Following a wet and chilly May the month of June started in reluctantly to raise the thermal average for the recent equinox. The sun's rays beat down ardently on sweltering humanity here Monday and Tuesday and likewise on Wednesday. Although the summer solstice has not arrived according to the calendar, nevertheless the degree of heat supplied this early must needs satisfy the inner longings of the most ardent sunbather. Now let the roses bloom in all their fragrance, beauty and loveliness.

Inspect Ice Cream Plant

A number of well known men who have inspected the site and plan for the new factory of the Manchester Dairy company, work which is already well under way, have commented upon the excellent appointments of the factory. Insufficient Coal

HAVE PLANNED MODEL TOWNS
Beauty as Well as Utility Considered by Architects Building Homes for War Workers.

Nearly all the towns being built in the vicinity of war plants will be permanent. So permanent houses of a type satisfactory to the best skilled labor will be built, 100 here, 1,000 there, and as high as 10,000 in one or two towns, and covering whole square miles of vacant countryside with pretty little houses, boarding places, stores and theaters, paved streets and all utilities, expertly laid out by the foremost town planners and architects in America.

Here is the main thing in these new towns and houses with that in mind, they have not been forgotten. Planned and built as they are by able men in single large operations, they will show to American eyes the best examples of harmonious real estate developments we have yet seen—by far the best housing and neighborhood conditions that American labor has yet enjoyed.

The operation at Camden, for instance, will have 2,000 little houses in groups, all in pure and varied colonial architecture, designed by Ernest D. Litchfield, free from clashing colors and style.

Duluth Sets Good Example.
The city of Duluth has erected a schoolhouse and extensive playground and recreation building, and the housing company. The Gary system of education is applied in this school, which is equipped with auditorium, gymnasium, and all the modern conveniences. Land has been set aside for a Protestant and a Catholic church. Approximately eight acres have been assigned to use for clubhouse and recreation grounds. The clubhouse and grounds are leased by the housing company to the Morgan Park club, which is composed of employees. A separate club building, or neighborhood house, is provided for people who live in low-rental houses. Aside from the opportunities for outdoor sport offered in connection with school and clubhouse grounds are baseball and football grounds, tennis courts, a skating rink and equipment for boating, bathing and camping. A modern hospital is another feature.

Natural Charms Best.
That garden is best and most pleasing, if it is a large one, that had the most varied charms before the hand of man interfered with its nature and work at variance with its dictates.

His Position.
"What's your part in these big drives? Are you one of the drivers?" "Oh, no," answered the German patriot soldier; "I am one of the people who are being driven."

Have Not the Right Tunes.
Many carmen do not go on one bench at home in them and the owners throughout live in constant wonder as to what is when.

FLAG DAY,

The Nation's Pride

Flag Day
THE first American flag formally adopted by congress on June 14, 1777, is said to have been made out of a soldier's white shirt, an old blue army overcoat and a red flannel petticoat. It was first hoisted by the Revolutionary army during Burgoyne's campaign and was first flown to the ocean breeze by Paul Jones.

We have not advanced so far from those humble but glorious beginnings as to have lost the honor. The combination that went into the making of the first flag answered all requirements. History has neglected the owner of the white shirt and the old overcoat. It has likewise conspicuously refrained from mentioning the original possessor of the petticoat. It is enough that all were Americans.

But the vicissitudes of history have not dimmed the luster of those first Stars and Stripes. Rather have they grown more glorious in the eyes of the people over whom they float. The observance of 1919, while commemorating the glories of the past, must necessarily take account of the new epoch upon which we have entered. But there is no change in the significance of the national emblem. As before, it stands for justice, freedom and humanity. There will be no new teachings, but a fresh consecration of the old.

WHAT FLAG MEANS TO ALL

Days of Sacrifice and Devotion Have Made It Cause of Pride to Every American.

The flag means more to Americans in the year 1919 than it has ever meant in our lives. And why? Not, surely, because it is more familiar. Nor yet because it flutters over hosts of soldiers and mighty fleets. There were soldiers and fleets before. Not, therefore, because of its new part in the panoply of war.

It means more to us because we have put more into it. Because, after years of peace and plenty in which we thought of our flag chiefly as something for us to protect and guard us, we have in time of war and grief and hardship learned to know our flag as something for us to protect and guard us.

