The most decided changes in any of the newest creations are presented in the collar arrangements. Very high collars with thrown ends appear on many frocks. Often they are knotted on the neck of the dress, a heavy silk thread of a bright and beautiful color being used.

This sort of collar appears on a blue cont dress. The collar is of Belgian blue, knitted round and round, so that a sort of small yoke is formed at the op of the waist, narrowing into a high collar which ends in a throw at one side. Touches of the blue threads have been knitted at intervals across the front of the bodice to brighten it, and n long sash is knitted at one side of
