ome of these have changed while othrather my former friend, Miss B. She never did believe in war. When Bel-gium was invaded and the Hun fereclously bayoneted bables and violat-ed little girls she still refused to behe world, but still she did not believe it. She was a pacifist; and a pacist, as near as I can tell, seems to be e who has resolved to ignore war J. long as the war does not hurt them. e had been for years, and is still, a meaning persons who believe that one part of society is qualified to reach down and lead by the hand certain nore unlucky parts of society to show

Up to the last minute of the last our before the war vote was taken my ormer friend maintained that we had cause for war and there was no esibility that we would ever be in war. Just what went on in her mind when we took up our stern task f checking the advance of the Hun I annot guess and she has never told. wondered if she would stick to her principles and fight for them. I no-ticed that she bought bonds and sub-scribed to the Red Cross. She may ave been one of those who would give the Red Cross because in doing so she was not helping the war. Other scifists have said as much, but even Do It Now--eir "tainted" money will help.

Then I be-lieved that she had been regenerated ind was no longer a pacifist. We had een pretty stiff about the time war was declared owing to our different ews, but I now felt free to write and all her to find a place for me to work hat Washington was too crowded lace to live and that she was quite ired of it. It really took hours to get nywhere. Living was too high to save any money. She had written all he expert stenographers who had applied to her for advice that they should op their jobs in Nebraska. That, inleed, the most patriotic thing that Neaskans could do was to stay in Neaska even though the government was "just crying for stenographers." She was coming back to raise a garden and a pig and that was the best thing for all of us to do. And at this time he entire country was placarded with ertisements begging women who were competent to apply at once to the civil service commission and urging others to begin to study as the cler-

In reply I received such a torrent of abuse and accusation that caused me to derstand that a pacifist will fight and fight in a mighty nasty way if crossed in anything. My pacifist acquaintance has now returned to her state job. Her war service consisted in keeping a number of very efficient workers away from Washington and they in turn no doubt kept others away. Object Lesson. Staid and serious Mary felt keenly esponsible for the deportment of her ounger sister, Margaret, who was enfirely lacking in a sense of decorum. At a children's party one afternoon Mary was horrified to see her sister chewing gum with all the vigor and bandon of her nature. there are the pretty matched sets of hat and bag, hat and scarf, scarf and muff or hat, scarf and muff to match that each Christmastime brings in. Some of these are simple enough to be made at home, others require the work of the professional milliner in making the hat. Usually the neck-pieces and muffs are easily managed, especially since the ready-made and especially since the ready-made especially since the ready-ma ready-lined beds for muffs are carried by dry goods stores. The simplest turbans and hats are often successfully made at home. One of these simple sets, shown in the group above, offers few difficulties to the clever unprofessional who does her own sewing. It is the turban and ruff of velvet, trimmed with fur. The neckpiece is a ruffle of velvet with a narrow upstanding frill. It is lined with satin and has a narrow band of fur sewed over the gathering. It fastens at the back into two snap fasteners. The turban frame is covered with a drapery of frame is covered with a drapery of velvet. A coronet-shaped piece of fur is cut and lined with satin and then

An afternoon gown, which is destined to do duty as an evening gown as well, makes claim to this versatility because of its originality. It is a complete success in this dual role. Put all the contributory reasons together and you have this basic, inescapable fact: THEIR INCOMES ARE PROGRESSIVE-LY EXCEEDED BY THEIR EXPENSES.

Returns of 388 street railways in the United States, comprising 63% of the entire electric railway mileage of the country, for the six months ending June 30, 1918, showed a net decrease of 82.16% in their earnings as compared to the same six months in 1917. Where their net income for those six months in 1917 has been $15,546,397, their income for the same period this year was reduced to $2,733,000.

. Unprofitable lines, some of them in the neighboring state of Massachussetts, have been abandoned,

That may be the fate of certain lines nearer home, for no business can be conducted at a continuous loss.

In Providence, R. I., it now costs the public 15 cents for rides within the city limits, where the fare used to be 5 cents. The city has been re-zoned. There is a central 2-mile zone in which 5 cents is charged, an outer zone of 12 miles in which another nickel is charged, and another one of 11 miles in which 5 cents more is charged, and in addition to this 1 cent is charged for transfers.

In Boston, the largest city in New England, the trolley fare—surface and elevated lines—was increased to 8 cents on December 1. 1918. The fare had previously been increased to 7 cents on August 1, 1918. The company is under state management.

The Bay State Railway System, operating in cities and towns north and south of Boston, is in the hands of a receiver, who has petitioned the court for permission to abandon 280 miles of tracks because this trackage failed to pay its operating expenses. The State Public Service Commission a few days ago permitted an advance in fare to 7 cents.

The large Public Service Company, operating in the most important cities of New Jersey, is charging a 7-cent fare with an additional charge of 1 cent for transfers, this with the approval of the Public Service Commission of New Jersey.

The Connecticut Valley Street Railway, operating from Northampton to Greenfield, Mass., and from Northampton to Amherst, now charge 24 cents for a six-mile ride that used to cost 12 cents, and in parts of its line the fare is 21 cents for a five-mile ride.

In Chicago the surface and elevated lines have 6-cent fares, and there is prospect of an increase to 7 cents on the surface lines.

In Manchester, N. H., and Tacoma, Wash., (in Tacoma the municipality owns the lines), the fare is 10 cents.

In Montreal 10 cents is the fare at night, and 6 cents is charged during the day.

In Edmunton, Alberta, where the street railway is owned by the municipality, 15 cents is the night fare, and 6 cents the day fare. School children's, workmen's and other special fares have been abolished or increased in scores of cities.

Springfield, Mass., has a zone system, with 6-cent fares in the central zone and 6 cents charged for rides outside the zone, and rural lines out of Springfield are on a mileage basis.

Holyoke, Mass., has a central zone with an extra fare charged for rides outside the zene.

THE FARES ON THE SYSTEM OF THE CONNECTICUT COMPANY ARE LOWER THAN THE FARES ON SYS-TEMS SERVING SIMILAR TERRITORY AND THE CONNECTICUT COMPANY'S SERVICE IS SUPERIOR.

The Connecticut Company is beset with vexatious problems surrounding the question. How can a steadily mounting increase in cost of maintenance and operation be met our of income that does not increase proportionately?

How would any good business man meet this problem, after he had made every possible effort to reduce expenses, to cut sentials and had put in practice every possible economy without lowering the standard of his service?

The Connecticut Company.

PARK THEATER NOW FIRE ALARM BOXES

Beyond any question one of the greatest moving picture entertainments ever presented here, is being shown at the Park Theater matinee and evening today and tomorrow. It is a spectacle that every adult in this town should see. It is known as D. W. Griffith's "Hearts of the World". It is a real war picture and has more heart interest, human pathos and genuine thrills than anything ever displayed here.

The synchronizing affects are won.
