preserving fruits. The skillful housewife will be able to can more fruits and vegetables and yet use a minimum amount of sugar. If she follows the instructions given by our United States Food Administration, she will thus render an important patriotic service and at the same time store up supplies of much value for her own home.

Women Should Take

He adds that he did not have a chance to try them at plowing or heavy work, though they can do that too, but at other kinds of work equal and in some ways the superior of men. They do not average as strong as men, though in proportion to their weight they are stronger than men. They are nearly always more conscientious than the "superior" sex.

The Woman's Land Army of America is still a new thing in most parts of the country, but it is to stay and the sooner the farmers of America get that idea through their heads and give down their old-fashioned prejudice against this "new-fangled notion" the better for them and for the country. Every man released from the country should find this impractical and unparitric prejudice. Such prejudice does him hurt. All our prejudices about women are being broken down by an amazing illustration. Last summer a number of "units" were employed in various parts of Westchester county. A "unit" means a squad of woman workers (a "gang," we might call it, if they were men) who live and work together under the charge of a competent older woman experienced in agriculture, a sort of forewoman who manages the whole outfit, which includes their own cook and food and bedding. The farmer does not supply anything, except the wages and pay, which is placed in a box at the house. The farmer's wife has no other extra work in the matter at all. Well, even one of these units in Westchester county made good, and they were exactly as many surprised farmers in Westchester county as there were units. At the end of the season each employer was asked, "Will you employ woman farm hands again next year?" Each farmer made exactly the same reply, "Yes, if I can get the same women."

Each thought that he had happened to have the luck to get the only good bunch of girls! Sly, shrewd fellows, those farmers! For it seemed to them quite obvious that women as a class could not be good farm laborers. A perfectly natural prejudice. Men as a class have always had the same certainty that women could never be good at anything "outside of the home" until they went out and made good at everything from voting and doctoring to driving ambulances, and even at fighting in the trenches when the necessity arose over in poor betrayed Russia.

American farmers, however, are the most enlightened in the world. Perhaps it will not take them so long to get the idea into their heads as it required to beat it into the British brain. For woman workers in various departments of farm work. This accounts for considerable curiosity and created a great deal of discussion. The question, however, was not whether girls could do farm work, but which girls could do it best! Big crowds gathered. Bets were made. Rivalry ran high. And when it was demonstrated before the astonished eyes of the British farmers that these "farm lasses," as they now affectionately term their "farmworker units," were not only doing their job but were experts at it, the prejudice broke down and the country was saved. The woman's land army of England, now 300,000 strong, has kept the island from starving. This patriotic fact has been publicly acknowledged in parliament.

Shrubs are being set and the grounds will present a very attractive appearance when all is completed. Just as soon as the work is finished it is planned to fly a service flag from the front of the church. There are a large number of church members in the service and each will be represented by a star. There will be one gold star in the flag, Adolph Corneil, son of Rev. J. P. O. Corneil and Mrs. Corneil, being the first member of the church to give his life in battle.

WANTED--Working Men in All Departments

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

- Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.
- Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.
- Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

Each thought that he had happened to have the luck to get the only good bunch of girls! Sly, shrewd fellows, those farmers! For it seemed to them quite obvious that women as a class could not be good farm laborers. A perfectly natural prejudice. Men as a class have always had the same certainty that women could never be good at anything "outside of the home" until they went out and made good at everything from voting and doctoring to driving ambulances, and even at fighting in the trenches when the necessity arose over in poor betrayed Russia.

American farmers, however, are the most enlightened in the world. Perhaps it will not take them so long to get the idea into their heads as it required to beat it into the British brain. For woman workers in various departments of farm work. This accounts for considerable curiosity and created a great deal of discussion. The question, however, was not whether girls could do farm work, but which girls could do it best! Big crowds gathered. Bets were made. Rivalry ran high. And when it was demonstrated before the astonished eyes of the British farmers that these "farm lasses," as they now affectionately term their "farmworker units," were not only doing their job but were experts at it, the prejudice broke down and the country was saved. The woman's land army of England, now 300,000 strong, has kept the island from starving. This patriotic fact has been publicly acknowledged in parliament.

There are already 17 states of the Union organized under the Women's Land Army of America and in New York alone 3,000 farmerettes are registered for this season. It is a fine patriotic service, a good thing for the farmer who can thus get good, reliable, industrious laborers at a cheap rate, a good thing for the girls, who thus get wholesome training as well as fair wages, and the best thing of all for the nation, which needs food and needs men, and needs them at once.