A flag, in short, is as great as its people—and no greater. When they are great and generous and courageous, it is great and beautiful and holy. When they are petty and haggard, their flag is less than nothing to them, as to the world at large.

Our love and cherish and die for in the greatest of causes. Therefore a source of pride and of deep emotion to every American. That is the lesson we are learning in these days of sacrifice and devotion, when a flying bit of color becomes the most glorious and joyous and sacred thing in the whole wide world.—New York Tribune.

The Patriot

By ETHEL M. COLSON.

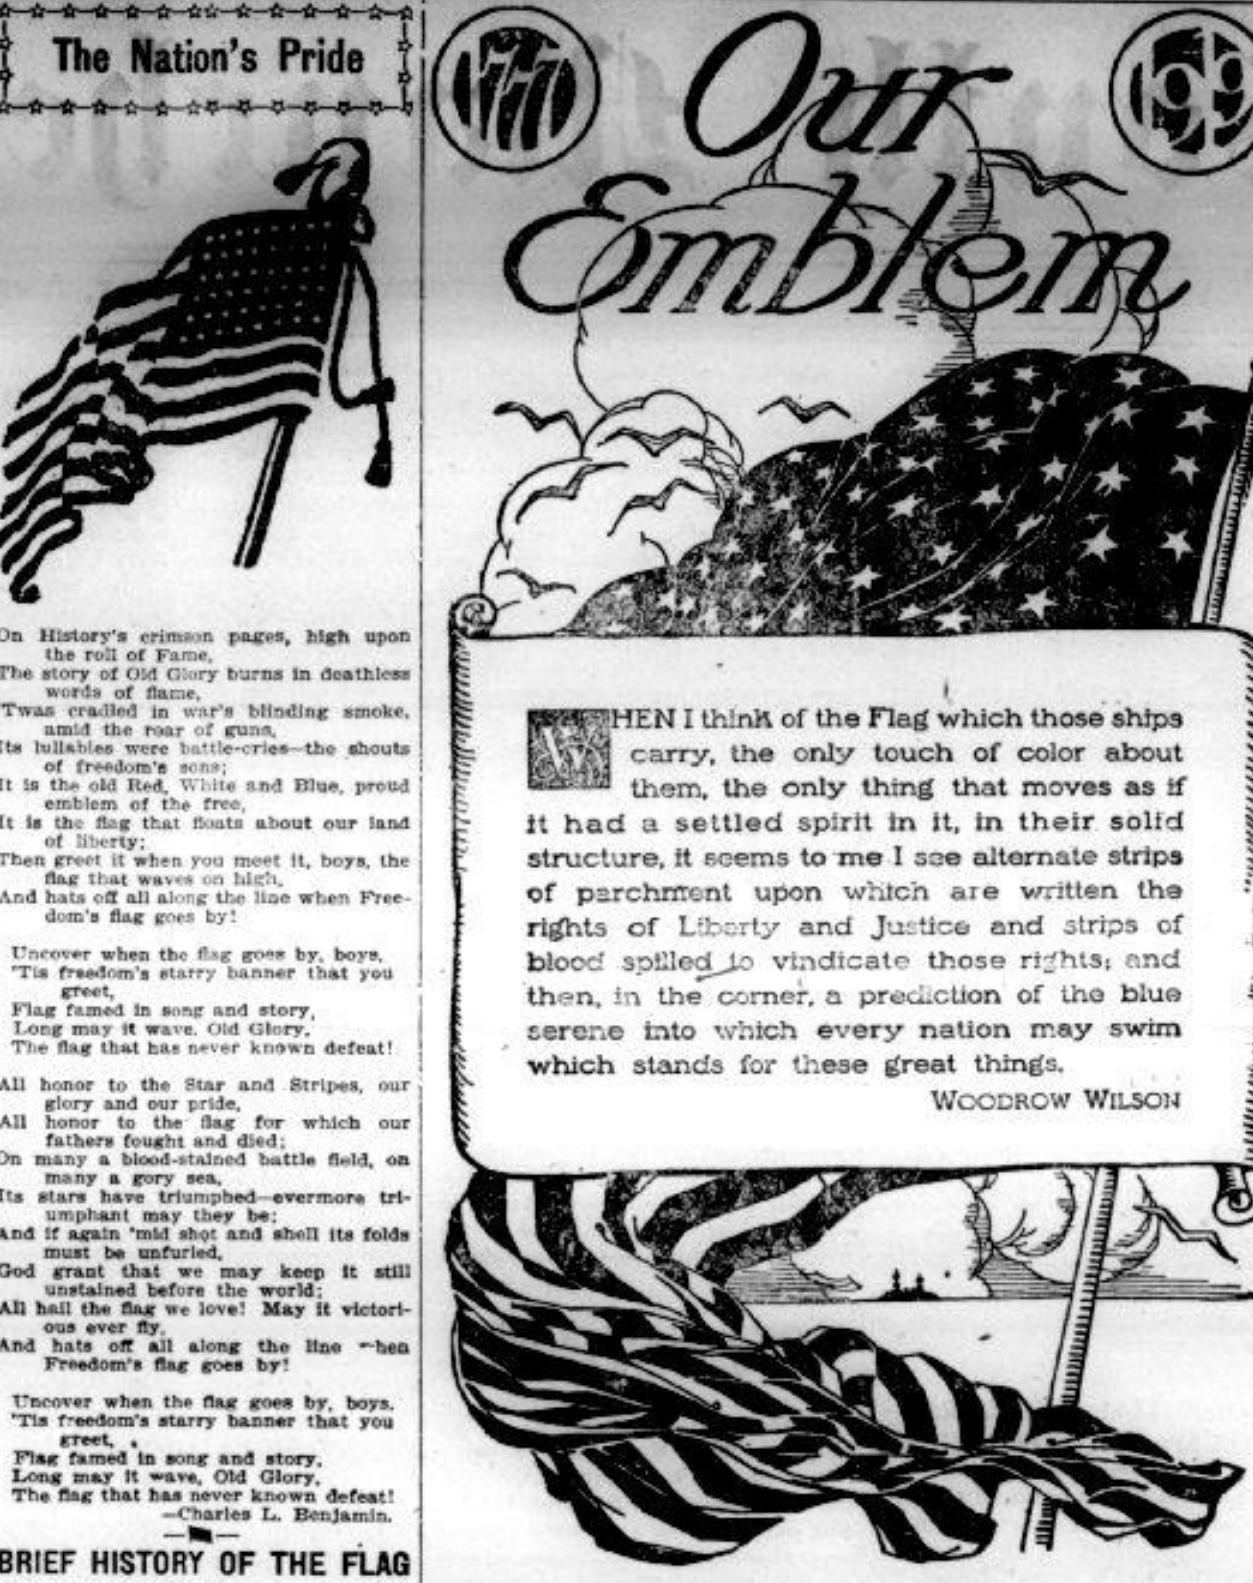

The little old lady Trudged down the long street. A flag, in short, is as great as its people—and no greater. When they are great and generous and courageous, it is great and beautiful and holy. When they are petty and haggard, their flag is less than nothing to them, as to the world at large.

On June 14, 1777, the American congress in session at Philadelphia adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, That the flag of the 13 United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be blue, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

WOULD KEEP FLAG FLOATING

Suggestion Made by Gen. Horace Porter Worth Considering in This Year of Ancestry.

Gen Horace Porter once suggested with great wisdom that the flag should be kept every where in sight. "It is particularly necessary in a time like this where there are so many who have been so long away from foreign flags and the immigrant, who cannot be so familiar with the flag of the country should be hoisted on every court building, every public place, every prominent structure—both of stone and of brick."—Boston Herald, 1919.

RED—WHITE—BLUE

Colors That Preponderate in Flags of Nations of the World.

THE principal colors in the flags that fly throughout the world this year of our Lord, 1919, today are red, white and blue in diverse combinations. Here and there green is shown, but red, white and blue are the colors of nineteen out of twenty-five national flags and are the colors of practically all the flags of the nations of Europe.

The significance of national colors goes back to the days of heraldry and many of the devices displayed on flags are either heraldic designs or have been derived from such designs. Red stands for courage and military fortitude. Blue symbolizes loyalty and truth and white stands for peace and sincerity.

The British ensign or Union Jack is said by some to have been the inspiration of the American flag. The Union Jack is a combination of the English red cross of St. George on a white field, the Scotch white cross of St. Andrew on a blue field and the Irish red cross of St. Patrick. The combination of the English and Scotch flags when knights rode in the lists and the red cross of St. George on its white field goes back to the Crusades and the hundred years' war with France.

