SANITARY COVERS FOR MILK BOTTLES

NOW IN USE BY PITKIN & CALHOON PROPS. WARANOKE FARM

White Tissue Paper Wrappers for All Stopples Neither Soiled Hands Nor Dust From Highways May Pollute. Public Should Demand Them

Frederick Pitkin and Peter Calhoun proprietors of the Waranoke Farm are using an individual tissue paper covering for each of their milk bottles.

In delivering the milk it is the custom of the person assigned that to carry the bottles from the track or wagon in his hands to the place where they are to be deposited.

Many persons on receiving the milk withdraw the stopper and pour out the milk for use without taking the precaution to clean the top of the bottle before releasing the milk.

With the protective white paper covering no dust from the road or soil from the hands of the driver or deliverer can reach the stopple of the bottle.

The strong tissue paper covers are not crumpled in form, and so the "Waranoke Farm Milk Seal" is not broken.

This is a specimen of improved modern and sanitary service which should be insisted upon by the public generally.

FOUR YEARS MORE FOR FRED H. WALL AS POSTMASTER

Fred H. Wall, postmaster at the North End has been notified of his reappointment for four years more. Mr. Wall first took the office in March 1914. He served four years as secretary to Congressman Augustus Loegner at Washington prior to that time. Since receiving his first appointment Mr. Wall has been instrumental in bettering mail conditions at the Manchester postoffice.

He interested himself actively in civic affairs here during the period of the war. He conducted newspaper advertising campaigns when the general drives for funds were in progress. He was eminently successful in this work. His years of experience in newspaper management and his years of service in the publicity work for the triumph of World Democracy. He also gave unsparingly of his talents as an efficient and effective newspaper editor.

Although the special town meeting last week Thursday evening appropriated $20,000 for state aid road construction to be used in each town, Manchester's share has been set at $9,000, less the amount of the amount asked for. Of this sum the town will be called upon to pay one-quarter, or $2,250.

The highway commissioner intends that this amount shall be spent on the piece of state aid road extending from the Center street to Charter Oak street. This road is in a deplorable condition and temporary repairs from time to time do not meet the requirements. The selectmen have had in mind the reconstruction of this road but the work has been held up owing to the war.

Is it Possible to Legislate Life and Brains?

Swift & Company is primarily an organization of men, not a collection of brick, mortar, and machinery.

Packing Plants, their equipment and usefulness are only outward symbols of the intelligence, life - long experience, and right purpose of the men who compose the organization and of those who direct it.

Will not Government direction of the packing industry, now contemplated by Congress, take over the empty husk of physical property and equipment and sacrifice the initiative, experience and devotion of these men, which is the life itself of the industry?

What legislation, what political address could replace such life and brains, once driven out?

GOVERNMENT FOOD MAY NOT ARRIVE NOMINATIONS IN ORDER FOR TOWN OFFICERS

CARLOAD ORDERED BY PURCHASING AGENT G. H. WADDELL MUST AWAIT TURN

While there has been very little talk about candidates for the town officers for the coming year, the time to file nomination papers is fast approaching and during the next few days there will be considerable activity along this line.

Demands of Metropolis Likely To Devour Entire Army Stores Held There. Hopeless Confusion Prevails As To Goods In Storehouse

Purchasing Agent George H. Waddell has returned from New York City where he went to purchase a carload of government food for local distribution. He placed the order for the food but when it will be delivered or whether it will ever reach this town is not known at this time.

IMPROVING THE PASTURE

When and How This Can Be Done for the Best Results. Use Barnyard Manure to Good Advantage.

High Grade Pasture Provides More Feeding Capacity and Bigger Dividends in Milk Yields.

When farm work slackens in the Fall after the corn has been hauled and the crops harvested, the farmer will do well to apply lime to the pasture.

There are three or four things necessary in pasture improvement. First in importance, on most of the areas, is an application of lime.

There must be sufficient plant food in the soil. To supply the ordinary barnyard manure or commercial fertilizer may be used.

It will be beneficial to work up the soil with a sharp-toothed harrow to mix the applied material and prepare a better soil bed for the grass seed.

After this treatment has been given the pasture should not be re-stocked, nor pastured too early in Spring or too late in Fall.

THE SUMMER FALLOW. The effect of summer fallowing on the conservation of moisture alone is worth the trouble and expense.

It must also be remembered in planting wheat that timothy responds to lime and that the seed is small. It must, therefore, have a fine seed bed.

WHEAT GROUND PREPARATION

Lime the Soil for Weeding Just Before or After Sowing the Clover Crop Which Follows.

The soil should be well pulverized. It is the general practice throughout the East to sow timothy with wheat at the time of planting in the Fall.

It is the general practice throughout the East to sow timothy with wheat at the time of planting in the Fall, and to seed the same ground to clover the following Spring just as the frost is coming out of the ground.

FORMS OF LIMING MATERIAL

The Relative Action of Each in Improving the Chemical and Mechanical Conditions of Soils.

Lime is a plant food, and in many cases its application may serve that function. Generally soils contain enough calcium to supply the requirements of crops and alfalfa and other closely related crops require not only a sweet soil, but enough lime to supply their large needs of that element.

TAFT OUTLINES LEAGUE PLAN

Puts It Into Plain Language Free From Legal and Diplomatic Verbiage, in Response to Request.

MANY ARE CONFUSED BY PRESENT DEBATE Danger That People Will Lose Sight of Basic Principles During Discussion of Complicated Details and Technicalities.

(By ex-President William H. Taft.)

The plan for a League of Nations is based on a few simple principles, which are not hard to understand. The first and most important is that of the moral of technical discipline and freedom from legal and diplomatic language.

Purpose of the League. The chief purpose of the League of Nations is to keep the world in a state of peace. Another way of expressing it is to say that the league is designed to prevent war.

Old-Fashioned Flower Garden. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever" which can be found in a bed of old-fashioned flowers at the end of the garden.

Build Bird Homes. Birds and many other nest-building creatures are easily made neighbors if nesting places are available.

Keeping Cider Sweet. To keep cider sweet place in each barrel immediately on making one quart, four ounces; salt, one ounce, and ground chalk, one ounce.

Has Two Meanings. Troops is used in the plural to mean the same as soldiers, and not as a unit in its meaning the number or variety of infantry, cavalry or artillery.

laved nations will be benefited by all the other members of the League and will find itself cut off from both business and social connection with the rest of the world.

It is not claimed that the League of Nations will do away with war altogether. Every possible provision of human intelligence can be devised to prevent it.

What we have to fear is that some nations will go to war in defiance of the League, and every precaution has been taken to suppress such a nation by the immediate use of the united force of the other nations.

Doing the World's Work. In addition to settling international disputes peacefully the League of Nations will provide means for the most peaceful of the world's work more systematically and effectively than can be done now when each nation is working only for itself.

The League will appoint commissions to take charge of various international undertakings so that they may be carried on not for the benefit of any one nation, but for the benefit of the whole world.

The League will provide for the settlement of disputes between nations by arbitration. It will also provide for the settlement of disputes between individuals and nations.

Objections Answered. Of course we cannot hope to make the great changes which are the League's aim without meeting with opposition. Fortunately the war has taught us the great advantages of international co-operation.

The treaty which the United States signed at Versailles is the basis of the proposed League. It is a treaty which is being attacked by enemies outside their own boundaries.

Women Suffer Most From War. If there is any part of the world in which the war has been the most cruel, it is in the world of women.

Great Gain for Small Loss. We had to make many sacrifices to win the last war and we made them willingly because we knew they were worth while.