The word "Jack" as applied to the British flag is supposed to be a corruption of "Jack," which was the common abbreviation of "Jacobus," the Latin for James. The introduction of the flag of the cross of St. Patrick came later. England's Union Jack traces its origin to those remote times when knights rode in the lists and the red cross of St. George on its white field goes back to the Crusades and the hundred years' war with France.

for use at all. When the midnight alarm was sent out Captain Page watched up the old flag and carried it to Concord, where "It waved above the smoke of that battle." The flag is preserved in the public library at Bedford, Mass. It is of a maroon or crimson damask silk and on it is an outstretched arm with an uplifted eye in the hand. The arm, hand and eye in the hand. The arm, hand and eye in the hand.

Female Executioner.

According to the London Sunday Times of February 15, 1920, the hangman who executed Burke had a wife whom he had instructed in the art and mystery of hanging. Dressed in man's attire, while he was executing criminals in one part of the country, his wife was giving effect to the law in another. Burke, it may be recalled, was an Irishman, who was in the habit of suffocating his victims, and selling their bodies to the anatomist. He was hanged at Edinburgh on January 23.

Helpful Sympathy. She was slowly recovering from a long illness, but still too weak for the trip downtown to a hairdresser for the much-needed shampoo. At last a maid was found who would come to the home. During the drying process she made the startling discovery of the first gray hairs. The conversation's first was so intense that the maid, trying to comfort, said: "Law, how who, if you had to wear one of them transmission on your head!"

PREPARE FOR JUNE

Shops Are Showing Concepts in Bridal Outfits.

Billowy folds of white tulle most popular veil—Bridesmaids' and Matrons' Hats.

June, the month of brides, will soon be here, and shops are already preparing fanciful concepts in bridal veils and special bridesmaid hats.

The billowy folds of white tulle still make the most popular veils, draped from headpieces that are sometimes studded in appliques of small pearls and made in tulle shape, or for the simpler styles there is merely the garland of orange blossoms about the hair, raised slightly on the sides to allow the arms free movement, and falling low on the satin train of the skirt at the back. This, of course, is just a novelty style, for few wear the face veil.

Also of lace are little, snug caps that fit the head almost like a penannular cap, and some of these even take on the wings of the Dutch head covering. From both of these the veils are draped full at the back. Needpoint laces are most exquisite for this sort of treatment, coming as they do in such a variety of patterns and different treatments, from the net effects to solid patterns, narrow laces.

Another effect that is quite new shows a little visor of tulle on the forehead shading the eyes, and just a simple little bandeau of the tulle holding in the hair that fluffs out from the top.

Bridesmaids' hats seem to be mostly of the pastel hair band in extremely large shapes that drop low over the head and are quite wide on the sides. The georgette and organizes in the pastel colors are again used, and there are smart pastel gowns of London shapes trimmed in sprays of apple blossoms that almost completely cover the crown.

Matrons' hats are in the darker colors of hair band, principally the royal purple, and trimmed with flowers of the same shade.

There are two things to keep uppermost in mind when choosing a graduation dress—they are distinctness and simplicity, and together they spell girlhood, which is the essential character of this kind of dress. Therefore the designer, who is to be credited with the pretty frock of the right of the group, chose dotted brims and bobbed hair. The swiss cut into seven bands, three of them in the neighborhood of three inches wide and four of them an inch narrower. These bands are set together with narrow strips of the bobbed, the wider bands placed at the lower part of the skirt and the others above with the narrowest portion set out a short plain yoke.

The waist is plain and opens at the front in surplice style. It has a fichu collar made of alternating bands of swiss and bobbed finished with a veil of the net, and elbow sleeves with frills and soft ribbon makes the crushed grille.

Any of the sheer white fabrics used for midsummer frocks might be used for making the dress at the left of the group, none with more success than organize. The skirt is cut in four panels and these decorated in the simplest way with narrow ruffles. But they are cleverly placed, those on the side panels being high on the skirt and those at the back and front about the knees and below. The blouse and sleeves are tucked and the sleeves much set off by a deep, plaited frill. There is a frill at the neck too and a front tie in the blouse at the bust. ## WHY

Britishers Envied Teeth of American Soldiers

We have had many tributes of admiration paid to our fighting men in recent months. Most of them have been of a military character. Here is one a little out of the ordinary that probably deserves as high a place in our appreciation as those of a more martial nature. It concerns the homely theme of teeth. Says the London Daily Mail: "One thing about the American soldiers and

SMITH AND BOSCO BOUGHT OPEN LOT OAK AND COTTAGE STS.

Also Restaurant Building and Will Move Same To New Site

The building in the rear of the House & Hale block which has been occupied as a restaurant and tenement has been bought by Robert J. Smith and Angelo Bosco. It was recently sold by G. E. House to the J. W. Hale Company who bought it in order to make room for an addition to their store. The original plans were to have it moved to a site across the street which is at present occupied by a Chinese laundry.

Messrs. Smith and Bosco early this week bought the large open lot at Oak and Cottage streets from Mrs. Jane E. Manning. They intend to have the restaurant building moved to the Manning lot. It will be placed on the south-west corner, next to the street. The Manning lot has a frontage on Oak street of 120 feet and extends on Cottage street 161 feet. Mr. Smith stated this morning that the building will be remodelled, have two stories on the ground floor and more rooms may be added to the upper stories for living apartments. The balance of the land will be sold for business or residential purposes. That lot has been held in the Manning family for the past fifty years. It was offered to the South Manchester Fire Department some years ago for $11,000 as a site for a new fire house. This offer was rejected.

Local residents are repaying generously to the Home Service Campaign Fund of the Salvation Army for which the local corps is conducting a drive to raise $5,000. Treasurer Washburn reported donations of $1,572 this morning which represents cash received since the letter appeals were mailed Tuesday.

With two local girls, the Terkingtons, among the Salvation ladies who entered to the hope from this place and other places during the World War, local persons have every reason to get back of the Salvation Army in this drive and see that the quota of $5,000 is generously over-subscribed. The quota set for this town by National headquarters was placed at $5,000 but the local corps is desirous of having subscriptions received which will take the total over that a $5,000 quota imposed upon the citizens building on Main street may be removed. There is every belief that this result will be accomplished.

In conjunction with the local drive there is to be a big open air rally at Center Park tomorrow evening which will be preceded by large street parades. The Salvation Army Silver Band will be in line as will also members of the local corps. Upwards of two hundred soldiers and sailors are also expected to be in line with the work of the Salvation Army in the cantonments in this country and also on the battlefields of Europe all special good wishes to the Salvation workers were accorded our soldiers. He will give an account of some of his observations.

PAY-AS-YOU-ENTER TROLLEY CARS HERE

WILL BE USED BETWEEN SOUTH MANCHESTER AND HARTFORD NEXT SUNDAY

Have Seating Capacity for Sixty Persons—Collections in Second and Third Zones by Conductor. Cars 60 Feet Long and Speedy

Two new pay-as-you-enter trolley cars were received at the local barns last evening and are to be used on the lines between here and Hartford. These cars are part of a fleet of eight ordered many months ago for use on the local lines but delivery of which has been held up. The cars were supposed to be received here last February.

This new rolling stock which will replace the present equipment is the latest word in trolley car construction. As has been stated they are pay-as-you-enter type but require no collection of fares. The cars are six feet longer than any of the present rolling stock and will seat thirty persons. They have a larger seating capacity than the open trolley cars now in use. The two cars which were run out to the local barns last evening have been given the once over by many persons and this morning the cars were taken out to run around the cars inspecting them.

One of the new features of the cars will be the heating system. The cars are equipped with automatic heating apparatus which will maintain an even temperature at all times.

A thermostat arrangement is employed which when set at a certain figure will allow the heat to shut off automatically.

Wider seats, more room between seats, push buttons at every seat and other conveniences for passengers are found. The motors of the cars are also larger than those used at present and will allow for faster speed during the run between here and Hartford. Trolley men who viewed the cars this morning were out at all points making the pay-as-you-enter cars would work out advantageously on the lines between here and Hartford. They point to the fact that it will take longer to load and unload the cars than with the open cars and that the present running time between here and Hartford permits but very few delays. However officials believe that at all points the pay-as-you-enter cars would work out advantageously on the lines between here and Hartford.
